THE MEXICAN In an interview in London General Felix Diaz says PRESIDENCY that he is "now definitely a candidate for the office of President of Mexico," and he adds that General Huerta is barred by the Constitution. Undoubtedly General Huerta is disqualified so long as he remains at the head of the government, but the disability would be removed if he were to resign the presidency. Technically the Constitution was observed in his elevation, but only through an understanding with the rival man on horseback, General Felix Diaz.

Upon the violent taking off of President Madero and Vice-President Suarez Senor Pedro Lascurain, Minister of Foreign Affairs, became president by succession under the Constitution. By grace of the two military men who had destroyed the Modero government he could have held the of fice until an election was held, but his tenure was only for an hour. Obey ing their orders he appointed General Huerta minister of the interior and at once resigned the presidency, or as Senor Gamboa terms it in his reply to "Mr. Confidential Agent" Lind, "the executive power." Automatically the new minister of the interior became the head of the government of interregnum, congress under duress calling a special election. It is clear enough that the military partnership of Diaz and Huerta was greater than the Constitution, which was only an instrument in their hands.

It is worth while rehearsing the play because it bears upon the present relation of these two men to the elective presidency. If the Constitution could be so easily moulded to their purpose in February, what but loyalty to the compact should prevent the appearance of General Huerta in the field as a rival to General Diaz in September? It would be very simple: General Huerta, relinquishing his post as provinsional president by request of the friends of law and order, would become a formidable candidate with the army at his back.

read a solicitude that his partner in the removal of President Madero may not let a little thing like the Constitution stand in the way of an ambition for power and its emoluments. Consider this significant passage: "When our mission left Mexico it was with the understanding that a fair and open election would be arranged, and that I would be back in Mexico before it was held." There has been no avowed candidate but Felix Diaz since General Huerta moved into the executive mansion. No less significant is this statement of General Diaz:

"Even if I am ordered to proceed to Japan it is not certain that I shall go there. My action will depend upon the developments in Mexico."

What "coming developments" could General Diaz have in mind but a change in the political situation? His theme was the presidency, not the relations of the United States and Mexico. The "mission to Japan" has from the first been something of a mystery, but under cover of his credentials it seems that General Diaz was to superintend the business of purchasing munition of war for President Huerta. Japan declining the visit, there was nothing for General Diaz to do but to return home. He elected to do so

The Horse Needs Real Defenders; Abuse Due Mainly to Vanity

By E. H. PACKARD, General Field Agent of the American Humane Education Society

THE habitual crimes perpetrated against our friend, the horse, throughout this country and especially in the large cities, if realized by the public at large, would shock the makers and enforcers of

THERE IS NO WORSE BLOT UPON CIVILIZATION THAN THE WIDESPREAD INHUMAN, INCREDIBLY WASTEFUL TREATMENT OF HORSES BY ALL CLASSES OF PEOPLE.

Nothing but the publicity exposed evidence of the camera-in fact, nothing less than a PERSISTENT PUBLICITY CRUSADE directed at GUILTY OWNERS AND DRIVERS OF HORSES-will put an end to this shameful holdover of barbarism.

It can be proved that a VAST MAJORITY OF HORSES ARE WICKEDLY TORMENTED.

These conditions are due partly to ignorance and thoughtfulness, but MAINLY TO HUMAN LOVE OF DISPLAY AND TO GREED. Yet, with respect to the last named consideration, there is the very reverse of economy in denying a horse common comforts, which mean health, strength and willingness to work. Love of display robs the horse of his fly fighting tail, gives him the tight, torturing overcheck rein; the close, monogrammed blinders-which actually do "blind" him in time-and the absurdly heavy harness.

HORSES NEED OUT AND OUT FIGHTERS FOR THEIR RIGHTS. THE ANIMALS' FRIENDS ARE TOO APOLOGETIC.

by way of Canada and Europe; no doubt he will confer with his illustrious uncle before sailing for Vera Cruz.

