WANTS TO CLAMP HIS MOUTH SHUT

WIFE ASKS INJUNCTION AGAINST HER HUSBAND TO KEEP HIM FROM SPEAKING

CLAIMS HE WAS CRUEL TO HER

Charges in Complaint That He Beat and Choked Her When He Came Home From His Work—Divorce

To prevent him from even speaking to her on the street, Lasa A. Chiles has asked for an injunction out of the circuit court against her husband, O. R. Chiles.

She makes the petition for an injunction a part of her complaint for divorce and bases her action on his acts of alleged cruelty during their married life. The wife charges the husband with beating and choking her at various times and placing her in fear of her life. She says he called her vile and abusive names and that he came aspersions on her reputation.

They have a son, Harold E., for whom she asks the custody as well as attorney fees of $75 and $25 court costs. The defendant is a printer on the Goldendale Sentinel.

Law Avengers Count Ties Like 'Weary Willies'

"I don't blame the hoboes for catching the first freight that comes their way after I had tramped the three miles from New Era down to Canemah and slid all over the tracks that had just been filled with gravel," declared Chief of Police Ed Shaw, last night.

"I wouldn't walk the rails on a bet any more, and I've had all that I want of it. The next bet that comes along and hikes into the freight cars will get my sympathy hereafter. I know now what it is to slide over gravel traps and drop back three steps to every two that you make forward."

Chief Shaw and Sheriff Mass got the sideliights on the life of a tramp when they walked from New Era the other night after a man who had stolen some clothes out of the Cliff House. They had received reports that he had started up the track and they went out after him.

BOOSTERS BOOST FOR FAIR AT PORTLAND

Six prominent Molalla business men took a flying trip to Portland Wednesday and after visiting the newspaper plants were given a luncheon by the Portland Ad Club.

They left early Wednesday morning by automobile and after a pleasant trip arrived in Portland. The object of the trip was to secure the cooperation of the Rose City papers in advertising the celebration Friday and they visited their plants as soon as they reached the city. At noon they were taken to the rooms of the Ad Club and a luncheon was given in their honor. Editor Taylor of the Molalla Pioneer, addressed the meeting and invited the citizens of Portland to come to Molalla. The party returned late Wednesday evening.

Those who made the trip were, Geo. H. Gregory, L. E. Stone, E. Robbins, O. K. Cole, J. R. Wolf and G. S. Taylor, all from Molalla.

HEART OF MAN MAY BE REACHED THROUGH COOKERY

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—A plan which he declared will curb the divorce evil, improve the digestion, increase the happiness of Chicago and add $10,000 a year to the county treasury was suggested to the county board yesterday by County Clerk Sweitzer.

Sweitzer presented an offer of a local publishing house to pay the clerk 25 cents each for handing each applicant for a marriage license one of its cook books.

"Many of the prospective brides have little knowledge of domestic science," Sweitzer wrote to the board. "This may be the cause of much domestic infelicity and any means that will aid the new wife in the preparation of meat's should be encouraged heartily."

"This may be the remedy sought by various reform bodies seeking a means of eliminating or at least curbing the divorce evil."

He added that the partnership would add $10,000 yearly to the county treasury.

Pendleton East Oregonian: Indicating that Pendleton's Round-Up is becoming synonymous with a big crowd and a big time is the slogan just adopted by the city of Albany for the boosting of the U. of O. A. C. annual football game, which is played in the Linn county seat. "Like a day at the Pendleton Round-Up," is the cry of the promoters.

CUPID'S ARROW FLIES IN HOP YARD

Pretty Stories of Love and War Might be Told of Harvest of Valley's Priceless Annual Hop Crops

"That the Willamette Valley is possessed of widely diversified employment for persons seeking pleasant out-door work in gathering the various crops of fruit and products, cannot be gainsaid," says Secretary Freytag.

"Beginning in late May and running through a large part of the summer, there is work for large numbers of persons, and work which proves a recreation for persons who find their tasks indoors tiresome, and which is neither arduous nor difficult and brings the roses to the cheek, and a healthy and coming appetite."

"Strawberries come first, and a normal season picking begins the latter part of May and runs for a month or six weeks, followed by raspberries and loganberries, the latter in some sections of the valley being raised on comparatively large tracts for canning, evaporating or drying; a good trade in Alaska and the middle western states where fruits are not raised having been established. Other small fruits such as cherries are carefully packed and are exported to France to be made into Maraschino cherries, some of these cherries finding their way back to their native health. The Royal Anne cherries raised in some parts of the valley are used exclusively for this purpose. They are preserved and shipped in large casks to France, where the final process is completed.

Season's Lull.

"During the lull between the season of the small fruits and the great event of the year—hop picking, many persons take a few weeks off at one of the beaches, where there is fishing and hunting, rock oysters to be dug, clams and crabs to get after, and surf bathing and agate hunting to be enjoyed. Or it may be a trip is made to the mountains where blackberries and great luscious huckleberries, big as cherries, are gathered and canned for winter use. Or some one prefers a trip up or down the Willamette or Columbia rivers. One must indeed be difficult to please if he cannot find some delightful trip for the mid-summer.

