COUNCIL, AFTER DIFFICULTIES, APPROPRIATES $300 MORE FOR TEST WELLS

QUORUM DRAWN FROM BOX OFFICE

City Fathers Invade Theatre to Get Councilman Long so Action May be Taken in Important Matter

With some difficulty there was held a special meeting of the city council Friday evening, and at its session an ordinance was proposed and passed appropriating the sum of $300 to drill another test well in an effort to discover an adequate and pure water supply for the municipality. Authority was also given the special water committee to go ahead with the work of drilling as soon as it found a site which offered reasonable promise of success.

At the meeting hour there was not a quorum present. Eventually there gathered in the council chamber Messrs. Toole, Meyer, Metzger and Horton, and a handful of citizens, who had come to talk the matter over with the city dads. A quorum still lacked, and informal discussion of the subject was entered into between those present. It finally appearing that it was the sentiment of those present that further drilling should be done, search was made for another councilman to provide a quorum.

After some vain efforts in this line it was recalled that Councilman Long had sometime since acquired the Star theatre, and there was a rush of self-constituted sergeants-at-arms to this popular playhouse. Councilman Long was holding down the box-office, and upon observing the delegation headed his way, smiled with glee as he pictured to himself the sale of four

DAKOTANS LIKE CLACKAMAS LAND

PARTY OF MIDDLE WEST INVESTORS EXPRESS SURPRISE AT MANY RESOURCES

VISITORS ARE GUESTS CLUB FOLK

Automobile Trip Through Nearby Agricultural and Timber Regions Proves Eye-Opener to Their Judgement

Over a score of bankers, influential men of various communities and owners of vast wheat ranches in the two Dakotas visited Oregon City and the western end of Clackamas county Friday morning as the guests of the Commercial club. The party has been touring the Northwest, seeking a new field of investment, and came here for half a day during their stay in Portland to witness the festivities of the Ross Festival.

The party made the trip from Portland here by boat, and were favorably impressed by Oregon City's commanding position above the line of high water. The contrast between this city's dry waterfront and the flooded docks of Portland was most noticeable, and was one of the first things commented upon by the members of the party. On arrival at the dock of the Oregon Transportation company the guests were met by Commercial club members who gladly offered their automobiles to the visitors.

There were many ladies in the party, and these joined the gentlemen in thanking the local people for their courtesy. The investors were then taken for a spin through the nearby agricultural and timber regions of the county, and were kept busy asking questions and in commenting upon the evident variety of the resources of the county. Particular inquiries were made as to the prevailing prices of land, and different members of the party expressed themselves as surprised that such good acreage was to be had at such comparatively reasonable figures.

On returning to the city the visitors were taken through the manufacturing section, and then up on the hills to the south, so that a good view of the falls could be procured. Lack of time prevented a visit to the mills. Before returning to Portland the party visited the exhibition rooms of the publicity department of the Commercial club, and saw at a glance the varied resources of the county. They expressed special interest in the grains that were on display, and admitted that some of them easily outclassed the average grain grown in their native states.

Fearing Assassination of the Czar in Berlin, Troops Guarded Russia's Ruler Carefully.

The czar visited Berlin for the wedding of the kaiser's daughter and returned to St. Petersburg without mishap, but his trip aroused wide attention because of the fear that an attempt might be made upon his life. He traveled in an armored train and was heavily guarded. When he reached Berlin the German emperor met him at the station with every precaution against trouble. This illustration shows the two rulers leaving the station in an open carriage escorted by soldiers and carefully guarded on both sides.

Western Students' Conference.

WILLIAMS BAY, Wis., June 13.—The Lake Geneva Students' Conference of Western Colleges opened at the camp grounds at Lake Geneva today with an attendance of students from many states. Daily sessions will be held for ten days and will be addressed by a number of educators, clergymen and other persons of note.

Daniels to Speak.

BOSTON, Mass., June 13.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels has accepted an invitation from Boston Lodge of Elks to speak on Boston Common tomorrow afternoon at a public celebration of Flag Day.

TREASON WITNESS STRANGELY GONE

FORT STEVENS, Ore., June 13.—Corporal Shade, the last of the Government's principal witnesses in the case against Waldo H. Coffman, the Socialist who is charged with spreading treasonable propaganda among United States troops, has disappeared from the post here and the trial of Coffman has been halted, temporarily at least.

This is the third witness for the federal authorities who has mysteriously dropped from view in a week, either on the eve of or during the trial. The other missing witnesses are Private Crawford and Private Lowe, who started from the Presidio at San Francisco, to testify here, but who have not arrived.

