TO MEET SATURDAY.

Athletes of two Colleges—O. A. C and State University.

Next Saturday afternoon will be a day of deep interest to the students of two of Oregon's biggest educational institutions. It will also interest lovers of amateur athletics all over Oregon and the Northwest. It is the date for the track and field meet between the teams of OAC and the state university. It has been made more interesting by the overwhelming defeats OAC men have administered to all teams they have met this season. These victories have given the OAC track team the best reputation it has ever enjoyed. The state university has always been a victor in recent years, and the appearance of a team that promises to give the university players a hard struggle makes the occasion of double interest. Concerning the meet the Oregonian of Monday has the following:

What promises to be one of the most interesting athletic events of the year will be the dual field meet between the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural College, which is scheduled for next Saturday afternoon at Corvallis. As there is no end of fiendly rivalry between these institutions, and as the teams are evenly matched, the contest will doubtless prove interesting. If the athletes are in good trim and the weather is fair, it is not unlikely that some state or Northwest record will be smashed, for there are some speedy men on the contesting teams. W. O. Trine, who trained the victorious team of the State Varsity for five years, has been with the Agricultural College since April 1, and the results of the meets already held show that he has a strong team in the field.

In the early meets of the season the Corvallis aggregation won from Dallas and McMinnville Colleges by overwhelming scores. Then came the contest with the Pacific University, which the "Agrics" also won, the score being 80 to 45. These meets have seasoned the Agricultural College men, and have put them on their mettle for the championship meet with the State University team, the strength of which is a mere matter of conjecture. The varsity men have held no meets this year and when they appear at Corvallis next Saturday, many of them will be representing their college for the first time. There are a few seasoned men on the Eugene team, however, and it is safe to say that Trainer Ray will have the whole bunch in good condition. The varsity team as a whole is probably more experienced than the "farmer" aggregation, although the latter is more advanced in the work at the present season. The Agricultural College men will have considerable advantage in leading the meet on their own grounds, and they will also outnumber their opponents, whose supply of athletic material is small in comparison with that on hand at Corvallis. It is not unlikely that both trainers will have some "surprises" to spring.

In Moores and Williams the Agricultural College has two very fast sprinters, while the University will be well represented by Payne, Henderson and Lewis. The last named, according to reports from Eugene, has been off color this year, so Henderson and Payne are Oregon's surest men in the sprints. Payne is also a swift middle-distance runner, and Poley, the miler, will no doubt show a clean pair of heels to the field. Jackson, who has put the shot 39 feet 4 inches for the Agrics is reasonably sure of first place, and McKinney, the Varsity freshman has thrown the discus 102 feet which is five feet further than Abraham of Corvallis has thrown.

The hammer throwing and hurdles are looked upon as Corvallis events, but the sprints and jumps are doubtful, as both teams have good men in the entry lists.

ELECTED CITY OFFICERS.

Corvallisites Did—Was a Quiet Contest—Happened Monday.

Corvallisites elected city officers Monday. The contest involved the selection of a mayor for a term of two years, a police judge, chief of police and treasurer for terms of one year each, two councilmen each in the upper and middle wards, one in each for a term of three and one in each for a term of two years, and a councilman in the lower ward to serve a full term of three years. For three of the positions there were no opposing candidates, and the nominee for each was elected without opposition. These were the mayor, the police judge and treasurer.

For the office of chief of police there was a sharp contest, and considerable skirmishing done by each of the candidates and his friends. The candidates were, W. G. Lane and J. M. Howard. Samuel King, earlier in the fight was a candidate for the place but withdrew from the race last week. The contest resulted in the election of Mr. Lane.

For councilman, there were two tickets of candidates in the field in each ward, each in a measure representing certain views with respect to regulation of the liquor traffic. Practically all in the field are supposed to have favored enforcement of all existing laws, while it was urged that with some of the others that they might favor additional restrictive legislation. Lines were not however drawn severely on this issue, as is shown by the fact that an equal number of councilmen were elected by each side. The activity at the polls was infinitesimal compared with that on former occasions of the kind.

The result of the election was as follows: for mayor, B. F. Irvine; police judge, E. P. Greföz; chief of police, W. G. Lane; treasurer, William McLagan; councilmen, 1st ward, Punderson Avery and Taylor Porter; 2nd ward, Monroe Cameron and James Taylor; 3rd ward, Robert H. Colbert. In wards where two councilmen were elected lots will be drawn to determine which shall have the three and which the two years terms.

CAPTAIN HARDEN HERE.

New Commandant for OAC—Horses Sold—Other Local News.

Captain Hardin of the 18th U. S. Infantry, detailed to be commandant at OAC arrived yesterday from Fort Logan, Colorado. His family is to arrive later.

Annual election of officers at the regular meeting of the Coffee Club Monday.

Miles Young has sold his residence property on Jefferson street to Jesse Porter. The price paid was $500. Mr. Young and family expect to leave next week for southern Oregon to reside.

