EQUITY SOCIETY HITS AT RECALL

BEAVER CREEK LOCAL GOES ON RECORD AS OPPOSED TO SCHUEBEL METHODS

LEADER OF MOVEMENT "DANGEROUS"

Unanimous Action of Farmers is Said to Blow to Pieces of Political Clique Opposing County Officials

Beaver Creek local, of the Farmers' Society of Equity, took a slap at the recall movement against County Judge R. B. Beattie and County Commissioner Blair, as well as at one of the leaders behind it, at its last meeting, when resolutions were unanimously adopted to the effect that Beaver Creek local would have nothing further to do with Robert Schuebel, as it considered him a man dangerous to the welfare of the Equity society.

Beaver Creek local is one of the largest and most influential locals of the county, and carries much weight in Equity society affairs. Schuebel, the man against whom the resolutions were directed, has been a prime mover in the recall plans, was the leader and chief investigator of the charges presented against the county officials, and was the man who had most to do with making out the report of Messrs. Brown, Schuebel and Castro, which declared that the charges were found to be true. Following the submission of this report, many of its allegations were later admitted to be untrue, and this was excused upon the grounds that the investigating committee had insufficient facts at its disposal.

Throughout the recall agitation Schuebel has been a frequent contributor to the columns of The Courier, the organ of the recallers, and has bitterly attacked Judge Beattie as a county official. It is said that his biased charges, and his evident motive to see nothing but wrong in the management of the county affairs, brought about the action of the Beaver Creek local.

William Grissenthwaite, who was one of the strong candidates for the recall nomination for county judge, is secretary of the Beaver Creek local of the Equity society, and is a man who has heretofore been high in the councils of the recallers. He is at present a member of the financial committee of the recall movement. The fact that he joined in the resolution against Schuebel is regarded as significant.

CHURCHMEN MAY "RAID" CIRCUS

MEMBERS OF CONGREGATIONS
BELIEVE LAW EMPOWERS
THEM TO TAKE ACTION

MINISTERS GIVE UP ENDEAVORS

Pastors Themselves Admit Code Provides No Way to Prevent Performance, But Lairy
May Make Attempt

Local ministers who have been carrying on a campaign to prevent the performance here next Sunday of a wild West show gave up their fight Thursday, and admitted that they believed, after due investigation, that there was no provision of the law which empowered Sheriff E. T. Mass to stop the performance. They were warm in their commendation of the sheriff's willingness to do all that the law permits him to do, but said that they were convinced that the statute dealing with Sunday amusements made provision for the punishment of any save the "person who keeps open" one of the stipulated places mentioned in the law.

While the ministers appear to have given up the fight, opposition to the circus is not passed by any means. Prominent church members, who have flocked to the support of their pastors, have been looking up the law upon their own responsibility, and have decided that they can act as special officers of the law without commission. They plan to try their hand at stopping the show, it is reported, and will "arrest" performers who may attempt to put on their various acts.

The men who plan to do this base their authority upon section 1768, of Lord's Oregon Laws, which reads: "A private person may arrest another for the causes specified in section 1763 in like manner and with like effect as a peace officer without warrant."

The section referred to in this regard is as follows: "A peace officer may without warrant arrest a person, (1) for a crime committed or attempted in his presence; (2) when the person arrested has committed a felony although not in his presence; (3) when a felony in fact has been committed and the person arrested is a reasonable cause for believing the person arrested to have committed it."

In these sections the churchmen believe they find authority to do what Sheriff E. T. Mass does not believe he can do—arrest the performers of the show, and have taken legal advice, and have been told that any person connected in any way with a Sunday amusement is guilty of a violation of the law, and they intend to arrest upon this opinion. Deputy District Attorney Stipp, in giving his opinion to the sheriff at first, expressed the belief that the performance was a violation of the law, and it is upon this ruling, and not upon the later conception of the law, that the churchmen intend to act.

Sheriff Mass refused Thursday to comment any further upon the "circus question" save to reiterate that he would arrest "the person who keeps open" the show. The sheriff says that as far as the law will permit him to do, he will do it, and he may be restrained from doing that.

Governor West, for whom the objecting ministers have prepared a letter of protest, is not at Salem, and will not return to the capital until late Saturday night.

Miss Bertha V. Lagler is a late addition to the ranks of flying women. She has come from France to exhibit her skill in handling an aeroplane, and she promises some daring feats. Miss Lagler is a graduate of a French aviation school and made many flights in Europe before coming to the United States. She declares that most of the stunts performed by fliers are tame and uninteresting.

