—University of Oregon and University of Washington teams played football at Seattle Saturday, with a score of 12 to 12, being a tie. All the points were scored in the last half.

—The game Friday between Willamette and O. A. C. will be the last of the season on O. A. C. field. It will also be the best one. The crowd will undoubtedly be a record smasher.

—The last time O. A. C. and Willamette met, the score was 40 odd against the Salem men, and the time before it was 60 odd the same way. It is different now.

—The following real estate transfers have been filed for record: United States to Frank Wyatt, 160 acres West of Philomath. F. A. Landingham to J. O. Jorsted 160 a. west of Dusty.

—An adjourned term of the circuit court for Benton is called to meet Friday at two o'clock. It is the usual preliminary term incident to the regular term which will convene next Monday. Judge Harris will preside.

—The Moses store now occupies that room of the Fisher building which has been given a new and modern front. The place is one door north of Henkle & Davis. The improvement adds much to the appearance of things in the vicinity.

—At the evening session of the Good Roads convention tomorrow, there will be in addition to the printed programme, musical selections by Miss Spangler and violin solo by Ruthyn Turney. At Thursday night's session, the Johnson-Fulton-Herse-Allen quartette will perform.

—The large chorus under the direction of Otto F. L. Herse, met Monday evening in College chapel. They expect to give a concert in about two months for the benefit of the Village Improvement Club, and it is intended to make the chorus a permanent organization for concert work all the year. The chorus meets for the present in College chapel each Monday evening promptly at 7:30. It is urged that all the musical talent of the town help in this good work.

—The O. A. C. second football eleven played a game at Salem with the Willamette second team Saturday, and was defeated, 9 to 0. Cherry, who was to have played center, failed to get up in time to leave on the morning train, got a rig and drove to Albany, left there on a freight train, and reached Salem about the time the game ended. A touchdown and a placekick, early in the first half, yielded the points for Salem's score. The result was a surprise as an easy victory was expected, the O. A. C. men having administered a defeat to the Eugene team, which in turn defeated Salem by a good score. The lineup was, Harding and Rose ends, Little and Hughes, tackles, McKinnon and Wilkes, guards, Sweek, center, Cronise, quarter, Sweek and Darby, halves and Pen-degrass, fullback.

—The arriving time now of the evening train from Albany is 8.10 p. m. The first train on the new schedule arrived Sunday evening. The time card for the new arrangement has not been issued, but is expected at any time. One well founded report is that the evening train to Albany is to have a leaving time of about five o'clock later on. One effect of the change is that the evening mail will be received and distributed at the postoffice, as was the case formerly. The general delivery window will not, however, be opened. It will take the clerks to nine or ten o'clock at night to finish the mail, and as one of them has to be on hand before six each morning to make up mail for the early train, it would be too strenuous a program to open the general delivery window for belated mails.

—Sam Dolan of this city was a soloist at the Catholic fair in Albany Saturday evening.

—James L. Lewis has sold to Ellsworth Erwin one lot and the new house in process of erection at the corner of Eighth and Jefferson. The price is $1,600.

—The chicken pie supper given Friday evening at the old Vincent house by the W. C. T. U. ladies yielded a profit of $83.60. It was widely patronized, as the receipts show, and the ladies request the Times to express their thanks to the public.

—The frost has killed the best of the Chrysanthemums and the ladies of the Presbyterian church have abandoned their annual Chrysanthemum show. Their annual Christmas sale will take place the first week in December.

—Professor Taillandier will give another lecture recital at the College chapel on Friday, Dec. 1st at 8 p. m. As heretofore no admission will be charged, but children under 15 years of age will not be admitted unless accompanied by adults.

—In the probate court, the executrix of the estate of C. E. Moor has been given authority to transfer 20 shares of stock in the First National Bank to Arthur J. Moor. All other bequests provided in the will have been fully paid.

—The public was at the postoffice for mail after the arrival of the evening train last night, and will be there regularly hereafter. Though it is out of hours, the postoffice people, long-suffering as they are, distribute the mail on arrival, and the public is thereby accommodated. The local postoffice is a mighty well served establishment.

