Big Ben Makes it his Business

to get people up in the world—he makes it his business to get them up in time. He does it loyally, steadily and promptly—there's a true ring to his morning greeting that makes early risers sit up and take notice. And every morn, America over, Big Ben awakens men who are getting up in the world—men who are setting the pace for the rest—men who strike their stride at the flash of the gun. Big Ben is a thin, beautiful and punctual sleepmaster.—He is easy to read, easy to wind and pleasing to hear.—He calls you every day at any time you say. He's absolutely the finest sleepmaster made, the first one we have felt like displaying in our window alongside of our cut glass and silverware. Look at him when you walk by.
