CITY OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER

PROHIBITION Now that the election is over and the votes of the people for Oregon City have shown that they no longer believe in the scare crows that were raised by the saloons, it is pleasant to look back upon the campaign and notice the dignified way in which the fight was conducted by both sides.

Neither the wets nor the dries have engaged in personalities or undignified conduct throughout the campaign and have based the battle that has been waged upon the facts that have been at the command of their committees. The people have had the chance to weigh those facts and have determined for themselves that the city would be better under prohibition than under the saloon regime.

The campaign is a concrete example of the way that facts may be submitted to the people without all of the mud slinging and falsifying that usually attends the political campaigns of this and other states. It is an indication of the time and thought that the people in general give to the issues that affect them and that have to do with their common interests.

The people themselves have reached the point where they propose to do their own thinking for themselves and for their own interests. They have done that in this campaign. They have seen the facts that have been presented to them by the committees of the dry forces and have determined that the saloons are an evil that should be driven from the city and they wisely determined to take the step that would eliminate them from the machinery of the city.

The scare crowd that was raised by the saloons that the city taxes would be higher did not frighten away the voters at the polls. They believed that the saloons raised that cry in their own interests and that it was merely used as a political veil to cover the sins for which the saloons and the saloon element have been responsible.

The Enterprise is delighted with the result of this election. It shows that the saloons and the element that is tied to the saloons can no longer dominate the city and that the people are awake to their own interests in a way that they have seldom shown before. The fact that the Enterprise has had some part in the battle and has assisted in the fight that has been so successfully carried through, is a matter of satisfaction. It is glad that it had a part in the fight to make this city one of the dry towns of the state and believes that it has fulfilled the functions of a newspaper when it calls the attention of the people to things that are against their interests and urges them to down those things and take the stand that will lead to the city's betterment.

A newspaper is a public institution. Its voice should be on the side of the people, continually pointing out those things that should be done for civic betterment and standing for all things that are for the interests of the people. Whenever there is one thing that is a blight upon the city or county through which that paper circulates, it is the duty of that newspaper to point out that evil to the people and to urge them to correct it. Such a stand the Enterprise has taken. It is, consequently, pleased that the people have risen and by their votes driven out the evil that this paper has seen and against which it has struck trip hammer blows for the past few weeks of the campaign.

There is no danger that the city will be in such straits as the saloons have led us to believe. There is not the slightest doubt but that this city, as have all others that have voted as we have, will continue to progress. There is less doubt but that the city, now that the curse of the saloon has been removed and the old man of the sea who has been hanging to our neck so long has been unloosed, will take those steps of progress much more rapidly and that the growth of the city in the next few years will be more noticeable than it has been in the past.

WILSON AND HUERTA President Wilson has taken the step that Americans generally expected that he would be forced to take in spite of his announced policy of non-intervention and his declaration that he would not interfere in Mexican affairs, except to protect the lives and property of Americans.

His order to the provisional president of Mexico amounts to a declaration of war, should those orders be disobeyed. It means that this country has taken a decided stand in the Mexican situation, one that foreign nations have thought it should have taken some time ago.

The Monroe doctrine has been the wall that has kept out the interference of the foreign powers and has forced them to stand idly by while the United States dilly-dallied along with the irresponsible governments that have been dominating Mexican affairs for sometime in the past. Our policy of non-intervention has made us put up with many things from the government of Mexico that other nations would have long ago demanded indemnities for and yet we have stood for the insults and other indignities without doing anything more violent to the revolution country than to protest at the things that have happened.

The country will watch with interest the action that comes out of the decisions of the powers that be at Washington to tolerate no more foolishness on the part of the Mexican president and to see that he gets out of office in short order and turns over the government of his people to one who is approved by the people and authorities of the United States.

Too long already have we suffered from the Mexicans that no other nation would have endured. We have refused to intervene when our people were shot in their foolish quarrels over the border. We have even seen them take our citizens prisoners in their filthy jails and have received reports of the way that those people have met their deaths at the hands of the opposition forces that are continually at war in Mexico.

But the climax came when the present official head of the Mexican people became the instigator of the plot to rid the country of Madero and turned traitor to the chieftan whose cause he formerly warmly supported. Such a man's principles are not what might be expected in the ruler of a sister republic and certainly they are not conducive to the safety of the Americans who are living on the other side of the line. The president of the United States has taken the proper stand when he demanded that Huerta resign at once and get out. It is now a flat-footed proposition. Either Huerta must quit or the United States must intervene.

The Mexican president must see the handwriting on the wall and know now that his official days are numbered. It is certain that the president cannot even recede from the position he has assumed.

It is reassuring to the people of the United States to know that they have in the chair of the chief executive a man who will give all of the time that may be needed for the adjustment of difficulties by diplomatic relations, but that when he sees they are no longer effective, takes the stand toward which he has been steadily driven all of the time. It will be with interest that the people of the county watch the outcome of this demand upon the part of one president toward another.

WE see a continuous advance of man's power to utilize the forces of nature to an extent which surpasses everything he had been able to do during all the preceding centuries of his recorded history.

WE also see that the result of this vast economic revolution has been ALMOST WHOLLY EVIL. We see that this hundredfold increase of wealth, amply sufficient to provide necessities, comforts and all beneficial refinements and luxuries for our whole population, has been DISTRIBUTED WITH SUCH GROSS INJUSTICE that the actual condition of those who produce all this wealth has become worse and worse, no efficient arrangements having been made that from the overflowing abundance produced all should receive the mere essentials of a healthy and happy existence.

WE have seen huge cities grow up, every one of them with their OVERCROWDED, INSANITARY SLUMS, where men, women and children die prematurely as surely as though a body of secret poisoners was constantly at work to destroy them.

And our administration of what we call "justice" (and of which we are so proud because our judges cannot be bribed) is utterly UNJUST, because it is BASED ON A SYSTEM OF MONEY FEES at every step; because it is so cumbersome and full of technicalities as to need the employment of attorneys and counsel at great cost, and because all petty offenses are punishable by fine or imprisonment, which MAKES POVERTY ITSELF A CRIME while it allows those with money to go practically free.

TAKING ACCOUNT OF THESE VARIOUS GROUPS OF UNDOUBTED FACTS, MANY OF WHICH ARE SO GROSS, SO TERRIBLE, THAT THEY CANNOT BE OVERSTATED, IT IS NOT TOO MUCH TO SAY THAT OUR WHOLE SYSTEM OF SOCIETY IS ROTTEN FROM TOP TO BOTTOM AND THE SOCIAL ENVIRONMENT AS A WHOLE, IN RELATION TO OUR POSSIBILITIES AND OUR CLAIMS, IS THE WORST THAT THE WORLD HAS EVER SEEN.
