COUNCIL MEETS TWICE IN DAY

SPECIAL SESSION IS HELD AT NIGHT TO INTRODUCE DOG
MUZZLING ORDINANCE

ROCK CRUSHER PURCHASE DELAYED

Seventh Street Improvement Also Goes Over Until Committee
Has Report Ready—High
St. Grade Changed

Two sessions of the city council were held Wednesday, one at half past nine in the morning, when business was transacted with such dispatch that one of the most important matters was entirely forgotten; and the second at half past seven in the evening, to take up the "left over" from the morning session.

The evening meeting was called primarily to have introduced and passed to second reading an ordinance empowering the mayor to issue a proclamation at any time ordering all dogs in the city to be muzzled and restrained, and also to provide that during the months of July, August, September and October, all dogs should be muzzled if running at large. This ordinance was promptly put under way, and as it is an emergency measure will become effective in ten days. In the meantime it is the urgent request of the city authorities that all dogs be muzzled or restrained from running at large. There was no opposition to the ordinance.

The morning session moved with a briskness and harmony that was remarked upon by many who were present. There was no wrangling, and but little lengthy discussion of measures. An ordinance was adopted changing the grade of High street, and considerable routine business transacted.

The matter of the improvement of Seventh street was postponed for a week, and a committee appointed to confer with property owners at the lower end of that thoroughfare in regard to carrying it through full width to the edge of the bluff.

In the matter of the purchase of the Jones rock-crusher by the city, no action was taken, Councilman Toozee, chairman of the special committee at present having this matter in charge, being absent.

John McCus, a Portland attorney, addressed the council upon the claims of the McAlpin-Wilson contracting company for a bill of $500 on past work. The matter was referred to the street committee for settlement.

GLADSTONE PARK, July 16.—Denouncing in no uncertain terms the social life of modern society women, and also taking a rap at "cafe" habitues of Portland, Dr. Matt S. Hughes lectured before 2000 people at Chautauqua Wednesday afternoon on "The Dimensions of Life." The eloquent Californian, in turning his guns on the gatherings of modern society women, intimated that their empty discussions were open confessions of intellectual poverty and that the silly games participated in at the afternoon gatherings would not even be permitted from a first-class kindergarten.

"I dined at a cafe in Portland after leaving here the other night," said Dr. Hughes. "I saw your so-called 'high-life' there, and I want to say it was far from appetizing,—even when served up with beans."

Dr. Hughes' talk was a plea for the mental, moral and spiritual development of men. "I believe it is really more practical to tell how to make a life than to tell how to make a living. Do you realize that it is life that gives significance to time, and not time which gives significance to life. The dimensions of life are then, time, in the sense of length or space, breadth, in the sense of breadth of heart, breadth of knowing and feeling, or broadly speaking breadth of

Celebration of Golden Potlatch at Seattle Is The Oddest Anniversary of Pacific Coast.

The golden potlatch at Seattle, Wash., which was scheduled to start on July 16 in accordance with the yearly custom, is a unique three day celebration. In July, 1897, the ship Portland steamed into Elliott bay, Seattle, laden with the yellow gold dust which had been obtained at El Dorado in the Klondike. Assisting in the celebration this year there will be the type of the potlatch and his siltum chiefs and shamans. The word potlatch is taken from the Chinook word for the gift—something freely given. The Indians of Washington's waterways and the Alaskan coast expanded the meaning of the word so that potlatch came to mean a feast, or, better, a festival given by the chief of a tribe which lasted until the host had given away all of his earthly possessions to the various guests who had been invited to participate in the ceremony. At the end he was broke, but had experienced the time of his life and was respected by all other members of his tribe until his dying day. The picture shows how the miners and Indians look as the Portland enters the harbor for each year's celebration.

FIRE THREATENS BUSINESS BLOCK

TOLPOLAR STORAGE WARE-
HOUSE GUTTED BY BLAZE;
LOSS WILL BE $3,000

WILLAMETTE HOTEL IS ENDANGERED

Greenpoint Hose Company Makes
Long Run Responding to Second Alarm—Flames Are Difficult to Subdue

Fire, which for a time threatened to include in its destruction the Willamette hotel, broke out about ten o'clock Wednesday evening in a two-story frame warehouse at the corner of Fifth street and Railroad avenue, occupied as a storage building by I. Tolpolar, second hand dealer. The origin of the blaze has not been ascertained. Smoke was smelted in the vicinity of the building, which is just to the south of the main business section of the city, for sometime before the flames were discovered; but as weeds and grass were being burned on the river front, nobody thought of any danger.

When the alarm was turned in the entire interior of the structure was a mass of flames, and before the apparatus reached the scene sparks and tongues of fire were flaring high in the air above the building. The fire had gained such headway that the first streams of water turned upon it had practically no effect, and a second alarm was rung in some ten minutes later.

Responding to this the Greenpoint hose company made a run of practically half a mile, and attacked the fire from the rear, members of the company working on a narrow runway that extended from the Southern Pacific embankment to the second story of the burning structure. By this time several streams were gotten upon the fire, and the blaze was kept from spreading, though it was fully an hour later before the smoldering mass of wrecked furniture within the storage warehouse was extinguished. The loss is estimated at about $3,000, possibly $800 of this being to the building. But a small amount of insurance was carried.

During the heat of the fire the wind carried the main part of the heat and sparks directly towards the rear of the Willamette hotel, on Sixth street, and tenants of this building hastily made preparations to evacuate. Many of them had retired, and the glare of the flames and the crackling of the fire created a near-panic for a few minutes. Volunteers kept streams of water playing on the three stories of the hotel, however, and though the paint on the building was blistered, and the walls at times began to steam the big building did not catch fire.

POLICEMAN SHOTS MIRROR

NEW YORK, July 16.—Patrolman Maner of the Mulberry street station does not like to hear anybody mention the word "mirror" in his presence. The other night, while passing a drug store on the Bowery he thought he saw a burglar in the rear part of the store. Boldly he broke the plate glass pane of the door and entered, revolver in hand. The burglar was still there and Maner fired a shot at him. There was a great noise and the supposed burglar disappeared, and the splintered mirror no longer reflected Maner's silhouette.

WAUSAU, Wis., July 16.—A large and representative attendance of delegates marked the opening here today of the annual convention of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor.

DIPLOMAT CALLED BACK FROM POST

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The announcement was made formally at the White House today that Ambassador Wilson had been summoned from Mexico City for a conference with the president on the Mexican situation.

Commenting on this, Secretary Bryan said tonight that this step had been in contemplation for some time. He refused to discuss a suggestion that this statement indicated the Ambassador's recall and was not brought about by the action of the diplomatic body in Mexico City in formulating a joint complaint against the attitude of the United States toward the Huerta government.

NEW TAX EXEMPTION PLAN IS PROPOSED

Petitions are now being circulated for a constitutional amendment to exempt from tax a valuation of $1,500 of every person's total assessment for his or her dwelling house, livestock, machinery or other matter used in making a home or earning a living. The petition has been framed by W. S. U'Ren and others, among whom is Commissioner Will Daly, of the present Portland commission.

A part of the proposed amendment provides for two resubmissions of the measure if it is adopted, so that the people, if not satisfied with its working, may repeal it. The section dealing with this feature reads as follows:

"The secretary of state is hereby directed to resubmit this section for repeal or reapproval by the people at
