—Opening at Miss Johnson's Friday and Saturday, Sept. 30th and October 1st.

—Karl Steiwer has been elected president of the senior class, president of the Amicitia literary society and president of the Athletic Union.

—David Hirstel, of last year's graduating class at OAC has a fine position with the A. J. Gill company in Portland. He is doing draughting and machine design work, and has a large salary.

—Baker, the 15-year old son of Mrs. Ellen Mundy has an arm in a sling, the result of a fall from the sidewalk across the college ditch on the campus. The accident occurred Saturday, and the elbow joint was found to be dislocated.

—Many people in this city remember Mrs. E. A. Laws, a former Corvallisite. Letters just received from her by friends here convey the intelligence that Mrs. Laws has spent the summer in Scotland, at a famous country place, which she describes as most beautiful and stately.

—Harley Laughlin and Miss Mable Cronise were married in Portland Sunday evening. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a number of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Laughlin have gone to LaGrange, Ore. Both are popular in Corvallis.

—Three football games for the second team have already been arranged by Manager Pilkington. Besides the annual game with the state university, two games in which the OAC second team will go against the first team of Monmouth college have been scheduled. The first occurs at Corvallis October 29th, and the other at Monmouth November 12th.

—The orange will stream as it never streamed before, out on college hill Saturday. The old football champions will be back to give battle to the new ones, and things will be a-doing as they never done before. From kick-off to call of time on the last half there will be something to see, not only in the old warriors, but in Steckle's men.

—Juvenile football has set in strong. It does every autumn, and is always strenuous. It is also noisy. A vacant lot with two contesting kid teams on it for rattle and bedlam vies strongly with a Manchurian battlefield. Two such teams with gridiron warriors of the age of 12 and under played a game Saturday in the western part of town; that is, they played part of a game—the second half is to be played next Saturday.

—As a husband and wife walked out the other morning, they met two little children. "What makes your face so red," the husband asked of the younger child. "Scotch Emotion," replied the other. The wife grinned, and the husband's face took on a non-plussed look. He is Scotch. "What do you know about Scotch Emotion?" inquired the wife. "Oh, father buys it for us when we have a cold," replied the child. She meant Scott's Emulsion.

—The people of Corvallis a year or two ago, took up the entire issue of four per cent school bonds, from the sale of which the new school building was erected and furnished. A citizen suggests that, if the $20,000 indebtedness of the city be refunded as is proposed by the Citizens League, perhaps Corvallisites would readily and gladly take the city bonds. About half a million dollars of depositors money is lying in local banks and the bonds would, this citizen suggests, be a most profitable investment equally safe and profitable.

—Hindoostan, is the college, upper caste.

—The County Board of Equalization is in session at the court house this week, and is overwhelmed with business. Many taxpayers, warned by the notice of the amount of their assessment as published in the TIMES, are appearing before the board to secure reductions and adjustments. The complaints of all are heard, and wherever possible new figures are provided for. It has been found that Corvallis suburban property is assessed at a lower valuation than is the case with other suburban property, and the board is considering the advisability of making a raise. It is the property in Wells and McElroys addition and lots adjacent thereto, that is involved.

—The residence of T. H. Wellsher is being improved with a new roof and other repairs.

—Mr. Finley, teacher of the business course at Philomath College, arrived Saturday.

—Yesterday afternoon, at three o'clock, Rev. Deck officiating, the marriage of Miss Genevieve Kline to Frank Taylor, took place at the Evangelical church.

—Warren Clark, formerly of Corvallis, has been employed at Chicago all summer in the telegraph business. He is to return to San Francisco, via the Canadian Pacific route.

—Market quotations place the hop price at 27 cents, strong. The English crop is reported the shortest since 1882, which was the year of dollar and a quarter hops. All local growers are receiving requests for samples, and are being asked to hold until people to whom samples are sent can make bids.

—Philomath correspondent: Last Saturday five families arrived at Philomath from Polk county, Nebraska. They are old friends and neighbors of George Bennett. They had already rented houses here through Mr. Ambler and they expect buy homes and remain in the vicinity permanently.

—By those who heard it, the sermon of Bishop Morrison, delivered at the M. E. church, South Sunday afternoon, is said to have been one of the most masterly addresses given in Corvallis in a long time. In the evening the bishop gave a second address which is likewise spoken of in the highest terms.

—Roy Hollenberg, son of Louis Hollenberg of this city, arrived Sunday from St. Joseph, Missouri, where he has been holding a position as bookkeeper in a large commercial house. He is a graduate of the Chillicothe College, Missouri, and comes to accept a position as bookkeeper in the establishment of Hollenberg & Gady, in this city.

