

TOOZE WANTS SEX SEGREGATION

avor of segregation that there is a difference in the ability of boys and girls to grasp different subjects; for instance, a boy is considered to be able to handle mathematics better than a girl, while a girl excels in the culture subjects. Now this has been disproved by actual investigations which show that girls rank higher in the mathematical subjects and the boys higher in culture.

"Another point often discussed in this interesting subject is in regard to the social demands of the young. There is no doubt but that the development of the social life of the young is a function that the public schools must exercise.

School Functions. There has been much argument resulting from discussion as to whether segregation would act as a protection for their moral safety. There is no question as to whether there is a social demand of the young or not. The question is whether the social and moral instincts can be intrusted to the training and influence of the school.

"Some authorities claim that neither sex can do best work when surrounded by those of the opposite sex, but this can be made the object of much debate, both pro and con.

"In a large school with larger income, the added expense of segregation can be met with ease, but in the small school segregation means that more teachers must be employed and additional classes must be organized."

When asked if he was in favor of segregation in this city, Professor Toozepelid: "In a city of this size, I am in favor of segregation in a limited sense."

NEW PLANS TO KILL GROWTH OF DODDER

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, CORVALLIS, Ore., Sept. 15.—"In small patches dodder may be eradicated by mowing with a scythe before it ripens its seed and when the mowings are dry covering the infested spots with straw and burning them off," says Professor Scudder, agronomist at the Oregon Agricultural College.

"The spots may then be hoed and reseeded to alfalfa. In case the dodder has already started to seed it may be singed off with a torch made by placing some kerosene in a can which is attached to a handle.

"When the entire field has become so badly infested that it is not practicable to burn the infested spots, the best thing to do is to clip the alfalfa before the dodder seeds begin to ripen. The land should then be plowed and put into a cultivated crop such as corn, potatoes, or roots. This can be followed with grain. At the end of three years, if the ground has been kept free of dodder, it may be put back into alfalfa.

"Dodder is a leafless, slender vine, whitish yellow in color, bearing clusters of white blossoms which ripen into abundant seed, sometime as many as three or four crops in a season. Although of parasitic habits the seed germinates in the soil sending up little tendrils which attach themselves to the alfalfa or clover stalks, winding about the stem and living upon its sap until the alfalfa turns yellow and dies."

Pratum leaped into prominence as a financial center when robbers dynamited the post office safe, and safe and money and everything thereabouts went aeroplaning. A score of persons have been hunting and everyone has found at least one "sinoleon."

The citizens of Lents are considering building a modern library.

PRESIDENT BLAMED FOR TROUBLE

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 15.—All the business misfortunes of the Home Telephone company, of Puget Sound, and the Northwestern Long Distance Telephone company, of California, were bundled together and dumped upon the shoulders of Samuel Hill, president of the Home Telephone Company, of Portland, in the answer filed by those two companies in the Circuit court of the United States yesterday, to the suit of the government against the American Telephone & Telegraph company and subsidiary companies. They are charged with conspiracy to monopolize the telephone business in violation of the anti-trust law of July 2, 1890.

Hill is Approached. It was alleged in the answer of the Northwestern Long Distance Telephone company that when the business affairs of their company were in a bad way and failure seemed imminent, William Mead, W. W. Hitchcock and W. H. Allen appealed to Mr. Hill for assistance in rehabilitating the finances of the Northwestern company and the Home Company, of Puget Sound.

They allege that they agreed to transfer to Mr. Hill controlling interest in all three companies, including the Home, of Portland, and in return he agreed to invest new capital. This was in 1909.

RAGGED THOUSANDS SEE-TIM'S FUNERAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Fully 20,000 persons, a few in broadcloth, the vast majority in humble garb and many actually in rags, lined the Bowery today when the funeral car carrying "Big Tim" Sullivan's body rolled slowly through the historic old thoroughfare to old St. Patrick's cathedral in Mott street.

Twenty congressmen, as an escort of honor, marched beside the car and hundreds of east siders followed it. Timothy D. Sullivan, of the Tammany club, drove the car himself.

Nearly all the buildings on the Bowery, Mott street and other streets in the vicinity, were draped in mourning. Moving pictures flashed Big Tim's picture on a screen at one point passed by the funeral car.

Two thousand roses and as many more chrysanthemums covered the casket as it rested in front of the altar. Monsignor John Kearney celebrated the requiem high mass.

The part played by Japan during the present peace conference at The Hague has attracted the attention of the Western World. The representatives of the Mikado, two of whom are shown here on their way to the Peace Palace, entered fully into the spirit of the congress, to the gratification of all present. Their most conspicuous action was the overtures made to the delegates from the United States, the object of which looks towards a peace pact between the two nations whose relationship recently was so sensitive as to cause alarm throughout the civilized world.

