

Corvallis Times

Official Paper of Benton County.

CORVALLIS, OREGON,
TUESDAY EVENING NOV. 28, 1905.

PUBLISHER'S NOTICE.

Hereafter the publication day of the TIMES will be Tuesday evening and Friday evening, instead of Wednesday and Saturday mornings. For 11 years the paper has been actually appearing in the evening, though the following morning was given out as publication day. The change now announced ought to have been made 11 years ago.

ISN'T IT WORTH WHILE?

Whenever they make up their minds to do so, the people of the Willamette valley can have macadam roads. Whenever that fortuitous hour arrives, then will rural residents come into their own, and then too, will the urban population be in a way of attaining the acme of profit and happiness. Then the farmers wheat can lie in his own granary until the price is right, and no storage to be paid. Then can hay, potatoes, oats, barley and every other crop be kept at home till the price is highest, for then it can be hauled to market in the dead of winter far better than right after harvest time, when delivery to market must take place now because the roads will soon be bad. Then can the trip to church on Sunday, or to town on Monday or to the neighborhood literary or the Grange, or to visit any farm fireside, be made on any day, or any evening with ease and comfort, all things that cannot be done in winter now because of muddy roads. Then, two or three times as heavy a load can be hauled and vast saving in time and in the cost of delivering products to market be effected, every cent and every hour of which saving of money and time is the farmer's own, to give him more leisure for other work and more profit for his effort. Then, the land will be worth more, because the conditions about it will be more desirable, and more people will be seeking it. Then, the lot of the farmer will be happier, his work will be easier, and his purse be fuller. New social relations will be established, new and prettier homes will be built, there will be more pride in appearance and more money with which to improve it; and in all things life in the country will be sweeter, easier and happier, and one long stride for arresting the movement from country to town be made. Is it not worth the comparatively little effort it will take to get the good things that will come with good roads.

GONE TO SEATTLE.

The OAC football team left today for Seattle, where they are to play the University of Washington men Thanksgiving day. They will go into the game with the same lineup that played Willamette, as follows: center, Cherry; left tackle, Walker; left guard, Dunlap; left end, Emily; right guard, Bundy; right tackle, Dolan; right end, Cooper; quarterback, Rinehart; right half, Root; left half, Griffith; fullback, Abraham. The substitutes are, Darby, McKinnon, Little, Rose and Sweek. Floyd Williams also went along, but he will not play in the game. Others of the party were, Dr. Steckle, Manager Stimson and Physical Director Trine. They will reach Seattle tomorrow morning, and their headquarters will be at the Seattle Athletic Club. They expect to leave for the return trip Thursday night or Friday morning. The game will be the fifth between the two institutions. The scores of the past four games have been, 1897, OAC, 17; U. of W., 0; 1902, OAC, 6; U. of W., 16; 1903, OAC, 0; U. of W., 5; 1904, OAC, 26; U. of W., 5; total, OAC, 49; U. W., 26.

There is much local speculation on the outcome of the coming game. The belief is general that OAC should win, and by a big enough score to be decisive. If Steckle's men play the game they put up against Willamette, a victory is certain.

They are the heaviest team playing in the Northwest, their average per man in the present lineup being 178 pounds, stripped weight. The seven men in the line have an aggregate weight of 1,295 pounds, or 185 per man. The four backs weigh 660 pounds, or 165 per man. Robert Johnson accompanied the team.

SOUTHERNERS THERE.

They Chewed Sugar Cane as in Days of Yore Down in Dixie.

Last Monday evening, Nov. 27th Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Wilkins entertained a number of their friends from Dixie land, the land of cotton, sugar cane, and negroes. The evening was very pleasantly spent in listening to Southern stories, tales of the old South as well of the new South, and music, and lastly in chewing genuine sugar cane from the state of Mississippi. Mr. Wilkins had on Saturday, received quite a number of stalks of this sweet cane from the South, and knowing the failings of the people of the Southland for sweet things, invited all native sons and daughters of the South to spend the evening at his home, and help dispose of the cane. It was quite noticeable that the Mississippians, and Alabamians had been there before, from the way they made the cane disappear.

