STRIKE IS ENDED

BOTH SIDES AGREE TO ARBITRATION.

Labor Leaders Were Distrustful and Operators Yielded in Make-Up of Board—Plans for Relief.

Washington, Oct. 15.—It is understood that at the conference with the president, Mitchell's main objection to the acceptance of the proposition of the operators was the limitations placed upon President Roosevelt in the matter of the selection of the arbitration commission. He was especially opposed to the restriction limiting the selection of a Federal judge to a particular jurisdiction. It is understood that the miners are willing to waive the technical recognition of the union, as they will get a recognition of the union of the general situation that exists in the anthracite region.

It is considered likely that the proposition will go back to the operators with a request that the restrictions in the appointment of a commission be withdrawn in order that the president may have a free hand in choosing the commissioners.

Portland, Oct. 15.—The Evening Telegram says: The proposition of the coal operators to agree to submit the disputes between themselves and their employees to a commission to be appointed by President Roosevelt, as announced in today's dispatches, is looked upon with suspicion, not to say with disfavor, by members of the local organizations. They think it is a shrewd move to gain the favor of the public, and to induce the miners to return to work, pending the report of the commission, which it is said, will be delayed indefinitely.

G. Y. Harry, president of the Oregon State Federation of Labor, expressed the belief that President Mitchell, of the mine workers, would refuse to entertain the proposition in its present form. He said:

"There is not a single representative of the labor unions provided for in appointing the commission. The mine owners have practically dictated whom they wanted to serve and made the carrying out of the arbitration idea dependent upon those suggestions. Then again, the commission may not be ready to make their report for months. A navy officer, for instance, may be suddenly called away and they would have to wait for his return. Then the principal point of contention in the whole controversy, the recognition of the union, is sidetracked entirely. They say that each district or colliery shall settle its own differences in its own way, which is an attempt to break the solidarity of the forces. It looks to me as if it were a move to get the men back to work until after election.

"To my way of thinking, the operators have another object in view. They are getting alarmed at the turn of public opinion in favor of the miners. They see that the country has become electrified with the spirit of giving great amounts of money for the benefit of the strikers. They must if possible, stop this wave of financial assistance which has set in from the furthest parts of the United States, and the best way in which to accomplish this purpose is to agree to the appointment of the commission. If the president follows the suggestions of the operators as outlined, the commission will be handicapped from the start. If the mine workers refuse to consent to the proposed plan, then they will attempt to shift the blame onto the shoulders of the strike leaders. I do not believe President Mitchell will agree to it in its present form."

Although the strike condition has taken on a somewhat different phase today, the plans for raising money for the assistance of the miners, already underway, will be carried out in the main. George L. Baker has promised to give a six-nights benefit in Baker's Theater, commencing next week. The contributions will be made jointly by himself and the Neill Stock Company. The members of the labor unions are to sell tickets. Mr. Baker was asked today if he would give the benefit just the same if the strike should be declared off in the meantime.

"They need the money, don't they? well the show will go on just as advertised," said he.

The committee of presidents, appointed to canvass the citizens, met last night and divided the city into districts. Each member is to be supplied with a card, bearing the endorsement of President George H. Howell and Secretary H. G. Kindret. This committee may not continue to solicit subscriptions if the strike is settled. The labor unions, however, will not stop, but will make donations right along to help those in distress. The Portland Trades council last night arranged to give $100.

A mass meeting of citizens is being arranged for. Mayor Williams, Governor-elect Chamberlain and State Senator Henry E. McGinn have promised to deliver addresses.

A Typical South African Store.

O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an anchor." This store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town. Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of thirty miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps sixty. Of these, within the past 12 months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by Graham & Wells.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The great anthracite coal strike is settled at last. A commission of six persons, with a seventh—Carroll D. Wright—as recorder, will adjust the differences between the operators and the miners. President Mitchell, of the Miners' Union, will take the necessary measures to call the strike off. The president will urge immediate resumption of mining, and the operators are expected to begin next week.

Announcement that the great strike was off was made by Secretary Root with exuberant good humor at the White House shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. Organized labor has a representative on the commission in the person of E. E. Clark, grand chief of the Order of Railroad Conductors, as a sociologist. The president added Bishop Spalding, of Illinois, to the list of five members suggested by the operators. As named, the commission is perfectly satisfactory to both miners and operators. Assent of the miners was given through President Mitchell and Mr. Sargent, Commissioner of Immigration, and of the operators through Messrs. Robert Bacon and Geo. W. Perkins, of the Banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

THE ARBITRATORS.

Brigadier-General John M. Wilson, United States Army, retired, late chief of engineers, U. S. A., Washington, D. C., an officer of the Engineer Corps of either the military or naval service of the United States.

E. W. Parker, Washington, D. C., as an expert mining engineer. Mr. Parker is chief statistician of the coal division of the United States Geological Survey, and editor of the Engineering and Mining Journal, of New York.

George Gray, Wilmington, Del., as a judge of a United States Court. E. E. Clark, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, grand chief of the Order of Railroad conductors, as a sociologist, the president assuming that, for the purpose of such a commission, the term sociologist means a man who has thought and studied deeply on social questions, and has practically applied his knowledge.

Thomas H. Watkins, Scranton, as a man practically acquainted with the mining and selling of coal. Bishop John L. Spalding, of Peoria, Ill. The president has added Bishop Spalding's name to the commission.

Carroll D. Wright has been appointed recorder of the commission. The report of the commission will be made to the president and by him will be communicated to the parties to the controversy and to the general public.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Henderson Grimmett, of this place, was stricken with partial paralysis and completely lost the use of one arm and side. After being treated by an eminent physician for quite a while without relief, my wife recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and after using two bottles of it he is almost entirely cured.—GEO. R. McDONALD, Man, Logan county, W. Va. Several other very remarkable cures of partial paralysis have been effected by the use of this liniment. It is most widely known, however, as a cure for rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by Graham & Wells.

