—Mrs. Lura Campbell spent Decoration day in Albany.

—Mrs. F. E. Baker returned to Summit yesterday, after a visit with Corvallis friends.

—Since the first of last week Jesse Wiley has sold six horses, four draft animals and two saddle horses.

—The Lions initiated a class of candidates Monday evening, and had a general good time in honor of the event. The order in Corvallis is growing with remarkable rapidity.

—The flags floated at half mast from the dome of the college and court house all day Monday in honor of memorial day. During the afternoon exercises, stores were closed from two to four for the same reason.

—Ray Frank, formerly in business here, passed through Corvallis Saturday with seventeen large draft horses which he was taking to Seattle. While here he purchased four head of heavy horses from Jesse Wiley.

—When the OAC students returned from the memorial exercises at Crystal Lake cemetery Monday afternoon, they were halted on Main street before the Small establishment, and lemonade was handed to each tired cadet by W. T. & C. E. Small. The treat was much appreciated by the boys.

—James Ambrose and Thomas H. West members of the Portland Rowing Club spent Saturday in this city. They left down the river at midnight in a canoe. At Albany they were joined by fellow members and together they proceeded to Portland in three canoes, being well equipped with blankets and a complete outfit for an enjoyable trip.

—The conductor's excursion from Portland to Eugene, Sunday, was patronized by quite a number of Corvallisites. A special train was run from Yaquina to Albany to connect with the main excursion and a number of passengers came from bayward points to participate in the big pleasure trip. The Yaquina train, enroute back, passed through Corvallis about 9:20 p. m. Sunday night.

—D. A. Osburn Sunday evening resumed his duties as night policeman, having almost entirely recovered from the pistol shot wound received April 24th. He still carries the bullet, however, and there remains an occasional slight irritation under the shoulder where the missile is supposed to be embedded, but Mr. Osburn is confident that he will suffer no permanent inconvenience.

—A. E. Johnson of Marion county, on Saturday last, completed the purchase of the Davison residence recently owned by C. H. Moore. The sale was effected by J. L. Lewis. The price paid was $2,500 and this figure covers the value also of all furniture, including a piano. The purchaser recently sold a farm in Marion county at a good figure and comes to take up his residence here June 20th. Mr. Moore is undecided as to his next move.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins, who left Corvallis last spring for Ft. Dodge, Kansas, are longing for the west. In a letter to friends in this city, Mrs. Wilkins states that at Ft. Dodge, last week, the ground was still frozen to a depth of several feet, and the past winter has been a very severe one there. She declares that their hearts are in Oregon, and that as soon as they can dispose of certain business matters there, they will return to Corvallis to reside. They expect to be in Oregon by autumn. Mr. Wilkins operated a tailoring shop in Corvallis for about a year.

The closing night of the Presbyterian carnival was one of the most successful and pleasant of the entire event. It was Friday evening that the rose fair took place, and besides the competition in that event, there was a well rendered violin solo by Master Max Miller. Mrs. Tedrow was awarded a fine pencil drawing as a prize for the handsomest collection of roses, and Mrs. Rose Selling took the $2 cash prize for the handsomest bouquet of roses all of the same variety. Others who entered very beautiful collections of roses were Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Alex Rennie, Mrs. Mary Avery and others. The judges were Prof. Coote, Mrs. Callahan and Robert Johnson, and the presentation of prizes was made by Rev. Carrick. During the three days, carnival, the ladies realized something over $200 for their labors, and are well pleased with the success of the entire affair.

—Henry Ridders and wife were Corvallis visitors Sunday.

—Frank Groves arrived Monday for a month's stay with his mother and other relatives.

—A week from next Sunday is baccalaureate day at the college. Everyone should remember the date.

—Cards received in this city announce the arrival of Miss Ellen Chamberlin at Fortress Monroe, Virginia.

—Twenty-five of Albany's young people composed a jolly tallyho party that dined at Hotel Corvallis, Monday evening.

—Dr. Payne of Portland was in our city yesterday looking after the political interest of E. O. Potter.

—Grover Headrick is suffering from a rather severe attack of rheumatism, and to make a pretense of being about is all he is able to do.

—Mrs. Lulu Weber is visiting friends in this city preparatory to going to Ashland to make her home with her daughter, Miss Aileen, who is teaching music in the Southern Oregon Normal.

—Next Saturday is the big picnic at Ridders grove, which always attracts most of Corvallis citizens. If the weather is favorable, it is safe to say that Corvallis will be practically deserted Saturday, and a good time is assured all who go to the big grove on the Luukiamute.

