TRACY ON WAY EAST

AFTER SEEING HIS MOTHER, HE IS READY TO GIVE UP.

Visiting Friends Near Roslyn--
Outlaw Is Also Reported to Be Near Salem Again, and Guards at Penitentiary
Is Increased.

Seattle, July 23.—A special to the Post-Intelligencer from Roslyn, Wash., states that a man reported to be Harry Tracy spent Sunday and Monday at Camp Creek, twenty miles from Roslyn, in Kittitas county. It is stated that Tracy went over the mountains on a freight train Saturday evening. The story of Tracy's arrival at Camp Creek, was taken to Roslyn by a miner named Elsner. It is corroborated by another miner. Tracy, Elsner states, was met by friends, and they went to Cle Elum Lake, where they camped for the night. Then they went to Camp Creek, and there Tracy was given food and his wound dressed. Elsner says his wound is rather deep. Tracy, however, went fishing Monday, and caught 18 trout.

The miners at the creek, according to Elsner, are in sympathy with the outlaw. Sheriff Brown, of Kittitas, and the marshal of Roslyn, refuse to believe the story. The sheriff reached Roslyn, however, after Elsner had left for Camp Creek.

The report states that Tracy and his friends are heavily armed, and the outlaw is still carrying a white sack filled with ammunition. Elsner declared that the murderer said his wife was at Palmer Junction, but that he was on his way East to see his mother. After he had seen her he said he would be ready to give himself up.

Tacoma, July 23.—Tracy, the outlaw, appeared at Miller's logging camp, four miles from Kanaskat, yesterday, and ate dinner. When asked why he did not take advantage of the lull and escape from Green River Valley, Tracy said:

"I have some business to settle with Merrill's brother. I understand that the brother wants to see me." Tracy is not wounded and looks fresh and rested. He is wearing a derby hat. He had a slouch hat in his pocket. He still has his Winchester and two revolvers, and has a good supply of ammunition.

This report comes from a reliable source to Sheriff Hartman from a brakeman who formerly worked on the Northern Pacific, and was in Millers camp, and knew Tracy years ago as a Tacoma brakeman.

"I am using a box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and find them the best thing for my stomach I ever used," says T. W. Robinson, Justice of the Peace, Loomis, Mich. These Tablets not only correct disorders of the stomach but regulate the Liver and bowels. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Graham & Wells.

Seattle, July 23.—Since Tracy's disappearance, last Thursday, not one word has been received as to his whereabouts. Sheriff Cudihoe has left Seattle without saying a word as to his destination, and it is presumed that he is on a still hunt. Cudihoe went alone last Monday night.

Salem, July 23.—A report reached here this evening that a man answering Tracy's description was seen near Woodburn this evening. Sheriff B. B. Colbath has gone to investigate the rumor.

Frank Pickens a young man living in the outskirts of Woodburn, met a man on a bicycle at 7 o'clock whom he took to be Tracy, the outlaw. The bicycle path is within a mile of Woodburn. Pickens was on the path when the man believed to be Tracy rode up on his wheel and asked the direction and distance to Salem. He resembled pictures of Tracy, wore a brown derby hat, carried two Winchester rifles strapped to his bicycle, and two revolvers in a belt. After securing the information desired the stranger rode on in the direction of Salem. Eighty rods behind the first man came another wheelman, also heavily armed and apparently following the first. Pickens at once hastened to town and notified the authorities. At Hubbard the same men were seen half an hour earlier. Here there were three, all heavily armed, the leader answering the description given at Woodburn. The three were on bicycles and riding toward Salem. Here a number of reliable people saw the strangers, and all agreed that the leader resembled the notorious Tracy's published pictures closely.

The prison authorities were at once notified, and Superintendent J. D. Lee immediately took precautions to prevent any entrance into the prison by the outlaws by placing extra guards on the wall and sending out a full force to surround the prison yard.

