CITY IS AFTER ATHLETIC FIELD

LIVE WIRES GET BEHIND DEAL TO PROVIDE GROUNDS FOR SPORTING EVENTS

COUNCIL TO BE INTERESTED IN PLAN

Committee Schemes to Buy Land on Which Option is Now Held—General Civic Improvement is Theme

Oregon City may yet possess an athletic field if the council closes its option for five acres in the Englebrecht tract, just north of the city. This option was obtained several months ago, when it was determined to bore for water on the tract, and since the failure of the plan to obtain pure water on this land, the athletic field committee of the Live Wires of the Commercial club, has had conferences with members of the council looking to the closing of the option and the ultimate use of the tract for athletics.

The cost would be $2500. Oregon City is one of the few towns in the northwest that has no field for football and baseball and other field and track events, and a result the young men interested in athletics have been compelled to go to Canemah, Gladstone and other suburban points to enjoy their sports.

Talked Athletics.

Consideration of the athletic field idea was the main proposition discussed at the initial meeting of the Live Wires Tuesday. The attendance was large and, after a toothsome luncheon, the time was spent in an informal discussion of civic matters. Several reports were promised for next Tuesday, among those being the report of the committee on civic improvement and the committee on bylaws. The members of the Clackamas County court will be invited to a Live Wire luncheon in the near future at a date to be convenient to the members of the court. Main Trunk Line L. Adams presided at the luncheon. George Handell was appointed to head the committee on cluster lights. Election of officers is promised for next week. The following was the menu for Tuesday's luncheon:

- Celery
- Ripe Olives
- Bottled Ham
- Creamed Potatoes
- Long Ears of Corn
- Stuffed Tomatoes
- Bread and Butter
- Peach Shortcake
- Coffee and Trimmings.

CROWN PRINCESS.

Margaret, Wife of the Crown Prince of Sweden.

It is reported that native women and children in large numbers are victims of peonage and slavery in the Philippines. Is it thus that we are civilizing and Christianizing those people?

OPPOSITE COURT HOUSE

Serves His Own Papers In Suit Against City

Constable Jack Frost served Constable Jack Frost's papers in a suit brought by the same constable against the city for $35, which he alleges is due to him for his vacation time while a member of the police force.

The action was brought in the justice court of which he is the executive officer and will be heard before Justice of the Peace W. H. Green, who constantly serves. Steve Green also filed a suit against the city for $45 for time that he spent on the police force. Both claims had been turned down at a recent session of the council and the city had refused to pay either of the men for the time for which they sent in bills. They have now taken the case into the courts and plan to take legal action for the collection of the money.

LATEST BOOK IN PICTURE AND PROSE

As previously announced The Enterprise is presenting to its readers "Panama and the Canal" in Picture and Prose. This latest book was written by Willis J. Abbot, the well-known writer on international subjects, and is the acknowledged reference work of the great waterway. It is a beautiful large book, fully double the dimensions of the usual size novel printed from new type, bound in tropical red vellum cloth, with the title stamped in gold and inlaid with a beautiful color panel showing the famous Culebra cut. It contains more than 600 splendid illustrations, which include magnificent water color studies reproduced in full pages in all their natural beautiful colorings.

While the older members of the family will gladly welcome this book, the children should also familiarize themselves with its contents, for it contains valuable knowledge concerning this new little "old" strip of land between the two Americas. It acquaints you with the people of Panama and the Canal Zone, telling you of their appearance, their dress, their home life, their industries, their sports and pastimes. This is not only entertaining but it is highly important information from an educational viewpoint and should be read by every man, woman and child who is interested in the world's development and progress.

Under usual conditions this beautiful big book would readily sell for at least $4, but realizing the world-wide interest in the Panama Canal, daily newspapers throughout the United States and Canada are making this great distribution for the benefit of their readers, recognizing the fact that exact knowledge on this timely subject is an essential part of the education of all who would advance. So for a short time this volume will be presented to readers for only six cents and the small expense amount named therein to cover the expense of distribution.

Clip the certificate today. It is printed elsewhere in this issue.

