

RUSSIAN HORRORS.

Apparently peace abroad for Russia was dearly bought by Russian subjects. The price they have paid for cessation of Japanese hostilities is appalling. It is a thousand fold more grilling and more galling than any humiliation Japanese subjects may feel at the peace terms. Peace abroad was manifestly desirable to Russian rulers that a free hand might be wielded in dealing with those at home who ask for better conditions for Russian masses. The horrors now being enacted at Moscow and elsewhere by those in authority scarcely seem possible in a country that claims to be civilized. A sample of these horrors was visited by the prefect of police upon strikers after a battle in the streets of Moscow Monday.

After the fighting was over boys and youths, men and women were dragged into the prefect's court yard and the gates closed. Thereupon began what is known as a lesson to the intellectuals. Scores were taken to a long stable along the side of which was drawn up two lines of picked troops, mostly Cossacks. The victims were made to run the gauntlet.

There were 50 men on a side, who brutally struck them with whips and the butt end of rifles. The victims were forced to run until they dropped, fainting or dead. Then they were picked up and removed to the prison infirmary or mortuary.

Unfortunate creatures were taken straight from the street to this peculiar Russian form of execution without the possibility of offering a defense or hearing an accusation.

It will be more creditable to the affairs of this world when the ruling regime in Russia can go no longer unwhipped of a richly deserved justice, and the long and terribly suffering people of that empire be well rid of over-classes and rulers that are a travesty on manhood and a mockery to civilization.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

Elsewhere in the Times appear resolutions adopted by the Corvallis Ministerial Association. As handed in for publication, the resolutions contained kindly mention of the TIMES of the same character as that applied to local officers. Though the words of approval are greatly appreciated, the paragraph is omitted, because the TIMES shrinks from accepting at the hands of the ministers a characterization it might not in whole deserve. It does not pose as a temperance paper or as devoted to spiritual concerns. Its defense of the officers of the law in their effort to break up Mike Kline's joint is a defense of the sovereignty and authority of the law. It is not seeking to estop any man from drinking intoxicants if he so desires, but to prevent Mike Kline, Hooligan and others from conducting a drinking joint when a big majority of our people have denied to far more honorable men the privilege of conducting a legitimate, licensed saloon.

The TIMES thanks the ministers for their kindly words, but begs that the publication of those words reach the public through other means than the TIMES own columns. The TIMES joins with the ministers in commending the officers of the law, and later on will have something to say along that line.

PRESIDENT GEER FLED.

Officers will Endeavor to Bring Him Back for Trial—Was not Under Bonds.

According to a statement made in Justice Holgate's court yesterday morning, U. C. Geer, the president of the Corvallis Social and Athletic Club has fled the state. A bench warrant has been issued and an effort is to be made to bring him back for trial. Deputy Attorney Bryson explained to the court that it had been arranged for Geer to give bonds for his appearance, but that on account of the pressure of his own business matters the executing of the proper bond had been postponed. It had been understood that bondsmen stood ready to go as sureties, but that since Geer's disappearance they did not care to sign the bond. Deputy Bryson stated that he had assurance that Geer had left the state intentionally to avoid trial, and asked the issuance of a bench warrant, to which the court assented.

TRYING KLINE.

And Hooligan—Portland Lawyer for Defendants—The Jury.

The trial of Mike Kline and Hooligan on another charge of violating the local option law was in progress all day yesterday and a part of Monday, with Deputy District Attorney Bryson appearing for the state, and Mr. Fouts of Portland representing the defense. Three or four hours were consumed Monday in securing a jury. Many jurymen were examined and dismissed on one account or another. As finally constituted the jury is, Thomas Callahan, J. B. Goodman, Thomas Jones, H. M. Fleming, Lee Henkle and Joseph Underwood. The offense named in the complaint is the selling of liquor to Thomas Bell, who swore on the witness stand that he got brandy from the establishment and that he was "assessed" sixty cents for it, together with some cheese and crackers. Most of the evidence was circumstantial in character, all tending to indicate that Kline is master spirit of the enterprise with the club feature as a blind to cover up the real purpose which, in fact, is the sale of liquor for the especial benefit of Kline. The case was still on trial with the end a long way ahead at the TIMES press hour.

As Boys Do It.

A student named Armitage while on a lark on the college campus with other students came near sustaining serious injury Monday evening. The account is that members of the freshman and sophomore classes had been engaged in the usual manifestations of class rivalry on two or three preceding evenings. A similar time appears to have been on when the accident occurred. Armitage, it seems, was running from a number of companions, whom he glanced back at as he ran. While his head was turned, he ran against the framework around a shade tree on the campus, and nearly unjointed his neck. In a few moments he became unconscious, and was carried to the home of Ellsworth Erwin, where he received medical attention Dr. Steckle, Dr. Pernot and Dr. Burgess all being at the bedside at one time. For several hours after the accident he remained unconscious but yesterday morning he was much better and on being driven to his lodgings was able to walk to his room. The case gave rise to many exaggerated rumors as to the character of the injury and the nature of the occasion. It is stated by all interested that the affair was not a case of hazing as was for a time rumored.

ALSEA HONEY AT Hodes' Grocery

Wanted 20 ton Vetch seed to fill car at Corvallis this week. L. L. Brooks

O. A. C. BOYS.

David Hirstel of the OAC class of 1904, is in town to submit a bid for the construction of the Corvallis water plant. He is associated in the enterprise with Mr. Robinson of Portland. A fact of interest in this connection is that Mr. Hirstel's graduating thesis had the 'Rock Creek system for a subject and involved a complete survey of the line. The material gathered then has been of much use in submitting his bid.

Willie Scott, another old OAC boy, and incidentally a crack football player, is also in town on an errand similar to Mr. Hirstel, each being a competitor of the other. Mr. Scott is associated with Mr. Huber of Portland. It looks good to see old OAC men back on such errands in which they appear as factors in progress and development.

AT BUENA VISTA.

The Only Preparations General Taylor Made For Defeat.
Santa Anna was the greatest military leader the Mexicans have ever known. Santa Anna with 25,000 veterans went to the battle of Buena Vista with the avowed purpose of exterminating the entire army of the United States, and there was no doubt in the mind of Santa Anna that this great feat could be accomplished with comparative ease. General Taylor, with his 5,000 men, prepared for the unequal contest, and not only defended himself successfully, but won a substantial victory from his aggressive antagonists and drove them from the battlefield of Buena Vista.
Some time after the battle was fought and the Mexican war concluded General Taylor was criticised for having made no preparations for the retreat of his army in the event of defeat. General Taylor promptly replied: "I made every preparation necessary for the battle of Buena Vista. I wrote my will, and so did nearly every man in my army. If we had not won that battle, we would have needed no lines of retreat. It was, from our standpoint, victory or annihilation. The only preparation necessary for the contingency of defeat at Buena Vista was that we should write our wills."

Cloths For Presents In Japan.
Of one singularly attractive and decorative detail of Japanese daily life little is known in this country. Yet it touches all classes, from nobles to coolies—the use of present cloths. These are squares of all sorts of materials, from twenty inches to two yards across. They are used to tie up the gifts which are exchanged on all possible occasions. After the presentation of the gift the cloth is removed and returned to the giver by a servant. These cloths are handed down from generation to generation, and among them are found some of the finest specimens of the old embroidery and dyeing. Many of the square pieces of Japanese embroidery used in this country for pillow and table covers were originally used as coverings for presents.—House Beautiful.