Salem, Or., July 23.—The Oregon penitentiary is surrounded tonight by armed guards, watching for the appearance of Desperado Tracy. While it is not believed that the men seen at Woodburn are Tracy and confederates, the prison officials are proceeding upon the theory that the report received may be correct. There is practically a dead line extending around the prison at the distance of a rifle shot and prison guards tonight telephone the sheriff not to approach the penitentiary unless called for, as he might be shot by the sentinels.

Any man who goes near the penitentiary at night does so at his peril. Prison officials do not believe the man was Tracy and his pals.

St. Louis, July 16.—A jest between Captain Richmond Pierson Hobson and Miss May Cerf, of St. Louis, came near costing the girl her life this afternoon at the Piazza Chautauqua, near East St. Louis. Banteringly the girl asked him from the deck of a river yacht if he would rescue her if she should fall overboard.

Laughingly the naval hero, who was swimming in the river, replied that he would take pleasure in doing so.

Immediately there was a splash. The girl had jumped into the water. She could not swim and was sinking.

Hobson started to swim to her, with long powerful strokes. He was accompanied by his swimming companion, Albro Giberson, of Eliza, Ill.

The river was swollen by recent heavy rains and the two powerful swimmers were buffeted about by big waves.

Captain Hobson slightly in advance of his companion, turned with the tide and floated, scanning the yellow waters for a glimpse of the white hat and skirts.

Suddenly he dived. The spectators who had been screaming and shouting, now held their breath. In a moment he reappeared, and as the crowd saw that he grasped the girl securely around the shoulders, a mighty cheer went up.

It was five minutes before the half-strangled, almost unconscious girl, and the two men, exhausted and pale, were drawn to the deck of the yacht.

Powerful swimmer that he is, Capt. Hobson probably would have gone to the bottom of the Mississippi with the girl but for the aid of his companion. As it was the two were unable to do more than keep the girl's head above water. It was impossible to swim with her against the tide with her heavy garments dragging her down.

After administering the restoratives Miss Cerf revived. To one of her girl friends she said:

"I know I was very foolish, but I knew I would be rescued."

Captain Hobson, who was panting at the deck rail, smiled grimly, congratulated her and went into the cabin to dress.

Captain Hobson had delivered a lecture at the Piasa Chautauqua in the afternoon, and at its conclusion was invited, with a party of young ladies to go on the yacht Camida. Here some one told Miss Cerf she could not induce the captain to kiss her.

"I guess not," she replied, "but I can make him rescue me," and it was this remark that led to her risking her own and Hobson's life.

FATHER OF TWENTY

CELEBRATED THE ARRIVAL OF
NUMBER TWENTY-ONE WITH FIREWORKS.

Whistling Instead of Choir Music
In a New York Church—Whistler Is a Pretty Young Woman and She Delights
Everybody.

New York City: When it was time for the offertory in the Lexington Avenue Baptist Church, 111th and Lexington avenue, during yesterday morning's services, instead of the choir, a pretty young girl, dressed all in white, faced the congregation. Then, for the first time in the history of any church, probably came the soft sweet note of a whistling solo.

The whistler was Miss Louisa Truax. Schumann's classic "Traumerlei" ("Dreaming"), regarded by musicians as among the most beautiful melodies ever written, was her selection.

The notes rose loud and clear and then died away in the softest pianissimo. There was just a gentle accompaniment on the organ by Miss Magdalene Worden, which added to the beautiful effect. The congregation sat enraptured, and if it had not been a house of worship there would have been an enthusiastic applause.

Church over, the congregation swarmed about the pretty girl and made her whistle again. She responded with the "Mocking Bird," all trills and runs.

Then she had to attend again at the evening services, when she whistled the "Flower Song," by Mendelssohn. Everybody was delighted, from the Rev. Dr. John M. Campbell, to the newest member. In all probability, Miss Truax's solos will be a regular part of the church's musical service in the future.

