SALOON CANARD NAILED TO CROSS

WEST LINN DENIES CHARGE
THAT IT WANTS BAR
ROOMS THERE

SAYS IT HAS VOTED DRY ALREADY

Does Not Propose to Change into Wet
Column and Will Permit No
Liquor in Its City
Limits

"The Guardian" of October 18, 1913, contains an article which would imply that West Linn was incorporated for the express purpose of going into the liquor business as soon as Oregon City goes dry. This statement brought a storm into the ranks of West Linn's citizens and one of the prominent officials of the city as also an officer of the West Side Improvement club, gave vent to the following statement:

"I wish the 'Enterprise' to contradict the statement in 'The Guardian' that West Linn is just waiting for Oregon City to go dry that the ten saloons might immediately move across the river. West Linn has passed an ordinance which makes it unlawful to sell or even give away spirituous liquors within the city's boundaries, and the charter which is up to the people to adopt or reject on December 1, makes it unlawful to deal in, or in any manner dispose of, liquor within the city's limits, except on vote of the people. This charter was unanimously passed upon by the charter committee, of ten citizens and later unanimously adopted by the city council and passed to the people for their vote.

"If this looks like West Linn stands ready with open arms to receive the liquor men as 'business men' 'The Guardian' is mistaken in its interpretation of the citizens' intention.

"West Linn is to be a home city—one where everybody will feel free to live. We have no objection to those who are in the liquor business; they are, many of them, first class citizens, but we do object to their business and the misery that follows from it. It seems poor policy for the wets to try to use West Linn as an argument for Oregon City to go wet. West Linn has no fight with anybody and Oregon City is not looking for trouble."

LENTS CLUB AGAINST NEW ROUTING OF CARS

LENTS, Oct. 18.—After hearing the protest of H. Rostad, president of the Lents Commercial club, Thursday against the proposed routing of Lents cars on Yamhill street, Commissioner Daly promised to hear the desires of Lents residents before ordering the new routing of Mr. Scott cars. The Lents people want to reach Washington street without change of cars.

Now if somebodys in Mexico City would get Huerta into jail, things there would be evened up about right.

Solid Silver Wedding Gifts
It sounds well—there is nothing quite so sweet to the ears of a bride as sterling silver.
Apart from the quality—which is high here, and the chasteness of the patterns—which can be seen at a glance, it is important to know that the prices are not extravagant.
Our jewelry store is the best place in the county to get suggestions for wedding presents. We have made a study of this "gift question." It is our business to know what is suitable for various gift occasions.
Choose Your Gifts Here
Our stock is varied and so are the prices. Every taste and every pocket book is sure to be suited. We have many inexpensive but dainty little novelties here besides silverware which will make excellent gifts.
This is a jewelry store where you can get just what you are looking for at the price you want to pay.
Everything in our fine line of silverware, gems, jewelry, watches, etc., contains nothing but real, tangible values, coupled with up-to-date styles.

Smiling Faces of Enterprise Carrier Boys Seen at Movie Show

Down in the front row there were four round, smiling, jovial, boyish faces, upturned toward the exciting events so graphically portrayed on the movie screen. Now their faces would be wreathed in smiles as the funny man in the clown make-up would perform or, perhaps one would clench his fist as his more violent passions were aroused.

Those four boyish faces were the carriers of the Enterprise in Oregon City and they were the guests of Manager Schram in the Grand theatre in a little "blow out" arranged for in their honor. After the show the boys were taken to a confectionery store and treated to ice cream to their hearts' content.

The boys have been working hard in the contest and have produced remarkable results. The standing is: Number 1—Arthur McDonald ... 600 Number 2—Gayle McDowell ... 500 Number 3—Clarence Cannon ... 600 Number 4—Edward Dungey ... 3900

