

15 RIOTERS JAILED; INVADERS BALKED

Six Arrests Made
In anticipation of trouble Wednesday evening both Sheriff Mass and Chief of Police Shaw swore in a large number of deputies and special policemen. Rumors were afloat early in the night that over a hundred agitators would arrive from Portland in a late car, and preparations were made to meet them.

Late in the afternoon two men who were talking loudly of "what we will do tonight" were arrested by Chief Shaw, but were later released because there were no grounds upon which they could be legally held. Both were strangers in the city and were warned to leave town.

At half past eight four men appeared at the corner of Seventh and Main streets with a soap box and prepared to hold an out-door meeting. Chief Shaw and Deputy Sheriff Miles warned them to desist. The four did not do this quickly enough to suit the officers and were placed under arrest. At the police station they gave their names as John Culver, Albert Jules, J. D. Ransley and Thomas Burns, all of Portland. Burns and Ransley are well known in the metropolis as socialist speakers. They denounced their arrest as an outrage, declaring that they had not even spoken. There is no ordinance in the city against street speaking.

Strict Patrol Kept

Throughout the evening deputies kept patrolling the streets, and wherever men congregated, the groups were at once broken up. All men who voiced threatening sentiments were promptly placed under arrest, and were thrown in jail. By half past ten four such had been picked up by the officers.

Shortly before eleven George Gardiner, who was paid off at one of the mills this afternoon, threatened to "blow up the mills" sometime later in the night. People who heard him make this statement notified Chief Shaw, and Gardiner was put away for safe-keeping.

The arrival of Governor West, who slipped quietly into the city in the neighborhood of ten o'clock, was a surprise to all parties. Soon after reaching the city the governor hunted up Sheriff Mass, and with him visited the county jail, and had a talk with the 15 prisoners held there under indictment for rioting.

Governor West Inspects City

Following this the governor met representatives of the local mills, and talked the situation over with them. Then alone and unattended he took a walk about the city, talking with people that he met about the situation.

After having reviewed matters, the governor expressed the opinion that conditions could be satisfactorily handled by local people.

"I came down from Salem to see how things were for myself," said the governor. "I think that while the situation may be delicate that it will be straightened out satisfactorily here. I do not believe it will be necessary to call out the militia, in fact I have hardly considered that. Of course there must be no rioting, but I think the trouble, which seems to be rather peculiar, will be settled. I shall wait here until the early morning train, and note developments. I expect to return to Salem then, but I wanted to know for myself what sort of shape things were in."

Late in the evening it was determined to keep a detachment of 15 members of the local militia company under arms all night, and at the call of Captain Glanhard volunteers for this service went to the armory and camped out. Many other members of the company were on patrol duty as special deputies earlier in the evening.

RELIGIOUS WORKERS IN WORLD CONFERENCE

EDINBURGH, June 11.—The opening in Edinburgh today of the quadrennial conference of the World's Alliance of Young Men's Christian Associations afforded a sight that would have gladdened the eyes of the late Sir George Williams, were that staunch Christian worker alive today to view the striking evidences of the marvelous growth of the organization of which he was the founder.

At the opening of the conference the call of the roll was answered by delegates representing all parts of the civilized world. Not only were Great Britain, the United States, Canada and Australia well represented, but virtually all of the countries of Europe, together with South Africa, the South American republic of Brazil and the Asiatic countries of Japan, China, India, Korea and Ceylon had delegates on hand.

The conference will continue its sessions through the remainder of this week.

MUSICAL COMEDY TO IMITATE FAIR

The Clackamas County fair, to be given at Canby Sept. 24, 25, 26 and 27, is going to be one of the events of the year in this county. The committee in charge is hoping to have exhibits of every variety of interest. Sundry flying machines will wing their way into midair, many horse races will spin over the slick mile course, a few auto races will be held in a contest for a big prize.

All of the Oregon City, as well as all of Clackamas county, will be there to laugh and frolic, to have a good time and buy red lemonade and peanuts from the vendors. Everyone is expected to go, and everyone will go; autos, carriages, street cars, bicycles and all means of conveyance will be busy spinning towards the fair grounds.

It's going to be a great fair and a great time awaits great time awaits for all; but it will be no greater and no better than that which the ladies of the Episcopal church will have in waiting for you at "The Clackamas County Fair," to be given at Sibley's Hall June 17 and 18. There will be no real flying machines or balloon ascensions in the play but there will be real lemonade. There will be also the best talent of Oregon City brought out in songs, choruses, dances and dialogues.

Rehearsals are being held each afternoon and evening and the young people, in spite of the great attraction afforded by the Rose Festival in Portland, have been doing most faithful work.

DIRTY SIDEWALKS MUST GO, SAY CITY OFFICIALS

City Attorney Stone has sent requests to all property owners to remove debris and dirt from adjoining embankments from the walks, and failure to take action following receipt of these notices will bring on unpleasantness for the delinquents. Much complaint has been made about the way in which some property owners have permitted the sidewalks in front of their premises to become blocked, and it has been determined to force a general cleaning up.

Those not obeying the notices will be forced to undergo unpleasant and possibly costly proceedings.

BIG LOG CRUSHES QUARRY WORKMAN

Struck and crushed by a heavy stump that rolled down the hill upon him, Henry Younker, an employee of the rock crusher at the end of Jefferson street, was seriously injured Wednesday afternoon, sustaining two fractured ribs, a dislocated hip and extensive abrasions about the head and body.

Younker was working on the side of the hill, digging out some rock that had previously been blasted. Twelve feet above him a large stump was clinging to the face of the cutting, and in prying at the rocks this became loosened. Younker saw his peril, but owing to the pile of broken stones about was unable to get out of the way quickly enough.

The tree-trunk struck him a glancing blow, felling him, and then rolled upon him. Fellow workmen, attracted by his groans, had considerable difficulty in removing the log from his body, and in carrying him to one side of the big cutting, where he was made as comfortable as possible until medical attention could be given him. The man was later removed to his home.

PIONEERS TO MEET FOR ANNUAL PICNIC

Great preparations are being made for the Pioneers' picnic to be held Saturday at Wright Springs, near Millino, and it is expected that there will be one of the most interesting programs ever planned by the men who built up this part of the Oregon country. Tales of the struggles of crossing the plains, of battles in the wilderness, and of the hardships endured while the homes and communities were being built, will be told; and there will also be a due reflection of the just pride the stalwart men and women now have in the great and glorious state that they have formed.

Hon. George C. Brownell will be the orator of the day, and his speech will be one of the striking features of the program. Many other speakers will take part in the exercises, and there will also be music and festivity, and good things to eat for all who gather to do honor to the bravery and perseverance of the pioneers.