Miss Truax is 19 years old. She is exceptionally pretty and graceful. Her dress yesterday was of stylish but simple cut—a fluffy mass of muslin, lace and ribbons.

Six years ago, when living in Detroit, she discovered her gift. She began at once to cultivate it and practiced several hours daily until she attained a register of three octaves—far more than any human voice can attain.

Two years ago as a girl of seventeen she made her first public appearance, after a thorough coaching by Miss Emma Thursby and Mme. Cappiani, and William Chapman of the Rubinstein Club.

"The whistling of most persons," said Miss Truax yesterday, is marred by a puffing sound. This may be completely stopped by allowing the tongue to tremble. Let it relax and lie perfectly limp. The muscles of the lips must be cultivated and kept strong and firm. The very high notes are produced by drawing in the lips, and making the opening as small as possible. The lower notes are made by pursing the lips and making a wonderful effect on my lungs. My expansion has increased greatly."

During the whistling one little girl sitting beside her mother in the church leaned over and said loud enough for those nearby to hear her: "Mamma, it sounds as if it came from Heaven."

To have given up would have meant death for Mrs. Lois Cragg, of Dorchester, Mass. For years she had endured untold misery from a severe lung trouble and obstinate cough. "Often," she writes, "I could scarcely breathe and sometimes could not speak. All doctors and remedies failed till I used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was completely cured." Sufferers from Coughs, Colds, Throat and Lung Trouble need this grand remedy, for it never disappoints. Cure is guaranteed by Graham & Wortham. Price 50 and $1. Trial bottles free.

Warren, Conn., July 17.—The Misses White, sixteen and twelve years old, daughters of William White, of Warren, were seriously injured today by a bolt of lightning. As they stood behind closed blinds a ball of fire knocked them unconscious to the floor.

A bolt entered Farmer Soucer's barn in East Litchfield and tore the horse's shoes from its feet without injuring the animal.

From a tree a bolt glanced into the residence of Charles Jenkins, in Collinsville, and circled, ripping off the border of the wall paper.

Mrs. Anderson, of Bristol, was rendered unconscious. The lightning blistered one foot.

Washington, July 17.—Rear Admiral Yates Sterling today was ordered to command the Puget Sound naval station. Captain Burrell, the present commandant, is assigned to command the Oregon, which will leave shortly for the Asiatic station.

Rochester, July 17.—Francis Fitzsimmons, aged 12, and Judeon Armstrong, 11 years old, sons of well-to-do parents, are under arrest on a charge of attempting to wreck a train. The east-bound passenger train of the New York Central which left Seneca Falls at 6:09 p. m. yesterday slowed up as usual rounding the curve at the bridge crossing Seneca River, two miles east of the village. When within about thirty feet of the west end of the bridge the engine struck obstructions.

Engineer Hoolihan stopped the train, went back and found that several guard-rail braces had been placed on the rails in an evident attempt to wreck the train. Had the engine been derailed at this point it, with the train, must have gone into the river forty feet below.

Clayton, Miss., July 17.—William Ody, a negro, who last night attempted to assault Miss Virginia Tucker, of this place, was burned at the stake at midnight.

The young woman was driving in the country when she was attacked by the negro, and so violently dragged from her buggy that both her legs were broken. She was found a few moments later by a doctor who was driving nearby. She is said to be at the point of death.

After Ody's capture he was taken before Miss Tucker, who identified him. He was next led to a spot near the scene of the assault. He begged piteously for mercy, but was bound to a tree, oil was poured over his clothing and a big fire built around him.

San Francisco, July 22.—Fitzsimmons was out on the road early this morning. He walked to the park, a distance of two miles, and running back, worked his shoulders at every step. This afternoon he did light exercising in the Olympic gymnasium.

