CUT UP BODY

OF UNFORTUNATE GIRL, PUT IT IN VALISE AND THREW IT IN BAY.

Waters Gave up the Dead, and Girl who saw the Physician's Work Confessed—Terrible Tale from New England—Other News.

New York, Oct. 7.—The whole state is appalled at the harrowing story unfolded at Lowell last night by Kate Mayo who told to the police of Boston, between gasps of suffering and lapses of terrified silence, how she stood by and saw the girl victim of the mysterious dress suit case murder cut to pieces packed and delivered to her slayer's aids, who she declared threw the suit case into the harbor at Winthrop.

She said that the body was that of Miss Mary Ella Kelly, a former belle of Lewiston, Maine; and that an operation that caused Miss Kelly's death was performed by an East Boston physician whom she named, and that the crime was committed at a roadhouse near Plaistow, New Hampshire.

Kate Mayo says that she nursed the girl and after her death saw the doctor cut up the body and later put the torso into the suit case which he gave to two young men, one of whom was Miss Kelly's sweetheart, with instructions to throw it into the harbor.

"I was sworn to secrecy," cried the girl, who has been paid $15 a week for her silence, "but the horrible story is gnawing at my heart. I cannot keep quiet any longer."

"The doctor is now at Saratoga. He went there immediately after the deed. The girl died from the effects of the operation."

It was on Sept. 21 that the suit case containing the torso of the girl's body was washed ashore in Winthrop bay. An autopsy the following day showed that the girl had died from the effects of an operation. The next learned by the police was that a prominent physician of Boston had been missing for a week, and on Sept. 24 four days after the finding of the torso, the suit case was identified by Josiah Cummings & Co. as one of their manufactures.

On Sept. 27 two Boston pawnbrokers gave detectives minute descriptions of a man who purchased two suit cases from them on Sept. 19, one of the cases being that in which the body was found.

A second suit case was found on Sept. 27 on the shore of the bay. The bottom had been knocked out by contact with rocks, and it was empty, but corresponded to the one for which search was being made.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 7.—Local officials of the Great Northern railroad company, this morning received instructions from S. Paul to increase the reward of $5,000 for the men who held up the Great Northern train near Ballard Monday night, to $5000 for each one.

This is done, it is said, not because of the amount of money lost, which notwithstanding published accounts of its running into thousands, is declared officially to have been only $704, but because the officials have determined to capture the men no matter what the cost may be. They feel that while such cool heads are at large no train is safe.

The Pinkertons have satisfied themselves that Bill Miner and Jack Terry were not the men, as it has been established that they were in the northern part of the state on Monday night. Whether or not Miner had anything to do with the planning of the holdup, however, has not been determined.

As there are supposed to be seven robbers in the gang, their capture means a reward of $35,000. The announcement has given fresh stimulus to the case.

Manila, Oct. 7.—As reports from stricken districts are received here, it becomes daily more evident that the recent typhoon wrought wholesale destruction. More than 225 persons were killed, 25 of whom

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent. of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by Graham & Wortham.

re Americans and the remainder natives. The ravages of the storm in connection with the severe drought of the early season it is said will decrease the receipts of the islands 40 per cent.

Astoria, Or., Oct. 7.—The government lighthouse tender Manzanita sank in 30 feet of water, in the Columbia river at the lower end of Puget Sound, between Westport and Waterfor at 7 o'clock last night. The accident occurred while she was coming down the river to help take Columbia river lightship No. 50 off the beach at Fort Canby.

Captain Byrne was going to give orders to anchor for the night when he saw some vessel ahead and signaled it to pass to port. He received no answer, but proceeded to pass as he had indicated. The vessel proved to be the Port of Portland tug John McCracken towing the dredge Columbia. The Manzanita was too close to get out of the way of the projecting suction pipe and it struck her in the middle of the starboard side, poking a big hole in her side.

The Manzanita filled with water and went down in about five minutes. The crew was all saved. She disappeared all except the top of her stack and mast. The officers think she can be raised without much difficulty.

Others say she cannot be raised without too great expense and it will be necessary to destroy her.