GLADSTONE DOGS MUST TAKE CARE

STRICT ORDINANCE IS NOW LAW
WITH MOST RIGID PROVISIONS

COLLARS, MUZZLES, TONGS DEMANDED

Only "Free Territory" Left for Canines in District is at Park-place—Rabies Epidemic Controlled

Gladstone's city council Thursday night passed finally the strict ordinance providing for the licensing, muzzling and restraining of dogs within the city limits, and the measure was signed by the acting mayor, becoming a law at once. The statute provides that every dog must wear a collar to which must be attached a brass license tag, that during the summer months the animal must be muzzled in such a way as to conform with the requirements of the Oregon Humane Society's rules, and also provides penalties for failure to observe its various sections, and a penalty for interfering with any municipal officer who is taking a dog to the pound.

One peculiar provision of the law provides that any dog that is killed in the city pound, or made away with by order of the city officials, must be taken outside the limits of the city and buried. No departed canines are to be interred within the city.

By the passage of this ordinance, Gladstone gets in line with Oregon City, Portland and other leading communities, and provides steps which should go a long way towards preventing the spread of any future epidemics of rabies. The Gladstone law is the most strict of any in the state, and under its provisions dogs will have to be kept under the most careful supervision if they do not violate some of its provisions.

About the only spot left where dogs can do as they please in the lower valley now is Parkplace, which has no provisions of its own in regard to canines, and which is not included in the district affected by the general order recently posted by the State Livestock Sanitary commission, Parkplace, either because of this, or through a coincidence, has been the scene of a number of attacks on people by unrestrained canines.

County Veterinarian Eddy, who has been keeping careful watch on dogs and stock that have recently been suspected of hydrophobia infection says that none of the animals now under observation show symptoms of the disease, and he hopes that it is stamped out. Dogs that were known to have been suffering from infection were killed. The big bulldog that last week created considerable of a panic in Gladstone and throughout the surrounding country, and which later came home in an apparently normal condition, has since then shown no signs of being affected.

Dogs that have been confined in the Oregon City pound have also appeared to be all right, and have been released. It is not believed that there are any animals in the county at large at present that have rabies, and unless some new animal runs in from outside, no further trouble is expected.

ENDORSEMENTS COMING SLOWLY

RECALLERS SECURE BARELY E-NOUGH SIGNATURES TO GET UPON BALLOT

MISREPRESENTATION IS RAMPANT

Anderson and Smith Nominated "By Petition" After Nearly Two Weeks of Desperate
Scurrying

Though petition circulators are busily canvassing the county, and although nearly two weeks have elapsed since H. S. Anderson and J. W. Smith were nominated at a slimly attended convention as the recall candidates for county judge and county commissioner, promoters of the movement seem to be having difficulty in getting their nominating petitions signed. A bare sufficiency to secure the placing of these two names on the ballot was secured Thursday night when W. H. Hagemann filed with the county clerk two petitions one, for Smith bearing 252 signatures, and one for Anderson bearing 255 signatures.

The recallers are expending every energy to keep enthusiasm in their plans alive and are even falsely representing the number of names that were signed to the petitions for the election. These petitions had but a margin of 200 over the required number to cover errors of faulty figures in case they had been checked, yet circulators of the nominating petitions are representing that the petitions carried 3,400 names.

John R. Coe of Molalla, is one of those who reports the methods employed. "A man with a petition came to me and asked me to sign it, saying there were 3,400 voters who had asked that the county court be recalled. This seemed to me like a much larger number than I had been informed had signed the petitions, and upon investigation I found that it was just about double," he said.

There were exactly 1,748 signatures upon the petition to recall Judge Beattie, and 1,720 on the petition against County Commissioner Blair. Practically everybody who signed one petition, signed the other.

The scant 250 names upon the nominating petition are sufficient to get the names of Anderson and Smith upon the ballot, the law requiring but 3 percent of the voters. Many who signed the recall petitions refused to sign those naming the men named by the "convention" of 17 that was held in Oregon City.

County Clerk Mulvey is accepting the petitions on their face value, and is not attempting to check over the names, to see if all are legal voters, or whether there are repetitions or forgeries. He says that as long as the circulators have sworn to them, responsibility for their correctness must lie with them, and they must stand any punishment for inaccuracies that may later be discovered.