HEARTY WELCOME FOR FRUIT EXPERT

Rooms of the Commercial were packed Friday afternoon by farmers, ranchers and others who gathered to hear Prof. Chamberlain, of the Hill railroad development forces, lecture upon the care and shipping of fruit. Prof. Chamberlain found his subject sufficiently broad to give him opportunity to incorporate in his talk many helpful hints upon the culture of the chief fruits of trade, and also those who heard him found the time well spent.

At the close of his lecture Prof. Chamberlain talked with many of those who had come in to the county seat to hear him, giving each man some thought to carry away that will prove of benefit to him in his work upon the farm. Speaking for himself, Prof. Chamberlain said that he was happily surprised at his reception and that though Oregon City and Clackamas county were out of the immediate territory of the Hill lines, he had been greeted with the largest audience that he has yet met on his present westward trip from St. Paul.

SUNSHINE WANTED AT PIONEER'S MEET

Pioneers of Clackamas county will gather today at Wright Spring near Mt. Mulino, for their annual picnic and exercises in memory of the men who carved the Oregon territory out of the wilderness. Great plans have been made for the occasion, and all that is wanted to make the gathering an entire success is clear weather.

George C. Brownell, one of the prominent attorneys of the city, will deliver the address of the day, and will have some interesting things to say in regard to present and past conditions in the county. Pioneers and members of their families from all parts of Clackamas county are planning to spend the day in the pretty park at the springs, and after the formal program has been completed, the time will be spent in a general jollification and interchange of visits.

FLAG DAY RITUAL BY ELKS TONIGHT

The birthday of the national ensign will be celebrated by Oregon City Elks and members of Meade Post, G. A. R. Saturday evening at the Elks' home by appropriate exercises and music. The program will begin at eight in the evening, and will include the special and impressive ritual of the lodge provided for the occasion, as well as stirring selections of war-time music by the Oregon Veteran Pipe and Drum corps.

During the evening the beautiful Elks' building will open its doors in welcome to the public, it being one of the chief points of the code of the antlered herd that patriotism is a thing for everybody who makes even pretense by being a true American. Accommodations will be provided for all citizens who desire to attend the exercises, and a cordial welcome will be given everybody. The exercises are among the most beautiful of all ritual work, and embody in their significance all that is best and noblest in love of country and honor to the flag.

Special invitation to be present at the flag day exercises is extended to the members of Meade Post by the local lodge of Elks.

For Moissant Memorial.

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 13.—An overturned aeroplane chiseled from a single block of Georgia marble is to mark the spot where John Moissant met his death near this city. The monument committee will meet tomorrow to arrange for the completion of the memorial fund. Moissant was killed in 1910.

SOCIETY FOLK TO HOLD STAGE

ANNOUNCEMENT OF CAST MADE FOR MUSICAL COMEDY NEXT WEEK

RECEIPTS TO AID EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Beauty and Grace to be Found in Tuneful Chorus That Will Frolic Through Acts of "County Fair"

People well-known in business and social life in Oregon City will make their debut upon the stage at Shively's hall next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, when two performances of "The Clackamas County Fair," a musical comedy of considerable pretension, will be staged for the benefit of the Episcopal church. Rehearsals have been held for the past week, and those to whom the various parts have been assigned have become so proficient now that formal announcement of the major places in the cast are made.

The musical show will be produced on "big town" standards. The cast will have a full double chorus, beautiful show girls, an assortment of prima donnas, ingenues and such things, and all the fancy fixings that go with a first class New York performance. The plot, based on a day at an old-time county fair, will give ample opportunity for much excellent character work, and those who have witnessed the rehearsals say that a general surprise will be offered the audience on the first night. Special costumes and imported scenery will be features of the production.

Among the parts already assigned are the following:
 Boss Jones T. P. Randall
 Prof. Sporatti Charles Wilson
 Uncle Jake C. A. Miller
 Mrs. Brown Mrs. Viola Godfrey
 Mr. Brown W. C. Goodwin
 Mrs. Swartzberger Mrs. Theo. Clark
 The Bride Miss Katherine Sennott
 The Groom H. A. Swafford
 College Girls Misses Buchanan, Charman and Caulfield
 The Dude Fred Legler
 Handy Andy Ray Morris
 Giggling Sal Mrs. Edna Holman
 The Parson Waldo Canfield
 The Bostonians Misses Mrs. Leithwaite and Mrs. Carey
 Town Boys Messrs. Moody, Hedges, Gault, Wilson and Farr
 Lemonaid Man Mortimer Latourette
 Wheel of Fortune Man Carl Johnke
 Bailout Man A. L. Price
 The Widower Earl Latourette
 Confetti Man John Clark
 Prof. Lightfoot Mr. Young
 Mr. Swartzberger William Howard
 The main chorus, which will be one of the real features of the show is composed of the following:
 Misses Elsie Phillips, Lillian Tack-irgi, Roberta Suchsobel, Marjorie Fraker, Irene Hanny, Edith Aldrich, Edna Caulfield, Norma Holman, Rose Justin, Madge Brightbill, Mrs. Kennedy and Miss Fashberg, and Messrs. Joseph Hedges, Lyle Gault, Arthur Farr, Walter Carey, Kent Woodson, Kent Moody, Roland Fosburg, Gerald Warner, Charles Beattie, Fred Legler, Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Hickman.

