"THIS IS MY 41ST BIRTHDAY"

George White
George White, who is serving his second term as representative in Congress of the fifteenth district of Ohio, was born in Elmira, N. Y., August 21, 1872. He received his A. B. degree from Princeton University in 1895. Some time later he went to the Klondike and when he returned two years later he brought with him a good sized lump of the gold for which that region is famous. In 1902 he located at Marietta, Ohio, which city has since been his home. He engaged in the oil business and in a few years accumulated a fortune. After serving three years as a member of the Ohio general assembly Mr. White was elected to congress on the Democratic ticket in 1910.

Milady's Mirror

Hygiene For Business Women.
First of all, seven or eight hours of sleep are necessary and if possible on one. Always have fresh air circulating in the bedroom. Cold weather need never be an excuse for tightly shut windows. No one who has honestly tried sleeping in a thoroughly ventilated room will willingly go back to the slow suffocation caused by the want of oxygen.
If after a day's trying ordeal the body is tired, the mind sore and discouraged and the spirit drooping, eat sparingly of something very wholesome and simple that is easily digested, relax for half an hour, read a light book or stretch out in some comfortable chair, then sponge the body over with the following lotion, which will soothe the worn-out nerves, rest the limbs and induce sleep: Sea salt, four ounces; spirits of camphor, two ounces; spirits of ammonia, two ounces; pure alcohol, eight ounces.
Add sufficient water to make a full quart. Dissolve the salt in the hot water and let it stand until cool. Pour the spirits of camphor and ammonia into the alcohol, add the salt water and shake well, then bottle for use. Wet the body with this, then rub vigorously until the skin glistens.
Whether the cold bath or the warm bath is taken, it is purely a question of individual taste and pleasure. If the cold water is chilling and there is no reaction after the friction the cold bath should not be indulged in. The French dermatologists object to the habitual cold plunge, preferring the warm bath with the use of a cooler spray afterward and a final rubdown with a toilet vinegar or astringent water. But this again is a matter of taste.
The next most important factor in the business woman's care of herself is exercise. Of course it is often impossible for her to take very much outdoor exercise except on Sundays and holidays, but a few moments in the morning given to physical culture or a few simple exercises adapted to her particular requirements will perform wonders.
Work will never injure looks or health if even ordinary care is bestowed on our bodies and if we follow conscientiously and carefully as far as possible the simple, homely rules of health. Physical culture is the result of long years of thought and experience and is designed to develop and does develop every muscle of the body. It gives poise and physical authority. Select three or four simple exercises and rise fifteen minutes earlier. It may seem trying at first, but after a few efforts the results will be so gratifying that the fifteen minutes given up to these exercises will become a pleasant habit.
Diet is another great factor in the care the business woman should give to herself. The first and most essential point in the matter of diet for the beauty seeker is that it should be plain and wholesome, not flavored with rich sauces or condiments, simple, nutritious and, above all, well cooked. Breakfast should be light, but ample, and the midday meal be more solid. For the hard worked business man and for the great army of women toilers it essentially applies that this meal should be wholesome, but not heavy—a repast that will give as much nourishment and stamina as possible in small bulk. Begin the day with a glass of hot or cold water; then the rest of the meals can be taken dry. Drink several glasses of pure water between meals.
No woman should ever go to bed hungry. A light luncheon of wafers and warm milk, hot water and brown bread or even a few dates is enough to stay the craving and induce sleep. The mistake is to eat heartily and hurriedly, imposing upon the stomach a full meal of half masticated food.
No Iced Drinks For Beauty.
Any girl who values or who is trying to cultivate a good complexion should not drink ice cold drinks of any kind. Plenty of cool water should be drunk, however, and two quarts each day is none too much, at least during the warm weather, says the Philadelphia Telegraph.
Some girls declare they never drink much water. To those I would say then it is high time they began. Just as the body requires to be flushed externally by bathing, so does it need internal flushing, and plenty of cool, fresh water will do this better than medicine. If you are no water drinker try it for the summer and note the difference in your complexion a few months later. But do not like the young girl who said, "Oh, I tried ## amassed by frugality and self denial—

are his favorite quarry, for he knows that the keen business man would investigate too closely. Thus his robberies, for no milder term can be applied, are from those who are least able to bear the loss.
The fake stock peddler's method of attack is peculiarly reprehensible. He fastens upon some one who has a little money and not too much business judgment and acumen. He becomes a hall fellow well met. He wins the confidence of his "prospect." Then he sets about his task of convincing him—or her—that an investment in the securities he has to offer will bring riches.
The deal is made. Then comes the long wait for dividends. Inquiries are met with the reply that development of the property is taking up all the available cash, but that large dividends will be paid—soon. The certainty of future wealth gradually fades into doubt and doubt fades again into certainty—certainty that the investment is worthless and the money gone. Slowly the mulcted investor realizes that his savings are wasted and that he has nothing in return. With some of them it means the transition from comfort to want. With all it means loss of confidence in humanity.
If the "blue sky" law proves to be the means by which these pirates of business are driven out it will have performed a great service for Oregon.
It would seem that the health officials should have acted earlier in closing the Star Dairy. In the typhoid fever cases that have been reported in The Enterprise, a majority of the patients used milk from this dairy.
In his pursuit after "Blackie" Hos Sheriff Mass could not have been more earnest if his name had been correctly spelled that way.