GOVERNOR ODELL

TAKES A HAND IN THE SETTLEMENT OF THE STRIKE.

If Capital Can Combine, No Reason Why Labor Cannot—He Tells Coal Magnates They Are Not Acting Fairly and Reject His Offer.

What do you mean by politicians? I want you and all operators to understand that I am the Governor of New York, the chosen representative of 7,000,000, and I am here in this matter solely in that capacity, and to relieve if possible, an intolerable situation. And what is more, I intend to use every power at my command to do it.

Governor Odell made this statement today to President Baer, of the Reading Railroad in the presence of United States Senator Platt, of New York, and Quay and Penrose, of Pennsylvania. It was the culmination of an acrimonious interview in the office of Senator Platt, and the result of the meeting between Governor Odell and President Baer.

Mr. Baer was not in the best of humor when, accompanied by E. B. Thomas, chairman of the board of directors of the Erie Railroad, he entered Senator Platt's office. The conference began by a statement made by Senator Platt that the situation was becoming so serious that some solution must be found at once. He suggested that the operators should incline to some concessions toward a settlement.

"If you mean by that," said President Baer, "that we are to recognize the existence of a labor union, I tell you right now that the operators will consider no such proposition."

Governor Odell was on his feet in an instant. Holding a half-burnt cigar in his hand, and white with excitement, he said:

"Are we to understand that no kind of conciliatory proposition would receive attention at the hands of the operators?" "I did not say that," answered Mr. Baer, "but I do say that we will not accept political advice or allow the interference of politicians in this our affair."

Then it was that Governor Odell made the statement attributed to him at the beginning of this article. President Baer, evidently appreciating that he had gone too far, bowed to Governor Odell, and said:

"Governor, I beg your pardon. No personal affront was intended, and we will listen to any suggestions you may have to make; but, again, I repeat that we must refuse to recognize the union represented by Mr. Mitchell."

"I believe," said the governor, "that your position, from a public view, is absolutely untenable. If coal operators, railroad men and other business men can combine for mutual profit and protection there is no reason why laboring men should not."

"What is the proposition?" asked Mr. Baer, coldly.

"Just this," said Governor Odell. "I am sure that the labor organization of which Mr. Mitchell is head desires him to be fair with the general public. If the operators will consent to give the men 5 cents a ton increase, I will personally present it to the miners, and I believe they will accept it. It is a fair proposition."

"Does this mean, Governor Odell, that we are to recognize the miners' union?" said Mr. Baer.

"It certainly does," answered Governor Odell, quickly, "and there is no reason why you should not."

Mr. Baer and Mr. Thomas rose to go, Mr. Thomas remarking that the matter would be presented to the other operators and that an early answer would be forthcoming. "We are to meet a committee of the Manufacturers' Association on Tuesday, and we may have an answer then," said Mr. Baer.

The conference then broke up. Mr. Baer and Mr. Thomas, withdrawing. Senators Platt, Penrose and Quay talked over the matter for a short time, and then separated, the two Pennsylvanians announcing that they would go back to Harrisburg and discuss the situation with Governor Stone.

Governor Odell was not in a talkative mood when he left the conference. He went directly to the Fifth-avenue Hotel, and during most of the afternoon received calls from Congressmen, Anson G. McCook, Wm. M. L. an Lessor and Littauer, and Senator Platt were among his callers. To one of these the governor said:

"The coal operators may postpone this matter until Tuesday, but I don't propose to postpone. They are not acting fairly with the people. I believe I shall get some remedy."

About 5 o'clock John Mitchell, accompanied by M. L. Hammerling, of Wilkesbarre, called, and had a long conference. While this was going on a dispatch announcing that the operators refused to consider the terms offered by the governor was received.

When the conference was over Governor Odell refused to say what had occurred, and Mr. Mitchell was equally reticent. It is believed that Governor Odell presented his proposition for settlement to the leader of the miners' union, and that Mr. Mitchell said he would present it to the district presidents in the hope that it would be accepted. Governor Odell said: "Mr. Mitchell was eminently fair, and showed every disposition to adjust the serious situation."

With the announcement that all the conferees except Governor Odell had left town, some of the interest in the matter had dropped. Governor Odell at a late hour was asked if he had determined on any further move. He said:

"I have not received any official notice of the rejection of our proposition."

"Has it been suggested that you call an extra session of the legislature?" was asked.

"I have not thought of it yet. As I said, I am waiting for an answer from the operators."

The governor said tonight that he would go to Newburgh tomorrow to register and return on Monday morning. Then he said he would again take up the matter actively if no decision was arrived at by the miners and operators. He positively declined to talk further for publication.

His Life in Peril.

"I just seemed to have gone all to pieces," writes Alfred Bee, of Welfare, Tex., "biliousness and a lame back had made life a burden. I couldn't eat or sleep and felt almost too worn out to work when I began to use Electric Bitters, but they worked wonders. Now I sleep like a top, can eat anything, have gained in strength and enjoy hard work." They give vigorous health and new life to weak, sickly, run-down people. Try them. Only 50c at Graham & Wortham's drug store.

New York, Oct. 11.—Chairman Thomas, of the Erie Road, today issued a statement that there would be no conference on the part of the operators with the publicists on Tuesday, and saying that his statement yesterday was definitive.

Mr. Thomas said: "This statement will be continued Tuesday is unqualifiedly wrong. No conclusions were or could be reached through that channel. The incident may be considered as absolutely closed; the officers positively declining to accept the suggestions made. Nothing will be done on Tuesday."