FRACTIONAL FIGHT TO BREAK AMONG I. W. W.'S.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—The eighth annual convention of the Industrial Workers of the World opened here today, with prospects for a warm factional fight for control of this militant, revolutionary body.

Delegates from some of the western states hinted broadly that the present secretary, Vincent St. John, who called the convention to order, had been too long in office, and that the organization would benefit by a redistribution of memberships on the governing committee. The insurgents planned to make their attack when the convention balloted on the choice of a temporary chairman at the opening session today.

The fight for control, the insurgents declared, was caused by no fundamental differences of opinion regarding the policies of the I. W. W., but was based solely on the belief that the offices should be rotated. Such a method, they said, would be more satisfactory to the rank and file of the membership and would remove all suspicion that the organization was boss controlled.

George Speed, general organizer for the I. W. W., arrived today to read his report on the work of the organization during the last year. Speed's report will show that the I. W. W. now has a membership of 65,000, the largest since it was formed nine years ago. At the first convention a membership of 40,000 was reported, but in the intervening years the number has fluctuated, dropping as low as 25,000.

The convention will be in session for at least ten days. There is no set program and each session will be a round table affair, where any speaker who gains the floor may discuss any subject he sees fit. The strike and free speech agitation in cities of the Pacific coast, the Paterson silk strike, the recent disorders in Minot, N. D., and Seattle, are among the "live" topics to be debated.

"Bill" Haywood, Joe Ettor and other I. W. W. leaders engaged in strike agitation and propaganda work, are here to address the delegates.

GETS MEDAL FOR HIS HEROIC RESCUE

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 16.—For descending 60 feet into a well filled with gas from an exploded charge of dynamite and rescuing Abraham Hildebrand in 1904, William J. Reidy, a carpenter living near Lents, received on Saturday a Carnegie hero medal.

Reidy had almost forgotten the incident when last fall he was visited by a representative of the Carnegie hero endowment fund.

After subjecting Reidy to a searching examination as to the circumstances surrounding the saving of Hildebrand's life, the investigator confirmed Reidy's statements and a few weeks later Reidy received information that he had been awarded a bronze medal for his act.

WIPES OUT FAMILY OF WIFE; ESCAPES

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Police and alienists alike confessed themselves baffled today by the character of the Rev. Hans Schmidt, the assistant priest of St. Joseph's church here, who confessed yesterday to having killed and dismembered the body of Miss Anna Amuller, parts of whose body were found last week in the Hudson river, and are now in the Hoboken morgue.

Coroner Feinberg declared that he never saw so marked a case of dual personality.

"One side of his face wears a sanctified expression, just as one would expect on the face of a priest," said the coroner. "The other side is marked by a devilish brutality. From one side the eyes have a beatific gaze; from the other, a diabolical leer."

HIP BELTS AND BLOUSED COATS FAVORITES FOR CHILDREN

Fashions and fabrics for children's clothing are as alluring this autumn as for their elders, and happily for the mother who is to make the new garments they are not too intricate. She may be puzzled to know what to select from the variety of wool mixtures, serges, ottoman cloths, checks, plaid plushes and corduroy; but, having made a choice, she will find these two patterns just the right ones for an autumn coat and a smart street dress.

The little coat (7508) is made of Hague blue ottoman cloth, a little heavier than poplin, but having a similar cross weave. It has one section for the back and closes at the side front with ornamental frogs of silk cord.

DRAIN LAKES TO IRRIGATE LAND

ONTARIO, Ore., Sept. 15.—Judge Will R. King, chief counsel to the secretary of the interior, is here, looking over irrigation matters pertaining to Malheur and Harney counties. It is his opinion that the two counties should unite on the irrigation question.

He thinks that the Malheur lake country could be profitably drained and the water used on the lands lower down. Dams could be placed in the rivers impounding the water, he says, so that the Malheur river could be regulated to the benefit of the irrigation projects that depend on this source for their water. He says that the government could handle this matter and charge a small amount for the work.

Judge King also thinks that a system could be placed in operation whereby the highlands of this section might be irrigated at a cost not to exceed $25 per acre, and says that if the people would make the proper effort the government would assist them. He emphasizes strongly the formation of drainage districts, and contends that many acres of now worthless land could be made valuable.

Judge King has also been attending to some legal matters at Vale, and will leave in a few days for Washington.

The cannery at Grants Pass is now running at full capacity, turning out from 165 to 180 cases per day.
