BY B. F. IRVINE.

Official Paper of Benton County,

CORVALLIS, OREGON, JULY 28, 1900

SILENT, WHY?

In spite of the prevalence of trust prices in this country, Mr McKinley uttered not one syllable in his letter of acceptance on the subject of the trusts. The president knows that during the past eighteen months trusts have been organized in this country with a capitalization of over two billion dollars. Prices on manufactured articles have been advanced to an extent never known before. The advance affects nearly every article in use, from the steel pen with which the mortgage is signed to the coffin in which the dead man is buried. There is no evading, no escaping payment of these trust prices, for competition has been strangled. There is no other source of supply. The buyers of trust goods are simply helpless. There is no relief for them, save in the disintegration of the trusts.

These buyers of trust goods have no trust goods to sell. There is no organized trust to advance the price of oats, of wheat, of hops, of prunes; no trust to advance the wages of the farm hand, the blacksmith, the store clerk. The farmer sells his products to the trusts at such prices as the trusts are willing to pay. The trust sells to the farmer not at what the farmer is willing or able to pay, but at whatever the trust sees fit to ask. Whether buying or selling, the trust fixes the price; in no case do the farmers fix the price. Under such conditions, how can the farmer prosper? What chance has he to get on in the world. And these conditions so far as the farmer is concerned, how can he help but prosper?

There is no escaping these facts. The farmer himself knows them to be true. Whenever he buys nails, wire, paint, window glass or almost any other article required, the unpleasant truth is brought home to him. Why, then, is President McKinley silent about the trusts? Why does he harp about a financial panic when there is no power to do so? Can he make any present financial arrangements, save the president's party? The silence simply means that trusts are for the president and the president is for the trusts, and it is pure folly to deny it, or to attempt to believe anything else.

Both Guilty.

Frank Baker and Burt Griffith, the two Lincoln county prisoners who recently occupied cells in the Benton county jail are both to go to the penitentiary. They had their trial before Judge Hamilton at Toledo, Wednesday, and the jury promptly returned a verdict of guilty as charged. Jointly indicted with them was William Griffith a brother of Burt Griffith. The indictment charged them with larceny.

It appears that for several years past cattle stealing and other depredations have been prevalent in the vicinity of Drift Creek. The neighborhood has suffered much from the operations of the gang, which was a sort of Jesse James variety. The events in the Toledo court show that Baker and Griffith were the guilty parties. Judge Hamilton was to have sentenced the defendants Thursday. It was guessed that each would be sent up for about five years. Both have formerly served out sentences in the penitentiary.

Again in Business

To all those who so generously aided us by their labor and means in replacing our buildings that were destroyed by fire on May twenty-sixth, allow us to extend our sincere thanks not only for your kindly assistance but for your friendship and generous heart that prompted it, and only hope some time in the future we may be able to show our appreciation for your kindness.

After two months of hard labor we are once more at our old stand in a new building with a full stock of new first-class goods. Allow me to thank my customers for their patronage in the past and hope by square dealing and first-class goods to merit a continuation of the same in the future, again thanking you, we are