SCHOOL PLANS TO PRESENT FARCE FOR FUND BENEFIT

The Athletic association of the Oregon City high school is making plans for a farce to be given in the near future for the benefit of the treasury of the organization. Plans are very indefinite as yet but things are to be started at once and the affair rushed through as soon as possible.

LAST MOLALLA CHIEF IS DEAD

ANOTHER INDIAN IS UNDER ARREST AWAITING THE DEVELOPMENTS

FINDS CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE

Sheriff Takes Man into Custody and Makes Investigations into Facts of Case—Old Leader Well Known

Indian Tenry, the last chief of the Molallas, is dead, and Harry Clark is held by Sheriff E. T. Mass in the county jail awaiting developments in the investigations. Henry Yelkis, the old chief was known, was found dead by the side of the road about one and one-half miles out of Molalla at an early hour Tuesday morning. On his forehead was the mark of a heavy club or rock and beside the place where he lay in the dirt were footprints, into which, the sheriff says, he exactly fitted the shoes of the man whom he later arrested. The foot prints show, to the mind of the sheriff, that the man who struck Henry wore the shoes that Clark had and he has held them as evidence in the case.

From reports that are in the hands of the officers, Clark and Henry were together at the hop fields just beyond Mount Angel. They had completed their work and had started toward Molalla. When they were only a part of the distance, white men who were passing in a wagon gave the two a ride. As they told the officers, Henry was afraid of Clark and made every effort to get rid of him though the younger man ran and caught the wagon after Henry had been taken in. It is also said that he threw the driver's hat out into the road twice in the evident effort to get him out of the wagon so he might take the reins himself.

Clark Denies Trouble.

Clark, however, denies everything beyond the fact that he and Henry were together until they reached Mount Angel. Then he can remember nothing. He does not know when he left the town and has no recollection of anything that had happened since that time.

Henry was known to have some money. Though Clark borrowed five dollars in Mount Angel and should have had according to the estimates, about $1.50, the officers found a $5 gold piece hidden in his shoe and $3 in silver in his pockets.

The old chieftan was well known in the Molalla district and was given the place of honor in the parade during the celebration at the opening of the Molalla branch of the Portland, Eugene & Eastern. He is about 67 years of age and has one son, Fred, a logger in a camp at Winlock, Wash. He has been married twice.

Inquest is Held.

Coroner Wilson went to the scene and examined the points that would develop any facts surrounding the case. Beyond the fact that the blow was not enough to more than stun and that he had probably died from several hours of exposure, the verdict was non-committal.

Preparations to give the old Indian a christian burial will be made at Molalla, although the time has not yet been definitely fixed. He had many friends among the whites in all sections of the county and was a picturesque character whenever he came in from his farm near Molalla.

Smashes Lights; Grabs Live Wire; Wants to Die

Smashing out the electric lights in the county jail with a club and grabbing the wires with his bare hands, Wong Bow, held on a charge of assault upon Wong Yeng, tried to electrocute himself Tuesday afternoon, but was prevented by the other prisoners in the place.

"We want to die. All Chinamen want to die," explained the oriental to Deputy Sheriff Staats afterwards. He then begged the officer to pull his gun and shoot him on the spot and declared that he did not want to live any longer. All sorts of methods of suicide were suggested by him and he even asked the deputy to take him down to the river where he could jump in and drown himself.

Instead, however, the officer placed him in a separate cell where he could harm neither himself nor any of the others in the jail. Some of the prisoners have been afraid of the Chinaman for the last few days and are believed that he intended to injure them.

Bow was placed in the custody of the sheriff a few weeks ago on a charge of assaulting Wong Yeng in a box car near Canby where the two were at work on the Molalla line of the Portland, Eugene & Eastern. He has been placed on a $2000 bond for the action of the grand jury.

MOLALLA CHOOSES ITS FIRST OFFICERS

W. W. Verhart will be the first mayor of the newly incorporated city of Molalla, no opposition developing when the votes were counted at the first election.

The following will be the members of the first council: W. D. Echerd, Fred M. Henriksen, William MacKrell, L. W. Robbins, A. T. Shoemaker and I. M. Doliver. The other officers are, D. C. Boyles for recorder, Fred R. Coleman for marshal, and Fred G. Havemann, treasurer. Because of the excitement in anticipation of the celebration on the opening of the branch line of the Portland, Eugene & Eastern, the women forgot politics and only a few of them cast their votes.

