CITY WANTS A NEW BUILDING

COMMERCIAL CLUB BELIEVES GOVERNMENTS NEEDS NEW POSTOFFICE

TO ASK ATTORNEY FOR REPORT

Conditions to be Investigated by Official When he Arrives to Attend Session of Rural Letter Carriers

When Paul E. Keyser, attorney for the United States Postal service, gets into Oregon City to attend the state convention of Rural Letter Carriers here on the last of the month, he will be waylaid by members of the Commercial club who want to explain to him why there ought to be a new post-office building here.

The members of the club believe that the city has outgrown its present postal facilities. They think that the time has now come when the government should place its postoffice here in a new building and that an appropriation of several thousand dollars should be made to cover the cost of a new office. They argue that the force is now crowded into quarters that are far too small to efficiently handle the business of a town of Oregon City's population and that something should be done to provide better facilities for the mail here.

The club will take the matter up with the attorney when he comes to attend the annual convention of the carriers. He will then be asked to investigate the conditions here and to make a report to the proper officials on what he finds. The club feels that his report will be such that something will result for the betterment of the government facilities in the community and that the town will, eventually, receive an appropriation for a larger and better equipped building.

MOTHER SAVES GIRL FROM WATERY GRAVE

EUGENE, Or., Aug. 22.—Rushing into the swift current of the Willamette river to her armpits, Mrs. E. C. Welch fought for several minutes to rescue her young daughter from the clutches of her drowning husband. Sitting on the bank, she saw her husband suddenly begin to drag the daughter, Eva Welch, whom he was teaching to swim, out into the deep current. Three times she saw her sink. She pushed out a board, but the girl was unable to grasp it. Then she herself plunged in, and was successful, just as she reached the last step she could have taken and still retained her feet.

E. C. Welch probably died of heart failure rather than by drowning. He was teaching the daughter to swim near the milling district. Suddenly, without a cry or struggle, he began dragging the girl to the swift deep water. After the mother reached the girl she called for help.

SEQUEL TO ARREST IS HEARD IN COURT

The justice court Friday heard an echo of the complaint brought by L. Vierhus against B. Goldberg, charging petty larceny and the conducting of a commission house without a state license, when Goldberg brought suit against Vierhus for $104.74 which he alleges is due.

The two men were in the commission house together for a time with Goldberg as the owner and operator. Vierhus filed complaints against his former employer upon which the latter was arrested under the new law that requires commission men to take out a license from the state before opening for business.

The complaint of Goldberg against Vierhus Friday was a sequel to those that had already been filed.

MASHER MINISTER IS CONVICTED

JURY FINDS HIM GUILTY AFTER SHORT DELIBERATION — SENTENCE HELD

SPOKE TO WOMAN ON STREETS

Claims he Was Studying Local Conditions But Plea Does Not Make Appeal to Court — Many Present

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 22.—Three Clergymen, a church woman and two newspaper men sat in judgment in Municipal court yesterday upon Rev. Henry W. Kuhlman, a Tillamook minister accused of violating the mashing ordinance—and found guilty. Then they counseled mercy, and the court acceded to their recommendation and sent the minister out of court under a suspended sentence.

The defendant said he had been doing social investigating in Tillamook, and arriving in Portland at 10 p. m. Thursday, set out to how conditions in a large city compared with those in a smaller one.

He had not gone far when he was accosted by a woman of the streets and stopped to talk with her. He laid stress upon the fact that he had 65 cents in his pocket at the time.

Going a little farther, he saw two men come out of a saloon under the influence of liquor and stopped to get their viewpoint. The next person he encountered was Dr. Etta Hill Shnauffner, who resides at 424 Williams avenue. He addressed her, saying, according to her testimony:

"Is your name Mabel?"
"Certainly is not, sirrah!" she replied, and just then Detective Price and Patrolman McCarthy stepped up and made the arrest.

BOOSTER FOR GOOD ROADS IS COMING

Charles W. Thatcher, one of the strongest good roads experts in the country, will speak in the Commercial club rooms to every lover of better highways, Wednesday, August 27.

Through Secretary Freytag, the club has arranged for the reception of the lecturer when he arrives and has planned the meeting with the idea that it will be the largest of the kind that has ever been held in this section of the state.

Though other routes have been suggested, he favors the one that will pass through Oregon City when the Lincoln and Washington National Highway is constructed. He believes that the town which has played such an important part in the history of the early Oregon and which for many years was the end of the old Oregon trail should be touched by the great highways on their way to Portland and Seattle.

Colonel Thatcher is known all over the West as one of the most enthusiastic boosters for good roads in the country and he has spent about 20 years of his life traveling from place to place in the interest of better road building. Every place that he has stopped has furnished him with a large crowd of boosters for better highways and his lectures and lessons have always been followed by an impetus in road building.

All of the road supervisors, automobilists, farmers, and every other person or class of persons interested in the construction of highways that are examples of road building are invited to the lectures at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. It is also probable that another meeting will be arranged for the same evening in order to give more persons the opportunity to hear the noted speaker tell what a road ought to be.

Winona Bible Conference
WARSAW, Ind., Aug. 22.—The nineteenth annual Bible conference at Lake Winona was inaugurated today under conditions that promise the most notable session in the history of the famous organization. The conference will continue until the end of the month. The list of speakers is headed by Secretary of State William J. Bryan. Other persons of note on the programme are Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, of London, "Gypsy" Smith, Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, Bishop Hughes of San Francisco, Bishop Bell of Los Angeles, Rev. Dan Crawford of Africa and Rev. Robert J. ("Catch-My-Fall") Patterson of Ireland.

Very Human Side to the Gettysburg Encampment Shown In These Camera Studies of Feeding Time.

