

The Ways of the Market.

Young Wife—But that's very expensive, especially as it's in season, isn't it? Greenrover—Well, madam, it is and it isn't, as you might say. What with the French gardening and what not, the vegetables that used to be out of season are in and them that is in out, owing to the demand for the others.—Punch.

Never Learned the Turkey Trot. How old am I? Well, never mind. I've had my time doing. Yet, though I've led a merry rout, In one thing I have quite missed out— It is of this I sing. And oftentimes at cabarets At others' longingly I gaze, I never danced the turkey trot, I never learned the turkey trot. Ah, how I envy these trottours! Theirs is a happy lot. The chairs and tables cleared away, They gather in a brave array To do the turkey trot. While I, with many a vain regret, Have overlooked this single bet— I cannot dance the turkey trot, I never danced the turkey trot. The bunny hug I fain would try Or yet the chicken reel. And other stunts and figures, too, Based on the barnyard and the zoo, With primitive appeal, But I must be a wall flower still, Because I fear I never will. Learn how to dance the turkey trot— Ah, me, to dance the turkey trot! —Chicago Inter-Ocean.

A Knowing Parrot. "What a fine parrot you have!" said Harold to the young woman on whom he was calling. "How is he on imitating?" "Great!" said the hostess. "He can imitate almost anything." "Over at Smith's," continued Harold, "they have a bird that can imitate a kiss to perfection. Can your bird do that?" "No, indeed," answered Mabel indignantly. "Parrots can only imitate, and it is not likely that our bird would repeat a sound it is not accustomed to hear." Then Polly spoke. "Don't. Will; don't, dear," it said. "Wait until I take this wretched bird out of the room."—Philadelphia Record.

Firemen Plan Social The Willamette Volunteer Fire company is planning a social which will be held in the school house Monday, October 28, for the purpose of raising money for the erection of a fire hall. A committee is hard at work arranging a program that is said to be a "dinger" to say the least. A hint is being passed around by the fire boys that those who come should not leave their pocket books on the bureau.

There will be songs by the boys and girls and recitations by Androy Farr. Other features are being arranged and worked out by the committee.

There has been a demand for an efficient fire department in Willamette for some time and it is considered that to have an efficient department it is necessary to have a first class fire hall.

James Christensen has received the contract for cutting 15 cords of wood on the P., E. & E. railway for F. W. Kenney.

Frank Baker and Otto Warner, both of Lewis, were in Willamette Tuesday on a hunting trip.

A very prettily appointed home wedding took place on Wednesday, Oct. 15th, at high noon, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Antoine Batala, when their daughter, Mary, became the wife of Wm. Ridder. At twelve o'clock the bride, looking beautiful in a handsome gown of white silk and lace, and carrying a bouquet of white carnations, entered the room upon her father's arm, to the strains of the betrothal march, and proceeded by her youngest sister, Margaret, as flower girl, proceeding to archway, which was artistically decorated with autumn leaves and flowers, and from the center of which a wedding bell was suspended, where the groom and groomsmen were already awaiting them. Miss Christina Batala, the bridesmaid was attired in white Swiss dotted with blue flowers. Rev. Ulrich, of the German Reform church, officiated with the beautiful ring ceremony. After the bride and groom had received the congratulations of relatives and friends, a plentiful banquet was served in the dining room. The wedding gifts were numerous and handsome, among them being articles of value from Scotland and Germany, where the bride and groom have relatives and friends. The groom is one of our village boys, who has grown to manhood here, where his many friends admire him for his loyal and kindly disposition. The young couple have gone on a honeymoon to Madras, the former home of the bride, and upon their return will be at home to their friends at the Ridder farm. The hosts of friends of the happy bride and groom join in wishing them much happiness and prosperity.

MOLALLA.

"The Infant City of Oregon" has its harness on and now gently going forward feeling of the load of duties it must pull through, difficult problems attending the building of towns.

The P. E. & E. depot is nearing completion. The railroad company's water tank and well also stock yards and shute are about ready for use.

Molalla is pushed to the limit for hotel accommodations, a rooming house could do a good business this winter.

Molalla school has no room to spare. Many students were turned away on account of over-crowded conditions. Another school building will be erected next year, by a timely foresight ample grounds to meet immediate future needs has been secured.

The fair all being over with, ideal weather conditions attending all of them on the way to record breaking success. Everybody is pleased to have them over with.

Plenty of rain has fallen for farming purposes and the pasture already in sight are immense.

Mr. Jensen has leased the John Shepherd ranch and will move his family out there next week.

The railway company and the city will do some much needed highway graveling in the very near future, without which, before Christmas all "ways" would be utterly impassable across the swamp.
