TO INCREASE CROP

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COL-LEGE, Corvallis, Ore., July 11,-"Every ton of spoiled hay contains as blossoms of the garden and field and much plant food as is taken away dry them, mix with spices and sprinkle from the farm in 30 bushels of wheat, with alcohol. Then visit the remnant or 66 bushels of oats, or 200 bushels of potatoes, or 600 bushels of apples, or one ton of fat hogs, or four tons of milk, or ten tons of butter. Every acre of spoiled hay if applied to the bushel oat crops, or three 200-bushel potato crops, or three 690-bushel apple crops, without any depreciation in the fertility of the soil; and where applied to lands not now goving a maximum crop, will bring a greatly increased yield and still leave the soil enriched.

The principle governing here is the same as that which requires that hay be not sold at all, but be fed to livestock on the farm. ### FRUIT CROP SCANT; MUCH GOING EAST

That Oregon, though a great fruit growing state, will have to rely upon Washington and California for most of its crop this year is indicated by reports from the fruit regions. Hood River orchardists say that the floods and rains have just about killed the pear crop. Rains in the same locality have raised hob with the apple crop. Peaches from orchards at The Dalles are being shipped to Eastern marke's where better prices are paid, and Columbia basin cherries are also going to the East for higher priced markets. This leaves the state supply scarce, and means high prices at home for Oregon fruit, and a chance for Yakima and Eastern Washington orchardists to unload much of their crop in Portland, instead of canning their sur-

The local supply of cherries is at present not sufficient to meet the local demand. Logan berries are also on the scant list, and about the only fruit being sold at seasonable prices here is raspberries, which are plentior for the birthday anniversary and ful and selling from $1.10 to $1.50 per

The Stuff Successful Men Are Made of

The International Correspondence Schools are NOT closed in summer. All of car truly ambitious students those who think more about the increased salaries their studies will qualify them to earn, than of the imaginary discomforts of summer study-devote a part of each week to their studies all summer.

A student who will only study in cold weather punishes himself. Why? Because he takes two or three times as long, in preparing himself to earn more money, as the student who studies from a half hour to an hour per day all the year round. We have enough letters on file to make several very large books, the general purport of which is: "Oh, if I had only taken up that Course when I first wrote you about I have just missed a fine position, at largely increased wages, because I wasn't prepared to fill it. I lacked just the special knowledge I could have had from the Course." The writers of these letters never have to be coaxed to study in summer NOW. They knew what delay costs. Why not profit by THEIR experience, instead of taking the same bitter medicine yourself?

Persons that suffer most from the heat are those that have nothing else to occupy their thoughts. A man who is interested in his studies doesn't know how hot it is. He has no time to fret about the weather. He is looking ahead a few months to the time when he can demand advancement in position and salary, because his special education will have made his services of more value to his employer. It is no harder to read an Instruction Paper in summer than to read a newspaper. How many summer days are hot enough to prevent you from reading the daily news? The man who promises himself that he will enroll next fall is only trying to deceive his conscience. He may not know it, but he is weakening his will-power, and it is will-power-power to do what one knows he must do to succeed-that makes the man. A man of weak will—one who will study some day, but not now—will always be down in the world; always in "hard luck," frequently out of work, and when employed, it will always be at low wages. He knows that a knowledge of certain subjects will fit him to earn more; yet he stills his conscience by promising to start later. Such a man isn't truly ambitious. He is one of the kind that always does the hard, menial work, and draws small pay all his life. Are YOU one of that kind. Are YOU truly ambitious to earn more and make something of yourself? If you wont study in summer you are NOT. If you prefer to fret about hot weather, rather than forget it by studying, you are NOT.

The dangerous habit of "putting off" has ruined the lives of more promising young men than drunkenness. It is so easy to say "yes, it's what I need; I'll start tomorrow—next week—some other time." The difference between the man that makes a failure of life and the man that succeeds is simply this: The failure is going to begin "tomorrow;" the success begins today.

The men who "get there" are those that study for self-improvement in summer, or whenever they have time. They don't let the weather keep them in inferior positions, at small wages. They don't make excuses to themselves when they ought to be up and doing. They don't work for wages barely enough to keep soul and body to-
