HARD FOUGHT CAME TIE

HIGH SCHOOL AND ALL-STARS MAKE NO SCORE

In one of the hardest fought battles ever seen on Canemah field, the Oregon City high school team and the Oregon City All-Stars fought through a football contest today in which neither side scored.

All the players on both teams say that today's game was one of the hardest fought games and that the two teams were the most evenly matched ever played in this section of the county by scholastic elevens.

Of the two, the high school team was the heavier and had played together the most. But even with these advantages they were unable to overcome their skilled opponents.

Mass starred for the high school and Roos for their opponents.

BEZDEK MAKES 'EM WORK AT OREGON

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 4.—The Oregon team, which battles O. A. C. at Albany Saturday, has been chosen; and lights have been hung over Kincaid field to lengthen the afternoon practice into the evening; and "work" is the slogan of Hugo Bezdek, the football coach, secretly angry over the loss of the Willamette game.

Practice on Kincaid field is secret to all but players and coaches. Football practice lasts until 8 o'clock. Although the men leave the field at 6:30 o'clock, they do not leave the coach until 8 o'clock, during which time he lectures and works out theoretical football.

McLOUGHLIN TAKES GAME

In the last minute of play, Rivers, of the McLoughlin football team made a touchdown on the Barclay goal and cinched the championship for his team between the two schools.

This is the third game that the two schools have played, each winning one of the former contests. The game today was arranged to play off the tie.

The defeated team protests that the game was unfair, because of the action of the time-keeper.

PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN FOR CARLISLE TRIP

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 4.—The prospects of the Carlisle Indians playing in the northwest took a turn for the better yesterday afternoon.

when the board of governors of the Seattle Athletic club appointed a committee to look over the club's prospects in football. A. S. Goldsmith, chairman of the committee, is to report to Manager Plowden Stott of the Multnomah club team today.

It is almost a certainty that the Indians will play in the northwest. There are a number of ex-University of Washington players, who are members of the Seattle Athletic club and who will no doubt turn out for the team.

YALE AT IT HARD

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 4.—Yale's football practice will be strictly secret all of this week, trying to remedy the serious defects brought out by the defeat by Colgate. While Coach Jones has many problems to harass him, the chief of which is the selection of a quarterback to fill the vacancy left by Cornish's retirement because of injuries "Nate" Wheeler, the inter-collegiate golf champion, was picked today to be the likely choice of the coaches.

BUD SAYS HE IS IN LIGHTWEIGHT CLASS

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 4.—Bud Anderson arrived in Portland last night on board the Rose City, and will remain at his home in Vancouver until he hears from Dick Donald regarding a match in the south.

Bud doesn't expect to remain here longer than 10 days, although arrangements may not be concluded by this time. As expected, the Vancouver boy indignantly denies that he is too heavy for the lightweight class, and claims that he is willing to train down to the limit for any of his opponents.

SPORTING BRIEVITIES

The release of "Buddy" Ryan, outfielder, and Jack Lelivelt, pinch hitter to the Toledo American association club, was announced last night by the American league club officials.

F. Heinrich Schmidt, the Worcester, Mass., school boy who carried Harold H. Hilton to the 19th during the last British-American championship tournament at St. Andrews, has announced his intention of crossing the Atlantic in May to take part in the same competition over the Sandwich links, where Walter J. Travis won the title in 1904.

Harvard is easily the favorite of the big four combination, and will probably win, but there is a chance of Princeton kicking over the traces next Saturday, although the Tigers have already been beaten by Dartmouth.

Mahan, Hitchcock, O'Brien and Trumbull, Harvard football stars, were recovering rapidly today from recent injuries and it was considered certain that they would play in Saturday's game with Princeton.

Starting this afternoon, the Yale football eleven will engage in secret practice for the rest of the week.

"ALFALFA SPECIAL" TEACHER TO MANY

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 3.—What Professor Perry G. Holden, the celebrated Iowa agricultural scientist, declares is the biggest and most comprehensive farming campaign ever conducted in the United States, has just been concluded in the 150,000 square miles of territory tributary to Spokane.

With a special train of five coaches at his disposal continuously for 36 days, Professor Holden and a score of assisting experts and practical farmers traveled over four railroads in Washington, Oregon and Idaho for a distance of 2700 miles.

ECCENTRICITY OF GENIUS.

In the Days That Are Gone It May Have Been Due to Eye Strain.

It seems that at last genius is discovered not to be allied to insanity, but that rather all its eccentricities are due to eye strain.

Brain specialists, for instance, are asserting that if Carlyle had had properly adjusted glasses and good electric light to work by instead of a skylight over his desk, and that illumined by a London fog much of the time, he would not have been such a grumbler and dyspeptic. In fact, eye strain was the cause of all his eccentricities.

All geniuses, in fact, would have been optimistic, says science now, if they had only had bifocal glasses at the right time. The same unusual eyesight is given as the cause of many tragic paintings. That famous artist, Turner, would never have painted the slave ship in a storm, but would rather have depicted the peaceful landscapes that so many artists paint when their eyes are properly fitted with glasses.

Wagner, too, if he had worn the correct spectacles and had not that decided tilt to one eye remedied, probably would never have written about Walkyrie and dragons, but would have written pleasant dances and even ragtime instead.

Darwin also was another victim of eye strain. Doubtless he would never have given to the world his theory of evolution which stirred society up if his eyes had been normal.

De Quincey suffered from bad eyes. Surely he would never have taken opium if he had had glasses. But then, on the other hand, the world would have missed his opium dreams. And, after all is considered, scientists conclude society could better dispense with spectacles than with geniuses.—London Tit-Bits.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE ENTERS COUNCIL RACE

H. M. Templeton has filed his petition for council in ward one. For the past several days, the petition has been circulated by his friends through the city and more than 108 names have been signed placing him in the race for the position.

