Peace Maintained by Governments

By ELIHU ROOT, United States Senator From New York

WE hear much of peace today, but let me tell you the peace of the world is MAINTAINED BY THE GREAT GOVERNMENTS OF THE WORLD.

IT IS NOT THE GOVERNMENTS, BUT THE PEOPLES, FROM WHOM THE DANGER OF WAR COMES TODAY AND WILL ALWAYS COME SO LONG AS THEY FAIL TO EXERCISE PROPER SELF RE-STRAINT AND THE COURTESY THAT THE PEACE OF THE WORLD

We in America must learn that we CANNOT CONTINUE A POLICY OF PEACE WITH INSULT. We must learn civility. We must learn that when an American sovereign speaks of the affairs of a foreign nation he must observe those rules of courtesy by which alone the peace of the world can he maintained

Heart to Heart Talks

HIS EAR WASN'T CUT OFF AT ALL. Did you ever hear the story of the ahead of time!-New York Globe.

'war of Jenkins' ear?" Its an interesting bit of history, buried in England's story and resurrected every once in awhile by moral-

The story goes that the Spanish, along about the beginning of the eighteenth century, caught an English captain named Jenkins engaged in illegal Jenkins went back to England and told his fellow countrymen that the Fearful crime! He showed a severed ear, and England went wild about it War was de clared Men were killed and wounded. and ships were captured and their crews sold into slavery, and towns were burned, and women and little children were made homeless. All because of an ear! But after many years the truth came out. Jenkins had the two ears with which Mother Nature had provided him. His ear had never been cut off Some money hungry doctor had sold him an ear to show, or per haps he had robbed a grave. But the men killed in the war were just as dead as if they had died in a righteous cause. Now, before men or nations get into a fight wouldn't it be well to be sure that the Jenkins in the case had really lost his ear?

And wouldn't it be well to de he really lost an ear, whether the ear was worth fighting about?

When your neighbor tells you he has had his ear cut off by another manof course you understand that only a figurative ear is meant-just part his hair and be sure that the ear is gone. faybe his grievance is imaginary and ae hasn't really lost an ear at all.

And, when you think you have been deprived of something that belongs to you, be sure, first, that you have lost it and, second, that you did not deserve to lose it.

It would be well for nations to act in the same way. There would be fewer wars to spread death and desolation over the earth. More plowshares would be benten from swords and the supply of pruning books would be in creased by those made from spears.

THE CHEERFUL SOUL They tell you that habit reconciles you in time to many unwelcome things. Let us not trust to this alone. Custom, indeed, sweetens the rugged lot when the cheerful soul is in it. It does but embitter the more when the soul stays out of it.-James Martineau.

LOW SPEECH.

You know we condemn lowness of speech, and justly so, for the gift of speech is peculiar to a man and a boon which God granted to him, that he may be distinguished from the rest of living creatures This gift, therefore, which God gave us in order to enable us to perfect ourselves. to learn and to teach, must not be employed in doing that which is for us most degrading and disgraceful We must not imitate the songs and tales of ignorant and lascivious people It may be suitable to them, but it is not for those who are told, "And ye shall be unto me a king dom of priests and a holy nation" (Ex xix 6) - Maimonides