Photos by American Press Association.
The camera recorded many interesting sights when the army of vets met at Gettysburg for the greatest reunion of blue and gray since the civil war. The task of feeding the old soldiers had a very human side to it, as these pictures prove. Here Sam's regulars acted as official cook and bottle washer for the visiting army, and no one went hungry. The men were fed in regular army camp style. The top picture shows a line of vets at the kitchen, while the lower one shows one of the individual tables, with the old men having the time of their lives.

REVIVALISTS TO BEGIN SERIES OF MEETINGS

James and Estella Crooks, evangelists, will open a series of revival services in the First Methodist church of Oregon City Sunday morning, beginning the week on Monday night in a tent tabernacle that has been erected on the hill.

The lumber for the summer tabernacle had not arrived in time for the

by the church people of the community and are regarded as highly successful in awakening the religious life of the towns that they have visited. Unusual preparation has been made for the weekly services and special programs have been worked out for each night that the visiting preachers are here. Many of the congregations opening of the services here Sunday and arrangements have been made to hold them in the Methodist church on the first day. On Sunday evening, the evangelists will conduct union services in the church and the following day the regular program for the week will commence.

The two ministers are well known of all the churches of the city will unite in working for the successful conclusion of the services and in promoting the welfare of the revival. The tent has been erected at Eighth and Jackson streets. Rev. T. B. Ford, pastor of the church, returned last night from his vacation with his wife and daughters, Misses Sadie and Ivy Ford.

MAYOR SELECTS MEN TO GATHER DATA

F. J. Tooze, L. Stipp, F. J. Myers, and William Stone have been appointed by Mayor Jones to investigate the rates of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company and to report to the railroad commission of the state the result of their findings.

The committee was appointed on the request of the commission. A hearing will be held in Portland when the commission will investigate the charges that the company has been giving certain shippers better and more advantageous rates than are provided in its published tariff. Information from all of the points through which the line runs and in which it owns property is being sent to the commission for consideration on the day of the hearing.

GLADSTONE WANTS ITS BRIDGE BIGGER

Negotiations will be opened with the new electric company that is planning a line through this section of the state to assist in the construction of a bridge over the Clackamas river near Gladstone when that company reaches the point and decides to build a bridge for its own use.

At a meeting of the Gladstone Commercial club, the members decided to ask the company to build the bridge wide enough for wagons while it was constructing one for its own cars. It is planned, in this way to do away with the necessity of building two bridges in the same neighborhood as the people of Gladstone feel that they will soon have to have a new wagon bridge over the river at that point.

SON BRINGS SUIT AGAINST FATHER

The spectacle of the son bringing suit against the father was presented Friday when Edward Hughes filed his complaint against Ellis Hughes for $303.48 in sums ranging from $1.40 to $544.45.

The son claims that his father failed to support the family and that he had to advance the money for family necessities. He mentions through the complaint that the things for which he paid the money were actually necessities for the support of the family and he asks for a judgment that will repay him the money that he has expended.

The complaint states 16 causes of action and recites the incidents surrounding the alleged expenditure of money for the family support.

TREASURER ISSUES CALL FOR WARRANTS

M. D. Latourette, city treasurer, has issued a call for the warrants payable out of the general fund and endorsed prior to Dec. 18, 1912, and for those out of the water fund payable Nov. 10, 1910.

The interest on these warrants will stop Saturday as the call for the paper immediately stops the payment of interest by the city.

SENATOR JAMES H. BRADY

New United States senator from Idaho, succeeding Kirtland I. Perky. He is a republican.

A department of labor is contemplated in the new charter which is being drafted for Detroit. One of the chief duties of the department will be to adjust the labor market through co-operation with large employers.

BUSY DAY FOR POLICE

PURSUES GIRL; IS ARRESTED

CLIFFORD ANDERSON CAUGHT BY POLICE AFTER TORTMENTING MISS STEELE

BELIEVES HE HAS "PEEPING TOM"

Neighborhood on Hill Bothered by Men Looking into Windows at All Hours of Night—Police Busy

Clifford Anderson, 26 years old and from Australia, was arrested by Chief Ed Shaw, of the police department Friday, following his pursuit of a pretty girl, Miss Steele, from the Sixteenth street neighborhood to the city until she had to run into the ice house for protection.

According to the story that the girl told to the officer, he had followed her for a number of blocks and that he had tormented her all of the way up the street. She finally became frightened by his pursuit and ran into the ice house where she appealed to R. B. Cox for help. He immediately took her into the building, ordered Anderson away from the place, and sent in a hurry call for police protection.

Denies Charge
Anderson, in the city jail Friday afternoon, denied that he had ever followed any girl or that he had annoyed her in any way. He disclaims all knowledge of the affair and says that he cannot remember even the circumstances under which he was arrested.

The chief says, however, that when he arrived at the ice house, Anderson was standing on the curb looking into the window of the building where the girl had come for help and that he never left the place when the officer approached.

As the girl lived in the neighborhood where the "window peepers" have been at work for the last few days, the chief thinks that he has found one of "them in Anderson. The man claims to be a teamster and says that he had come to the city looking for work, that he had been in Portland for awhile and had been working around through various parts of the state for a number of weeks.

"Window peepers" have been making life miserable for the last few nights for the residents around Sixteenth street on the hill. Several complaints have been coming into the station that the neighborhood has been aroused by the presence of the peepers and that they have appeared at various houses at all hours of the night.

Whether the man now under arrest is the one that has been giving this trouble to the people on the hill, is not yet certain. So numerous have been the complaints to the police, however, that the case promises to rival that of "Peeping Tom" who got into print years ago for his proclivities along that line. The chief proposes to keep a man on the watch until he finds out who is responsible for the disturbance in the neighborhood and to then prosecute him to the limit.