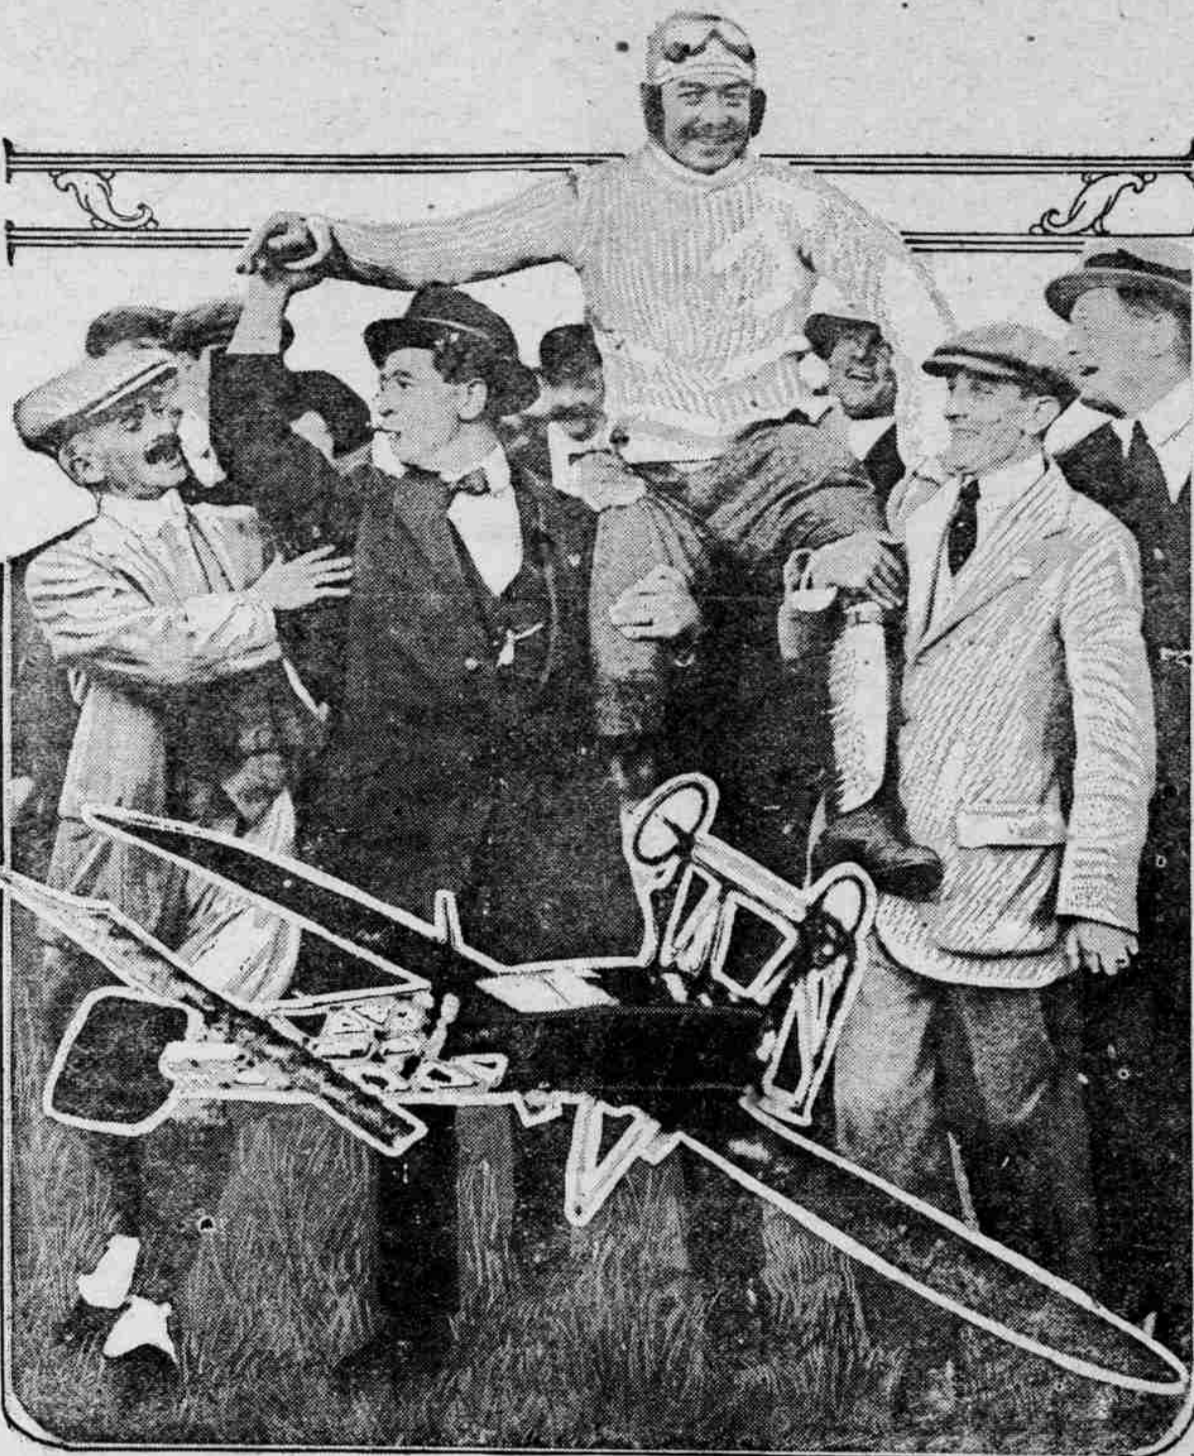

MASONS SEE WORK OF ANOTHER LODGE

The Multnomah Lodge of Masons attended the meeting of the Sellwood lodge the other night and found that the employees of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company could put on excellent work.
The lodge has 105 members, most of whom are employees of the railroad company. The men have time, however, for their regular lodge work and have taken it in the same way that the other lodges of the state have done. Franklin T. Griffith, president of the company, visited the organization on the same night.