—Members of the Lady Macabee and Degree of Honor lodges made an unexpected farewell call on Mrs. Ruth Clark at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Clark, Saturday evening. The evening was pleasantly spent and before good-byes were said, Mrs. Clark was the owner of a handsome silver nut set and a beautiful salad dish, presented by the callers as a token of esteem.

—At the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Kemp at 12:30 Sunday afternoon occurred the marriage of Miss Emma Kemp to Albert Chesley of Philomath. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Deck, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, and following the impressive words, an elaborate dinner was served. The newly married pair will reside in Corvallis.

—The many friends of Miss Nettie Spencer will be glad to know that she is enjoying a European tour with a party of Chicago friends. Letters have been received recounting the delights of her voyage over the ocean, her stay in Merry England, doing the sights of London Town, her visit to the land of windmills and wooden shoes. She is now in Germany and expects to spend the winter in Berlin. She plans to be abroad a year.

—S. L. Kline, who is a member of the Ohio Society of California, has received an invitation to attend the banquet to be given October 3, at the San Francisco Hotel, San Francisco, on the commissioning of the battleship Ohio. Senator Fairbanks, the republican vice-presidential nominee, a native of Ohio, will be present. The official stand of colors a loving cup given by Miss Helen Deshier, of Columbus, Ohio, and a solid silver set given by the state of Ohio, will be presented on this occasion.

—The County Board of Equalization is in session at the court house this week, and is overwhelmed with business. Many taxpayers, warned by the notice of the amount of their assessment as published in the TIMES, are appearing before the board to secure reductions and adjustments. The complaints of all are heard, and wherever possible new figures are provided for. WITH OLD CHAMPIONS.

On O. A. C. Field—Players of Other Days Will do Battle Next Saturday.

An event that will attract local interest is the fact that on O. A. C. football field Saturday the old champion football team of 1897, will appear to contest for gridiron honors with the present college team. All but two or three players in the famous old team will be on the field and side-liners will be given an opportunity to see the play by which the Northwest championship was won for the college a few years ago. The team bears the distinction of being one of the only two teams that has ever won the Northwest college championship, the other being that of the University of Washington for the last two years. Because of this fact, and the personal popularity of the individual members of the famous old team, the occasion will be overflowing with interest, and the grand stand and side lines are expected to see a throng of people, drawn to the spot to see the reappearance of the strong men of that other year, when the orange colors streamed triumphant on every gridiron field. Among the old men will be Bodine, the famous guard and hammer thrower of those times, Grant Elgin, who played the other guard position faithfully and well, Gyp Thurston and Fred Walters, the redoubtable tackles, McBride and Art Stimpson, the crack ends, Don Holgate and Hubert Soggin, swift and gritty half backs, and John Gault, the great bucking full back of that famous year. Only two of the old players are expected to be missing from the line—Pap Hayseed, the all-star Northwest center, and Fred Kruse, the heady quarterback of the champion eleven. Unless, meantime, a flash of wild enthusiasm possesses and irresistibly draws him into the line-up, Hayseed will not be present, and Kruse is at Coos Bay, so far away that his coming is impossible. It is not known here who will play the center position, but Fred Edwards and Bruce Burnett will handle the ball as quarterback, effectively and correctly.

To see these old boys, and the new ones face each other on the line of scrimmage is a sight that will appeal, not only to football lovers, but to old citizens generally and it is expected that one of the biggest crowds of the season will be on the side lines to see the unusual kickoff. The old men drew like wild fire in the old days. Nearly two thousand people saw them drive the University of Washington men three times across the field and over the goal line for touchdowns, without ever having their own goal in danger, and by the act saw the Northwest championship settle for the first and only time on O. A. C. That they will draw again next Saturday as they did in the old days, after an absence of seven years, is altogether likely.

A great reception in honor of the return of the old boys and in recognition of the new, is being planned at the college for Saturday evening. The movement was only started yesterday but the lines laid out for the foundation suggest that the occasion will surpass any function ever seen at the college.

The alumni men are expected to arrive in town Friday. They are to meet in the Armory for signal practice at nine o'clock Saturday morning. Besides the 1897 team, a number of men of renown of other years are to be in the lineup as principals or substitutes. Among these are, center, Hamilton and Phillips; tackles, Gault and Huddleston; ends, Osburn and Buxton; quarter, Burnett; halves, McBride and Burnett; fullback, Harley Hall and Rod Nash. The captain of the team is to be chosen by vote at signal practice Saturday morning. It is probable that every man in the list will take part in the play during the game.
