DIVISION STREET IS BIG PUZZLE

LEGAL TANGLE PRESENTS ITSELF WHEN CITY HAS IMPROVEMENT PLAN

CANNOT FORCE OWNERS TO PAY

County Side May Refuse to Share Cost of Work and Officers Are Helpless—Money is But Contribution

Shall property owners on the city side of Division street pay for the improvement of the entire street or will the residents of the county side share the expense? This is the question that is just now being asked by the residents of the northeastern section of the city.

Division street is the dividing line between the city and county. Complete plans and specifications have been filed in the recorder's office for the improvement of the street with crushed rock. The finished street will cost at least $20,000 if the regular specifications are carried out.

According to the opinion of City Attorney Stone, the city has absolutely no authority over the property owners on the county side of the street, and can in no way compel them to share the expense of the improvement.

Stone Talks.
"The only way that the city can secure the co-operation of the property owners on the county side is by voluntary support. The city has absolutely no power over them, and it is only through what might be termed 'free will offerings' that financial co-operation can be secured," said Mr. Stone Thursday.

"The property on both sides of the street will receive equal benefit, and, as a result, it is only fair that there should be equal assessment against both sides of the street. I believe that co-operation can be secured, although one stubborn owner could almost block the entire matter," he continued. "This is the only way that I see for the city."

Division street is considered one of the worst streets in the city. In the winter it is said to be impossible to drive a team along it on account of the mud. It has never been gravelled, and is full of great ruts and chuck-holes.

SOCIETY OPENS WINTER SEASON

FIRST EVENT IS BRILLIANT FUNCTION AND MANY GUESTS PRESENT

MRS. LATOURETTE IS HOSTESS

Beautiful Decorations Fill Hall and Living Rooms and Many Flowers Add to Many Features of Event

Mrs. Chas. D. Latourette opened the social season Thursday afternoon with a delightful reception, complimenting Mrs. Earl C. Latourette and her guest, Miss Hardy, of Indiana. About one hundred and fifty friends called.

Mrs. Howard Latourette, of Portland, and Mrs. Mortimer Latourette assisted in entertaining the guests.

The hall and living rooms, the windows of which command an unsurpassed view of the falls and upper river, were profusely decorated with red carnations, maiden-hair and salvia. In the living room the mantel was banked with yellow and purple asters. The table was centered with flowers of the same color, tied with large bows of yellow tulle.

Mrs. Latourette was handsome in black marquisette over cerise crepe de meteor.

Mrs. Earle Latourette, who before her marriage was Miss Ruth Steiwer, a popular Portland girl, wore a smart gown of white lace with a tunic of emerald green messaline.

Miss Hardy was charming in salmon pink charmeuse with fur trim. Mrs. Mortimer Latourette wore a particularly becoming gown of canary marquisette.

Mrs. Howard Latourette wore a graceful gown of white lace with yellow marquisette.

Mrs. Kathryn Ward Pope and Mrs. Charles Buchanan, of Portland, presided over the punch bowl. Mrs. Roland Scott poured tea and Mrs. Ostrander served the ices. Assisting in the dining room were Miss Louise Walker, Miss Florence Grace and Miss Maude Warner.

An excellent orchestra added to the pleasure of the afternoon.

The First Christian church of Gladstone, gave a reception Wednesday evening to honor the first anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. R. L. Dunn. Reports were read covering the year's work which showed the church to be prospering in all ways. Several speakers from Portland were present. The ladies of the church served one of the suppers for which they are so justly famous.

Miss Anna Michels is spending two weeks in Lebanon at the home of her uncle, Chris Michels, formerly of Oregon City. Mr. Michels is now in charge of the sulphite mill of the Lebanon Paper Co.

The church is located at the corner of Ninth and Center streets.