It may be conjectured that action in the political drama in Mexico will now be quickened. But a few weeks remain before the election called by congress. If General Huerta is to be a candidate he must soon resign and declare his intentions. If General Diaz is concerned about his own prospects and doubts his military partner he cannot afford to tarry in Europe.

MINISTERS TO AMERI- For the men who have reduced fire fight-CAN WASTEFULNESS ing to a science, displaying in their vocation the always praiseworthy qualities of courage, hardiness and quick resourcefulness. who does not cherish a sentiment in which admiration and affection are equally blended? Yet the high place occupied in American municipal housekeeping by the professional firemen is no credit to the people they serve. Instead, the necessary prominence they have attained indexes a national wastefulness, a disregard for safety, a contempt for experience, that could inspire WOMAN HOLDS FARM FOR THREE DAYS WITH CLUB in no community properly understanding its failings any feeling except shame.

Heart to Heart Talks

By CHARLES N. LURIE

HOW MUCH DO YOU PAY? When the government collects $344,-424,453 in one year as the revenue derived from the sale of intoxicating iquors, tobacco and playing cards, is everything well with America? The government needs money for the necessary expenses of government. The internal revenue tax helps to support the government. But it may be said that in the end the millions colected by the government from such ources cost the people many, many nillions more than they bring in.

How much do you pay? Of course you know that every time you take a drink of liquor, smoke a cigar or a cigarette or break the seal of a deck of playing cards you help to bring up the enormous internal revenue total. Perhaps, you say, in doing so: "I am a patriotic citizen. I am helping to support the government." False reasoning. You are helping to break down the government, not bulld it up, for unless the teachings of history are untrue the nation in which the vices grow cannot last.

No nation can be greater or stronger than the aggregate greatness and strength of its individual citizens. If you weaken yourself by excessive drinking of intoxicants, by too much smoking, by losing your hours bending over the gambling table, you are not an asset, but a liability.

and elsewhere. Work makes a nation great, not luxury or vices.

You remember the old quotation, no doubt: Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,

There are too many such in America

Where wealth accumulates and men de-

That hits the idea squarely in the bullseve. Wealth accumulates, perhaps in huge heaps. It buys for one generation luxuries undreamed of by its predecessor.

But they have to be paid for. The price is not the gold spent for them. It is the toil of the masses which creates all wealth.

If the hundreds of millions of internal revenue were contributed only by the members of the "upper classes." who are relatively few in number. there would be less cause for alarm. But it comes largely from the pockets of the workers.

THE EVIL OF DIVORCE.

It is the home that contains the vital principles of human happiness that is the nation's strength, and it is the foundation of private as well as public well being The state is only the sum of the families that compose it. Relaxation of the marriage tie endangers the integrity of the family and therefore imperils the foundation of the state. Alarming evidence of the influence upon our rising generation of the social curse of divorce, which strikes at home life, is everywhere at hand and shows the great injury done to society, to the husband and wife themselves and to the children. Every child has a right to a mother's heart, to a mother's arms and to a father's love. Every child has a right to a home with its father and mother. Divorce and dissolution of family deprive and rob the child of that to which every child is entitled, and it works an irreparable injury to the chird Every right thinking man should raise his voice against the growing evil.-Car-

URGE SEATTLE MOTHERS TO APPLY FOR PENSIONS

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 20.-Deserted Seattle mothers are being urged by their friends to obtain divorces in order to qualify themselves to apply for mothers' pensions, according to a report read by Miss Virginia McMechen, secretary of the Charity Organization Society, at a meeting last night. Miss McMechen also said that friends of divorced women who own property and are thereby ineligi ble for a pension were urging them to put their property in the name of some one else and so become legally eligible under the new state law. In her report Miss McMechen as-serted that in almost every home she visited in the course of her duties, she found that the payment of a grocery bill would do little to alleviate the dis tress. "Sickness, lack of thrift, lazinessmany things chiefly due to ignorance -are at the bottom of the distress in most of the homes we are called upon to visit," she said.
