

Corvallis Times

Official Paper of Benton County.

CORVALLIS, OREGON,
TUESDAY EVENING OCT. 24, 1905.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICE.

Hereafter the publication day of the Times will be Tuesday evening and Friday evening, instead of Wednesday and Saturday mornings. For 11 years the paper has been actually appearing in the evening, though the following morning was given out as publication day. The change now announced ought to have been made 11 years ago.

GAVE A CONCERT.

In College Chapel—Many People Attended—Miss Nash and Mrs. Norton.

Miss Dorothea Nash pianiste, assisted by Mrs. Anna Selkirk Norton, contralto, both of Portland, gave a piano recital in College chapel Friday evening. Miss Nash who was a popular teacher in Corvallis several years ago, was cordially greeted by a large audience which contained many of her friends. Mrs. Norton too, was no stranger to Corvallis concert goers and shared the hearty reception that was given to Miss Nash. The latter again proved herself an accomplished musician, and though all of her numbers were well executed, Mozowski's Sparks deserves special praise. Her playing was liberally applauded and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Norton was not only gifted with a fine contralto voice, but possesses artistic sentiment, and sings with a true musical interpretation. She sang with excellent accent, selections in Italian, German and French, besides a number of English songs and by request sang Nevin's "Oh, that we two were Maying" as an encore. Prof. Taillandier was the accompanist, and he won the universal thanks of the audience, not only for his excellent playing but because he set an example to many another Corvallis accompanist by giving the singer opportunity to be heard.

Guessed at Pullman Score.

They guessed in Prof. Horner's room the day before the Pullman game as to the outcome, the best guesser to have a prize of a dollar in cash. The winner whose name is not known, made a guess of 32 to 0 in favor of OAC. He predicted that OAC would have the kickoff and that the Oregon men would quickly take the ball away from the Washingtonians and make a touchdown. Another guess was 28 to 6, and the next closest was 24 to 0. About 50 guesses in all were made.

The 24 to 0 guess was made by E. W. Wallace and ran thus: "The score of 24 to 0 in favor of OAC. One of the Pullman boys hurt in first half, two in last half; Pullman boys very homesick and want to see Mamma."

AT REST NOW.

Peaceful Passing of Mrs. E. Woodward—The Funeral.

After an illness that lasted over three months, the death of Mrs. Cornelia Woodward, wife of ex-county Judge Woodward, occurred at the family home in this city at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning. The end had been daily expected for sometime, and therefore occasioned no surprise, but only the deepest regret among local residents. Mrs. Woodward in girlhood was Miss Cornelia Allen. She was born near Philomath May 21st, 1851, and received her education in the Philomath schools. She was married to E. Woodward in 1869, and 34 years of that married life has been spent by Mr. and Mrs. Woodward in Corvallis. The children of the union are Don and Winona Woodward.

Mrs. Woodward was an untiring Christian worker whose faith and zeal never faltered. She was also an active member of the W. C. T. U. in which she will be greatly missed.

The funeral occurred at 10 o'clock Monday morning from the United Evangelical church of which the deceased was a member. The services were conducted by Rev. C. T. Hurd. The regular choir rendered several selections, and Mrs. Woodward's Sunday school class sang, "There'll be no Dark Valley." Rev. Bush read the scripture lesson, and Rev. Noble offered prayer.

There was an abundance of beautiful flowers and a large audience of sorrowing friends, neighbors and acquaintances. Interment was in Newton cemetery, near Philomath.

LEADS TO ANARCHY.

Portland Oregonian.

At Corvallis, Forest Grove and other places where attempts are being made to sell liquor in defiance of law and public opinion, it will be found that such a course only serves to strengthen the anti-saloon forces and increase their determination to win. The local option law is now the law of the state and should be obeyed. The man who openly defies the law is walking the high road that leads to anarchy.

SENTENCES FOR MIKE.

And his Flunkies—Juror was Member of Club—Say no More Liquor at Mike's now.

Full extent of the law, is the sentence imposed this morning by Justice Holgate upon Mike Kline, Hooligan and Miline as a result of the last two local option trials. Kline's sentence in the two cases is $1,000 and 60 days in jail, raising his total sentences to $2,000 and 80 days of jail sentence. Hooligan was a defendant in both cases, and got $1,000 and 60 days in jail; raising his total sentences to $1,700 fines and sixty days in jail; Miline was a defendant in but one of the cases, and got $500 and 30 days, raising his total to $800 fine and 30 days. The total amount of the fines against the three is $4,500.