Fall Amusements.

"With the opening days of September, comes the exodus of town folk to the hop yards of the Willamette Valley for their annual outing, and money getting feast; for this is one way of taking a vacation and not coming home 'broke,' as is usually the case with most vacation trips.

"For long weeks whole families have been planning for the good times when hop picking begins; old garments are religiously put away during the year to be gotten out and used in the yard during picking, and as the time draws near the tents are gotten out and the rest of the camping outfit over-hauled in readiness for the great occasion.

Curley-Haired Baby Softens Man's Heart

"I'm ever so thankful to you," said a pretty little blue-eyed baby girl with the nicest brown wavy hair as she looked up into the eyes of the make-up man on the Enterprise and thanked him for returning to her the valuable necklace of pumpkin seeds that she had lost the day before during her play.

Better than the $50,000 reward that Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt had offered for the return of her lost necklace were the words of that little five-year-old girl as she told the printer just how much she valued that necklace that she had strung herself and how it had broken her heart when she discovered that it was lost.

"The way that she said that to me and the look that she had in those pretty little eyes of hers, that were turned up to mine, was worth more than any $50,000 reward that could be given me," said the printer, as he told the story afterwards. "I could not have had a greater reward had the necklace been the pearl studded one of the Vanderbilts."

DOCTOR ARRIVED JUST TOO LATE

Just too late to become mixed up in the county health office muddle, Dr. E. M. Bond arrived in this city last week. He had opened offices at 1007 Main street and is prepared to take an interest in every important move made by the city doctors or Judge Anderson.

Dr. Bond says that, although he has not looked into the matter as closely as he will, he believes that both sides are somewhat mistaken and he thinks that a peaceful settlement can be arranged.

The new doctor is a former resident of Philadelphia, and a graduate of Hahnemann college of that place. He has made a specialty of children's diseases, and is considered an authority on the subject.

Dr. Bond has had an opportunity to look the city over and thinks this is a growing town with a bright future.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

That it pays to advertise and advertise heavily in the columns of the newspapers, is shown by the wonderful increase in business in the store of Frank Busch during the last few days when he carried large displays in the columns of THE ENTERPRISE and has, in a tactful and forceful way, presented his claims for business to the people of the city and county.

As a result, his store has been crowded to its capacity and his clerks have been busy every minute of their working hours, displaying of the goods that he has offered and attending to the delivery of the furniture that has been bought. The sidewalk has been lined with his goods ready for delivery to all parts of the city and county, bought as the result of the heavy display ads that he has carried in THE ENTERPRISE.

Certainly, it pays to advertise.

If Thaw never was insane before, he almost certainly should be now, with all those muddled lawyers about him.

GRADS READY FOR LIFE WORK

MANY GO INTO FIELDS OF PROFESSION AND BUSINESS FROM SCHOOL

TEACHERS ARE IN THE MAJORITY

Class Sends Its Members Into the Rooms of Several Districts While Others Continue Studies in Colleges

Out of the 27 graduates of the Oregon City high school last spring nine are going to teach, seven to work, five go to college, five to normal school, one to be a nurse, and one to be "at home."

The fact that more are going to teach is taken by many as proving the efficiency of the local schools. It is considered unusual that so great a percentage of the graduates should choose the teaching profession as their work.

Those who intend to take up this work are: Genevieve Mumpower, Hazel Kurr, Clara Rutherford, Echo Spence, Marie Barber, Grace Snook, Irene Hanny, John Danbach and Mona Reed; while Charles Holmes, Echo Larkins, Roy Finnegan, Edward Busch, Wallace Papoun, Peter Rotter and Leonard Williams will work. Shelby Shaver, Lorane Ostrum, Marie Donaldson, Marie Sheahan, and Joe Sheahan intend to go to college. The five going to normal school are, Lavern Fraker, Adia Mass, Carmen Schimidt, Sadie Clancy and Lillian Tschigri. Hazel Mitchell will go to Portland to study nursing and Louise Huntley will be at home this winter.

FRIENDS SURPRISE OLD RESIDENT

A number of friends gave Mrs. A. J. Lewis, of Maple Lane, a surprise party on her fifty-first birthday at her home on the evening of September 16. Refreshments were served and a pleasant social chat enjoyed by the old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have lived in Maple Lane for 12 years and are well known in all sections of the county. Mr. Lewis having been, at one time, the county fruit inspector.

Among those who surprised Mrs. Lewis were: Mesdames Bess Reynolds, Helen Wilcox, Cooke, W. H. Nichols, C. W. Swallow, Splinter, Goldberg and Lawrence Mautz, and Mr. and Mrs. Gamewell, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rumery, Mr. and Mrs. Horton, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Brown.

Actor Hikes To Save For Wife's Need

A member of a disorganized troupe that had gone "broke" in Seattle, he had walked all of the way from that city to town and was planning to make the journey to Eugene where he would meet his wife.