The list of services is as follows: October 5, 1913, "Unreality"; Oct. 12, "Are sin, disease and death real?"; Oct. 19, "Doctrine of atonement"; Oct. 26, "Probation after death"; Nov. 2, "Everlasting punishment"; Nov. 9, "Adama and fallen man"; Nov. 16, "Mortals and immortals"; Nov. 23, "Soul and body"; Nov. 30, "Ancient and modern necromancy, alias mesmerism and hypnotism—denounced"; Dec. 7, "God the only cause and creator"; Dec. 14, "God the preserver of man"; Dec. 21, "Is the universe, including man, evolved by atomic force?"; Dec. 28, "Christian Science."

BARGE HITS SNAG IN RIVER AND SINKS

While the launch "Klick," in charge of C. C. Spencer, of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Co was towing the barge "Santiam" from the head gates of the upper sawmill, the barge struck a snag and sunk.

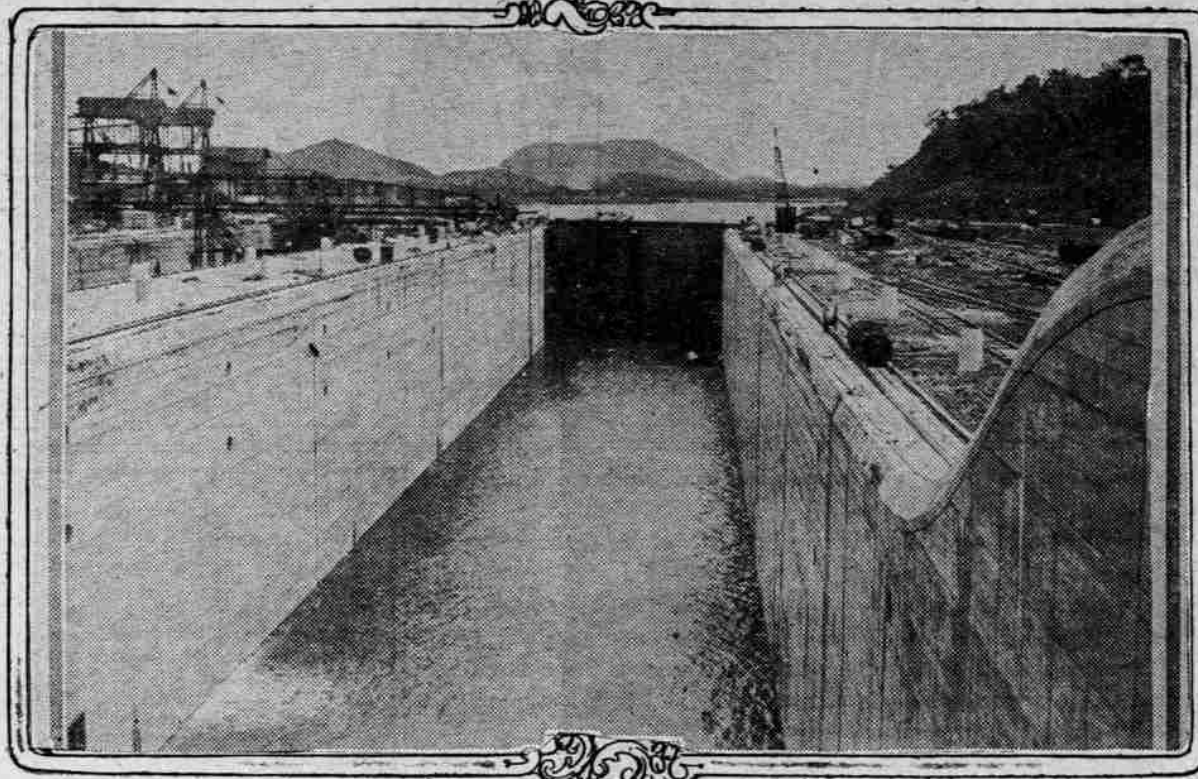

The water at this point is from 10 to 20 feet and the snag which was a few feet under water was not struck by the launch, but the scow did not fair so well, and after sinking until only the deck was visible above the water stayed there. On the scow is a large donkey engine, but for some reason its weight did not completely sink the boat.