Jeffries was also out on the road this morning. He sprinted time and time again covered with perspiration. This afternoon he boxed eight rounds before the Merchant's Club of Oakland, with his brother Jack and Kennedy. He showed up in splendid condition, and is faster and stronger than when he fought Fitz before. He now weighs 214 pounds. Both men seem to have full confidence. The betting is 2 to 1 with Jeff on the long end. There is plenty of Fitz money in sight, as the Eastern sports are beginning to arrive in numbers. The sale of tickets has already reached the $20,000 mark and the indications are that there will be a $50,000 house.

Seattle, July 22.—The hunt for convict Tracy seems to have been abandoned entirely and the outlaw is now free to roam the woods at ease—at least, until he again makes his appearance at some farm house for food.

It has been proven beyond a doubt that Tracy did not have two ex-convicts with him in the cabin at Sawyer Lake, and also that the story that he was badly wounded by buckshot from J. A. Bunce's gun was absolutely unfounded. The story of the seriousness of the wounds was given out by an ex-convict, who imposed upon Sheriff Cudihoe.

Tracy must have escaped across the mountains from Covington and some of the officers fear he may now never be captured. They believe that he will disguise himself and make his way to some Eastern city.

Chicago, July 23.—After supporting her husband for five years by working in a department store, Mrs. Lucia Cole Donnan has secured a divorce from Donald D. Donnan, recently deposed from the rectorship of St John's Episcopal parish because of a scandal. About a month ago his wife had the husband arrested for abandonment. During the five years she supported him he was studying for the ministry.

HALF AN HOUR DEAD

FROM DROWNING AND THEN THE
BOY WAS RESUSCITATED AND IS ALIVE.

Street Car Motorman and Conductor Had Free Fight While Car Ran Wild and Passengers Went Into Panic—

Washington, July 17.—Supt. Kimball, of the life-saving service, has received a report from Capt. Ludlum, of the Hereford Inlet Life-saving station an Anglesea, N. J., of the remarkable resuscitation of Stanley S. Holmes, five years old.

Capt. Ludlum reported that July 5 during a squall in the harbor William B. Holmes and his child were overturned in the water and that the boy sank. He had remained under water not less than twenty-five minutes before the life-saving crew of the Hereford station were able to secure his apparently lifeless body.

Within four hours after the boy had been removed from the water he regained consciousness.

Supt. Kimball received affidavits from the child's father, from Miss Margaret Mace, a medical student, and from Mary J. Hock, a trained nurse, substantiating to the fullest degree the statements of Capt. Ludlum.

Most of these persons think the child had been under water fully thirty minutes. All are certain that the time was not less than twenty-five minutes.

Meriden, Conn., July 17.—As the result of a quarrel, as to who should have the first chance at an evening newspaper, Clarence Marvin, a motorman, and William Lajole, a conductor, on the East Main street line of the Meriden Electric Railway Company, came to blows and the car ran wild for nearly a mile before Marvin came to his senses, returned to his post and regained control.

The car was filled with passengers, many of whom were women and children. Several of them were preparing to jump off when Marvin stopped the car. If the car had run wild a minute longer there would have been a collision with an approaching car. Several of the women were hysterical and insisted on walking the remainder of their journey.

Both men have been discharged by the company, and Marvin, who was injured about the head, had Lajole arrested.

Newburg, July 17.—At Marborough, Ulster county, John Budna has just become the father of his twenty-first child. All are living.

In honor of the event Budna, who is a prosperous farmer, had a celebration. There were fireworks and general felicitations on the part of neighbors. Budna has named the boy Theodore Roosevelt. He weighed sixteen pounds at birth.

Altoona, Pa., July 23.—John Bateman, a colored man, who has terrorized Altoona for several days, escaped from his cell at the county hospital in a nude condition and ran four miles to Lake Mont Park. He evaded the officers in pursuit, climbed over the railing of the summer theater just as the orchestra was tearing off a "ragtime" melody in the presence of 10,000 people. He went through a boe-down in the "altogether," much to the surprise of the audience. He was captured after a desperate struggle and landed back in his cell.