TOM KAY "IN BAD" WITH COUNTY MEN

Failure of Almonde Sallance and "sneak" duPaix to appear for trial in Justice Stevers' court Thursday at their appointed time, and the failure of Tom Kay to get convictions in the Portland cases of the Frenchmen whom he had arrested at Milwaukie some days ago on a general charge of vagrancy, has not improved the former Portland policeman's standing with Clackamas county officials. Thomas is the Portland cop who was once discharged upon charges, later reinstated, then reduced from the rank of sergeant, and who then resigned and became Governor West's special agent.

WORK ON ELEVATOR IS NOW UNDER WAY

Excavation work for the municipal elevator that will carry people up the face of the bluff at Seventh street has been commenced, the present effort being devoted to clearing out the end of Seventh street right up to the South Pacific property line. After the street has been cut back into the railroad embankment to the right-of-way border, the sinking of a pit for the concrete foundation of the tower will be started.

Making Your Dollar Do Double Duty

Our dollars come hard enough to most of us to make us interested in anything which will tend to give them greater purchasing power. And so our readers will appreciate our repetition of the same idea in these talks on advertising, when we call attention again to the daily possibilities for economy and saving offered by careful and intelligent buying of the year-in, year-out things that all of us must buy.

Clothes, food, recreation—all are better bought, more intelligently bought, more economically bought by those who read the advertising with care and understanding.

In saying how much a dollar will buy, it makes all the difference in the world who spends the dollar.

PEPPER LATEST STRIKE WEAPON

CALUMET, Mich., July 31.—Incidental to the copper miners' strike, hot water, red pepper and various household utensils were used as a supplement to revolvers and bayonets in a fight today between deputy sheriffs and men and women inmates of a Hungarian boarding-house at the Wolverine mine. The battle ended with the arrest of three after troops had rescued the civil officers from a threatening mob.

The arrests were part of a series which the sheriff's office has instituted within the last 24 hours in an effort to imprison ringleaders of the disorders.

The Western Federation of Miners' headquarters has let it be known that every possible effort will be made to provide successful defense for the arrested men.

SUFFRAGISTS HIT SENATE EN MASSE

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 31.—The second big demonstration that the advocates of woman suffrage have held in the national capital this year took place today and was carried out far more successfully than the similar demonstration and parade held last March on the eve of the inauguration of President Wilson. The chief object of the demonstration today was to present petitions to the senate asking that body to pass immediately a constitutional amendment enfranchising women all over the country.

The demonstration was participated in by delegations of suffragists from many states. The delegations rendezvoused during the forenoon at Hyattsville, Md., where they were officially greeted by the Washington suffragists and escorted into the city in automobiles. At Hyattsville there was a programme of speech-making in the public park and the raising of a suffrage flag.

Upon arrival in the capital the parade of automobiles proceeded south on 14th street to Pennsylvania avenue, and then on to the capitol. The presentation of the petitions to the senate was accompanied by brief addresses delivered by several of the national leaders of the equal suffrage movement.

Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, welcomed the women to the senate chamber.

SINGLE BATHROOM WILL DO FOR TEN

ST. PETERSBURG, July 31.—Looking over the new and the old pavilions where the Tsar entertains guests at his Polish hunting lodge at Spala, Emperor Nicholas remarked that one bathroom to each bedroom was too much.

"It is ridiculous," he exclaimed. "I use the same bathroom as the Tsarina and my children when in the country, and I think one bathroom to every ten visitors will be quite enough."

The Tsar lives at Spala, though the family lives in the greatest simplicity. The bare living room is hung with antlers from stags he, his father and various grand dukes have shot. He is very proud of one he shot thirteen years ago, as it is the most perfect specimen in the world.

LARGEST BARN IN COUNTY IS BURNED

The barn on the Riverman ranch, near New Era, was totally destroyed by fire Thursday morning, and five head of stock were in the blaze, which caused a loss of between $5,000 and $10,000. The fire is believed to have started in some new hay that was stored in the lower part of the structure, and quickly spread to 100 tons of baled hay that was also under cover.

Three horses, all valuable, and two calves were killed before they could be removed from the barn, which was one of the largest in the county, and which had been erected but a short time. Neighbors and men employed upon the ranch fought the flames, but without success, and the building was completely destroyed.

Much valuable farm machinery was also in the great structure, and this was ruined by the heat. The smoke from the blazing hay was seen for many miles, and the workmen engaged in hauling the debris from the fire to give what assistance they could. The loss will be partially met by insurance.