WATERS OF THE PACIFIC IN CANAL LOCKS FOR THE FIRST TIME

Copyright by International News Service.

This photograph shows water entering the Miraflores Locks for the first time after the blowing up of the dyke which separated the canal prism and the Pacific ocean. It was not intended, however to allow the water to get into the channel to operating level, the stoney gate valve which was supposed to keep water out of the lock showed a bad leak which is permitting the water to enter the locks at the rate of three inches per hour. When the picture was taken there was twelve feet in the west chamber, lower locks Miraflores.

It seems but yesterday that congress was discussing whether the canal would be constructed as what is known as a "water level" canal or as a "lock and dam" canal, and now the above picture shows the waters of the Pacific in the canal for the first time.

The completion of this canal will mark the triumph of engineering skill over the claims that this canal could never be built.

ATHLETES CHOOSE OFFICERS FOR YEAR

The first meeting of the Oregon City high school athletic association was held in the high school assembly hall Monday evening. The first business was the election of officers which was as follows: President, Joseph Hedges; vice-president, Grace Spiger; secretary-treasurer, Albert Vierhus; board of control, Ernest Mass, Jr., Charles Beattie, Mr. Wagner and Miss Larsen.

All of the members of last year's football team gave short talks, the substance of which was the better support of the school in the attendance of the games played by the team.

Prof. Pingssten and Prof. Toozz gave short talks encouraging athletics in the high school.

GLADSTONE NOW HAS ACTIVE PRESS AGENT

At a meeting Thursday evening the Commercial club of Gladstone appointed Dr. W. E. Hemmstedt press agent and transacted other business of minor importance.

According to the plan of the club, the Gladstone organization will co-operate with the Oregon City Commercial club for the purpose of boosting this section of this state and this county in particular. An active campaign will be mapped out and, by bringing the two bodies together, it is thought that the best possible results can be obtained. This will bring the two leading booster clubs in the county together in such a way that more progressive and enterprising work can be carried on through the various newspapers and magazines.

Another matter which was discussed in the meeting, was the street signs which will be placed through the city in a short time.

MOTORCYCLE MAKES LONG TRIP IN RECORD TIME

Ralph Smith of Boardman, and Hugh Olds of Gladstone, made a business and pleasure trip to Latourette Wednesday. The two young men started early in the morning on Smith's motorcycle. The trip was made by way of the Sandy road which was in excellent condition and good time was made. Arriving at Latourette the falls were visited.

An excellent view of the Columbia river was obtained which gave the tourists an idea of the size of the river. The trip from Latourette to Oregon City was made in record time by the way of the Base Line road.

Mr. Smith, who piloted the motorcycle during the entire trip, is an experienced motorist and showed his skill by rounding some bad curves at a high rate of speed, while Hugh Olds clutched the driver and hung on for dear life. Hugh Olds told of his trip by saying that "Smith had to stop the motorcycle several times so that I could get my breath."

COURT HEARS MEN PLEAD NOT GUILTY

Pleas of not guilty have been entered in the circuit court in the cases against Charles Harnack, John Brush, Gus Rodenburg, Charles Gilbrick, William Heinz, Carl Bergren, Jacob Rueck, and Commissioner J. W. Smith.

All of these men were indicted by the recent grand jury of the county on charges of selling liquor on Sunday contrary to the statutes. The cases have been carried over by the entering of the pleas, and the dates for all of them have not yet been definitely fixed although general demurrers to the indictments have been made on the ground that the grand jury made more than one charge in each of the allegations that were brought.

Hunt Streets for Slit Skirt While "Justice" Smiles on Serenely

Mere man was on edge Thursday hunting for the slit skirt at the courthouse that had created so much excitement and had interested him in the woman with the new freak of fashion.

Presiding over the actions of the courts, with her hand uplifted over the city and holding the sword of justice that hews to the line, the woman with the slit skirt stands firmly fixed on the roofs of the county building where some architect with designs artistic, placed her when the structure was erected several years ago. She is not on the county pay roll, but she is still a county fixture. She is the representation of the justice of the courts, a statu e of justice, in fact, and her gown is that of the Grecian woman of whom she is a likeness.

