BATTLES IN CHICAGO.

DEATH AND MANY BROKEN
HEADS AND BONES OUT.
COME OF THE STRIKE.

Mobs Pursue Teamsters—Battle
Near the Auditorium—Desperate
Negroes Turn on Assaultants and Shoot and Club Them.

Chicago, May 2.—The death of one man and the injury of scores of others were the immediate result of today's fighting between the striking teamsters and their sympathizers on the one side and the police and nonunion men on the other. There were riots in all parts of the city. Men were clubbed and stoned almost to death within a square of police headquarters and five miles away men were shot down in the streets. At a hundred places between these two extremes there were assaults and fights in the streets. Blood was shed on State street, in the heart of the fashionable shopping district, and furious riots took place almost in the doorways of the leading hotels. Nonunion men were waded with stones, bricks and every other conceivable sort of missile. They were dragged from their wagons, beat, clubbed and stamped upon. The mobs that followed the wagons on which they rode were ugly in the extreme and, but for the splendid service rendered by the police, the list of dead would be twenty instead of one.

In return, the nonunion men, although hopelessly outnumbered in every struggle fought desperately. In several instances they drew their revolvers and emptied them into the crowds that pressed around their wagons, pelting them with stones and threatening their lives. The negro drivers especially were quick with their weapons. Large numbers of the nonunion drivers carried heavy clubs and they swung them with terrific effect throughout the day.

As far as can be ascertained tonight the list of injured numbers 40, but it is far short of being accurate. Many men who were in the mobs that attacked the wagons went down before the clubs of the police and of the wagon guards, but they were carried away by their friends.

Rioting near the Auditorium broke out afresh this afternoon at Peck place and State street, when coal wagons for the Edwin F. Daniels company, driven by two negroes and guarded by 40 others, were attacked by a crowd of 3000 persons. The wagons were without police protection. All along State street the negroes experienced trouble, but they were able to protect themselves with their hickory clubs. Whenever the crowd attempted to rush at the wagons, the negroes would use their clubs, mauling the strike sympathizers unmercifully. The mob finally made a determined assault on the negroes and overpowered and beat them savagely. One negro broke his stick across a small boy's shoulders. The negro was immediately jumped on and given a terrific thumping. He managed to draw a revolver and fire five shots while his assailants fled. Persons driving in carriages and automobiles had a narrow escape from the bullets. In response to a riot call, the police arrived at the scene and rescued the negroes. Hugo Weber, a passerby, was assaulted by seven negroes with canes and his head was split open.

A boy was taken away by the police who was shot by a bullet from the negro's revolver. When one of the negro guards was told to move along by one of the detectives the negro stabbed him in the right hand. The crowd rushed for the negro and before 20 policemen on the spot could rescue him he had been beaten into insensibility.

The cordons of union pickets stationed on the curbing in State street and Wabash avenue have been supplemented greatly in numbers, with the result that, in spite of the vigilance of the police, carriages and hacks are stopped and drivers and their fares warned against attempting to carry purchases home from the boycotted stores.

Store employes burdened with bundles are stopped and their parcels taken from them and torn open and searched by the pickets and union sympathizers, to see if they are attempting to deliver goods to customers or only carrying their own property to their homes.

In one instance a hired carriage was stopped in Wabash avenue and the occupant, a woman shopper, compelled to get out and walk. Another woman with both arms full of bundles, was caught by the skirts and stopped as she was about to step into a cab in State street. The cab driver was warned not to take her as a fare.

Undaunted, the shopper walked to another corner, where she hailed another cab. Again she was stopped by the union sympathizers. Finally she boarded a street car.

Only a few hacks or cabs ventured to drive up to the entrance of any of the State-street stores. In most cases the drivers request their passengers to alight on the opposite side of the street and walk over to their destination.

With few exceptions, the liveries generally refused to carry passengers to a boycotted store.

The sidewalks and the surface and elevated cars are thronged with men, women and children carrying bundles of all sizes and descriptions.

One of the liveliest disturbances of the day occurred near the Auditorium Hotel. Three wagons were being driven south in Wabash avenue. A large crowd gathered about the negro drivers and guards. Sticks, broken bottles and other missiles were thrown, many of the missiles striking the negroes. F. E. Carter, one of the negro guards, whipped out a revolver and shot at Henry Shultz, who, it is alleged, was approaching Carter. The bullet struck Shultz in the left side. He ran half a block before he fell, weakened by the loss of blood. The crowd was thoroughly enraged by the action of the negroes and, although two more shots were fired, the nonunionists were quickly closed in upon and beaten fearfully. A riot call was sent in to the nearest police station. Seventy policemen under Inspector Patrick J. Lavin hurried to the scene and dispersed the crowd. Carter was arrested. Shultz will recover.