Pegoud, Astonishing Acrobatic Flier, Coming to America, It Is Said, to Amaze United States.

Photos by American Press Association.

Pegoud, the famous French aviator, who won the title of the most amazing acrobat of the air, is coming to America, according to reports. Pegoud is the dying man who gave death the "la-ha" when he turned flipflaps up a couple of thousand feet at Buc, France, without falling out or coming to any harm. He followed up this wonderful loop the loop feat by sailing upside down, something that aviators thought could never be done because of the danger of an explosion from the engine. He also flew sideways and cut up other diodes in the air in the most astonishing manner. The illustration shows the reception given Pegoud when he descended after his first loop the loop feat and how his Blériot monoplane looked upside down in the air.

CHURCH COUNCIL IS TO BE IMPORTANT

On Wednesday next, October 22, the National Council of Congregational churches holds its triennial meeting in Kansas City, Mo. In connection with it the annual meetings of the various Congregational missionary societies will be held, the combined sessions lasting ten days.
It will be a session of great interest as propositions looking to the closer consolidation of the churches, the reorganization of the management of missionary work, the appointment of a national society of the churches and more frequent meetings of the council are to be decided.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY IN DEAD-LOCK

Many noted men will take part in the deliberations and on the platform will appear speakers and workers of all over the world. Mr. Edwards and Mr. Dye were among the delegates appointed from Oregon, but are unable to attend. Mr. Edwards will speak this morning on what the council stands for and the place of Congregationalists in the religious world. Morning worship at 11 o'clock.
But those who can play the piano usually refrain.

PHOTOGRAPHS bear a double news value when they are of important subjects that are difficult to get. This picture is an example. When the impeachment trial of Governor William Sulzer of New York started at Albany, N. Y., the state capital, Chief Justice Cullen of the state court of appeals, who presided, refused to allow any photographs to be taken. A strict embargo was placed upon cameras. Finally one picture maker succeeded in getting a rapid fire exposure without flashlight, with the above result. Judge Cullen is seen on the dais. At left sit counsel for Sulzer, headed by D. Cady Herrick. At right are counsel for the assembly board of managers, headed by Alton B. Parker, former Democratic candidate for president of the United States. In the gallery are spectators.

EDICT OVER A PLAY CAUSES FRICTION IN THE CITY HIGH SCHOOL

Said Objectionable Matter Would Be Killed But Sets His Foot Down on One That Schools Have Used

The play which the students of the Oregon City high school have planned to present for several weeks has been postponed owing to the action of Superintendent Frederick J. Tooze in forbidding the showing of the well known play of college life "The Freshman."

Sometime ago representatives of the Athletic association of the school asked the official head of the city schools what kind of a play would be allowed. The reply was publicly made that any play which was free from any objectionable matter could be presented.
A committee was then appointed and the play "The Freshman" was chosen because it was considered within the power of the school to act and stage such a production. Moreover this play, they thought, would surely meet with the approval of the faculty and Superintendent Frederick J. Tooze for it has been acted by high schools from coast to coast and is known as one of those light and clever college plays which with a little care and hard work on the part of the actor can be made into a finished production.
However, the time came for the O. K. of the heads of the school and Superintendent Frederick J. Tooze. They met in a special meeting and handed down the ultimatum that "The Freshman" could not be acted by the students of the school. They also handed another rule that, hereafter all plays that are presented by the students of the school, must be "standard plays." The would-be actors are

The McLoughlin Memorial association is greatly pleased with a fine old desk which Mrs. Thomas Charman has presented to the McLoughlin home. This desk was brought around Cape Horn in 1851 by Captain Thomas Johnson and was purchased by Mayor Thomas Charman. The inscription reads, "Presented by Mrs. Thomas Charman, Pioneer."

