Efforts of Physicians Fruitless and Child Dies Within an Hour
—Is Rushed to Hospital
In Auto

Within an hour after the 18-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson had climbed up to a high shelf in the family home at Scotland, near Gladstone, and taken 10 strychnine tablets, he died in the Oregon City hospital in spite of the strenuous efforts of two physicians.

The mother had placed the medicine on one of the shelves where she believed that it would be out of the child's reach. He managed to climb to the point, however, and swallowed 10 of the tablets. Two doctors worked over him for awhile and then rushed him in an automobile to the hospital here where they again went frantically to work in an effort to save the child's life. They were unsuccessful, however, and he died within 20 minutes after he went into the room.

Had the boy taken the entire contents of the box, it is possible that his system would have revolted at the shock and his life would have been saved. He took just enough of the medicine, however, to thoroughly poison himself and the efforts of the physicians were unavailing.

Miss Helen Sprague, a graduate of Oregon Agricultural college and for two years instructor in Latin in the Corvallis high school, has gone to New York to enter Columbia university, for advanced work.

PHEASANT DEAD; MAN IS HELD

FIRST CASE OF KIND TO COME

DEPUTY GAME WARDENS ARE BUSY

Officers Scouting Around Over County
in Effort to Catch Hunters
With Bags of Prohibited Birds

Charles E. Straigt is under arrest for the alleged shooting of Chinese pheasants before the opening of the season. The complaint was signed by J. B. Ackley, special deputy game warden, and is the first case of the kind that has been brought before Justice Selters in many months.

From the information in the hands of the officers, Straigt has bagged a number of pheasants in the last few weeks and has told several of his neighbors of the number that he has killed. The season does not open until October 1, and lasts through the month.

Because of the scarcity of the birds, the law has allowed none of them to be killed for three years, and even now the season does not open in some of the counties of the state where they have not multiplied as rapidly as in others.

STRANGER RIFLES ROOMS OF CLOTHES

During Wednesday afternoon, a stranger entered the rooms at the Cliff House and rifled several of them of the clothes that were hanging there. Chief of Police Ed Shaw and Sheriff E. T. Miss went in an auto to New Era and walked back along the track in the hope of finding the man who had taken the goods.

Four suits of clothes were taken from the place besides a number of pairs of shoes. The police at Portland were notified to watch for a man with bundles under his arms should he attempt to make his way there on the car.

OFFICERS AND MEN KILLED IN BATTLE WITH ARABIANS

BENGHAZI, Tripoli, Sept. 17.—The Italian commander, General Torrelli and 33 Italian officers and men were killed in a battle yesterday with Arab tribesmen. The news reached this city today. The Italian list of wounded includes 75 officers and men. The Arab losses are not stated, but were undoubtedly very heavy.

The Italian column, which had been operating for some time against the tribesmen, found them strongly entrenched on a height commanding the Valley of Teuchiz. The Italian artillery finally compelled the Arabs to retreat to the desert.

General Torrelli fell at the head of his troops while urging them on to the attack.
Catherine Nolde of Langlois holds the woman's championship in the wild cat killing class—or if not, who does? She recently collected bounty at Gold Beach on 17 scalps of beasts she had killed in five months with the help of a notable cat-fighting dog.

POPULATION, BREATHLESS, GAZES, AWED

Out at Molalla they have discovered something new. There one can see a crowd of eager-eyed people, both young and old, intently watching workers put up a tent and arrange mysterious planks and still more mysterious figures, until there shall be completed something never before seen in Molalla. People are talking and watching closely ever movement of the men and now and then one can hear some citizen say, "I wonder how it works," or, perhaps, the speaker with some little insight into machinery will mutter something to himself about engines, or wheels, or track.

Out at Molalla they are putting up a merry-go-round, the first one ever in that city. It came Wednesday morning over the new railroad, and for the first time in their lives many persons saw an amusement device that seems never to grow old.

PACKER ARRESTED ON PORTLAND CHARGE

C. H. Packer, of Portland, was arrested at a local hotel by Ed Shaw, chief of police, and turned over to a deputy constable of Multnomah county on a warrant issued under a complaint charging the taking of money under false pretenses.

It is said that Packer had taken $80 from the complaining witness under a scheme that afterwards proved fraudulent. The man was taken back to Portland last night by the deputy.

MOLALLA CROWS ITSELF HOARSE

TRUMPETS TO BLARE AND ALL
WHISTLES TO TOOT WHEN FIRST TRAIN PULLS IN

THOUSANDS ARE COMING TO FAIR

Specials Gather up Throngs From All Sections of State to Help Town
Celebrate Its New Road

Five thousand visitors from all parts of the state will help Molalla celebrate Friday when the first train over that branch pulls into the station and the new line is opened.

Gigantic preparations for the entertainment of the crowds are going on in the little city and the buildings are being gaily decorated with bunting and flags. All over the town new life has shown itself in the activities of the people who are about to be connected with steel rails with the larger cities of the state.

Crowds from Oregon City, Portland and many of the other towns and cities of the state are to pour into Molalla and Canby on the day that the first train will steam over the recently laid rails and will pull up beside the depot that has just been finished.

In anticipation of the road connection, many new buildings have been erected, and some of them have not yet had their first coat of paint. The people of the city, however, have decorated them with flags and bunting, and will have their little town in its gayest dress when the trains bring into the place the loads of visitors that are coming from all parts of the state.

Special trains are to be run over the road to Canby and will there take the Molalla branch line just completed. For the past few months loads of gravel and dirt and thousands of pounds of steel rails have been carried over the road by the construction trains that have worked seven days a week to get the track laid and balanced on the day of the fair.

Speeches will be made at the celebration by several of the prominent persons of the state. President Stratbrom of the line, and many others are on the program. It will be the biggest day in the history of the town. It is an epoch in the city's life. A full realization of the importance of the connecting line has been brought home to the people of the city and they are planning their celebration on a magnificent scale in proportion to its importance to their commercial prosperity.

MULVEY IS HONORED BY COUNTY CLERKS

Will L. Mulvey, county clerk of Clackamas county, has been elected vice-president of the County Clerks' Association of Oregon. The idea for the organization was born at a banquet of a score or more of the county clerks at Portland, and John B. Coffey of Multnomah, was chosen president, W. L. Mulvey, vice-president, and Max Gehler, of Marion county, secretary.

During Rose Festival week the association will hold its convention in Portland and will fight all freak legislation that imposes further unnecessary duties upon the county clerk. The clerks assembled in Portland to talk over the subject of uniform accounting and all of them agreed that a better system was needed in checking over the expenditures of public money.

Before the association holds its first convention, a program will be drafted by the president and the constitution and by laws framed for adoption.

The state and county superintendents will be present, and Prof. Griffin, of the Oregon Agricultural college, will deliver an address and act as judge.

More than $500.00 in cash and commodity prizes will be awarded. Clackamas county juvenile exhibitors are invited to exhibit at the Aurora fair.

Yet the first prize eugenic baby may as an adult be outstripped by many who can't get no prize.