—Tickets are being sold for a humorous lecture to be given in the First Methodist church the evening of December 1st. The speaker will be Dr. Short, one of the most eminent pulpit orators of Portland, and the subject is, "The Sunny Side of Life." Four hundred tickets are to be sold at 25 cents each. The entire proceeds goes to the building fund of the local church.

He is on his way on a business trip to New York in the interests of the Hawaiian Sugar Company, Hawaiian Islands, of which he is the chemist. Mr. Lea's salary is $3,000 per year. It pays to take a college course. He left Saturday for New York but will be in Corvallis again in about three weeks on his way to Honolulu.

Prof. Taillandier of the Agricultural College represents Eilers Piano House in this vicinity. He is prepared to quote prices and explain our terms moderate payment to all intending purchasers. —In this issue, the Times gives a large amount of space to the proposed electric light franchise, the full text of the ordinance being printed in another column. The measure will come up for final consideration and passage at the regular December meeting of the city council.

—Prof. Cordley has purchased the residence property of W. E. Yates on Sixth. The figure is $2,200. The sale was made by Ambler & Watters.

—The programme of the Good Roads Convention is again printed in this issue of the Times. Everybody in town will desire to attend the meetings, and this second chance to read the programme, all will find convenient.

PROPERTY TO PAY IT.

Street Improvement—Ordinance now Pending in City Council.

The plan for requiring abutting property to improve streets is being worked out in the city council. Authority for the purpose was conferred on the city by charter amendment at the last session of the legislature. The plan is in vogue in nearly all cities and towns, and is held to be superior to that in use in Corvallis. An ordinance providing for the property owners to gravel a number of streets that the city graded during the summer is now pending in the city council, having been introduced at the regular meeting last week. It was discussed and referred for a slight amendment at an adjourned meeting last night. About 100 property owners are involved in the proposed improvements. At last night's meeting an ordinance requiring the renewal or repair of a large number of sidewalks was passed.

WORDS OF PRAISE.

Speculation as to the quality of a play is reduced to a certainty, by looking up the comments of the newspapers made after the attraction has been presented. It is fair to presume that what will please the people of Grants Pass will please the people of Corvallis on November 11 of this year the Grants Pass Journal, said:

"The large houses greeting the Georgia Harper Company, who are playing a week's engagement in our city the present week, evidence more strongly than words of praise the merits of the company.

"Miss Harper's company was with us last season but owing to her illness while here she herself was unable to appear in any of her bills, but she is now repaying in good strong, well produced dramas the disappointment she involuntarily gave to many theatregoers at her last appearance here.

"Miss Harger's company is composed of gentlemen and ladies, and one feels the fact instinctively in the production of her plays, though of the problem play order, are dignified and moral in their interpretation.

"Among the other woman players deserving favorable mention are Rabel McDonald, who is good in all the repertoire but particularly strong in 'Froufrou' and Harriet Brown, who is excellent in comedy roles.

"Joseph Dietrick, the leading man, is perhaps the cleverest actor this city has seen for sometime, and we cannot but feel that much of Miss Harper's finest work finds its inspiration in the very able support given her by Mr. Dietrick. A handsome face, dignified carriage, and manly figure make him an ideal hero and his acting is in full accord with his personality."

Miss Harper will appear in Corvallis on next Thursday, Friday and Saturday with Saturday matinee.

WINS FREE SUIT OFFER.

Master Clifford Rader has won the $5.00 suit of XTRAGOOD clothes recently offered by the local firm of J. M. Nolan & Son to the first boy under sixteen who should find and identify the salesman from the Chicago house which makes the well known XTRAGOOD brand of boys' and children's clothing. Some days ago, the above named firm of this city began advertising the approach of the Chicago salesman, and coupled with the announcement of his coming an offer to give, free, any $5.00 suit in their store to the first boy finding him. The boys had been instructed to say: "You are from Ederheimer, Stein & Co., Chicago, and sell XTRAGOOD clothes."

The much-sought-for salesman arrived suddenly yesterday and was almost immediately besieged by crowds of boys. After being recognized, he was followed through the streets with a greater and more enthusiastic escort than even a circus usually attracts.