The plot, based on a day at an old-time county fair, will give ample opportunity for much excellent character work, and those who have witnessed the rehearsals say that a general surprise will be offered the audience on the first night. Special costumes and imported scenery will be features of the production.

"TOM LAWSON DAY" ALSO A BIRTHDAY

NEW YORK, June 13.—"Friday the thirteenth" has never failed to attract attention in Wall street since Tom Lawson published his book of that title. But until today there never has been anything to justify the attention bestowed on the date combining the hoodoo Friday and the unlucky thirteenth. Today, however, the street recalled the fact that it was the birthday of Henry Pomeroy Davison. In past years the birthday anniversary of Mr. Davison was not noticed. But the death of J. Pierpont Morgan brooded about a change, for Mr. Davison is now recognized as the most conspicuous figure in the house of Morgan—the man who furnishes the dynamic force of the great banking firm.

Mr. Davison is but forty-six years old. Twenty years ago he was a clerk in a bank at a salary of $200 a year. That was in the town of Troy, Pa. A few years later he landed in New York and finally obtained a position in the Liberty National bank. From the Liberty National he went to the First National bank. His ability was quickly recognized by Mr. Morgan as soon as that astute financier came in contact with him. In the paucity days of 1907, when there were all-night conferences in the Morgan library, Mr. Davison was among those present. The next year, after the smoke had cleared away, the young banker was taken into the Morgan firm and soon assumed a position of leadership.

RIOTERS PLOT ESCAPE FROM COUNTY JAIL

DEPUTIES BALK CONSPIRACY TO ATTACK SHERIFF AT NOON-DAY MEAL TIME

PRISONERS KINDLE FIRE IN WALLS

Portland Agitators, Held for Appearance Before July Term of Superior Court, Turn Desperate in Efforts to Avoid Facing Arraignment for Penitentiary Offense.

Fifteen rioters held in the Clackamas county jail late Friday afternoon attempted to set fire to that structure, presumably with the purpose of gaining their freedom in the expected confusion. The attempt followed the miscarriage of a plot on their part to escape by means of an attack upon Sheriff E. T. Mass when he brought them their noon meal. This first scheme was frustrated through the careful watch of a deputy on duty in the rear of the jail, Thursday night, who overheard the prisoners planning to overpower the officer when he came in with dinner, and "beat him to jelly."

The fifteen men now being held for trial at the July term of the circuit court have all been indicted by a grand jury for rioting in the course of the disturbances Tuesday night. While most of them have worked in the local mills, investigation has shown that they have only worked for from three to six days, and it is believed they were sent there to get positions by the plotters in Portland, so as to be inside the industrial plants when the signal for attack was given. County Records Impelled.

Late this afternoon they stuffed rags, part of which they tore from their clothes and newspapers, into a ventilating opening that runs from the exercise room of the jail into a vault in the rear of the building, where the county records are kept. This mass of paper and rags was fired from the jail side, and burned readily, a draught of exhaust air carrying the smoke into the vault. The smell of burning paper attracted employees on the main floor of the courthouse, an investigation was commenced and the sheriff notified.

On entering the vault room, Sheriff Mass found a stream of sparks and smoke pouring out of the ventilating opening in the wall. He at once unreeled the fire hose, and by dint of hard work managed to put the blaze out before the county records had been damaged. Immediately after the danger had been averted the sheriff and a force of deputies entered the jail and removed all paper, scraps of wood, loose articles or other matter that might be used in a second attempt of like nature.

The plot to attack the sheriff or his deputies at meal time was reported to the county official this morning when guards were changed. The deputy on duty Thursday night told of overhearing the men planning to strike down whoever brought their dinner at noon-time Friday, and to escape by means of the ventilating opening through the open door. Warned of this, dinner was taken in to the prisoners by the sheriff and two heavily armed deputies, and no violence was attempted.

The "Self Interest League" of America

The most natural, the most human, if not the most altruistic, bond is that of self-interest. There are thousands of associations, leagues, and societies all over the country that bear witness to uniting force of a common, personal cause.

The biggest society in the country is one that has no president, no by-laws, nor, in fact, any specified organization. Yet practically every man and woman belongs to it.

It is the Society of Newspaper Readers. Their only bond is that of self-interest.

All men and women know that in order to be able to hold their own with their neighbors they must learn what the newspapers have to tell them, not only in regard to general events of the day, but also in regard to the specific activities of the locality in which they live.