Other wards have filed several nominations in the past week but the candidates have until November 25 to complete the canvass and file the petitions with the recorder.

EAT LESS AND TAKE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

The Story of Van Speyck.

In "Holland of the Dutch" Demetrius Boulger retells as one of Holland's heroic episodes the story of Van Speyck.

"It was during the Belgian revolution, when General Chasse held possession of the citadel of Antwerp and a Dutch squadron held the scheldt and secured his communications with Holland. In February, 1831, during a heavy gale a Dutch gunboat went adrift and grounded near the river bank. The Belgians determined to secure what seemed an easy prize and boarded the boat. The young commander, Lieutenant Van Speyck, had only thirty-one men under him. There were several hundred Belgians, and resistance was really out of the question, but he refused to haul down his flag. He opened the door of his magazine, and as the assailants rushed to seize him he fired his pistol into the powder, and the ship was blown to pieces with nearly every one on board."

The Smallest Golf Course.

What is probably the smallest golf course in existence is to be found on the May, the rocky islet which lies on the north side of the mouth of the frith of Forth, some five miles south of Craill, on the coast of Fifeshire. The island is about a mile in length and two and one-half furlongs in breadth and has a surface of rather more than 150 acres, but as a large part of it is unplayable for one reason or another the course consists of only three holes. To make the "round" it is necessary to play the course six times. The distance between the holes, however, is considerable, and the links are decidedly difficult of negotiation. The best score is said to be seventy.—Pearson's Weekly.

Not Used to Sleepers. The nervous old lady approached the porter in a sleeping car and asked: "Oh, porter, where do I sleep?" "What's the numbah ob youah berth, ma'am?" he asked. She looked at him questioningly for a minute and then replied, "I don't see what that has to do with it, but if you must know, it is third; there was a brother and sister born before me."—Exchange.

Ought to Know. Manager—The critics say that in the play "A Wronged Wife" you do not exhibit enough emotion when your husband leaves you, never to return. Popular Actress—Oh, I don't, don't I? Well, I've had two or three husbands leave me, never to return, and I guess I know as much about how to act in those circumstances as anybody.—London Tit-Bits.

PANAMA AND THE CANAL IN PICTURE AND PROSE EDUCATES AS WELL AS ENTERTAINS

Willis J. Abbott, the author of this book, takes you in at the front door of Panama, tells you the time when Columbus searched for a natural waterway to the Pacific Ocean, brings you up through the centuries of revolution and warfare, and on through to the realization of the greatest achievement of this day and age. He tells you of the people and the country, of the past as well as the present, and even dips into the promises for the future. The great story is inspiring—filled to the full with local color and human interest—a story that will live as long as the great canal itself.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFULLY DARKENS THE HAIR WHEN FADED AND GRAY

Mixed With Sulphur Makes Hair Soft, Lustrous and Cures Dandruff.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-to-use product—called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy"—you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Some druggists make their own, which is usually too sticky, so insist upon getting "Wyeth's," which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says his customers insist on Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because, they say, it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

CHILDREN'S BOOKS POPULAR AT LIBRARY

The public library has now on exhibition a model library of children's books. This exhibit, which was borrowed from the state library, will be here all this week, and is proving a source of great interest to the small patrons. It is the purpose of the exhibit, however, to give parents an opportunity to see some of the best children's books before Christmas. Prices of the books are given in every instance.

The library is ready at all times to furnish information and parents should avail themselves of this opportunity to see really beautiful books for children, the librarian says.

COOK WITHOUT FIRE.

New Zealand Maoris Prepare Their Food in Nature's Kitchens.

The Maoris of northern New Zealand enjoy cooked food to a far greater extent than other natives, but they never bother with fire. They build their huts on the edge of some "friendly" geyser, where they may cook in nature's kitchen. The methods of this primitive people living in so strange a neighborhood are described by Max Herz in "New Zealand."

On a spot which superstition would associate with death and the devil the huts of about 200 Maoris lie scattered—the remnant of the once warlike tribe of Tuhourangi. It is lucky that these simple folk need no kitchen, for nature has built for them the best of all cooking appliances and saved them endless trouble with the stove, gas company or coal merchant.

A pond of boiling water lies in the middle of the settlement. In this the Maori woman puts her water kettle to boil or hangs the wide meshed flax bag filled with potatoes and waits until they are cooked. True, the potatoes cooked in their skins taste a little of sulphur, but that is the right flavor for a Maori palate—the haut gout for the brown gourmet.

For the cooking of meats the fumaroies, or holes through which steam escapes from the ground, are used. A box with a wooden grating for a bottom is placed on the ground over the hole. In this the Maori woman places the meat, well covered with tin or iron pots. An old sugar bag is then spread over the box, and the crude apparatus is left until the imprisoned steam has completely cooked the joint.

A Famous Lampon. It is handed down in tradition that the caustic comment "he never says a foolish thing nor ever does a wise one" was written in Whitehall on the chamber door of King Charles II. The wit who created the lampon seems never to have felt it quite prudent to establish his authorship, but there is excellent reason to accord it to John Wilmot, earl of Rochester. The text of the inscription is:

Here lies our sovereign lord the King,
Whose word no man relies on.
He never says a foolish thing
Nor ever does a wise one.
—New York Sun.

Bradshaw and the Months. Although the provision "D. V." has never figured on railway time tables, a close examination of Bradshaw reveals a trace of strong religious feeling. On the cover the months are referred to by their numerals—"1st mo." for January, "2d mo." for February, and so on. Bradshaw as a Quaker objected to taking the names of the months from heathen emperors and deities, and this prejudice has been perpetuated since the first issue of the time table in 1841.—London Answers.