MANY FRIENDS ATTEND WOMAN'S FUNERAL

The funeral of Mrs. Carrie Richards, who died in Oregon City Sunday of cancer, was held Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock from her late residence, Rev. George Nelson Edwards, pastor of the First Congregational church officiating. Interment was made in the Mountain View cemetery.

Mrs. Richards came to this state 12 years ago from New York and ever since has been a resident of this city. Her home was at 311 Eighteenth street. She is survived by Mrs. Frank H. Cross of this city, a daughter.

One of the finest moving picture theatres in the Willamette valley was opened Monday at Albany. The new show house is called the Bligh Theatre.

GRIDIRON MEN READY TO WORK

TEAM TO BE BETTER THAN ANY IN RECENT YEARS AT HIGH SCHOOL

SIX OLD HEROES ARE IN AGAIN

Coach Thinks he Has Huskiest Squad in Logg Time and Expects to Grind Other Schools into the Dirt

Prospects are bright for one of the best football teams ever turned out in the Oregon City high school, according to the statement of Coach Wagner.

At a meeting held Tuesday afternoon, more than 20 men turned out, of which number there were six from last year's team. It is expected that with these experienced men, the coach will be able to build a team that will be one of the best ever representing the local school.

The old men are, "Tub" Gault, J. Beatie, Clyde Green, Walter Dunsey, "Shin" Mass, and Charles Beafly, and some of the new men are Halston, Farr, Hedges, Miller, Millican and Finencane. Games have been arranged with Estacada high school and Salem high school, while many others will be scheduled in the near future.

ENROLLMENT IS MUCH LARGER THAN EVER

With the pupils of the city schools pouring in from the hop yards of the county and other places where they have been at work, the enrollment will be much larger this year than it was last in both the high school and the grades.

The opening day showed a registration of 216 in the higher classes and 600 in the grades at the Barclay and Eastham buildings. This is not materially larger than the first day of 1912, but there are still many of the pupils who have not yet reported for the year's work and whose appearance will swell the list by several dozen in each of the grades.

The first day was devoted to the registration of the pupils as they came in, but the assignment to the classes was rapidly made and the regular routine work will be begun today. By this morning, the students will have again entered into the swing of the school life and the routine work will have been started.

ESTATES ARE FILED FOR PROBATE IN COUNTY COURT

Two estates were filed in the office of the county clerk, W. L. Mulvey, Tuesday and will be probated by the court.

Gilbert Hauglum, as administrator, filed the paper of the estate of Lewis J. Eri and estimated that the value of the property is about $4000. The estate of Frederick Fenske was filed and valued at $7000.

James J. Hill is young yet, only 75. May he live and keep young until he is 100.

Squashes and Pumpkins are Off for Fair

With a squash that measures three feet in diameter and that weighs 150 pounds, and a pumpkin only slightly smaller, but weighing 135 pounds, Clackamas county is off for the state fair at Salem.

O. E. Freytag, secretary of the Commercial club, has been spending the past few days gathering the exhibits and preparing them for the state display. He has almost finished packing the exhibits that this county will have and will be ready to ship them in plenty of time to get them properly and artistically arranged in the space that has been allotted.

Clackamas county will have most of its valuable resources on exhibition during the state fair. Four subdivisions of the exhibit have been planned on a scale larger than ever before and all sections of the county will be represented.

FIRE EATS THROUGH BLOCK IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 23.—(Special)—Saloons, newstands, taxicab offices and other small buildings near the Broadway bridge burned and were damaged to the extent of $20,000 by a fire that broke out here tonight at 11:30 o'clock from a restaurant, but the bridge was unharmed.

Though the flames leaped all around the structure, the fire got no foothold and no damage was done. Travel will be resumed over it in the morning. The buildings that burned were badly damaged and part of the stock that they contained was lost. The blaze broke out from the rear of a restaurant in the section and ate through several of the frame buildings before it was checked by the fire department.

