LOUISIANA NEGRO KILLED WHITE MOTHER AND DAUGHTER—THEN FLED.

But Posse Pursued—A Funeral Pyre—Reliance Launched—Train ran Without Engineer in the cab—Other News.

Bristol, R. I., April 11.—With an American Eagle at her bow, the cup-defender Reliance was launched at the Herreshoff works just before sundown today. 500 persons stood beside the glistening underbody of the yacht when at 5:31 o'clock this afternoon Miss Cora Iselin, daughter of C. Oliver Iselin, managing owner of the boat, broke with a silver hammer the traditional bottle of champagne, saying at the time: "I christen thee Reliance, and may God bless thee."

Lauri wreaths and bunches of pinks tied with red and black ribbons, the racing colors of Mr. Iselin, were festooned forward, and as the yacht slowly drew out of the slip the American yacht ensign was raised at the stern, with Mr. Iselin's private signal amidships, and the colors of the New York Yacht Club at the bow.

Three thousand persons in steam yachts, rowboats, on the two piers and back on the street behind the shop greeted the plunge of the Reliance with lusty cheers while a bugler on a torpedo boat played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Among the yachts anchored off the works was the Constitution, the unsuccessful candidate for cup honors two years ago, and this year designed to be one of the keenest rivals of the Reliance. The Constitution was gaily bedecked with flags, and as the Reliance lay for a few moments along side of her old sister, some comparison of the lines of the two boats could be made. It was then seen that the bow of the Reliance turns out of the water more sharply, that her stern is lower and flatter, and that she has a trifle less freeboard.

The new boat, however, was soon hauled into the dock, where she will be rigged. It is expected that she will have her trial spin in about ten days, after which she will have thorough trying-out meetings with both the Constitution and the Columbia in a series of 35 races in Long Island Sound, off Sandy Hook and at Newport. Should she prove superior to her two rivals, she will meet the Shamrock III in the first of the cup races on August 21.

Shreveport, La., April 11.—Mrs. Alice Matthews, aged 45 years, wife of Frank Matthews, a well-known civil engineer, was brutally murdered in her bed early this morning by a negro. The woman's little daughter, Alice, aged 10, was fatally wounded. An ax was the instrument employed in both cases. Ed Porter, a negro strongly suspected of the crime, was shot to death by two police sergeants while attempting to escape. He had been run down at a point about five miles from Shreveport.

The discovery of the crime was made at 5:30 this morning by a servant, who entered the bedroom of Mrs. Matthews. The unfortunate woman, who was almost hacked to pieces, had been dead for some time. Her daughter was still alive when the servant entered. Entrance was effected through a side window and, although there were 15 persons in the house, which is situated in the heart of the residence district of Shreveport, no one heard a suspicious sound during the night.

The skull of Mrs. Matthews was crushed and she bore evidence of having been otherwise assaulted. The child's skull was fractured, chest crushed and shoulder lacerated. Mrs. Matthews wore a diamond ring and diamond earrings, which were not touched by the murderer, and three-pocket books containing money were in the room, showing that assault furnished the motive for the crime. An ax covered with blood and hair was found in the kitchen.

Bloodhounds took up the trail, but lost it after going a short distance. A Kansas City Southern engineer notified the police of the appearance of a negro covered with blood on the tracks on the railroad and a posse was organized to hunt him down. The posse separated and Sergeants Gerald and Roquemore soon came upon the negro. He made a desperate dash for a ravine, and the officers fired four shots at him, two of which took effect in his back, killing him instantly. The negro's clothing was covered with blood and his shoes fitted the bloody footprints in the kitchen of the Matthews home. His name is Ed Porter and he was a well-known Shreveport negro.

Baltimore, April 11.—A fast-flying Royal Blue train on the Baltimore & Ohio, running between New York and Washington, ran 20 miles tonight without an engineer at the throttle.

J. F. Furley, the engineer, leaped out of the cab window at a point south of Wilmington, Del. At Heyes Station, Md., the fireman found Furley dead in the cab. He evidently had been struck by a telegraph pole and was probably instantly killed. The fireman brought the train to Baltimore.

Salt Lake City, April 11.—Brigham Young, President of the council of Twelve Apostles of the Mormon church, died in this city tonight after a lingering illness.

Apostle Young was the second son and fourth child of the late President Brigham Young, and was born with a twin sister, Mary Ann, December 18, 1836, at Kirtland, O. His mother was Mary Ann Angell Young, second wife of the first Brigham. His father was a widower with two little girls when he married Miss Angell, and she took care of the little girls.

Through all the troubles incident to the stirring days in the early history of Mormonism, Apostle Young grew to manhood, being only 12 years old when he drove a yoke of oxen from Winter Quarters to Salt Lake City, in 1848, the year following the pioneer movement. In this city he received his education and passed most of his life in the ordinary pursuits of young men of the time, at last developing into a promising elder of his church. He herded stock and performed much hard labor in the valleys and canyons. He was one of the minute-men in the fight with Indians during the early days of the territory, and was a scout in the Echo Canyon war.

Frankfort, Ky., April 11.—In the trial of James Howard for the murder of Governor William Goebel, 11 witnesses for the commonwealth testified today. All had been on the stand at former trials of the case and their testimony was offered for the purpose of showing the bringing of armed mountain men to Frankfort, the shooting of William Goebel, his death and the post mortem examination and its showing. The trial will be proceeded with Monday morning. Henry Youtsey will not be called before Tuesday and probably later.