The fifth case against Kline and his satellites was concluded in Justice Holgate's court Friday evening. It consumed less time than any of its predecessors, beginning at five o'clock one afternoon and ending about the same hour the following day. Its jury also consumed less time than any former jury in arriving at a verdict, making a record of only a few minutes, and like the others, taking but a single ballot. One juror said the thing might as well have been done without leaving the jury box, which is, of course, admissible in any court. The jurors were: E. McLennan, G. B. Whitney, B. B. Arnold, E. C. Montgomery, J. R. Cockrell, C. D. Abbott.

The testimony as in the former cases, showed Mike Kline to be the main man if not the sole proprietor of the joint, with Miline and Hooligan as his flunkies. It showed that the liquors bring saloon prices and that therefore, paying as he does, no license, Mike's profit must be substantial, for, according to all accounts, business was lively, at least until withdrawals from the concern when it became apparent that the members might become involved in unpleasant consequences.

It has developed that in the fourth trial, one member of the jury is, or at least at one time was a member of Mike's flock. Nobody knows which one, but half a dozen ex-members testify to the fact, and everybody believes it. The fact that a member of his own band sits on a jury and joins in a verdict of condemnation is accounted as one of the hardest things that has yet hit the joint.

It is given out now that Mike has quit the liquor business and is engaged exclusively in athletics and "moral welfare." When he started his concern, Mike announced, and a lot of people believed it, that he had consulted Portland lawyers, that he could dispense liquors under his scheme, and that no local option law could molest him. District Attorney Bryson warned him and all others to the contrary, but the warning was not heeded. Prosecutions were begun, District Attorney Bryson, all the time holding open to Kline and his satellites an agreement that if the latter would go out of business he would bring no more cases. This generous offer was refused, and now Kline is under sentence to pay 2,000 in fines and serve 80 days in jail, while his flunkies have each a proportionate measure of trouble.

At the end of it all, comes the resignation of the barkeeper, Miline, and the announcement that liquor is not to be handled on the premises. It all looks as if clubs like Mike's are not what they are cracked up to be. It looks also, like President Geer is the smartest one of all the officers. He saw his chance and fled the state, where fines and jail sentences cannot overtake him. His relatives are smart people and in touch with good lawyers—which is, perhaps, why he didn't stay to face the music.

THEY ARE EIGHT.

And About Destitute—Twenty Five Dollars their All—Asking County Aid.

A family of eight without a home and with $25 in cash as the total of their worldly wealth are in Corvallis today. Four children, one of which has a broken back, three women and a man of perhaps 60 winters make up this unfortunate group of people. They are headed for a place six miles from Montague, California, where the husband claims he has a friend who wants to rent him a farm. They were enroute there by team, and when they reached Corvallis Monday, they sold the team and wagon for $25, and are now hoping to arrange with the county court for assistance to help them along their way. The name is Turpin, and they have lived for a time on the Rainwater place near Albany.

The tickets by railroad will cost $60. They have some bedding and wearing apparel, but beyond this their $25 is their all. The grandmother in the family recently had her foot mashed, and is practically an invalid.

In hop picking time, they picked in a Marion county yard. When picking was about over, their tent caught on fire and burned up their tickets. The yard owner, they say only gave them half what was due them, but being without tickets they had to take what he was willing to give.

"I don't like to go there and attempt to run a place without a team to say nothing of arriving there without a cent," said one of the women yesterday. "I think it would be better for us to try to make our way in Corvallis this winter, and go there in the spring, don't you think so?"

WAS SENT FORTH.

Goforth was and that was why he went Forth—Booze Brought Him woes.

Mr. Goforth has gone forth. He alighted from the train and put up at a Corvallis hostelry Friday. It soon developed that he hailed from Washington and that he was the victim of a financial stringency. He claimed that he had been robbed in Portland, but there was all kinds of signs that tarantular juice had more to do with his panic than did robbers. When he applied to the county court for assistance, the address of his brother up in Washington was obtained. Then it developed that Goforth had also been struck with panic in Salem, where his brother had sent him funds with which to buy a ticket home. That money went, it is supposed, like the other, for booze, and Mr. Goforth was again penniless and penitent in a strange land.

