

FOR THE AFFLICTED.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT THAT WILL INTEREST MANY.

Dr. Darrin the Eminent Specialist, Will Visit Albany May 15th to Aug. 1st—Many Know his Mode of Treatment.

Albany Herald:—While adverse to draw the attention of our readers to any advertisement which partakes of a medical character, we feel more than justified in overriding this objection with respect to the announcement of the visit of Dr. Darrin.

This far famed physician, lately from Portland, who has achieved such a great reputation throughout the coast and the northwest the past sixteen years, has been prevailed upon by urgent request of many in this vicinity, to visit Albany, as they could not afford by their time and business to consult him at his office at Portland. The doctor has at last consented to visit this city to accommodate the sick and the afflicted, and his office is at the Revere hotel. Those wishing to see the doctor will find it to their advantage to consult him while here, and during the first part of his stay, as many require more than one treatment by electricity.

He comes laden with testimonials from the whole northwest, and the authentic reports of some of his cures seem nothing but miracles. So many thousands are already acquainted with his mode of treatment, it seems unnecessary to state that he uses little medicine in the majority of cases and perfects his cures by the wonderful powers of electricity.

There are few ills to which the human flesh is heir, which cannot be relieved and generally permanently cured by Dr. Darrin's electromagnetic treatment, and cases which have resisted the efforts of ordinary physicians, have yielded to his power. These cases embrace almost every form of disease, and, as said before no man, woman or child need despair of relief or cure while Dr. Darrin offers his invaluable services. The doctor is prepared to fit eye glasses to any desiring them.

Like other physicians who have become eminent in their profession, the doctors charge an extremely moderate and reasonable amount according to circumstances and ability to pay and he will not undertake any case that he cannot cure or benefit. Consultation is free to all. Should there be cases that are incurable he will immediately discover them on consultation, thus saving this patient any further expenditure of time and money which they might otherwise squander.

Dr. Darrin makes a specialty of all diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, catarrh and deafness, and all nervous chronic and private diseases, such as loss of manhood, blood taints, syphilis, gleet, gonorrhoea, stricture, spermatorrhoea, seminal weakness, and loss of desire or sexual power in either men or women. All peculiar female troubles are confidentially and successfully treated. Most cases can be treated at home after one visit to the doctor's office.

Office hours from 10 a m to 5 p m. Evening 7 to 8. Sundays 10 to 3. The worthy poor will be treated free, except medicine, according to his time honored custom from 10 to 11 a m daily. Circulars and question blanks sent free. Inquiries answered. All business relations with Dr. Darrin are strictly confidential.

Among the many successfully treated may be mentioned ex-Senator Geo. Chandler's son of Baker City, who had trouble and general debility; cured and gained 30 pounds.

F. H. Hohm 247 Commercial street, Salem, catarrh, cured.

J. W. Pate, Jefferson, Ore., rheumatism and diabetes.

Reuben Lee and wife, Turner, Oregon, sciatica, rheumatism and cough, restored.

Mrs. P. Planning, Salem, varicose ulcers on both limbs.

B. Baxter, Ferry street, Salem, tumor cured.

Miss Irene Ashford, Woodburn Ore., discharging ear, cured.

B. F. Kingo, Gervais, Ore., discharging ear, cured.

J. S. Heften, Salem, liver complaint and dyspepsia, cured.

Helena, Mont., June 5.—Harry Rowe, the 23-year-old son of James Rowe, one of the oldest and wealthiest ranchers in this section, shot himself through the heart late last night with a 44-calibre revolver while standing on the Missouri river bridge at Fort Benton. He died instantly. The suicide was the result of an infatuation for a woman of the lower world, who was beside the young man when he took his life. Harry Rowe had a bright future before him. His father's wealth would soon have been at his disposal and a good business was ready for his hand. A year ago he met Georgia Bryan, and from that moment his fate was sealed, as he fell desperately in love with her.

He pleaded with her to leave her wayward life and become his wife. This she promised to do, it is said, but later decided to remain as she was. Last night Rowe went to a resort and asked the Bryan woman to go out with him. Together they walked down to the river and out on the bridge. What passed between them is not known, as the woman refuses to speak. Shortly afterward the sound of a shot drew an officer to the scene and Rowe was found dead with a bullet in his heart, while the young woman was crouched in terror at his side. She, too, tried to commit suicide, but was restrained. The young man's parents were overcome by the nature and surroundings of their son's death. The coroner's jury returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts. The affair created a decided sensation.

Washington, June 5.—General Chaffee, commanding the department of the East, this morning forwarded to the war department the following dispatch from Gainesville, Ga., the scene of the recent "nadir": "Fifteen hundred people here are dependent on charity. Two thousand are seriously injured. I have requested 4000 rations and medical supplies to be sent from Fort M. P. Person. No further immediate relief is necessary."

NORTH BEACH.

Excursion Steamer T. J. Potter Goes Into Service June 27.

