DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR ASSURES
LEADER HIS STATE IS NOT DOUBTFUL.

Judge Parker Entertains a Hundred Prominent Democrats from Four States—General Miles and McCarren See Democratic Victory Cropping Out.

New York, Oct. 24.—New York World: Judge Parker had one of the busiest days of the campaign Wednesday. He held a half dozen important but informal conferences with his lieutenants and received nearly a hundred prominent democrats from three or four states. His headquarters at the Hotel Seville were crowded all day long and the candidate held several conferences with democratic leaders last night. Among those who called on him during the day were Alexander H. Robertson and Henry A. Bishop, candidates respectively for governor and lieutenant-governor of Connecticut. Mr. Robertson was the bearer of the most encouraging kind of reports from his state. He told Judge Parker that the democrats held the state safe, according to the most conservative estimates.

"I have every assurance," said Mr. Robertson, "that Connecticut will be found in the democratic ranks. The last few days have made a perceptible difference in the situation and to my mind there is no longer any doubt that both the national and state tickets will be victorious."

General Nelson A. Miles was one of the earliest callers on the candidate. He told Judge Parker that he was gaining strength every day of the campaign and that when election day arrived he would certainly be swept into the White House on a tidal wave of popular votes. General Miles has recently been in the West.

"So far as my impressions direct me," said the general, "there is not the least room for doubt as to the outcome of this election. Every sign indicates that Judge Parker will be elected. The republicans are certain to get a surprise when the votes of the Western states is counted. Out there it is plainly evident that there has been a revulsion of feeling. Some of the states that are now counted as close but safely republican are likely to be found in the democratic column when the time comes."

"Everywhere that I have been one thing has been apparent, and that is that the republicans are not satisfied with the situation, though of course there is no end of republican talk about a clean sweep."

Another caller at the Seville was Congressman Bowers, of Mississippi. There were delegations from several other states, and all brought the same report—that the democrats was gaining in strength daily.

Senator McCarren hurried over from democratic state headquarters at the Hoffman house late in the afternoon for a conference with the candidate on the situation in Brooklyn. He was closeted with Judge Parker for nearly an hour, the chief topic of discussion being the heavy registration in all of the city districts.

"The greater the registration," said Senator McCarren afterward, "the more certain is democratic success. This unusually heavy registration means that the independent and mugwump voters are all coming out this year, and they never come out except when gunning for some candidate. They never come out to vote for somebody, but to put in a ballot against him for some reason. In the face of the registration figures democratic victory is assured."

Springfield, Mass., Oct. 22.—Springfield society women held a mock election today and almost unanimously indorsed Roosevelt. The affair was under the auspices of the College Club and was held in the quarters of the Women's Club. About 100 women were present. The election was conducted on the Australian system and followed closely the procedure at state elections. Wooden booths were constructed of coarse lumber and the floors were sprinkled with saw-duet. A check list was presided over by three young women, who handed to each voter a ballot on which was printed the names of the republican, democratic and prohibition presidential candidates. The socialist nominee was ignored.

After a concert by members of the College Club, who, with combs for instruments, rendered "Yankee Doodle" and other patriotic airs, stump speeches were made. President Roosevelt was eulogized by Miss Florence Whiting, who was introduced as "Lieutenant Jack Dasherway," a rough rider.

Miss Laura Rice, an ex Governor Cocksure of New Hampshire, "furnished against the democracy."

Judge Parker was eulogized by Miss Pauline Day, who impersonated "Michael O'Hooligan of Tammany Hall," and "General Clayton Raymond," a Southern gentleman, in the person of Miss Anna Holden. Miss Holden discussed the race issue, and said the White House had become a Black House. She said she carried her platform of principles with her, and exhibited a device which could be twisted into various forms. Her platform was inspected by a third of those present, some admitting that they had previously been in the dark as to what constituted a platform.

The tea which followed the speeches so engrossed the afternoon of the political novitiater that fully half of them forgot to vote.

The result was announced as follows: Roosevelt, 39; Parker, 3; Swallow, 2.

