A SUMMER PICTURE. NOTHING but sky appears, so close the root And grass of the hilltop level with the air— Blue sunny air, where a great cloud floats, laden With light, like a dead whale that the white birds pick, Floating away in the sun in some north sea. Air, air—fresh life blood, thin and searching air— The clear, dear breath of God, that loveth us! Where small birds reel and winds takes their flight. —Browning.

Willing to Help. "I suppose old Cashman has more money that he knows what to do with?" "Yes, but his wife and daughters are ready to supply the needed information."

Had a Way of His Own. "Well, Harry," asked the visitor playfully, "what are you doing for a living now?" "Why," replied the little fellow solemnly, "I do just the same as you do—I eat."—Chicago News.

About the Same Thing. He—Great news, dearest. P. Q. and R. stock has gone away up, so now we can get married. She—Why, Fred, I didn't know you owned any of it. He—I don't, but your father does.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Unbelievable. Of course we have all heard many strange tales and unbelievable stories, but did any one ever hear of a woman who kept boarders and had a husband who paid the grocery bills?—Galveston News.

Burning Rubbish. If you will take the trouble to classify your rubbish or waste material and burn accordingly you can save a pretty penny on your fuel bill. Burning rubbish indiscriminately is not economical at all.—Power.

A Bachelor's Blunder. "If it wasn't for carfare and luncheon," says a bachelor, "a woman wouldn't have any need of money when she goes shopping." But every married man knows better.—Chicago News.

The Sudan. Before the dervish conquest of the Sudan the population was about 9,000,000. Under the rule of the Mahdi and his successor it dwindled to 2,000,000. The district now contains 3,000,000 inhabitants.

Solitude. Little do men perceive what solitude is and how far it extendeth, for a crowd is not company, and faces are but a gallery of pictures, and talk but a tinkling cymbal where there is no love.—Bacon.

Unnecessary Advice. Hub—So you've been to the teacher of physical culture. Well, what did she tell you? Wife—The first thing she told me was to keep my chin up. Hub—Huh! I hadn't noticed any falling off in that line.—Boston Transcript.

Timely Caution. "The nurse is a suffragette." "Well, ask her to say nothing on the subject of votes for women in the hearing of baby. Baby wants too many things already—that are out of her reach."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Not So Bad. "Will is now trying the experiment of taking ozone regularly into his system." "Then the first thing you know, you poor woman, he'll be one of them drug fiends."—Baltimore American.

The Cheaper Way. "Do you know, hubby, that when I go to Ostend I shall dream of you every night?" "If it's all the same to you, I would prefer to have you stay with me and dream of Ostend."—Fliegende Blätter.

"A PRINCE OF EVIL" At the Grand To-morrow

WHAT'S THE USE? WHAT'S the use of finding fault With every wind that blows? What's the use of wanting rain Every time it snows? What's the use of grumbling when It's ninety in the shade? What's the use of brooding o'er Mistakes that we have made? What's the use of wishing that We'd been born with wealth? What's the use of groaning when We've sacrificed our wealth? What's the use of railing at The man who wins success? What's the use of telling of Our personal distress? What's the use of talking when We've nothing wise to say? What's the use of buying things For which we cannot pay? What's the use of standing where We're in somebody's way? What's the use of feeling glum When we might as well feel gay? What's the use of this and that? What's the use of anything That's useless anyhow? —Trenton Gazette.

HOPE. PRESENTLY the sorrow Which besets you now Will be cleared away. By this time tomorrow You may wonder how Care came yesterday. PRESENTLY the places That are cold and drear Will again be fair. Joy will light the faces Where today appear Traces of despair. PRESENTLY possessing What you long have sought, You will think it ill, But you'll seek some blessing Other than you've got And be hopeful still. —Chicago Record-Herald.

BE STRONG. BE strong. We are not here to play, to dream, to drift. We have hard work to do and loads to lift. Shun not the struggle; face it: 'tis God's gift. Be strong. Say not the days are evil—who's to blame? And fold the hands and acquiesce—oh, shame! Stand up, speak out, and bravely, in God's name. Be strong. It matters not how deep entrenched the wrong. How hard the battle goes, the day how long; Faint not; fight on; tomorrow comes the song. —Maithe D. Babcock.