Most of the structures were old and single story affairs, and, though 12 of them were in the path of the flames, the financial loss was estimated at only $20,000.

CROWDS TO SEE HOW SHOES ARE MADE

A working exhibit showing just how a logging shoe is made and all of the things that have to be done before the work is completed and ready for the foot will be put on at the Canby fair by L. Adams as a part of his exhibit there.

Through the four days of the fair, the operations that are necessary in making a heavy shoe will be shown by the actual manufacture of several pairs before the eyes of the crowds. A booth has been fitted up for the manufacturers who will be on duty there through the exhibition.

SEES POSSIBILITIES IN WALNUT TREES

All up and down the Willamette valley, T. M. Templeton, for the past 10 years an employe of the government in Manila has been looking for 400 acres of land that will produce the greatest walnut crop in this section of the country.

He has been studying this country for several months and arrived in the city a few days ago to look over the country and to see the spots that would be the most likely to produce the best walnuts on the vast acreage that he intends to plant. He has spent most of his time around Oregon City but has now gone farther up the river and through the adjoining counties.

He intends to plant the entire 400 acres to walnut trees, build him a home, and watch them grow and produce dividends for him here. He believes that it can be done and will make the experiment as soon as he finds the attractive land.

About one thousand times as much cotton has been made on that little Maine election as it was entitled to. American cities are absurdly spread out. European visitors think, but are not their cities absurdly contracted and condensed?

GATES SWING OPEN TODAY

BIGGEST FAIR COUNTY HAS EVER HAD BEGINS THIS MORNING

PRODUCT FEATURES ARE IN SHOW

Crops Raised in District Will Hold an Important Place in Great Displays—Large Crowds Are Expected

Clackamas county's big exhibit of resources opens today at Canby, and this morning at ten o'clock there will be no less than three bands playing at the fair grounds to welcome visitors to the seventh annual display of livestock, farm produce and other things usually on view at county gatherings. In other words the Clackamas County fair for 1913 will be a thing of present history for today and the rest of the week.

All is Ready.

Grant B. Dimick, president of the board of directors, last night declared that everything was in readiness in the different pavilions and show sheds for the opening of the fair. He is expected to flock to the grounds today. Every exhibit that has been entered has turned up safely at the fair grounds, and there will be no blank spaces to spoil the enjoyment of those who attend the display on the first day. In fact the first day's program will be as interesting as any other, as every effort has been made to have the fair program start off with a jump.

Milk Testing.

Half an hour after the big gates are swung back the initial special feature of the fair will be staged. This will be the demonstration of milk and cream testing by A. O. Hollingsworth, and a lecture given by him on modern dairymaking methods. As the opening day of the fair has been designated "Farmers' and Dairymen's Day," it is likely that a large percentage of the early visitors will find this feature one of practical interest.

The balance of the morning hours have been left free, so that visitors may thoroughly review all the exhibits without having their attention interrupted. In the afternoon the first of the racing matinees will be staged on the track, some of the fastest and best; Clackamas county steeds being matched against racers from all parts of the northwest in quarter, half, and mile running races. Much interest has been expressed in these races, and it is believed that some fast time will be made on the track.

Other Features

Following the races the management of the fair has planned a number of surprising features. The first of these is a band concert, and in the evening there will be more music, from seven to eight.

Oregon City people who are planning to go to the fair will have no difficulty in reaching the grounds. The train going south at 9:20 o'clock in the morning makes the run to Canby in good time for those who travel by it to witness the events, and aside from this there will be frequent auto stages leaving at intervals throughout the day. After spending the day at the fair grounds, visitors from the county seat will find that the evening train to the north leaves Canby at such an hour as to bring them to Oregon City at 9:15 o'clock p. m.

MAN GOES HOME BUT SENDS CHECK FOR FINE

W. J. Williams surprised Chief Ed Shaw when he sent the officer a check for $20 after he had been released from the city jail on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct. Williams had insisted upon disrobing on the bank of the river Saturday night and was restrained by Officer French from leaping into the river.

The chief let the man out of the city jail upon his promise to go home and home and forward the amount of his fine. To the surprise of the officer, he sent the check at once.