It is the intention of the McLoughlin Memorial association to gather in this interesting old house pieces of furniture of pioneer days.
The history of this old building is a romance in itself. Bright blizzards, Indians, fur clad traders and trappers, uniformed men from foreign courts, with their gilt braid and flashing swords, adventurers, missionaries, and most of all the many for whom Oregon spelled opportunity—all these pass before the imagination like a brilliant kaleidoscope, shifting, forming, changing, and Doctor McLoughlin's hand turned this kaleidoscope of humanity and his old home was its setting.
It was here that Doctor McLoughlin passed the last twelve years of his life. Later the house passed into the hands of strangers and its history for many years was colorless.

Finally when it was to be torn down to make room for a modern building, E. G. Caufield determined to save this old landmark for a more appreciative posterity. Many other public-spirited people came to his assistance, but, incredible as it seems now, they met with much opposition. Pioneers from all over the state, and many other states contributed money for the restoration of the building and to fight the injunctions filed to prevent its removal to McLoughlin park. There are many who deserve praise for their perseverance, but this is merely written for the new-comers who are not familiar with the story of the building.
The McLoughlin Memorial association has been made a permanent organization for the maintenance of the home. A bill appropriating $1250.00 for the purpose of keeping the building in repair passed the legislature in 1909, was vetoed by Governor Chamberlain and was again passed in 1911. E. G. Caufield, Rev. A. Hillebrand and Joseph E. Hedges were named trustees of this fund. The running expenses of the home, however, must be met by subscriptions from the McLoughlin Memorial association and others in sympathy with the work.
The Women's club has beautified the grounds, erected a fountain and is now planning an arch at the entrance of the park for the guidance of strangers as well as to ornament the

Black Kitten Graces Council's Table During Session

The Oregon City council has a mascot.
During the deliberations of the council the other night, a kitten as black as night sat in the center of the council table at the city hall while the fathers pored over books and records and talked street improvements and other dry and uninteresting subjects.
From the spot that had selected during the opening moments of the session, the kitten never stirred. When the meeting was over and the council about ready to adjourn, Councilman J. Albright moved that the mayor be invited to appoint a committee to take charge of the cat until the next session of the council. The mayor, however, did not believe that the charter authorized him to appoint committees for such purposes.

The applause of the public seldom goes to the officeholder who gets his price.
Too many people are like Hobson, who thinks that nobody who doesn't exactly agree with him in everything can be honest.

FIGHTING JAP TAKEN; LANDS IN PRISON

A Jap by the name of Ichu was arrested near Boring by Constable Jack Frost Saturday on a charge of threatening to kill a man with an axe.
The complaint was made to the justice, John N. Selvers, and the constable went to Boring where he found his man. According to the charges that ore against him, the Jap threatened to split open the head of F. N. McIntyre with an axe while the two were working on a farm.

Of $658,760.39 on the assessment roll to be collected, Sheriff E. T. Mass has gathered into the coffers of the county already $621,641.80 for the year.
The report of the sheriff has been made and shows that the greatest part of the year's taxes is now in the hands of the county and will be turned over to the treasurer for the county expenses. Of this amount $15,416.22 has been allowed on rebates; $1,929.67 has been collected in interest and penalties on delinquent taxes, and $8790.19 has been refused payment where that amount was levied for special tax purposes.
The statement shows the final collections that have been made and the total funds that have been gathered in during the time that is required by law. The rest of the taxes not collected is delinquent and will be collected from time to time by the county.

LA FRANCE GETS ONE TO FIVE YEARS

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 18.—J. C. LaFrance, convicted of swindling the Modern Woodmen of America out of $3000 by planting a body as his own on the Clackamas river, was sentenced to from one to five years in the penitentiary by Circuit Judge Kavanaugh at this morning's session. Another indictment charged a similar offense against the Postal Life Insurance company stands against LaFrance. Mrs. LaFrance is also under indictment.
Boone Cason, one of the attorneys for LaFrance, asked for leniency and suggested a parole, but District Attorney Maguire opposed the parole. Another indictment charged a similar offense against the Postal Life Insurance company stands against LaFrance. Mrs. LaFrance is also under indictment.

MACHINE GUN KILLS AND INJURES IN COLORADO STRIKE

TRINIDAD, Colo., Oct. 18.—Feeling between mine guards and strike sympathizers was at the boiling point in the southern Colorado coal fields today as a result of the fight near Forbes last yesterday in which at least one man was killed, three others were reported to have fallen and two more probably will die.
The guards' version was that they were fired on from the strikers' camp as three automobile loads of them passed, on their way from Trinidad to Forbes, where it was asserted someone had been shooting at the mine tipples. The strikers' reply was that the guards opened on them with a machine gun without provocation. They admit that they returned the fire.