BUSTLING SENIORS ORGANIZE CLASS

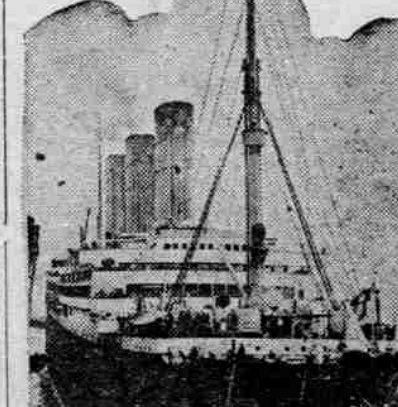

A meeting of the senior class of the Oregon City high school was held in the assembly room of the high school Tuesday afternoon. The election of officers was the purpose of the meeting and the successful candidates are, president, William Lettenmaier; vice-president, Hazel Linkins; secretary-treasurer, Albert Vierhus, and Ray Morris was elected editor of the Hesperian.

The senior class is the first to organize, and is planning many extraordinary stunts that will be pulled off during the next few months. As the football season is drawing near, practically every senior is trying hard every evening to win a position on the high school eleven, which is doing excellent work.

Prof. Wagner, who is coach of the eleven, is greatly pleased with the work of the team and expects to have a successful season.

WEST LINN COUNCIL HAS FIRST SESSION

The first council meeting of the new city of West Linn has been held and the first ordinance has been passed. At the temporary city hall, the Willamette Falls Railway terminal building, the newly organized city government met and started on the work of shaping the laws and regulations of the town.

The most important ordinance was one calling for a special election to be held in December, at which the new charter will be adopted or rejected. The present council is only for the work of organizing the new government, its term expiring at the end of 60 days. After that time a council will be elected which will work under the new charter.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD GIRL VICTIM OF TYPHOID

Thelma Driscoll, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Driscoll of Canemah, died at her home at 4:30 o'clock Thursday morning after an illness of two weeks. She will be buried at Canemah cemetery Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock p. m. The services being held at the home of her parents.

Although the illness was typhoid as first, it is thought that her death was caused by diseases brought on by the fever rather than the typhoid itself.

CHARGES FILED AGAINST WIFE BY HUSBAND

Charges of improper conduct with other men were made in a divorce complaint filed in the office of County Clerk Will L. Mulvey Thursday by Philip H. Weston against Annie E. Weston.

The complaint recites that the wife associated with other men during her married life and that she did so over the protests and against the wishes of the husband. They were married at Sacramento, July 20, 1911.

BANKRUPTS HAVE NO ASSETS AND ARE DISCHARGED

Three bankrupts with no assets whatever were examined before B. N. Hicks, referee in bankruptcy Thursday and the creditors' claims were investigated in the case of each of them. The investigations conducted by the referee showed that none of the bankrupts had assets and that each of them owed about $500 to their various creditors. He will file a report recommending that they be discharged from the condition of bankruptcy. The men are C. F. Adams, a candy merchant of Oak Grove; G. R. Wilson, Milwaukie; Benjamin A. Hillmer, Clackamas.

County Clerk Will L. Mulvey issued a marriage license to Irene Simpson and Lewis Herman Moonman and the ceremony was performed a few moments later by Judge John N. Seivers in the office of the justice of the peace.

FINNY TRIBE FILL STREAMS

ESTACADA CLUB HELPS STATE REPLENISH WATERS WITH THOUSANDS OF FISH

RIVERS AND TRIBUTARIES STOCKED

County to be Fisherman's Paradise Next Year When Minnows Grow and Fatten in Poor Streams

The Estacada Rod & Gun club has just finished planting about 200,000 rainbow trout in the Clackamas river, and its tributaries.