Heart to Heart Talks

"THE WORLD DOES MOVE!
"Sooner or later," says an editorial writer, "every 'necessary evil' becomes unnecessary."
We hear too much of "necessary evils." If every one who used the phrase were to do something to abate them the world would soon be rid of some of its worst ills.
Ever since the cave man looked upon the great saber toothed tiger as an inevitable part of his existence, to be avoided if possible but not to be exterminated, men have been afraid to tackle their problems manfully.
And the problems live. When they finally go at them men find them not so hard to solve as they have feared.
If we really sat down to think hard about some of the things which afflict modern civilization such as the prevalence of disease and immorality and selfishness and the unequal distribution of wealth we should find a way to make these "necessary evils" unnecessary.
A few centuries ago there were in England about 150 offenses against the law punishable by death. Now there is one.
One hundred years ago the mentally afflicted were treated as criminals. Instead of getting medical care which they needed and which they receive now they were fastened up in strait jackets and left to suffer the horrors of hunger and thirst and darkness. Lunacy, you see, was a necessary evil, to be treated as such, not as something to be cured. We have abolished that and we are on the road to the prevention of insanity.
One necessary evil going.
We have been hearing much of the reclamation of girls and women who go wrong. There will come a time when they will no longer be regarded as a necessary evil when the same spirit which freed the lunatic from the charge of criminality will treat these unfortunate as victims of causes out side of themselves.
So will another necessary evil be eliminated.
In spite of pessimism the world does advance in righteousness. The pessimist is wrong in looking only at the cloud. The optimist proves his shallowness sometimes by seeing only the silver lining.
Better than either is the meliorist who holds that the world is advancing slowly perhaps but no less surely, in the ways of right and justice.

An Old Hero.

LAJOIE MAY BE TRADED.

Detroit and Chicago Clubs After Cleveland Veteran.
Larry Lajoie, the veteran Cleveland player, who was deposited as the team's regular second sacker by Manager Joe Birmingham recently, may be seen in a Chicago or Detroit uniform shortly. It is said that Managers Callahan and Jennings are now dickering for the Frenchman.
Lajoie is sore at heart over being made what he terms a bench warmer when he is still able to play the position. He stated recently that he would sooner quit the game than warm the bench or be a substitute. Lajoie is one of the most famous infielders and batters in the game and has been in harness for seventeen seasons. Man-

American Singers Have Little Chance of Success Abroad

By MILTON ABORN, American Operatic and Dramatic Producer
THE much faulted "artistic atmosphere" of European capitals is spelled G-R-A-F-T.
Most of the teachers and agents there are out for the great American dollar, and their love for their art is expressed in MARKS, FLORINS AND FRANCS.
A MEDIOCRE SINGER CAN SECURE A SINGLE PERFORMANCE IN ONE OF THE FOREMOST OPERA HOUSES IF HE CAN AND WILL PAY A THOUSAND DOLLARS OR SO TO AN AGENT WHO HAS SOME UNDERGROUND CONNECTION WITH THE MANAGEMENT. ON THE OTHER HAND, A REALLY GREAT ARTIST HAS A LONG AND ALMOST HOPELESS STRUGGLE UNLESS HE HAS A LOT OF MONEY WITH WHICH TO BUY HIS WAY TO A PROPER HEARING.
There are agents who will give a young singer or musician a concert appearance for a stated sum, furnishing the audience, the claque and the criticisms for various additional payments. On every hand there are teachers promoting ordinary singers whose hopes are kept at a high pitch by predictions of operatic triumphs to come. THE HIGHER THE PUPIL'S HOPES THE FASTER HE PAYS HIS MONEY TO THE TEACHER.
A prima donna who has signed a contract for two hundred francs a month—about TEN DOLLARS A WEEK—to sing leading roles in a small municipal opera house in Germany must supply her own costumes and wigs, and there was a proviso in her contract to the effect that if she did not "make good" in three weeks her contract would become null and void. There are a great many other foolish American singers doing the same thing in Europe.

Soft and Light.

A lady famed for her skill in cooking was entertaining a number of her friends at tea. Everything on the table was much admired, but the excellence of the sponge cake was especially the subject of remark.
"Oh," exclaimed one of the guests, "it is so beautifully soft and light! Do tell me where you got the recipe!"
"I am very glad," replied the hostess, "that you find it so soft and light. I made it out of my own head."—Illustrated Bits.

Lamb's Unkind Thrust.

Charles Lamb, than whom no gentler or kinder hearted wit ever breathed, at times found it impossible to restrain himself from the personal—as for instance, when he covered a friend with shame at a whist party by blurted out:
"Gad, James! If—If dirt were to trump what a hand you would be!"

ager Birmingham declares that the reason he benched Lajoie was because his broken hands had caused him to slump in his work. In fifty-three games this season he batted .327 and fielded .965. Detroit, it is understood, offered Sam Crawford or Bobby Veach or a fair sum of money in exchange for Larry. Jennings figures that with Lajoie batting behind Ty Cobb the hit and run play, a forgotten item in the Tigers' attack, would be revived.
As a purely mechanical baseball player Lajoie was a wonder—is still, compared to some in the big league. Time was when the issue between himself and Hans Wagner as to which was the greatest baseball player in the world was on everyone's lips; and many gave Larry the palm.
But Daddy Time's scythe cuts them all down to the common level and the once "greatest of all" has lived to be ordered to the bench by a former player, who was just big league class and that's all.
