ceedings. Action for the expansion of the mining course involves the purchase of additional equipment and the employment of additional teaching force. Chester Preobstel of the graduating class, 1904, and who spent last year at the University of California, in further prose' cution of his studies in mining and engineer topics, was elected instruct or. Provision was made for Prof. Fulton, head of the department, to relatives. Mr. Johnson is assistant policy of the board is to put the department into active, thorough, may de sought by those who have selected mining as a profession. The appropriation for additional equipment is $500.

The plan for the development of the department of mechanical engineering has not been yet been worked out. Among the things contemplated are additional equip-ment. The present laboratories were put in when there was an attendance of only 300. With the number of students more than doubled, the classes exceed the capacity of the equipment, and result -An Ashland man has been in in bad economy. His at-years of instruction to those who tention to Corvallis as a business desire it. The latter step is conlocation was directed by the state- templated in order to give those who now go to Cornell, Berkeley and other distant institutions an opportunity to get the same instruction at home. The board is largely driven into the new policy by the growth of the attendance, A committee of the College V. M. C. A. conferred with the board with reference to erection of a proposed student building. About $11,000 is available for the purpose, and it is desired to begin building as soon as possible. The question of whether or not the building should be on the campus was discussed. The committee desired, in return for the accommodations afforded the college by the building to be supplied with water, light heat and sewer concessions. The question of whether or not legal entanglements would prevent consummation of the proposed contract was considered. A vote was taken and the sense of the board was unanimous for granting the above named concessions and a site on the campus if no legal objections are presented. It is proposed that the building shall be managed by a board of five of whom one shall be from the board of regents, one from the faculty, one from the student body, and two from the College Y. M. C. A. The final decision in the matter was left to the executive committee, after the proper legal opinion has been obtained. The purchase of what is known as the Foster property on College Hill is a step that has long been contemplated by the board. Formerly the property was held at $7,000. It comprises six acres and the residence occupied Dr. Withy-combe and family. The college owns property on all sidesof it exthe Wilson property. The acquirement of it gives a commanding site for the erection of an imposing East or West side, but good only building at some time in the future on afternoon train from Albany to and it is for this purpose that it is bought. The offer was $6,000 for the place, including the residence, fare between Corvallis and Albany.

or $5,000 for the land without the house.

Road building is to be added to the course of study at the college. The subject was formerly taught at the college, but on some account was dropped. Return to the practice was recommended in his annual report by President Gatch, and the recommendation was adopted. The instruction will be given in the department of mathematics and civil engineering and will involve practical as well as theoretical work. During their late visit to Corvallis, the National Good Roads experts urged upon the college authorities the advisability of taking up the work.

The selection of Harry Beard as an instructor in the physical department and as director of the cadet band was on the recommendation of President Gatch, and solves the problem of a bandmaster for all time in the tuture. Mr. Beard was leader of the cadet band when he graduated from the college in 1899. After that he went to the Philippipes with the Oregon regiment. Since his return he has been an instructor at the Reform School, and leader of the Reform School band. Under his instruction the band attained a high degree of efficiency, playing, as all acknowledged, with superior finish over the OAC cadet band, at the State field meet at Salem, although some of Beard's players were only youngsters of little more than a dozen years.

It is probable that a man from the Iowa Agricultural College at Ames, will be selected as horticulturist at the station. The employment of such a horticulturist was authorized, and the Iowa man is recommended by station · authorities at Washington. For some time but little work has been done in horticulture at the station. President Gatch, President Weatherford and John D. Olwell were appointed a committee to make the selection and fix the salary.

The resignation was presented of Miss Margaret Snell, with the provision that it take effect July 1, 1906. It was read before the board and placed on file without action. The degree of doctor of laws was conferred on Judge Cotton, recently named as United States district judge for Oregon. He holds the degree of bachelor of laws from the University of Michigan. Judge Cotton is in the East.

The salary of Prof. Fulton was made $1.400 and that of N. Tartar $780.

At the meeting, officers of the board who hold their terms for two years, were elected with the following results: President, J. K. Weatherford; secretary, John D. Daly; treasurer, B. F. Irvine.
