HATTIE BRUMFIELD-DENNY.

Her Remains Brought Home for Burial in Henderson Cemetery.

Hattie Brumfield Denny was afflicted by a disabtlity which seemed permanent, but on the 25th of August death came to her reliet. She was the wife of John Denny and their home had been at Roseburg for the past few years. There she was adjudged insane and sent to the asylum at Salem. Here she remained seven months, at the expiration of which time she returned to Roseburg. After four months she was returned to the asylum and within a month she died there. Thursday the remains were conveyed to Philomath by rail. There the funeral was held in the M.E. church, Rev. Emerick conducting the ceremony. The remains were interred in the family burying ground on the farm originally owned by Perman Henderson, who was her grandfather. Mrs. Denny was born in Benton county 34 years ago and had a large circle of relatives and friends here.

BEAR STEAKS AT CASCADIA.

Campers at That Resort are Killing Big Game.

Word has been received here of a thrilling experience with a huge black bear at Cascadia Springs on the Santiam, Saturday evening. T. C. Peebler was out hunting a short distance above the spring, when suddenly there appeared upon the scene a monster black bear, making direct for the hunter.

Being an experienced mountaineer, Mr. Peebler stood his ground until his bearship approached within 20 yards of him, when he fired. The shot took effect in the neck and turned bruin from his course and down over an embankment into the thick underbrush. The bear was followed by two dogs, that were there at the time, and from the noise that came from the brush there was a desperate encounter between the wounded animal and the dogs. It was by this time getting quite dark, so calling off the dogs Mr. Peebler returned to camp for the night. The following morning he returned to the scene of the conflict and therefound one of the fiercest looking bears he had ever seen, cold in death. In addition to this event, life at the addition to this event, life at the springs has been relieved of its monotony by the killing of two young cougars a short time ago. A. J. Nichols, who resides but a few miles this side of the springs was successful last week in trap-ping a half grown bear. Old ping a halt grown bear. Old mountaineers declare that the woods are full of them; in fact that wild animals of all kinds are on the increase at Cascadia.

Peak and Eludes all Pursuers.

A WILY OLD BEAR.

For the past six weeks a monstrous bear has been ranging about the head of Wolf Creek, which empties into Big Elk, and during that time has destroyed a large number of sheep and goats. Parties of hunters with dogs have chased him time after time but without success. The animal is thought to be an old one which understands perfectly how to elude the hunters. When overtaken by the dogs he refuses to seek refuge in a tree as bears usually do under such circumstonces, but instead, gives battle to the dogs as long as he is safe from the hunters, and On account of then moves on. dense under growth the hunters can not see the bear until they are very near him. At this season the dogs can not continue the chase long without going to water, and it is their habit for all to go together. The dogs will return to the chase again when their thirst has been satisfied, but the bear has taken advantage of their absence and secured a long lead of his pursuers. The last chase reported was made by Frank Taylor and others with Caleb and Frank Davis' dogs. When hunters go out for the purpose they never fail to "jump" the bear. When the party reached the animal's range, Old Jack, one of the dogs, soon found his trail and in a short time the faster dogs had overhauled the terror of Mary's

It is thought that for him, or they may be able in this manner to surround him when they learn his whereabouts by the baying of the dogs. This method was successfully carried out to kill a wily old bear which a few years ago ranged about the east and north sides of the peak. In that instance

"I TOLD YOU SO."

He Ranges the West Side of Mary's Pennsylvania Wasn't Enough Like Oregon to Suit Harry Wicks.

> Harry Wicks and family are back from Penn-ylvania whither they went from Corvallis six months ago to make the East their permanent home. Pennsylvania was not enough like Oregon to suit them, and they are very welcome back. We don't like to have people leave Oregon because they like some other state better, or because they think they can do better elsewhere, but we have learned to be assured they won't stay long when they do go. A great many of 'Harry's friends are saying tohim "What did I tell you when you left?" Under some circumstances it might be annoying to him, but just now he feels as if he could put up with almost anything here without complaint. Mr. Wicks states that he held a most satisfactory position with an uncle near Pittsburg, but the hot days and hot nights, disastrous storms, lightning strokes, ap proaching extreme cold, poor he lth and all, was more than he could stand although he fought bravely against his inclination to return to Oregon. Mr. Wicks has some very good positions offered him, both here and in Portland, but on account of having friends and proper ty in Benton he thinks he will remain here.

DUNCAN STEWART SUICIDES.

He was Acting as Timekeeper while Charley Chipman Visited Here.

Charley Chipman, timekeeper for William Seckler, who is working a large force on the Southern Pacific railroad near Ager, Northern California, was hastily summoned to his post of duty last Tuesday from this city, where he was enjoying a visit with his family and friends Mr. Chipman expected to be here for some days longer, but the suicide of the person who was acting for him rendered Mr. Chipman's immediate departure imperative.

The name of the suicide was Duncan Stewart, and his home was in Astoria. Bad news from home t is said, was the cause of this rash deed. He occupied Mr. Chipman's quarters where the latter kept a 5 35 Winchester rifle, and slept in Mr. Chipman's bed. Stewart lay on this bed, and having procured the rifle, he placed it in such a position that when he pressed the trigger with his toe the weapon was discharged. The charge blew out Duncan's brains, and the report of the gun attracted the attention of persons near by. Mr. Seckler wrote to Charley: "The new timekeeper killed himself on the evening of the first day with your rifle. The coroner took one of your quilts to roll him up in. It was of no use to you myway as his brains aud blood were spilled all over it" An inquest was held, "I am just up from a hard spell and the remains forwarded to rela-
