NO MORE CASES

It looks now as though there would be no more smallpox cases in Corvallis. Williams has recov-ered. His face has gone through hands with numerous people on the street. It is the 12th day since he was quarantined. The usual limit for appearance of the disease through exposure to him, is more than past, and there is every rea-son to believe that his will be the only case. Those at the Brown house with Williams, are his mother and step-father. Neither has so far showed symptoms of the malady. It is deemed possible that neither may contract it. Both chafe under the quarantine regulations. They asked Chief Alexander yesterday for a suit of old clothes to be used by Williams while the suit he wears can be fumigated. The board of health intends to use every precaution. The quarantine will not beraised until physicians authorize Council. Residents of the vicinity recently petitioned the city council for a street light at the corner of Twelfth and Monroe. There, the deep and wide_college ditch yawns and yawns for the pedestrians as they pass by, and occasionally gets a batch. The light, it was figured, would warn pedestrians of their danger and save them from dropping off the crosswalk into the caverns below.

The city fathers did not grant the petition for a light. As a mat-ter of fact the Light Company declined to supply it. Instead of the light, however, the street committee was ordered to put a suitable banister along the crossing, and the adornment has been completed. Unfortunately, citizens of the vi-cinity don't like its architectural design. They have framed a thankful communication to the council, and have requested the TIMES to

The Pacific Monthly.

The opening numbers of the Pacific Monthly for 1902 are fully up to the promise of its publishers. The number for February was especially interesting. Its leading article, splendidly illustrated, on the "Great Cause" of Opena" was on the "Great Caves of Oregon," was prepared by George M Weister. Two articles following, each with illustrations are, "Old Chief Seltice" by J Mayne Baltimore, aud a poem, "Meditation" Baltimore, aud a poem, "Meditation" by Mrs Lischen Miller. "At the Con-fessional" a story by W F G Thacher, a "The Native Women of Alaska" by Mrs Miller, and the 'Skylark of Oregon" a poem by Andrew Franzen, completes the contributors department.

The announcement that in the March number that Captain Cleveland Rockwell will contribute an article on "The Great Columbia Basin" and articles by Mrs Eva Emery Dye and other promin-ent writers, affords warrant for a widespread interest. The edition will be the finest illustrated number of any magazine issued on the Pacific Coast. In the Ap-"Our Coast Line" by Joseph H Wilson, of Los Angeles, Cal, also interesting il-lustrated sketches by Fred Lockley, Jr.
