Claim Election Was Held Illegally and Taxpayers Will Have to Meet Increase in Taxes in the City

Forty-five minutes after the order had been entered by the county court prohibiting the sale of liquor in the city limits after January 1, Lawrence Ruconich brought a complaint asking the circuit court to restrain the county officials from declaring the election

The complaint asks that the court restrain the county court from entering such an order on the ground that the submission of the question of prohibition at a special election was illegal and the results of that "pre tended" election void.He also alleged that the loss of the $10,000 revenue from the saloons would necessitate higher taxes in the city and the prop-erty owners would be compelled to pay more money into the city treasury following the loss of this material source of revenue.

The complaint recites all of the acts done by the city and county officials in submitting this question to the people of the municipality at this time. It mentions the appointment of the judges and clerks of the election and the fact that the returns were certified to the county clerk. It also points out that the time at which this election was held was not the regular date for a city election and that the quesion of prohibition was submitted to the people at a special time.

The complaint finally concludes by asking the court to restrain the county court from entering its order and declaring prohibition in effect in the city after the first of the year.

The county court met Saturday morning and certified the returns. It then issued an order prohibiting liquor within the city limits of Oregon City after January 1 and declared ths section of the county under the provisions of the local option law.

The order was filed at 9:45 o'clock. The complaint was filed at 10:30 Attorneys say that the complaint is worthless as it asks the court to restrain the officials from doing what they have already done. They say that the only hope the wets have in this county is to bring an action in the circuit court asking for an order setting aside the decision of the lower court. The hearing on the complaint will be had before Judge J. U. Campbell next Saturday.

Carson & Brown of Salem, appear as attorneys in the case. The action involves the result of the election in the city and is the step that the wets have been threatening to take here since the votes were counted.

EDWARD RECKNER, JR. Born in Oregon City, October 5, 1908. COUNTY TO SEND OUT

Clackamas county is going to send Christmas greeting to a whole lot of whether Clackamas was the name of a county or of something good to eat. At last such is the plan of O. E. Frey- ANNUAL CONFERENCE TO BE tag, publicity manager of the Oregon City Commercial club, who wants everybody in the county who has come here from outside to send him at once the name and address of some friend or other person "back home."

Once having received these names, it is the intention of Mr. Freytag to send next month to each person so indicated a pretty Christmas card, bearing a Clackams couny view upon its fce, and usual Yuletide decoration of holly and berries. On this card will be printed an inscription somewhat as

"Christmas greeting from Clackamto live and be happy. Oregon City Commercial club for information regarding this land of promise, and then you will see why ought to come to the farthest West and grow up with the country."

Mr. Freytag expects that there will be a ready reply to his request for names, and assures everyone that the Christmas cards will be attractive in every way-for they are to be printed in Oregon City.

LAND DIVIDED AND THE WORLD UNITED

Strange things are happening in these progressive days, and if we were living in the times when superstition attributed all unusual pranks to fairies, surely these imaginary spirits would be credited with some great achievements.

Fifteen or twenty years ago nobody would have believed that human hand could have wrought the changes that have taken place in the narrow little strip of land which connected the two is divided in order, that the whole world may be more closely united.

"Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose" tells the complete story of this wonderful transformation. Wil lis J. Abbott, the author of this new illustrated book, takes his readers in through the front door of Panama, surrounding country, and tells them force could have accomplished such results. It must have taken the magic wand of an enchantress to make a living garden out of the hopeless great oceans. The young as well as the older members of the family will enjoy this book, for it is filled with pictures that entertain, while they also educate. and everybody is now interested in knowing all they can about the mighty waterway.

Bud, his manager, Donald, and his partner, Dupuis, arrived in this city late this afternoon to do a little act in a local theatre. There has been considerable excitement locally over his proposed performance. Yesterday the mayor issued a statement in which he prohibited any performance where there would be boxing or sparring of any kind. It was thought for a while that the fighter would be arrested upon performance but Bud cut out his boxing and confined himself to rope skipping and shadow boxing.

HAWLEY TO NOMINATE FOR WAR ACADEMIES

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 15.—(Special)— Congressman W. S. Hawley has directed his secretary here to make arrangement for the holding of an examination at Salem on Saturday, November 29, 1913, for the purpose of ascertaining the mental and physical qualifications of young men who may desire to be appointed to the United States Military and Naval Academies Mr. Hawley will make his nominations after considering the reports submitted by a competent physician and teacher who will thoroughly and carefully examine the candidates. The candidates must be actual resi dents of the first congressional district in order to be eligible for appointment by Congressman Hawley and the competitive examination is open to all such eligible candidates between the ages of 17 and 22 years of age when aspirants for appointment to the military academy, and between the ages of 16 and 20 years of age when aspirants for appointment to the nathe expense of the competitive examination a small fee will be required of each candidate taking the examina-

It is suggested that all young men desiring to take this examination write to Ronald S. Glover, Secretary of Congressman Hawley, Salem, Ore., for further information.

The entrance requirements to the academies are very strict and for this will be made of the candidates who ed that candidates living at a distance from Salem be assurred of this by an examination of a physician before making the trip to Salem.

cations, they will be examined on reading and writing, spelling, punctuation grammar, geography, history, algebra and geometery. A principal and two alternates will be nominated by Mr. Hawley to take the entrance examinations to each academy and it is expected a score or more will contest for these nominations.

CHARTER ELECTION

Willamette will hold its special charter election Monday. The spe-cial charter has been distributed to evvoter in the city and the people will be given a chance to express their opposition to the new set of laws at the election.

There has been considerable opposition to some of the measures of the charter and a campaign, which, although not organized, did effective work in the scramble for votes.

OREGON LOSES FAST GAME TO VISITORS

Punting was one phase of the Oregon-Washington game in which Oregon was excelled 10 to 7. A review of the game, play by play, shows that Fenton, doing the footwork for the University of Oregon, made two punts which were better than 50 yards. These brought his average close to 45 yards. Sutton's average was about 35 yards.

In the first quarter three punts netted Fenton an average of a little more than 40; in the second quarter, five kicks held up almost to same stanc-

The Philathea class of the First Baptist church were entertained Friday evening by Mrs. L. H. Olmsted at her home on Thirteenth street. After the regular business was transacted, the guests enjoyed an hour of music and social conversation. Seventeen members were present.

Miss Louise Huntley, who has been heard recently in solo work, as well as occompanying, has opened a studio at her home in this city, which is proving in all ways a successful venture. W. Gifford Nash, one of Portland's most prominent instructors, is very enthusiastic over Miss Huntley's musical gifts and attainments and considers her one of his most promising graduates.

J. L. Swafford was happily surprised Saturday evening when about 80 friends assembled to honor his birthday. During his long residence in Oregon City, Mr. Swafford has made a host of friends, who took advantage of