—The college band boys were entertained by Mrs. S. N. Wilkins Monday afternoon, after their return from the memorial exercises at Crystal Lake. They were served with lemonade and cake, and in return for the honor rendered several musical selections for their hostess.

—The Federated Trades council of Portland, in connection with the Lewis & Clark Fraternal Bldg. Association, are to give a Mardi Gras and festival, commencing on the morning of June 28th, and continuing until the evening of July 9th.

—There was a business meeting of the ladies, Coffee Club Monday night. The special feature of the evening was the election of officers for the coming year. They are: President, Mrs. F. L. Miller; vice president, Miss Lulu Spangler; secretary, Mrs. F. A. Helm; treasurer, Mrs. F. Berchtold; assistant secretary, Mrs. Sarah Moore; librarian, Miss Gladys Moore; library committee: Mrs. Callahan, Mrs. Knisely and Mrs. Selling.

—Miss Dorothea Nash, a former well known Corvallis girl, has been elected to the chair of music, in St. Helen's Hall, Portland. A half tone engraving of Miss Nash appeared in Sunday's issue of the Oregon Daily Journal, accompanied by the following sketch: "Miss Dorothea Nash, of Corvallis, Oregon, has been elected to the chair of music in St. Helen's Hall for the coming year. She received her early training from her father, Wallis Nash, in the Agricultural college at Corvallis. Graduating from the musical department there, she received the chair of music, which she held for two years. In 1900 she went to London, England, where she studied for two years under Hartwigson, a prominent Liszt pupil. In 1902 she studied in Berlin with Mayer Mahr. She gave much attention to theory and sight reading, and was considered remarkable by her instructors. During the past year she has occupied the chair of music and art in the Monmouth State Normal school."

Albany Democrat: The Democrat man last night had the pleasure of taking a drive to Corvallis by the east side and back by the west side, through a country for which nature has done wonders. Fall wheat is in splendid shape and spring wheat is getting a promising start. Corvallis' free ferry is well handled by J. E. Michael, a former Linn county man, and while it looks primitive to Albany people with their big steel bridge, it is a great convenience. Corvallis this week has been running over with life. The state grange has been in session. Adventists from all over Oregon are holding a camp meeting, the ladies of the Presbyterian church filled the Opera House for three nights. Last night, was the last one, and notwithstanding a big meeting at the court house, by Hermann and Fulton, it was packed full. The costumes in the march of the nations were gorgeous, the queen was a lovely junior at the college, the booths were pretty, confetti reigned fiercely, and things were as merry as a street carnival. No town can surpass Corvallis in fine looking young ladies, one of the most attractive in the carnival being Miss Spangler in charge of the lemonade fountain, a daughter of John Spangler, once an Albany man.

—A. Ray Moore, who was in charge of the Western Union office during the absence on vacation of Logan Hays, returned the last of the week.

—A drive of something like 100,000 feet of logs is arriving at the Corvallis sawmill, from the farm of Fred Butler, on the Muddy of Linn county. The drive consists of fir, ash and maple.

—Mrs. William Crees has purchased the lots offered for sale by Mrs. Lumley, of Portland. They are located just east of the S. L. Henderson property adjacent the college campus on the north.

—G. A. Seely, of the City Transfer Company came out Monday morning on the truck which had been recently rebuilt. It is painted red and green and is expected to be attractive to business.

—On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Spencer and a number of invited friends went on a picnic to the old Spencer homestead in Pleasant Valley. From there they were piloted up on a spur of Alsea mountain to where the rhododendron grows prolifically, and returned laden with the flowers.

—The lecture at the college chapel Saturday evening given by General Joubert and Captain O'Donnell, was not as largely attended as the event merited. By those who were present the lecture of General Joubert is said to have been very interesting, throwing light on many heretofore unknown events of the late Boer war. The affair was given under the auspices of the college Y. M. C. A.

—Henry Howell, an OAC graduate of '99, now up for re-election as assessor on the republican ticket in Lincoln county, has made a unique record during his present term in that office. In making the assessment, Mr. Howell has done all the field work on foot, traveling 2,500 miles during his two years' term. Mr. Howell should make a good "run" on his ticket this year, considering his practice, and his Benton friends believe that he will.

New and up-to-date machinery is to be installed in the Fischer flouring mills about June 15th. The mills will close about that time and the machinery will be placed in position by the new miller, J. A. Henry, recently from Eastern Oregon, originally from Canada. What is known as the "sifter system" is to be put in, and it is the newest machinery in that line of anything on this coast. The mills are now running day and night in order to be ready for closing on the date named.