It put 44,800 in the pond at Estacada; 32,000 in the pond at upper dam; 16,000 in the reservoir; 20,000 in north fork of the Clackamas; 10,000 in the south fork of the Clackamas; 20,000 in Clear Creek and the balance has been distributed in small streams running into some of these others. Fourteen thousand were planted in Delph Creek, a small stream which empties into Eagle Creek.

Aside, and in addition to what the club has planted the state has deposited in Eagle Creek and in the north fork of Eagle Creek 131,000.

In all these there were planted in Clackamas waters about 330,000 by the club and state fish commission. These fish will be about nine inches long in about one year, which will make the fishing fine next fall. In the main Clackamas there have been released aside from all this, between 400,000 to 500,000. This last big sum was turned loose below both dams and should make the fishing good next year on the lower Clackamas. The large portion of those released on the lower Clackamas were steelhead trout; these fish grow rapidly and should be at least ten inches long by next September.

CARVER ASKS FOR HELP ON BRIDGE

From Parkplace, a large delegation visited the county court Thursday to ask for the assistance of the county in the construction of a new steel bridge across the Clackamas river at that point.

The reason for the excitement in Parkplace is the fact that the Carver electric line wants to cross the stream and feels that the county should share the expense of the work. The residents here, with Carver, asked the county to donate $7500 as one-half of the cost of the bridge to be erected near the present wagon bridge.

The matter was taken under advisement by the county court and will entail an investigation into the necessity for the bridge before the appropriation is made. The new bridge, according to the Carver plans, would have one side devoted to the vehicle traffic and the other to the electric cars of the new line.

STARTS ON LAST LAP OF 3000-MILE HIKE

Having walked 4200 miles since March 1, or from New York to San Francisco, and then up the coast to Oregon City, Fred Callahan arrived in this city Thursday on the last lap of his loop around the United States.

Tomorrow he will call on Mayor Jones and secure a letter telling the date of his arrival and departure. Immediately after his visit to the mayor he will leave for Portland, where he will spend two days.

Mr. Callahan is preparing a guide book for the tourist in which the roads and the towns of his trip are described. The hotels of the country are co-operating with him so that when the book is completed it will be one of the best of its kind.

He has walked 4300 miles since he left New York on March 1, and by the time he returns to that city, will have covered in the neighborhood of 7300 miles. His average is between 30 and 35 miles a day although some days he goes close to 50 miles. Thursday he walked from Salem to this city, a distance of about 42 miles.

DRY PETITIONS ARE NOW FILED

OREGON CITY AND MILWAUKIE ARE IN THROES OF BIG PROHIBITION FIGHT

PAPERS ARE NUMEROUSLY SIGNED

Many More Names Appear Than Were Needed to Get Question on the Ballot at Next Election and All Are Legal

Oregon City and Milwaukie, about the only incorporated towns in the county not already dry, are now in the throes of a prohibition fight.

Petitions were filed in the office of Will L. Mulvey, county clerk, Thursday by the faction that has been circulating them through the cities and that has secured more than the requisite number of signatures on which the county court may call a special election.

The law provides that the matter will be submitted at the election November 4, when the state votes on the referendum laws and will be added to the ballot at that time. There are 295 names on the Oregon City petition, and 51 on the one from Milwaukie, more than the 10 per cent of the vote cast for justice of the supreme court at the last general election.

The county clerk has checked over the names that appear on the papers he has filed and all of them are registered voters of the county and are qualified to sign such a petition demanding that the issue be placed on the ballot at the election.

Many in Dry Column.
Most of the towns in the county are already dry and have adopted the provisions of the local option law. Some of them fell into the column during the last county election when they voted for county-wide prohibition. Though the matter failed to carry, the petitions that voted for it have been dry anyway, under the provisions of the law, and the two cities in which the fight has now been started are almost the only incorporated towns that have not gone into the column.

The dry forces have been organizing for several weeks and have now formulated plans for an active campaign. They have about determined on the moves that will be made during the next few weeks before the election date.

Oregon City now has 10 saloons, from which the city receives an annual license tax of $10,000.