OLD FORT COLTON Oregon City Couple MARRIED IN PORTLAND

Edwin G. Roberts and Miss Margaret Gertrude Fairclough were married in the Ruge City Park Episcopal church of Portland Saturday evening by Rev. T. E. Bowen, formerly of this city. The newly married couple are very prominent in the social circles of Oregon City, having grown up here. Mr. Roberts has been in the employ of the Willamette Pulp & Paper company for twenty years, thirteen years in the stock room and the last seven in the office, while his wife is well known in musical circles. Mrs. Roberts has two sisters, Mrs. G. W. Grace and Mrs. E. W. Scott, and two brothers, Mr. T. B. and J. B. Fairclough, of this city. The couple left for Long Beach, Washington, where they will spend their honeymoon. They plan to be back in two weeks.

NOT OURS THE VOWS. Not ours the vows of such as plight Their troth in sunny weather, While leaves are green and skies are bright. To walk on flowers together. But we have loved as those who tread The thorny path of sorrow, With clouds above, and cause to dread Yet deeper gloom tomorrow. That stormy path, those stormy skies, Have drawn our spirits reared And rendered us by sorrow's ties Each to the other dearer. Love, born in hours of joy and mirth, With mirth and joy may perish. That to which darker hours gave birth Still more and more we cherish. It looks beyond the clouds of time And through death's shadowy portal Made by adversity sublime By faith and hope immortal. —Bernard Barton.

At the Entertainment. "That's what you call a mixed quartet, isn't it?" "Yes, considerably so." —Florida Times-Union. England's Newtons. The most common name for a place in England is Newton, which occurs no fewer than seventy-two times. It was then that the former fort became a place of amusement and received the name of Castle Garden, a name which it retained for three quarters of a century. Two years after the shifting of soldiers to Governor's Island and Castle Garden was the scene of a great reception given to General Lafayette when he visited America in 1824. It was also the scene of a great memorial service when he died ten years later. It was there that Samuel F. B. Morse, inventor of the telegraph, first demonstrated the possibility of controlling an electric current in 1835. During those early years, too, it was the scene of the receptions given to American presidents when they visited New York. Jackson, Tyler and Van Buren were received there, and later on the Prince of Wales. There also many great political meetings were held. Some of Daniel Webster's greatest orations were delivered there. Castle Garden was widely proclaimed as the first real home of opera in America. The great auditorium, now occupied by fish, ordinary and extraordinary, was then packed nightly with people who gathered to hear those famous artists of the middle nineteenth century; Malibran, Sontag, Mario, Grisi, the members of Julien's orchestra and—best known of all—Jenny Lind, whom all the theatergoing public of the United States and Europe worshiped. The first night in 1850 that the Swedish Nightingale appeared at Castle Garden, under the management of P. T. Barnum, the choice seats sold for several hundred dollars. Her tremendous popularity was made even greater when she gave to local charities the $10,000 which composed her share of the box office receipts. The next year Louis Kossuth, the famous Hungarian patriot, came from England to the United States and made an address to a vast and enthusiastic throng in Castle Garden. This was one of the last great receptions held in the historic old building. Four years later it was converted into an immigrant station for the port of New York and from then until 1890, when the immigration office was removed to Ellis Island, it served as the gateway through which 8,000,000 of people entered to work out their destinies in the new world. In 1896 it became the aquarium.—New York Sun.

The Far Horizon. Little Arthur, taking part in a geography examination, should be awarded a prize for his definition of "horizon," which ran as follows: "The horizon is where the sky and water meet—only they don't."—Woman's Home Companion.

Picking Up. "How's collections at your church, Brudder Hambone?" "Much better since we got a one armed man to pass de plate."—Washington Herald.

Kept the Better Half. Algy—You say she only partially returned your affections? Clarence—Yes. She returned all the love letters, but retained all the jewelry.—Brooklyn Citizen.

The Thunder. In 1800 the London Times was a four page paper, with four columns to the page.

THE NEW LINGERIE, THOUGH DAINTY AND FINE IS REALLY SIMPLE, AND STRAIGHT AND NARROW OF LINE.

Perfectly flat trimming, soft sheer materials, scanty lines—that is the newest lingerie in a nutshell. And truth to tell some articles of underwear are so sheer, that they could be folded into a nutshell, or drawn through the proverbial ring. Many of the combinations shown among early fall models have brassiere top like 7738, and this is made of stout wash net, or of all-over embroidered in open eyelet pattern and trimmed with net plaitings. For the drawers, sheer batiste or silk mull is used, trimmed with a scanty plaited net frill put on with ribbon-run headings. Seven sizes 34 to 46, and for size 36, 2 3/4 yards 36-inch material will be required. New Princess Slip. The closing is at the back, and with this pattern you can make a plain slip, or you may have a circular, plaited or gathered flounce. Insertion and ribbon are the usual trimmings. Seven sizes, 32 to 44 and for size 36, with plaited flounce, 5 yards 36-inch material will be required. Each pattern is fifteen cents.