Yesterday, Goforth was put aboard the train by Sheriff Burnett and a ticket, provided on the authority of the brother, was given the conductor. If he doesn't fare well on his journey it will be no fault of local authorities who did more than their duty by Goforth before he went forth.

Alma Hearn a Prime Favorite.

One of the bright new plays of the season, "Honest Hearts" is drawing crowded houses at the Empire theatre this week, with the well known comedienne, Alma Hearn in the role of "Dad's only girl" Marty, the Kentucky wild flower who is the heroine of the story. Miss Hearn has made a very careful study of the character, and while it is difficult, it is so nicely fitted to her personality that she should capture her audience more completely than ever. The author has brightened the romance with a great deal of comedy and Messrs Klimt and Bazzalo have supplied some of their customary richness of scenery. There is melodrama in the pieldriver scene, but the play is free from cheap sensationalism.—Oregonian, Oct. 17th.

Be sure and see this charming actress and her capable company at the Opera House, Friday night.

A Great Play.

Clever Alma Hearn, whose personality has captivated thousands shines brighter than ever in her new pastoral comedy, "Honest Hearts" which is to be here Friday night, the 27th. Her part amounts to a creation, it is so many-sided. As Dad's only girl, the daughter of an old Kentucky farmer, she grows wild and graceful as a deer to a young woman, when her beauty was the heart of a young gentleman in the government employ on a Cumberland river dock. Their love for each other is no sooner expressed than treachery appears—a jealous woman. The river and farm scenes are picturesque and the company of exceptional merit.

OPENS NEXT SUNDAY.

First Methodist Church—Is Splendid Edifice Now—Week of Addresses.

Next Sunday there is to be a formal opening of the First Methodist church, which, for the past three months has been undergoing extensive improvements. The initial exercises on Sunday are to be followed throughout the week with addresses and sermons from leading lights of Methodism from all over Oregon. The sermon at the morning hour Sunday will be by Dr. D. L. Rader, editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate, published at Portland. Dr. B. F. Rowland, the newly appointed presiding elder of this section of country, will preach in the evening. These ministers are noted throughout their denomination for their splendid ability.

On Monday night a popular pastor of Albany, the Rev. J. W. McDougall, will give an address. Tuesday night, a former presiding elder for many years, and well known, Dr. F. B. Ford, of Portland will address the people.

On Wednesday night, the pastor of the leading Methodist church in the state, Dr. Short, will speak. On Thursday night the Rev. Harold Oberg, a former pastor, and under whose administration the church just remodelled was built, will delight the people of this city and church with his genial presence and excellent ability.

Dr. John Coleman, president of the Willamette University at Salem, will deliver on Friday night one of his popular addresses on the subject of "Education." After which a general church reception will be held.

The entire improvements will cost somewhat above $4,000. The church remodelled will be one of the fine up-to-date church buildings of the state.

The trustees of the church are, president, A. K. Milner, George Lilly, John Wells, J. Underwood, G. F. Rice, Prof. Holmes, Judge V. E. Watters.

The building committee consists of Judge Waiters, Prof. Holmes, J. Underwood.

It is represented that the chief reason for remodeling the church has been to provide better facilities for general church work and also to provide for the natural growth of the congregation. The main auditorium has only had its capacity increased to eighty seats with an extension on the south side of the building. New decorations, seating, electric light, memorial window, fixtures and other features make the room very attractive. The first floor has auditorium, lecture rooms, committee room, reception room, and pastor's study and cloak room. The ground floor when completed will have Sunday school room, parlor, reading room, ladies' work room and kitchen and several other rooms with all the modern conveniences. To all of this is a fine large entrance way. In all the church will be a credit to the city and denomination.

WEDDING BELLS.

At eleven o'clock Sunday morning while the sun flooded the world with beauty, Henry Abraham and Miss Martha Schmidt, both of Benton county, united their fortunes forever and aye. Standing between trees of Japanese orange and beneath fragrant clematis virginiana, by the beautiful ring ceremony of the unbroken circle they pledged to each other their troth. Congratulations were showered upon them by the many friends present, and a royal banquet awaited all. On a table to the side were the tokens of regard sent by admiring friends who desired that the best might go with the young people to their new home near Halsey. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward F. Green, pastor of the Congregational church.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Abraham of Granger, and a brother of Will Abraham, the well known OAC student. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt of the vicinity of Granger, and is an estimable young woman.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent. of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by Graham & Wortham.