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIP.
Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank W. Perry, Editor of the Enterprise Shortville N. Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times kept from coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would or could knock out the grips simply because I had never tried it for such a purpose, but it did and it seemed with the second attack of coughing the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration but the pains were far less severe and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bid me adieu." For sale by Allen and Woodward.

Washington, April 11.—The quartermasters of Portland, Seattle and San Francisco have been directed to advertise for bids for 10,000,000 feet of lumber for shipment to the Philippines. Included in the contract will be 2500 doors

Danger of Colds and Grip.

The greatest danger from colds and grips is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure a cold or an attack of the grip in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Allen and Woodward.

A FAMOUS RUN.

HOW REAMES SWEEP SOUTHERN OREGON COUNTIES IN A RACE FOR OFFICE.

Ran Twelve Hundred Ahead of His Ticket—His Nomination at Albany—Convention Wanted Nobody Else—Something About Him.

Albany, April 11.—A. E. Reames of Jackson county, who is certain to prove a most powerful and popular opponent to Bioger Herman in the congressional race, was nominated here today by the democrats. He is 41 years of age, and is a son-in-law of the late Congressman Tongue. He is one of the most brilliant orators in Oregon and in the congressional race, made a brief speech that went straight to the heart of everybody in the convention hall, regardless of political complexion. He said that he was not hidebound in his political views, and that he had the deepest respect for the opinions of political opponents. He paid a pretty tribute to the honesty and the individuality of the American voter, and declared that he honored him in his belief, whether that voter be republican or democrat. He said he had not sought the nomination, but that since it had been voluntarily bestowed, he would use every honorable endeavor to win the proffered seat in congress.

There is neither sham, nor palaver about Mr. Reames. With him life is a reality, and his purposes sincere. His personality at once compels belief in his integrity, stability, and individual worth. His home is at Jacksonville, where he is widely known and universally popular. His father was Thomas G. Reames, who was a long time ago, candidate on the democratic ticket for secretary of state, and a Mason of high standing. The family name is synonymous with pioneer life in Oregon. The Reames settled in Jackson county in 1853, after an ox team journey across the plains. There they have lived to win and enjoy the respect of the wide friendships that came to them. The name has come to be the embodiment of honor, sobriety and industry all over Southern Oregon. There, A. E. Reames was born, grew to manhood and struck out in life for himself. After graduating from the State University, he studied law at Washington and Lee University in Virginia, from which he graduated in 1890. There, he won a gold medal as a debater. He returned to Oregon, and has since been engaged in the practice of his profession, in which he has won renown as a brilliant advocate.

It is his wide personal popularity, magnetic ability and unquestioned integrity that promises most for the candidacy of Mr. Reames. He has been but once a candidate for public office, but that was sufficient to stagger those who are candidates against him. In 1900, he was named for district attorney. The four counties comprised in his district are Klamath, Jackson, Josephine and Lake, all at that time, republican. Reames, after a campaign of most brilliant character, ran 1,250 ahead of his ticket, and was elected by an overwhelming majority. He carried his home county with a majority of 615. He carried every county in the district, except Lake, and looked but 14 votes in carrying it. The like has never been seen in Southern Oregon. A more complete confirmation of the inherent worth of a man cannot be secured. But little more than half the same percentage of gain in the present contest, will easily elect Mr. Reames to congress with many votes to spare.

The Albany convention was very anxious to nominate Mr. Reames. All the reports from Southern Oregon were to the effect that he is without scars. Every breeze from the south was laden with encoium. Every time his name was mentioned, the convention stamped. When Travis of Lane, in a glowing speech formally nominated him, it burst into enthusiastic cheers. When J. A. Jeffrey, with 32 followers behind him was defeated, and rose to move that the nomination be made unanimous, the delegates stood on their feet. When somebody proposed three cheers for Reames, the convention hall rang with noisy testimonials to the man from Jackson.

The convention was in session less than three hours. J. K. Weatherford was both temporary and permanent chairman. The committee on credentials reported 110 delegates, of whom nearly all were present. The committee on resolutions, consisting of a member appointed from each delegation, worked in an adjoining room at the Albany court house, while the convention's organization was being perfected. The democratic, centering around that prevail in the East had no echoes in the convention. No ripple marred the proceedings. In the preparation of the platform, there was complete unanimity of opinion. The same unbroken felicity was presented when the resolutions were adopted by the convention. It has sometimes been immensely otherwise in democratic conventions in Oregon, in times a long way this side of ancient history.

THEIR NEW PASTOR.

Congregationalists Heard him Sunday—Something About Him.

The Congregationalists are highly pleased with a new pastor, Rev. Edwin F. Green, who arrived with his family from The Dalles Friday, and is now at home in this city. He is a man of wide information, an excellent speaker, and the members of his congregation expect their relations with him to prove most profitable.

Rev. Green is a graduate of the University of Ohio. While a student there he was three years the assistant professor of chemistry in that institution. After leaving college he was appointed by the board of Missions, superintendent of the Presbyterian boarding school at Concord, North Carolina. During three years of teaching there and by taking special studies in pedagogy, he earned the degree of M. A. as a minor course in post graduate work looking to the degree of Ph D in sociology. He spent three years in the study of theology in the Theological Seminary of Auburn, N. Y. At the close of that course, he was one of five men selected by the board of missions to go as its representatives to Alaska during the rush to the gold fields. He preferred pastoral work however, and held pastorates in New York where he was very successful in building up his churches.

Mr. Green brings with him a help-mate Mrs. Green is from Grove City College, Penn., and a graduate in both piano and vocal music of the University of Wooster. She was a pupil of Carl Merz, musical composer and editor of Barnard's Musical World.
