PROBABLY LAST REUNION

LONDON, O., July 10.-What will in all probability be the last reunion they will ever hold was begun here today by a handful of veterans of the Mexican war. The old soldiers, who look upon the veterans at the recent Gettysburg reunion as mere young sters, plan to spend several days here in renewing acquaintance and swapping yarns of the stirring days when they followed Winfield Scott and "Zach" Taylor in the campaign below the Rio Grande. The leading spirit of the reunion is Captain J. D. Fisher, of Chillicothe, O., who is president of the National Association of Mexican War Veterans. Captain Fisher is 87 years old and almost blind,

His widow is well known throughout the county as one of the brightest and most efficient school workers. Before coming here she was prominent in educational work in the commonwealth of Washington, and could have been appointed state superintendent if she had remained in the neighboring state. She preferred. however, to come to Oregon, so as at the state fair and at eastern land to be with her husband.

Mrs. Curran has been taking part in the work of the county summer school at Gladstone park, but left there last week owing to her husband's illness. sational nature. The story of the aileged rioting was told in the briefest possible form, the defendants answered the questions put to them in low tones, and at no time was there any attempt at disorder.

The defense was based largely upon the allegation that the fifteen men arrested had taken no part in the rioting, and that the ringleaders in the disturbance got away. Most of the men said that they had worked in the mills for but a few days, and that as they found the work much harder than they had expected, they were intending soon to quit. One after another the men said that they had been working in the mills, had not been engaged in any agitation for a strike, and had suddenly found the mills shut down by men they did not know. All denied taking any part in the trouble, and declared that when they were arrested by the sheriff and his deputies they had simply been "standing around trying to find out

After both sides had closed direct testimony the state endeavored to get in further evidence on rebuttal, and called several witnesses, but objections to their testimony were made by John A. Jeffrey, attorney for the defense, and in almost every instance the court upheld the objections. At five o'clock the state concluded its re-

It developed Thursday that an employee at the Crown-Columbia mill, on the west side of the river, had Wed nesday received a "black-hand letter," warning him not to go to work that night, on peril of being blown up. Instead of turning the letter over to the authorities, the man showed it to a number of his fellow-workmen, and as a result there was a mild scare, which kept several men from working on the night shift. It is believed the letter was sent as a practical joke.

questions can be answered. Will coming years see greater celebrations and rejoicings? The methods of celebrating doubtless will be modified. Perhaps less ringing of bells and noise of cannon may attend it, but the enthusiasm of the people is still unmistakable, and in whatever form it finds expression, so long as the Fourth of July is celebrated with unabated zeal and our children are fired by it with the same patriotism which animated their fathers and their forefathers, our nation is safe. APPLETON, Wis., July 9.-Appleton is entertaining for the next six days the annual session of the Evangelical Lutheran synod of Wisconsin. Today was devoted largely to the reception of the delegates.

The Stuff Successful Men Are Made of

The International Correspondence Schools are NOT closed in summer. All of our truly ambitious students those who think more about the increased salaries their studies will qualify them to earn, than of the imaginary discomforts of summer study—devote a part of week to their studies all summer.

A student who will only study in cold weather punishes himself, Why? Because he takes two or three times as long, in preparing himself to earn more money, as the student who studies from a half hour to an hour per day all the year round. We have enough letters on file to make several very large books, the general purport of which is: "Oh, if I had only taken up that Course when I first wrote you about it! I have just missed a fine position, at largely increased wages, because I wasn't prepared to fill it. I lacked just the special knowledge I could have had from the Course." The writers of these letters never have to be coaxed to study in summer NOW. They knew what delay costs. Why not profit by THEIR experience, instead of taking the same bitter medicine yourself? Persons that suffer most from the heat are those that have nothing else to occupy their thoughts. A man who is interested in his studies doesn't know how hot it is. He has no time to fret about the weather. He is looking ahead a few months to the time when he can demand advancement in position and salary, because his special education will have made his services of more value to his employer. It is no harder to read an Instruction Paper in summer than to read a newspaper. How many summer days are hot enough to prevent you from reading the daily news?

The man who promises himself that he will enroll next fall is only trying to deceive his conscience. He may not know it, but he is weakening his will-power, and it is will-power—power to do what one knows he must do to succeed—that makes the man. A man of weak will-one who will study some day, but not now-will always be down in the world; always in "hard luck," frequently out of work, and when employed, it will always be at low wages. He knows that a knowledge of certain subjects will fit him to earn more; yet he stills his conscience by promising to start later. Such a man isn't truly ambitious. He is one of the kind that always does the hard, menial work, and draws small pay all his life. Are YOU one of that kind. Are YOU truly ambitious to earn more and make something of yourself? If you wont study in summer you are NOT. If you prefer to fret about hot weather, rather than forget it by studying, you are NOT. The dangerous habit of "putting off" has ruined the lives of more promising young men than drunkenness. It is so easy to say "yes, it's what I need; I'll start tomorrow—next week—some other time." The difference between the man that makes a failure of life and the man that succeeds is simply this: The failure is going to begin "tomor-

The men who "get there" are those that study for self-improve ment in summer, or whenever they have time. They don't let the weather keep them in inferior positions, at small wages. They don't make excuses to themselves when they ought to be up and They don't work for wages barely enough to keep soul and body together either.
