PREPARES FOR GAME M'LOUGHLIN CLAIM BEST

CLUB WILL PRACTICE FOR XMAS CONTEST

SCHOOL IS PICKED AS BEST IN CITY

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 20.—The Multnomah club football team will hold its second practice since the Thanksgiving day game tomorrow morning on the club field at 10 o'clock. Bill Bailey, the big tackle, will not be in Multnomah's line-up against the St. James team on Christmas day, and it will be impossible for Everett May to join the winged "M" team on account of a conference ruling.

"Hap" Miller and Herman Anderson will not be in the line-up of the St. James team, as was announced by Manager Moriarty of the Vancouver eleven, for the same reason. The St. James team, however, will have Royal Niles, the great Whitman player in its back field.

Manager Stott plans to have his players work out every night before the game with the St. James team and a week from tomorrow he will start his players on a hard practice grind for the Idaho game on New Year's.

BUD SLIPS ONE OVER

Bud Anderson and his manager seem to have put one over on Leach Cross again, according to all reports, as they have gained some little weight concession, which should mean something in the coming battle.

When articles were signed it was agreed that the men would weigh in at 135 pounds ringside. But later re-appointments came. Cross to agree to weigh in at 3 o'clock at 135 pounds, and let Anderson weigh the same at 1 o'clock, which gives him two hours the best of it.

FANS SAY JACK BEATEN

PARIS, Dec. 19.—Eight fans who witnessed the eight round clash here last night between Jack Johnson and Jim Johnson, also colored, were convinced today that Jack would have been knocked out if the fight had gone a few more rounds. He was groggy at the finish and it was considered doubtful if he could have lasted another round.

AD SAYS HE IS BEST IN WORLD

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 20.—Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion, admitted today that he "had gone back a little," but he still insisted that he is the best man of his weight in the world, despite the trimming he received here last night at the hands of Charlie White, of Chicago. The contest went 10 rounds, with nine belonging to White.

1,180 LICENSES ISSUED

Up to December 1, 1,180 trappers' licenses had been issued for the 1913-1914 season, which extends from November 1st to February 28th. Before the close of the season it is probable that over 1,500 trappers' licenses will be issued, which would indicate that the fur-bearing animals are of great economic importance to the state, furnishing employment to a small army of men for at least a portion of their time when it is lawful to trap.

SPORTING BREVITIES

Dick Bayless, the leading hitter of the Pacific Coast league last season, has affixed his name to a 1914 contract.

There is invariably one dissatisfied party in every trade made in baseball. Mike Wotell now states that he does not want to play with the Victoria Bees.

A dispatch from the north states that Bob Brown, owner of the Vancouver team is after a managerial job in the American association.

Owner McGill of the Denver team passed up First Baseman Borton. McGill, who was in Los Angeles recently up by a pair of bad legs.

George Ort, former Portland player, will not manage the St. Thomas team stated that Borton has been slowed of the Canadian league next season.

the San Francisco exposition. Other towns through the county have also expressed their determination to pass resolutions along the same line and propose to assist in every way that they can toward getting the county court to ask for part of the fund now at the disposal of the state highway commission.

Need Preparation.

The towns through the county believe that some preparation is needed for the visitors who are expecting to come here on their way to the exposition and the commercial organizations believe that the best way to get future settlers in the state is to have a better series of highways when they come on an inspection tour.

It is estimated that several thousand tourists will pass through the counties of Multnomah, Clackamas, and Marion during the year and that many of them will return to make this their permanent home.

Following are the resolutions passed:

"December 19, 1913.

"The Honorable Court of Clackamas County, Oregon City.

"Gentlemen:

"The following are resolutions passed by our club:

"Whereas, the Pacific Highway is a main road leading from Alaska through the states of Washington, Oregon and California to Mexico. This road is to be used by the public traffic, and

"Whereas, the most direct, and most feasible route between Oregon City and the Columbia river bridge at Vancouver, passes through the village of Clackamas, and

"Whereas, this route has the lowest grades, and can be put in first class condition for the least money, and

"Whereas, the last legislature passed a 1/4 mill tax levy for state highway purposes, and which will amount to about $238,000.00, this tax to be collected at the tax collecting period in 1914, and

"Whereas, by having a first-class hard surfaced highway through our county means that practically all of the overland travel between California and Oregon will pass by our door, and thereby enable our visitors to see what nature has provided us with, causing many to seek home here, etc., and

"Whereas, this is to be greatly desired,

"THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that our county court be asked to apply to the State Highway commission for a portion of that $238,000.00 highway fund to be collected, and that the same be expended on the Pacific Highway through Clackamas county, and

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this club express the county court our sympathy for this grand cause, and that we tend to them our full support.

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that these resolutions be made a part of these minutes, and a copy thereof be sent to the county court.

"Yours very truly,

"CLACKAMAS IMPROVEMENT CLUB,

"H. TRABNE, Vice-President.
"J. C. BUTCHER, Secretary."

Red Ink Tests to Be Used In All County Schools

Names of towns and rivers that play an important part in the business of the country are to be taught the children of the county schools under the direction of the superintendent, Professor J. E. Calavan.

The superintendent proposes to insist that the county teachers make lists of all of the important cities and rivers, and that the children of the schools be taught how the names are spelled. He wants to conduct "red ink tests" and has instructed the teachers to select words of importance from each subject in the curriculum for a special course in spelling. For instance, he has already selected a list of 50 words that are to be found through the grammar text books and thinks that the children should know how each one of them is spelled.

If the child makes 95 per cent in these tests, he will be given credit for 10 per cent on his regular state examination. In this spelling list, the teachers are to include only those words that are practical and important and that the child must know in order to properly handle his work. The county superintendent leaves Monday to attend the meeting of the state teachers' association at Salem, and will have charge of the department of rural schools. He will also attend the conference of county superintendents during the time that the examination papers are being graded in the office of the state superintendent.

The two lines of hose in the rear and the one in front fought together against the blaze. For a time, it seemed as though the fire was unquenchable and that it would sweep over the other buildings and take all of them within its path. The furniture and fixtures of the cigar store of Lou Hilton, the Imperial Barber shop, and the Kentucky liquor store were suddenly moved out into the street although the fire, smoke and water did some damage to the property.

Sheds Burn.

The sheds in the rear of the clothing store and the second hand store of George H. Young were burned. In order to get at the flames that burned with diabolical energy in the roof and that defied the efforts of the firemen, a line was stretched to the front of the building and the whole top pulled down, exposing the rafters and upper timbers. As the firemen below pulled on the line, two others were on the adjoining roof of the neighboring building and packed off in time to escape the danger zone.

Through the entire length of the clothing store, the flames licked up the inflammable material that fed it in spite of the streams of hose that shot water into the building at a terrific pressure. During the fight, the firemen directed the stream part of the time on the adjoining buildings and none of them were materially damaged. The occupants of the office building left in fear that it would catch but the intense heat managed only to burn the outside wood work without getting into the building itself.

Boys Answer Call.

The fire department answered the alarm and was on the job within five minutes after the bells began to ring. J. J. Tobin of the Electric hotel and Night Officer Lee French turned in the call from different points at about the same time. The hotel man sent his through the telephone office while the officer tried the new fire alarm system and found that it did not work, at first. He had to give the box several twists before it finally sent in the call for help.

McJenney & Haden were the owners of the stock in the clothing house while George A. Harding owned all of the buildings that were injured. The probable loss on the buildings is $2000, with little insurance. The owners of the stock refused Sunday morning to make an estimate of the loss but outsiders figured it around $5000.