That was the story that a man whom Night Officer Leo French found on the track coming into the city told when the policeman accosted him the other night. Rather than spend a cent for carfare and have his wife suffer for lack of funds when he reached home, he intended to walk all of the distance from Seattle to his home in Eugene and to turn up there with every cent saved ready to divide with her.

HOG FAMILIES WILL COMPETE FOR PRIZE

Over $500 in cash prizes will be competed for by hogs at the Clackamas County Fair, to be held at Canby, September 24, 25, 26 and 27; and it is expected that the displays will prove conclusively the leading rank of the county in the northwest as a producer of swine. Clackamas, as a matter of fact, sends more swine to market than any other Oregon county; and hogs bred here are in demand for foundation stock throughout Washington, Idaho and California. Several stock farms in the county make a specialty of blooded stock, and these will all have representative and valuable herds on view.

The display will include Duroc Jerseys, Berkshires, Poland Chinas, Chesster Whites, Yorkshires and Essex hogs, and special divisions will be made for fat barrows, full-growth boars and sows, little pigs, and pig families. There will be a number of sweepstake contests, limited to prize-winning animals in the different classes, and many special prizes and banners will be awarded to the winners in these extra contests.

NEW HAVEN STOCK LOSSES MILLIONS BY SLUMP

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—A break of 2 1/2 points in the stock of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad on the Stock Exchange today carried the price down to 85 1/2, a new low record. At 85 1/2 the stock showed a loss of six points since the close of last week. It was 4 3/8 points under the high price of the year, reached on January 19. The depreciation in market value represented by this decline is nearly $70,000,000.

The stock rallied a point after touching 85 1/2 and no more offerings were pressed for sale.

The long decline in the shares, extending back more than a year, grew out of the various difficulties, financial and otherwise, of the New Haven system, and the reduction in the dividend from eight to six per cent. The intimation given recently by Howard Elliott, newly-elected head of the system, that a further reduction might be deemed advisable, is believed to have been a factor in the renewed decline.

HUNTLEY BROS. CO. School Book Headquarters

Rev. C. H. Cleaves has been welcomed to a pastorate at Roseburg, in a public reception tendered by the Ministerial union of that city. Mr. Cleaves had been for five years at Coquille, where he enjoyed great renown as a solemnizer of marriages.

FIRST TRAIN TO WHISTLE TODAY

BUNTING AND FLAGS DECK CITY OF MOLALLA WHEN LARGE CROWDS ARRIVE

THOUSANDS WILL POUR INTO TOWN

Excursionists From Every Part of State to Help Celebrate the Completion of Line of New Steel Rails

"On with the dance! Let joy be unconfined." As the first train steams over the newly constructed road from Canby to Molalla and pulls its load of passengers to the little city that is gaily bedecked with bunting and with flags, whistles will toot and bells will ring and the music of three bands will fill the air with a cadence that will fittingly usher in the completion of the new line.

All Molalla will today be a reception committee for the thousands of visitors who expect to make the town at its first great celebration. Business will be suspended and the citizens of the community will join with the visitors in making the day the greatest event in the history of the town and an appropriate celebration of the city's first outlet to the outside world.

Trains from Portland and from Silverton and Salem will bring thousands of excursionists to the little city today. The Canby and Silverton bands will assist the Molalla organization in celebrating the day while the auditorium will be filled with the thousands of visitors who have come to hear the speeches of congratulation that are to be extended to the city on the day of the road's completion. Robert E. Strahorn, president of the Portland, Eugene & Eastern, Governor Oswald West, E. B. Piper of Portland, C. C. Chapman, secretary of the Portland Commercial club, Grant B. Dimick of Oregon City, and others are on the program for short addresses.

In the afternoon, broncho busting will be one of the day's features. A berry of cowgirls will ride of the unnamed bronchos of the plains and will exhibit before a vast throng in the arena. On Saturday, an excellent exhibit of stock and farm products will be displayed.

The local committees have expeted every effort to make the day the biggest in the city's history and to entertain the trains of visitors that are expected for the celebration.

FIREMAN RUNS AMUCK AND KILLS WIFE AND WATCHMAN

EVERETT, Wash., Sept. 18.—W. R. Schrader, a fireman, shot and killed his wife at their home here last night and then shot and seriously wounded Patrolman George Tift, who was called by neighbors to arrest Schrader. Tift was shot through the neck and his collarbone was broken. After shooting the policeman, Schrader escaped. Schrader was arrested last week on complaint of his wife. It is supposed that when he returned home last night, after serving a brief sentence in jail, they quarreled over the previous trouble.

Early this morning the body of J. Davis, a shingle mill watchman, was found, horribly burned in the fire pit at the mill. A bullet hole was in Davis' skull, and statements of people in the vicinity, who said they saw a man answering the description of Schrader running by there shortly before Davis was killed, caused the police to believe that Davis had interfered with Schrader's flight and was killed by him.

The Moro Observer notes with pride that according to the assessor's returns, Sherman county has more automobiles and fewer dogs than in 1912.
