

LOCAL LORE.

(Advertisements in this column charged for at the rate of 15 cents per line.)

—Floyd Githens entertained a number of little friends at his home on Fourth street, Friday afternoon in honor of his birthday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ingle of Woodburn, visited over Sunday with Mr. Ingle's parents in this city.

—Frank Strong has purchased three lots out of the Gerber property, and is shortly to begin the erection of a $1,200 house thereon. Charles Heckart has the contract.

—Mrs. Quinlan arrived Saturday evening from California. Lieutenant Quinlan met her at Albany. For the present they have apartments at Hotel Corvallis.

—The midnight and one o'clock whistles no more disturb the slumbers of Corvallisites. The Strong sawmill, which has been running night and day for several weeks past, has cut off the night shift and is only run now in daytime.

—Commencing Nov. 7 the rate between Corvallis and Portland via the C. & E. Albany and S. P. will be reduced to $2.60 same as westside rate. Tickets on sale by C. & E. agent at Corvallis and S. P. officials at Portland.

—James Hayes of Junction City was in Corvallis Monday buying hop roots for Horst Brothers of San Francisco. The latter are among the most extensive hop growers in this part of the world, having yards in various parts of the country, and dealing very largely in that industry.

—A large consignment of wall paper left a local furniture establishment Monday. It is to be used in papering the new church that now stands on the site formerly occupied by Simpson's chapel. Dedication of the new building is to be made sometime towards the last of the present month, probably Thanksgiving day.

—Before beginning his regular sermon Sunday evening, Rev. Feese of the Methodist church gave a brief talk on the subject of local option, citing Fargo, North Dakota, as to show what local option will do for a town, and telling of the many changes for the better that resulted from that place going "dry." Another feature of interest along the same line of thought was a song by a quartet composed of Misses Dora Lindgren and Libbie Rice, and Messrs Cummings and White. The song was, "Where is my Wandering Boy Tonight?" and the answer came in the chorus "Down in the Licensed Saloon."

—Over at the court house they tried keeping the Benton county officials in cold storage last week, but the plan had to be abandoned because of the irreparable damage thereby done the tempers of the victims. The furnace had for some time been out of repair, and the plan was tried of heating some of the rooms with a 2x4 oil stove. The result was not a screaming success. Monday, however, things assumed their normal aspect, when it was noised through the building that the furnace had been reduced to order, and that all things were working smoothly once more.

—Special effort is to be made to have the Benton county wool and mohair exhibit at the 1905 fair of surpassing excellence. It is a possible proposition because of the fact that Benton breeders have paid much attention to improvement of their strains and the county has some of the best flocks of sheep and goats to be found in the country. For convenience in gathering samples, Mr. French has arranged for fleeces or specimens of wool and mohair to be left by growers at S. L. Kline's store, where proper attention will be given them. As shearing is in progress next spring, if every stockman will keep the matter in mind, and save such samples as are of surpassing merit, an exhibit can be gathered that will bring renown to the county and to the men who supply the samples.

—The wood work has been completed and painters are putting on the finishing touch to the interior of the Henderson building. This week is expected to be the last. The removal of rubbish and the cleansing of windows is to follow, and about the 20th, Nolan & Callahan will begin the task of removing their stock of merchandise into the place. The interior of the room is a sheer 100 by 38, giving a floor space of 3,800 square feet. Extending completely around the room, except the front, there is a gallery, reached by a stairway in the rear. In the middle of the room under two skylights, there is an office, the whole forming a store room of magnificent proportions for a country town.

—A letter from the assistant manager relates that 150 excursionists are to accompany the U of O team to Corvallis for the game with OAC a week from next Saturday.

—A game of basket ball, the first of the season, was played in the armory Saturday evening and attracted a large crowd of spectators. The players were the first and second girls team and the first and second boys teams. The girls score was 8 to 3 in favor of the first team and the boys 35 to 8 in favor of the first team.

—Real estate transfers filed the past few days are: A. M. Bailey to Robert Kyle et al, 2 1-2 acres Simpson's chapel site, $1; E. A. Coon and wife to Independence National Bank, 160 acres west of Dusty, $1; Martha Sevier and husband to W. E. Moody, 32 acres west of Kings Valley, $48.

—At 10:30 this afternoon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Wyatt, two miles west of Corvallis, occurs the marriage of their daughter, Miss Minnie Wyatt, to William Junkins. The groom is a graduate of OAC, being a member of the class of 1901. Mr. and Mrs. Junkins will leave on the afternoon train for their future home in Portland.

—"Twenty Eventful Years" is the name of a new book of which Mrs. L. H. Faxon Additon, formerly of Corvallis, but now of Portland is the author. The publication is a review of the WCTU for the past 20 years in Oregon. It contains 120 pages, and is profusely illustrated with photos of officers and leaders in the movement. Among the latter is a picture of Mrs. L. A. Nash, and a cut of the WCTU reading room at Corvallis. Poems and descriptions of the principal events in the life of the organization in Oregon are features of the book, which is a well prepared compendium of the WCTU of the state.

—Samples of apples for the 1905 Fair are wanted by the committee. Green apples for the exhibit in the natural state are to be put in jars and preserved by chemical process. Suitable jars have been ordered and are shortly expected. It is the plan to have the apples on exhibition at the time of the excursion to Corvallis of the National Grange, and, if possible, to have a committee of the delegates act as judges for selecting the best. An award of fifty cents per plate will be made for the best plate in each variety. Dried apples are also desired in small boxes containing two layers. Samples may be left at Ambler & Watters real estate office where they will be prepared for the display.

—A football incident of the past few days has been articles in the Portland papers charging OAC with "exclusiveness" and "swell-headedness". OAC happened, by the withdrawal of Whitman to have an open date and because she did not fill it at the request of Willamette the charge referred to were made. All this was done in spite of the fact that the U of O team also had an open date and that in the case of the state university this open date was not considered a sign of swellhead, though pronouncedly so in the case of OAC. Things like this often pester people, but the world always finds out the truth sooner or later, and then the under dog has his day. Let the OAC boys saw wood and bide their time. It will come.

—Three photographs have been on display in Kline's show window the past few days, that attracted much attention. Two of them are pictures of the committee that notified President Roosevelt of his renomination, and were taken at the Roosevelt home, the porch about the steps of which the members stand, being draped with the stars and stripes. The other is a picture of the same group, taken at the Astor Hotel. Local interest attaches to the photographs from the fact that one of the central figures in the distinguished group is S. L. Kline, of Corvallis. Among other members of the group may be recognized Cornelius Bliss, Cal., William Loeb, Gov. Odell, Ex-Gov. Black, Speaker Cannon, Gov. Pardee, etc. There are also a number of badges on exhibition which were secured by Mr. Kline as souvenirs of the convention, all very attractive, and especially that of California, the metal portion of which is pure gold.

COUNTRY REPUBLICAN.

The United States went republican in yesterday's election, and Benton county went dry.
