WAS ROBBED OF $35

LITTLE NONA CHAPPEL HELD UP BY UNKNOWN MAN.

Started Up the Hill to Pay a Grocery Bill and Was Stopped By Masked Man Wearing Long Overcoat and Black Fedora Hat.

Nona Chappel, the 12 year old daughter of Mrs. A. L. Snider, was held up Saturday night and robbed of $35. The family lives in the Methodist Church parsonage on Railroad Avenue and the little girl was sent about half past seven to A. Robertson's grocery on the hill to pay a bill. She was given the money in three gold pieces, which she tied in her handkerchief, swinging it as she went along the street. As she climbed the Seventh street steps, leading to the hill, a tall man, wearing a long black overcoat reaching to his heels and a black Fedora hat, passed her. When she reached the turn about half way up the steps the man placed a handkerchief over his face and turned and came back down the steps. He demanded the money in a gruff voice and the frightened child gave it to him without a minutes hesitation. The man ordered her to walk to top of the hill and he walked swiftly down the steps. As soon as he was out of sight the girl ran home and breathlessly told her story. The police were notified at once but as there is no clue to the robber, he probably will escape.

THE KADIAK BEAR.

His Winter Habits Much Like Those of Bears the World Over.

The Kadiak bear finds no trouble in getting all the food he wants during the berry season and during the run of the various kinds of salmon, which lasts from June until October. At this period he fattens up, and upon this fat he lives through his long winter sleep. When he wakes in the spring, he is very weak and hardly able to move, so his first aim is to recover the use of his legs. This he does by taking short walks when the weather is pleasant, returning to his den every night. This light exercise lasts for a week or so, when he sets out to seek upon the beach kelp, which acts as a purge. He now lives upon roots, principally of the salmon berry bush, and later nibbles the young grass. These carry him along until the salmon arrive, when he becomes exclusively a fish eater until the berries are ripe. I have been told by the natives that just before he goes into his den he eats berries only, and his stomach is now so filled with fat that he really eats but little.

The time when the bears go into winter quarters depends upon the severity of the season. Generally speaking, it is in early November, shortly after the cold weather has set in. Most bears sleep uninterruptedly until spring, but occasionally they are found wandering about in midwinter. My natives seemed to think that only those bears which have found uncomfortable quarters are restless and that they leave their dens at this time of the year only for the purpose of finding better ones.—From "Big Game of Western Alaska," by James H. Kidder, in Outing.

Exonerated.

Three-year-old Jack had pulled a large bunch of nasturtiums in his grandmother's yard, though strictly forbidden to touch the flowers. A court martial was held, with grandma as judge advocate.

"Jack," she said, "who pulled grandma's flowers?"

With a sad countenance the beautiful little fellow replied, "Kathleen" (his elder sister).

Then the grandfather, a rather stern old gentleman and a great stickler for truth, spoke up.

"Jack, be a man and say, 'I did it!'"

With a beaming expression of relief Jack cried out, "Oh, yes; grandpa did it!"—Judge.

Largely Supplied.

"Are you a man of family, sir?"
"Yes, sir. My third son-in-law moves in today."—Detroit Free Press.

There is no case on record of a man having committed a crime with a pipe or cigar in his mouth.

This is the best day the world has ever seen. Tomorrow will be better.—R. A. Campbell.