Paris, Oct. 7.—At the closing of the International Tuberculosis Convention today, Professor von Behring made a statement relative to his new curative principle for tuberculosis. Professor Behring's statement attracted much attention. Distinguished medical men from many countries occupied the platform and filled the salon of the Grand Palace. The professor said:

"In the course of the last two years I recognized with certainty the existence of a curative principle completely different from the anti-toxin principle. This new curative principle plays an initial role in the operation of the immunity derived from my bovine vaccine, which has proved effective against animal tuberculosis during the past four years. This curative principle reposes upon the impregnation of the living cells of the organism with a substance originating from tubercule virus, which substance I designate 'T. C.'"

Professor von Behring then gave a lengthy technical description of how "T. C." was introduced into the cellular organism and said it had already given marked results in the treatment of animals. He expressed the confident belief that his researches would permit similar curative results in humans. He added that he was unable to say how soon positive results would be obtainable, but he felt as certain that these results would be attained as when he first announced his discovery of a new method of treating diphtheria.

It was decided to hold the next convention in Washington 1908.

The American delegates were interested listeners to the statements. Later they were asked whether the present state of medical science held out the hope of a permanent cure for tuberculosis. Dr. Lawrence Flick of Philadelphia, said:

"The present state of medical science holds out a good prospect of a permanent cure for tuberculosis when the disease is taken in its early stages. This however, is not through a specific remedy, but by proper alienation and open-air life, with exercises duly restricted. If the present knowledge concerning the means of preventing tuberculosis was generally applied, it is safe to say that tuberculosis would be stamped out of civilized countries within a few years."

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 7.—Lela Baker, the 16 year old girl who abruptly deserted her ardent lover, Frank C. Brown, aged 28 years, two weeks ago, after the latter had reached the county auditor's office and had applied for a marriage license now wants her would be husband arrested on the charge of threatening her life.

A warrant sworn to by the girl is in the hands of the police and an effort is being made to locate the man, who it is said attempted at the point of a revolver to make the girl agree to marry him.

Miss Baker, when she mysteriously disappeared on the day of her proposed marriage, September 25, went to Seattle, where she remained for a few days ago, when she returned here. She has since been employed as a waitress in a local restaurant. Brown who had been shipped out of Tacoma by the girl's father, also returned here and had been conducting an incessant search for the girl, when he accidentally walked into the establishment where she was employed and a sensational scene immediately followed.

Recognizing Miss Baker, Brown called to her to come to the table where he was seated. She obeyed. Brown caught the girl's left wrist, placed his right hand in his overcoat pocket and half exposed a revolver.

"Now you come with me right away and we'll be married as you promised," softly whispered Brown. "No foolishness this time," or there will be something doing," and the enraged man added several curses to the threat.

A loud scream uttered by the frightened girl brought several of the patrons to their feet. Miss Baker broke away from the man's determined grip and ran behind the cashier's desk.

In the interval which followed Brown managed to reach the entrance door and ran down the street and the police have not been able to find him since. Miss Baker's parents reside in Albany, and Brown is a resident of Corvallis.

Resolutions.

Whereas, at the last election held in this county the vote was taken upon the question of local option.

Whereas, this county voted overwhelmingly in favor of prohibition of the sale and use of intoxicants as a beverage; and that vote was the declared will of the legal voters of the county and thereby became a law which went into effect on the first of January last; and at which time all saloon men doing business in the county closed their houses of business and there by placed themselves on record as lawabiding citizens.

Whereas, since this law became operative there has been organized a so-called Social and Athletic Club to defeat, intent and purpose of the local option law by continuing the liquor traffic in this county in an indirect and underhanded manner.

Whereas, the organization and continuation of such club is in effect an effort to cause wilful disregard for law and order, and make null and void the object and power of our democratic franchise and liberty.

Whereas, the local option law has won great favor in the county through its excellent results thus far with not a few of those who at first were opposed to it on the ground of injuring the business interests of the county.

Whereas, that the local sentiment is stronger than ever in favor of local option.

Be it resolved, first, that the ministerial Association of Corvallis condemn communications sent to the public press elsewhere that are misleading as to the facts of the case.