Those who are planning their vacation this year will be interested in knowing that the popular excursion steamer, the T. J. Potter—queen of river boats—goes into service June 27, and that she will leave Portland every day from Tuesday until Saturday inclusive. To see the beauties of the picturesque and mighty Columbia from the decks of the Potter is a treat never to be forgotten. For speed and grace nothing in river or lake service in the entire West equals this side-wheeled beauty. Five hours from Portland, and one from Astoria, through the famous fishing waters of the Columbia, past scores of salmon traps, and nets and as many white-winged fish boats, lands the passengers at Ilwaco, where close connection is made for beach points with trains of the Ilwaco Railway & Navigation Company, whose cars stand on the wharf awaiting steamer. The beach is 27 miles long, two hundred yards wide at low tide and so hard that carriage wheels scarcely leave a mark. It is an ideal place for driving, riding, wheeling or walking, and the surf bathing is unsurpassable. The excellent hotels and boarding houses provide good accommodations ranging from $1 to 3 per day.

The round trip rate from Portland to Astoria is $2.50; to Ocean Beach points $4, good until October 15th. On Saturdays during July and August, round trip tickets are sold to beach points at $2.50 good for return leaving beach following Sunday evening.

The Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company has just issued a new summer book, free for the asking, which tells all about the delightful resorts of the valley of the Columbia. This can be obtained from any agent of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company or by writing to A. L. Craig, G. P. A. Portland, Ore.

CARNIVAL TODAY.

ARNOLD SHOWS HAVE ARRIVED AND THE BIG TENTS ARE STRETCHED.

Flood Renders Thousands Homeless at St. Louis—Smith, the Negro Murderer Hanged at Portland—Other News.

The W. O. W. Carnival starts immediately after the big parade today. The attractions are furnished by the Carnival King, E. J. Arnold who has the largest aggregation of high-class attractions ever assembled, consisting of feats and features that have never before been seen or equalled. Mr. Arnold has spared neither money, time nor patience to gather his fine company of performers together. Kings of the Roman rings, the De Garros; the triple bar experts; the Victorias, introducing the hand to hand and foot to foot balancing. These gentlemen stand on the top line of their profession. Prof. Howe and his educated troupe of monkeys and dogs are more than the dictionary can find words to praise. Then comes the Loretto twins, vaudevilles displaying science, skill and daring feats in the air captivating the public with their thrilling and exciting acts in midair. Wallace's glass blowers is a strong feature of the Carnival. Tetsuwan Japanese troupe, magicians, contortionists, jugglers, etc. The electric theatre is not the snide affairs that go to small towns, but an exhibition of modern electrical science, all the latest foreign and transformation scenes including the trip to the moon under the personal supervision of Thomas A. Edison. Dick Robinson with his troupe of plantation singers and dance artists make a very pleasing part of the show; the menagerie of Mr. Arnold's moveable zoological gardens is the finest on the Pacific Coast. It consists of rare and strange animals from the jungles of every country, from the monkey to the lion. The streets of Cairo with the sword fighters, Hindoo magicians, and dancing girls. Other attractions are, the slide for life, the high diving coyotes; take a ride on the camels; the merry-go-round, and the Ferris wheel. Something doing every minute.

Portland, Or., June 5.—George Smith, the colored murderer of his white wife, was hanged by the neck until he was dead in the yard of the Multnomah county court house this morning, says the Portland Journal. Death followed almost instantly upon the tripping of the drop, the soul passing into eternity without a struggle.

The doomed man was brave and cool to the last. Sheriff W. A. Story gave the signal that precipitated Smith into another world, and immediately upon the cutting down of the dead body work of removing the scaffold began, this being the last legal hanging in Multnomah county under the state law which makes future execution of the death penalty occur at the penitentiary.

Smiling and full of life, exactly at 6:30 o'clock, Smith mounted the raised platform from which he was to shortly drop to death. He nodded brightly to several acquaintances in the surging mob about the scaffold. Almost eagerly he stepped to the place beneath the ropes, standing erectly, like a soldier at "attention."

"Have you anything to say?" asked Sheriff Story.

The doomed man hesitated a moment, started, hesitated—then walked firmly toward the edge of the platform and grasped the railing. There was a smile on his face as he turned his head from side to side and looked down upon the crowd.

Although not loud, his voice was strong and clear when he began to speak. The words came slowly and there was an interval between them as though Smith fully realized they were to be his last and intended to taste to the fullest the pleasures of this final utterance. There was not a tremor nor a tremble, and as he neared the end of his remarks he stepped slowly backward upon the trap. The final word was uttered after he had placed himself in position to receive the straps.

"I ain't got much to say," Smith said, "but I will say just this much." There was a pause, and it appeared as though he searched his mind for words appropriate to convey the warning he intended to convey. Then Smith went on: "Keep out o' trouble and keep away from this place. Trouble is no good and this is no good place to be."

