TENER IS OLD PLAYER ADOPT OUR METHODS

ers were informed of the progress of the negotiations by long distance telephone.

"Only a few minor details are to be arranged before I accept the position," said his excellency.

"I regard the matter as all settled," supplemented Charles H. Ebbets.

The committee, which was composed of William F. Baker (spokesman) of Philadelphia, Harry N. Hempstead of New York, Charles H. Ebbets of Brooklyn and H. Ackerman, with the proxy of Charles W. Murphy of Chicago, visited Governor Tener at Harrisburg.

After their prospective leader had treated the magnates to an auto ride and luncheon the principals got down to business. Mr. Baker assured Governor Tener a unanimous election before the principals began to talk terms.

The conference lasted about four hours. At its conclusion no one would talk for publication further than to say that negotiations had progressed very favorably.

A rumor that the Nationals were ready to grant a five years' term at $25,000 per could not be verified. It is believed that the governor and the committee may arrange all details during the trip to Philadelphia.

A rather significant hint was dropped by the governor's secretary, Walter H. Galtiers, who said there was nothing to prevent his chief from holding both the governorship and the league presidency.

This, combined with the fact that the governor declared he would neither resign his present position nor give his undivided attention to the National League if he should accept the presidency, would indicate that the National League magnates wish him to assume office immediately after the term of Thomas J. Lynch expires.

John Kinley Tener was born in Tyrone, Ireland, in 1863. He came to this country when a boy and settled in Pittsburgh, where he was educated in the public schools. His first employment was as a clerk. His health soon broke down, and upon the advice of physicians he sought outdoor employment. While working as a clerk he had earned $5 a game pitching for local teams on Saturday afternoons and had gained considerable fame as a player.

In 1885 Tener secured his first professional engagement as first baseman of the Pittsburgh club. At that time he stood six feet three inches and weighed 200 pounds. He was released before the season was half over and joined the Baltimore club.

At his own request he was released to the Haverhill (Mass.) club, where he played until the close of the season. He again secured a position with a business house in Pittsburgh, but continued to play baseball at every opportunity.

Captain Anson offered Tener a position as pitcher on the Chicago White Stockings after having chanced to stroll into the small park where Tener was twirling. After playing on the Chicago team for about three years Tener went with Anson's team on the tour around the world in 1888-89. Tener gave up baseball to go into business at Charleston, Pa.

VISITING ATHLETICS STUDY AMERICAN IDEAS

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—The team of 30 picked gymnasts of Stockholm's gymnastic society who are just concluding an American tour will carry abroad some more American ideas and methods pertaining to athletics. The visit of the Swedes and of German and Austrian athletic envoys to this country during the last few months has brought to light more than ever before the importance which the European athletes are attaching to American methods.

While the Swedish gymnasts came here primarily to display their own physical perfection, they have made it a point to study all-around athletics here. The Swedes, who finished a close second to the United States at Stockholm last year, believe that with more specialization in athletics they will prove a greater factor than even during the next Olympic games at Berlin in 1916.

Now that so many women make their own living instead of just asking for money whenever they want it it is no more than natural that the season's designs for women's dress should include pockets.

WHY DINING CAR CHEFS PREFER KC BAKING POWDER

Those who have had cakes ruined by jarring the stove, slamming the oven door or a heavy footstep, may have wondered how the dining car chef can turn out such marvelous biscuits, hot breads and pastry when his oven is being incessantly jarred and jolted and shaken by the motion of the train.

To get pastry to raise and stay raised under these conditions, a baking powder must be used that continues to give off its leavening gas—that sustains the raise—until the dough is baked through.

Dining Car Chefs have found a baking powder exactly suited to their needs in K C and you will find it just as well suited to your requirements. K C is really a blend of two baking powders, one active as soon as moistened, the other requiring both moisture and heat to start the generation of leavening gas. No matter how moist and rich you make your cake, K C Baking Powder will sustain the raise until a crust is formed and all danger of falling is past.

K C Baking Powder is pure and healthful. It is guaranteed under all pure food laws, and is guaranteed to please you. And it is sold at a reasonable price—no baking powder should sell for more.