PERSONAL MENTIONS

(ALBANY HERALD, OCT. 1903.)

Charles Galloway, of Brownsville, was in Albany, to take leave of Dr. Darrin. He reports that he is about cured of a most distressing heart, stomach and liver trouble.

J. L. Oxford, of Brownsville, was in town Saturday on his way to Montana. It will be remembered that he was cured of almost total deafness by Dr. Darrin last June. He can now hear as well as ever in his life.

P. A. Racey, Jefferson, drove to town on Saturday and reports that he is absolutely and permanently cured of deafness—one ear, 13 years ago, while Dr. Darrin was in Portland, the other since the doctors sojourn in Albany.

R. M. Crawford, of Calapooia street, Albany, rejoices over his relief from severe pains in his back and kidneys, and feels five years younger after two weeks' treatment by Dr. Darrin.

W. W. Parrieh of Sodaville, visited the city last week and reports the cure of his deafness as permanent.

Dr. Darrin remains at the Hotel Corvallis until Oct. 30, and then goes to Dallas to remain until Dec. 5, at Hotel Gail.

St. Petersburg, Oct., 25.—There is no news of immediate importance from the Far East tonight.

The indications are that both sides are heavily entrenched, although it is believed General Kuropatkin will be ready for a forward movement at an early moment unless heavy Japanese reinforcements compel him to resume the defensive. Reports that Japanese reinforcements are arriving, taken in connection with the enforced inactivity of the Russian forces on account of the weather, is felt to be a grave factor in the situation. There is reason to believe that the Japanese are drawing heavily on the Port Arthur army as well as on Japan, in hopes of securing a numerical superiority that will enable Field Marshal Oyama to inflict a crushing blow upon General Kuropatkin when hostilities are resumed.

General Sakharoff, telegraphing yesterday, reported that there was no change in the situation. The war office does not confirm the report that the Russians have occupied Bentsiaputze.

The official returns of the Russian losses received up to date do not exceed 30,000. General Sakharoff telegraphs that there was no fighting during the night of October 23-24.

Mukden, Oct. 24.—The Russian forces on the left again crossed the Shaker river on October 21, and are now pushing forward towards the Japanese positions as they advance. The same Russian batteries are continually bombarding the Japanese, who can be plainly seen busily engaged in the making of trenches.

This plan of the Russians, to intrench as they advance, was adopted because it was found in the recent big battle that it was found impossible to advance without some protection in the face of the Japanese shrapnel fire.

The Russian batteries are now better screened than they were in former engagements, but the troops on both sides apparently make no great efforts to conceal themselves.

The Russian and Japanese armies are now separated by less than four miles and the whole field of operations of both armies can plainly be seen.

The question of fuel is becoming a serious one. The greater part of the Chinese corn has already been used for fuel and fodder, while most of the houses in the Chinese villages have been destroyed and their wood used for fuel.

Without fuel and without shelter beyond that provided by tents, it seems impossible for the armies to remain in the field during the increasing cold weather.

The respective armies retain somewhat peculiar positions. Their advanced forces are lying in the trenches 700 yards apart, and their inaction cannot be explained. For five days the Japanese have not attempted to make the advance for which the Russians seem to be waiting. The outposts and patrols on both sides are in close touch and there is occasional firing by the light artillery batteries. The Japanese are sending down the guns and rifles captured from the Russians and are receiving supplies of ammunition and reinforcements.

A Japanese forward movement is daily expected, and it is believed that there is heavy fighting ahead.

Atchison Globe: Some one who doesn't like the Globe's style in writing up a wedding, sends in a notice, ending in the following language: "The young couple will remain in Atchison several days, when it will leave for St. Louis to spend some days with relatives, whereupon it will journey to its new home in Illinois." The "it" staggers us. Is "it" correct?

General Oku's Headquarters, Oct. 21, via Fusan, Oct. 25.—Both armies are resting on their arms. contiguous skirmishes are occurring between outposts and patrols, and the artillery is firing daily. A great battle is expected south of the Hun river, where heavy field works have been erected. Great numbers of Japanese reinforcements are arriving.