The circus people did not carry away with them all the coin taken in at the circus. Tommy Fawcett, of Dusty, got $400 of the money for a span of cream horses with white manes and tails. Riley Brothers of Linn county, also made a deal with Norris & Rowe by which the latter acquired two teams of horses similar to those purchased from Fawcett. The price of the latter was not learned.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Cronk, who have been visiting the formers' parents, left Sunday for their home in Boone, Iowa, after a ten days' stay in Corvallis. Mr. Cronk is one of twelve train dispatchers, at Boone, in the employ of the Chicago & Northwestern Company and has been in a railroad office since he was 15 years of age. Mr. Cronk expects to visit Oregon again in 1905.

Woodmen of the World in the south part of the county are arranging for a big picnic to take place on May 28th at Bellefontaine camp ground. The forenoon is to be taken up with a literary and musical programme. A basket dinner is to be a feature of the day. Games, races, contests and various other sports will occupy the afternoon. A great time is anticipated.

SIX OF THEM.

Orators From Three States In College Armory Next Friday Night.

The contest which will take place in the college armory next Friday evening has some features which are especially worthy of note, from a literary and oratorical standpoint. No other association in America has ever conducted such extensive oratorical contests as the National Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Association; no other has offered such large prizes; consequently it has attracted the best talent in the colleges and great Universities. Scarcely a large university in the land but that has furnished representatives. As far back as 1894 a contest was held on Staten Island where the state winners of thirteen different states met and competed for first honors. Since then not a year has passed but that scores of colleges have held Prohibition oratorical contests to be followed by state and interstate contests.

This year Corvallis happens to be the place where the state winners of the coast will meet. Students along the coast have been looking throughout the year to the coming of this event. Sixty five wrote orations, their sole object being to be one of the speakers of next Friday evening.

Attention is now being called to the fact that nowhere in the United States is so much interest taken in oratory as in the Western and Middle states. And from this develops the fact that the leaders in great movements of today are coming from the West. So next Friday evening the people who listen to the orators, will doubtless hear better productions and hear orators who have gained the honor to represent their respective states after severe competition than if they were listening to a contest of similar character in New York or Massachusetts.

The convention which occurs Friday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 and Saturday morning from 8:30 to 10:30 will be taken up by speeches from the brainiest young men of the coast whose names have been mentioned in previous articles.

No one can afford to miss the contest or convention.

Notice to Contractors.

Bids will be received until the 31st day of May 1905 for the construction of a sewer through the alley in block 5 old town of Corvallis according to the plans and specifications now on file.

W. O. Heckart,
Sewer Committee.

TO SEE THE PRESIDENT.

C & E Expect six Hundred Excursionists out of Corvallis.

Corvallis will send a big delegation to see the president. Nearly all go to Portland—Some of them on today's Westside; others on the six o'clock special over the C & E via Albany in the morning. On the latter train, goes the cadet battalion and band, 300 strong, or more. Also a large number of townspeople. The train connects with a Southern Pacific train at Albany, reaches Portland at 10 a. m., two hours before the president's train. It leaves for the return trip at six o'clock in the evening, giving the visitors eight hours in the metropolis.

In the special from Corvallis each coach that is filled with people tickited for Portland, will go through without any change of cars. Five coaches in which the 300 cadets are to travel will go through. The C & E is making preparations to carry 600 people out of Corvallis, and will make provision for that number, or for a still larger number, if informed in time. The charge for the tickets is one fare for the round trip. Some Corvallis people will only go as far as Albany. The president passes there about eight a. m. and his train is expected to stop for five minutes. Others will go to Salem, expecting to return home by the regular S P and C & E afternoon trains.

A BIG DAY.

That is What the Circus Made for Corvallis.

A mass of men, women and children thronged the streets of Corvallis Saturday afternoon. All the feed stables of the town were filled and the adjacent streets were almost blocked with wagons, carriages and buggies. People came out of the remotest parts of the Coast mountains and valleys, and it was really a big day in Corvallis. All these people came to see the Norris & Rowe's tented show, comprising a great variety of entertainment. The parade formed at 11 o'clock and it was in no way disappointing. At the afternoon performance there was not standing capacity for the attendance, and the show was well patronized in the evening. Norris & Rowe give a clean entertainment and instructive show; and do what they advertise. The elephant stood on his head, the seals performed some wonderful tricks, and the ponies, monkeys, dogs and other animals acquitted themselves to the satisfaction of all.

Now due—a carload of the famous Old Hickory wagons. Wait for them. We have prices that will surprise you. A. Wilhelm & Sons, Monroe.

About Quality.

Occasionally we hear people say that prices seem higher on certain goods. While this may seem to be a fact to casual observers, everyone should remember that the standard of quality has been raised all over the country. The object of these manufacturers has not been to produce goods at lower prices, but to put out better goods at the same prices if possible. This store is progressive and has seen the demand for better qualities. For this reason: You will find this standard raised throughout our store. Whenever it was possible for us to handle better qualities than before, we have done so. When you buy goods here you can absolutely depend on the quality. We have made special efforts to buy the best in every department. Come here prepared to see good merchandise at reasonable prices, and come assured that you will receive fair treatment.
