Oldest Playhouse Closes

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 17.-Pa trons of the theater and members of the theatrical profession everywhere will learn with regret that the famous Walnut Street Theater in this city is about to pass into history. The theater has been refused a license for failing to comply with the new safety Flimsy Garments Are Not Solution standard fixed by the city authorities. As compliance with the requirements would mean a complete rebuilding of the theater it is likely that the house will never reopen again. It is America's oldest playhouse and was built

In Memory of Andre

STOCKHOLM, July 17.—Under the auspices of the Stockholm Geographical society memorial exercises were held today to mark the sixteenth an niversary of the ascent of the balloon which carried the explorer Andre and his intrepid campanions to destruction. In further observance of the anniversary a number of floral offerings were placed about the handsome memorial erected here to commemorate the ill-fated expedition in quest of the North Pole.

Who's to Blame? Public Asked After Latest New Haven Wreck

Photos by American Press Association

EDERAL and state inquiries followed the wreck on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at Stamford, Conn., recently, when six persons were killed and nearly a score injured. The top picture gives a general view of how the big locomotive of the second section of the Boston to New York express plunged into the rear wooden Pullman parior car Skylark of the first section, which was standing still. 'The engineer of the second section testified at the coroner's inquest that he was inexperienced and that the air brakes on the engine were faulty. Because of several wrecks on the same road within the last two years, all near each other, the management of the line was again under public condemnation. The lower picture shows a closer view of how the engine telescoped the wooden car

Insure

Your Expenditures

You can insure yourself against fire, burglary, illness, accident and death, in fact, against almost any calamity you can imagine. There are big companies that look after such matters for you and to whom you pay certain stipulated premiums. You and your family can start a little insurance company of your own for the protection of your purse. In this way you will be both insurer and insured.

By buying THE ENTERPRISE each day, and taking a few min-utes' time to read the advertisements you can protect yourself against the loss occasioned by foolish buying. You and your family owe it to yourselves to make sure that every dollar spent is well spent.

There is no better way to do this than to familiarize yourself with the best articles manufactured and offered for sale in the leading shops. This information may be had by reading the advertising columns of THE ENTER-PRISE systematically and regu-