Again the words came softly. Nodding to the right and left and pointing with his hand here and there into the crowd, Smith said:

"I see many faces here that I know, friends. I see one there, one here, and here, and the best thing I can say to all of you is to keep away from trouble."

"That's all I got to say." Smith stepped backward upon the trap, dropping his hands to his sides.

"Good-bye!" This was said while moving.

After he had taken his position again upon the trap Smith looked up and smiled.

"God bless you all," he said.

Two deputies sprang forward with straps and within less than a minute from the time Smith had finished speaking, his arms and legs were securely bound and the black cap had been adjusted.

Sheriff W. A. Story himself took down the hangman's noose from the beam above and settled the deadly loop into its place about the doomed man's throat. With a sudden tightening of the muscles he pressed the great knot home behind the ear, and then sprang backward, waving his hands in the air as a signal.

There was a click, the flooring gave way, and George Smith, a living being, shot through the platform and with a sickening jerk became a distorted, senseless, lifeless thing.

The neck had been broken by the fall. Twelve minutes after the length of the rope was reached the human form was taken down, a corpse.

The body was turned over to the mother and sister of the dead.

Exactly 16 minutes elapsed from the time Smith mounted the scaffold until he was cut down.

Salem, June 5.—Governor Chamberlain today issued a requisition on the governor of the Cherokee Nation, in Indian territory, for the arrest and delivery to the United States agent the person of M. D. Landis, wanted in Coos county for the murder of Jesse B. Eudailey, May 23, 1901.

Landis is under arrest at Collinsville, Cherokee Nation, awaiting the agent of the United States. Sheriff Stephen Gallier of Coos county is appointed agent to return with the fugitive for trial.

After revelling in a perfect Carnival of murder, M. D. Landis fled from the scene of his crimes about two years ago.

The man was ostensibly engaged in the business of locating timber lands. He had an office in Empire City and thither he lured his victims, mostly from California. At the time of his flight from Coos county investigations were started which led to the discovery that about 14 clients of the timber agents were missing. It was supposed that many of these had been murdered.

It was Landis' practice to go with a victim into the woods and later return to town alone. He invariably stated to inquirers that the prospective purchaser had gone back to California by water, having taken a steamer on the coast.

One day some boys, playing in the woods near Empire City, observed Landis in the act of covering an excavation in the ground.

The lads thought he had buried money and after his departure they dug up the loose earth. They were horrified to discover the remains of a man who had been slain with a knife. They raised an alarm, but while coroner's jury was deliberating the criminal made his escape. The chase for Landis was thorough and extended over several counties, but was unavailing at the time.

Vienna, June 5.—Dr. Valentin made a new world's record for balloon ascensions yesterday by reaching the lofty altitude of 22,000 feet in his balloon Jupiter. This means a point was reached five miles above the earth's surface. Dr. Valentin, when he had descended, made the statement that at the altitude he reached the air was so rare that he began bleeding at the nose and ears. One peculiar hallucination was experienced which was the fact that he believed hens were cackling and roosters crowing toward the earth beneath him.

Looking toward the earth Dr. Valentin says it appeared to him as one vast saucer, taking the convexity of the sky as it appears from the earth's surface.

Paris, June 6.—The colonial office received a dispatch today from the governor of Martinique to the effect that Mount Pelee is again in a state of eruption. Dense clouds of smoke are reaching far out to sea and gradually settling to the surface. Ashes are falling all over the island and in such quantities that it is feared the eruption is liable to break forth in all the fury of the pent up craters.

LIVER TROUBLES

"I find Thedford's Black-Draught a good medicine for liver diseases. It cured my son after he had spent $100 with doctors. It is all the medicine I take."—MRS. CAROLINE MARTIN, Parkersburg, W. Va.

If your liver does not act regularly go to your druggist and secure a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and take a dose tonight. This great family medicine frees the constipated bowels, stirs up the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion of bile.

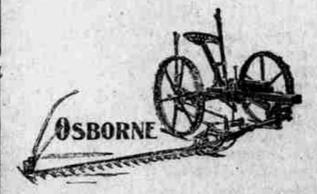

Thedford's Black-Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims as many victims as consumption. A 25-cent package of Thedford's Black-Draught should always be kept in the house.

"I used Thedford's Black-Draught for liver and kidney complaints and found nothing to equal it."—WILLIAM COFFMAN, Marblehead, Ill.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT.

St. Louis, June 6.—Thousands are homeless here today, and the river is now at the 35.4-foot stage, showing more than a foot rise during the past day. It is now certain that East St. Louis cannot escape the coming flood which will be much worse than that of 1892. The railway yards in the North End and the bridge is now entirely submerged and traffic is entirely suspended. The water supply in East St. Louis will be suspended this evening. Many have abandoned their homes and Happy Hollow has been swept away by the terrific flood. The damage assessed so far shows $1,000,000 loss to the railways alone.