Thirty nonunion teamsters were attacked by a crowd of strike sympathizers at Jackson Boulevard and Halstead street. All kinds of missiles were used. The nonunion teamsters, armed with stout hickory clubs, attempted to fight the mob, but were being overpowered when the police arrived. The police clubbing right and left, rushed the crowd off the street. Five persons were arrested. Only 10 of the nonunion teamsters can be found, the others having fled.

In the heart of the fashionable district, two trucks driven by nonunion negro teamsters and guarded by 40 negroes armed with canes, had a stormy time today. A crowd of 1000 persons surrounded the wagons and threw missiles at the negroes, who, meantime, used their clubs freely. A number of women who had been shopping became mixed in the crowds. The negroes drove the mob back and the women fled into the big retail establishments in the vicinity.

While delivering coal today at Adams and Dearborn streets, a nonunion negro teamster was struck by a pail filled with cement, mortar and bricks. His leg was broken. The bucket was thrown from the top of the Fair building, 12 stories high.

In Alsea.

Two more citizens of Alsea have been heard from. R. E. Lee Steeprow boasts another girl, while G. E. Tharp, when asked about the new arrival, says "bygones it another boy."

J. E. Banton commenced road work in earnest, Monday. Road district No. 13, of which he is supervisor, voted a special tax of five mills for this year. So we expect much permanent work to be accomplished.

W. H. Malone, of Portland, arrived in Alsea Monday evening to look after his business interests here.

M. L. Seits found it necessary to employ a clerk in his store in order to handle his rapidly increasing trade. W. L. Brown is the new man behind the counter.

Jasper Hayden and J. M. Buster two of Alsea's leading citizens, are preparing to erect new dwellings this summer. JOHN HENRY.

JURY DISAGREES

THIRD TRIAL OF NAN PATTERSON, THE ACTRESS, PROVED A FAILURE.

District Attorney May Abandon Prosecution—Jury Was Formerly Discharged
at 2:20 o'clock this Morning.

Dallas, Texas, April 29.—Reports have reached here of the cyclone that has swept the town of Laredo, Tex., this morning. A string of box cars was blown off the International & Great Northern tracks.

A long distance telephone message from Cotulla says the bodies of ten dead Mexicans have been recovered. It is reported that fourteen persons have been killed outside Laredo.

Fifty railroad coaches belonging to the International & Great Northern and Mexican Central railroad were blown away.

Superintendent Gates, of the South-western Telegraph company, with headquarters in Dallas, received a dispatch from San Antonio that the repair crew at Cotulla had learned from a conductor of a train northbound that the bridge across the Rio Grande had been wrecked by the storm. The conductor stated that his train had just escaped the storm. There are two bridges at Laredo across the river and it is not known which one was destroyed. They are built of steel and are costly structures.

Linemen making repairs to the long-distance telephone have reported within 50 miles north of Laredo. They report tonight a terrible state of devastation.

New York, May 3.—Nan Patterson's case went to the jury at 1:02. When Warden Flynn, of the Tombs went to Miss Patterson's cell to tell her that the jury had gone to luncheon, he told her that the first ballot taken by them had been nine to three in her favor.

Nan Patterson left her cell in the Tombs for the court of general sessions today to witness the last scenes of her trial on a charge of killing Caesar Young. As Assistant District Attorney Rand had finished his argument yesterday and the defense had already spoken its final word, Recorder Goff began his charge to the jury, as follows:

"This case has nothing extraordinary in it. So far as the testimony goes, two persons most spoken of during the entire proceedings, the deceased, a man by the name Young, a racetrack man, had this defendant to live with him as his mistress. The man's death, because of the personality of this man Young, had nothing in it to excite your passions or your prejudices. He was a mere gambler, a racetrack man. Therefore you should be able to consider the facts calmly without prejudice and passion."

"There is no artificial atmosphere for you to be excited or distracted by. You must decide the circumstances without any thought of the atmosphere, calmly and with a quiet mind."

"Of course, gentlemen, you must not think that, because of the humble position of this woman, you should not give her the same consideration as if she occupied a more exalted position in society. Whatever her position, she is entitled to the same legal rights as the most prominent and most conspicuous. If there be a reasonable doubt in this case on the evidence, this doubt must be thrown into the balance for the defendant. A danger lies in the remarks of counsel which might take your mind off the direct issue. You must avoid this danger."

"I understand that there is no claim on the part of the defense that if the defendant committed this homicide it was either justifiable or excusable. I also understand that the defense claims that the crime was murder in the first degree or nothing. But you are not bound to accept the arguments of counsel as to the nature of this crime. You are the judges of the fact, if there was murder, and in what degree. The crucial question is, 'Did the man kill himself or did this defendant fire the fatal shot?'