Six Southern States were represented as follows: Arkansas—Mrs. L. L. Moses, R. J. Moses, Victor P. Moses, Miss Susie Fiser; Alabama—S. N. Wilkins, Mrs. Sarah E. Moore, and J. C. Lowe; Tennessee—Rev. J. A. Ellison, G. C. Gate and G. J. Dodeon; Mississippi—Dr. E. H. Taylor, Mrs. C. L. McCausland, J. H. Wortham, J. L. Lewis, and J. H. Harris; Missouri—Rev. C. L. McCausland, who was the only native of the famous "Show me" state was kept continually explaining why the Missourians had to be shown, and wanted it known by all present, that he was from near Kansas City. Others present were, Mrs. S. N. Wilkins, Mrs. J. A. Ellison, Mrs. E. H. Taylor, Misses Gladys Moore, Marvin, and Mr. Harold Wilkins.

At a late hour the guests voted Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins royal entertainers; thanked Mr. Wilkins for his conceiving the idea of a Southern gathering, and with the hearty hand shake of the South, separated, all hoping that this would be only the forerunner of good things coming.

—There will be an early service at 9 a. m. Thanksgiving Day at the Episcopal church.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY.

About the Late Game—They call it Best Playing of the Year.

Salem Capitol Journal. They went, they played, and the score was 29 to 0 in favor of OAC. The above sentence tells the tale, and the Willamette football team returned from Corvallis last night feeling like there had been a cyclone, and that it had struck somewhere in their neighborhood. They had made a good showing against Stanford, played California to a standstill, walked all over Eugene and defeated Multnomah. Very naturally they thought they knew something about the great game of football, but they each and every man of them takes off his hat to the "Farmers." It was a great game and a clean game, the cleanest perhaps ever played in the state, and the Salem team was simply outclassed. There was nothing to it from start to finish but OAC and nobody was more surprised than the Corvallis players and citizens themselves. They could hardly believe the great good fortune that they were achieving, and when it did fully dawn on them in all its glory they merely took the town and turned it upside down; that was all.

Nothing but praise for their opponents can be heard from the Willamette players. While they seemingly did not put up the same kind of ball that they did against Oregon and Multnomah, and seemed to be having an off day all around, yet they realize that they were up against a better team, and the score would not have been in their favor under the most auspicious circumstances. They take their defeat like true sports and are giving the victors all the credit they won. Corvallis has undoubtedly the best college team in the Northwest today and when they play as they did yesterday there is no team that can stop them. Their spirit was of the best and their interference perfect, and every man was in every play. No one fellow was ever seen struggling along by himself, but there was always pushing, pulling and lifting. They never seemed to know when they were down. There were no sensational runs for touchdowns or fumbles or holding in the interference. It was straight football from start to finish, and most of the gains were made on center rushes and smashes of tackle. The Salem boys played the best they knew how, but they could not stop the terrible onslaught of the "Farmers."

Salem had the ball a few times but not once did she succeed in making the required five yards and the times that she held Corvallis for downs were few and far between. Not that Willamette was weak, but Corvallis was exceptionally strong is the reason for the overwhelming score.

No one was hurt and the best of feeling prevailed throughout the game. The members of the OAC team are gentlemen as well as good football players.

Albany Herald: Willamette played a hard game, but the playing of Corvallis was the most thorough exhibition of football ever seen in this section, the players working with accuracy and energy of a machine.

Albany Democrat: If OAC had played the U. of O. with the same lineup, generalship and harmony among the players they would have won as easily as from Willamette.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent. of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by Graham & Wortham.

WANT CHANGE OF VENUE.

In Liquor Cases—Securing Affidavits to Present in Court.

A move is on foot to secure, if possible, a change of venue in the liquor cases in which Mike Kline and his officers are defendants. For something like two weeks, Fred Weatherford of the law firm of Weatherford & Wyatt has been securing signatures to affidavits to be presented to Judge Harris when the motion for a change of venue is to be made. It is understood that the papers will be filed within a few days. It is stated, though the report is not confirmed, that the defendants prefer that the trials be taken to Lincoln county. What the efforts to get the trials out of Benton county will amount to, remains to be seen.

The affidavits that the defense will present in court alleges that Kline and his co-defendants cannot get a fair trial before a Benton jury, because of alleged prejudice existing among the people in this county. It says the cases have been much talked about in the newspapers, and much discussed by the people. It says attempts have been made by one newspaper in particular to report the testimony, and that much inflammable matter on the subject has been published. It sets forth numerous reasons in which it is alleged in effect that the sound judgment of this community would not prevail in a trial of the liquor cases.

Some of those who have seen the affidavit have been more or less amused at its contents. Many have refused to sign it, some of them declaring to Mr. Weatherford that they do not believe the statements alleged in the affidavits to be true, and that in their opinion a perfectly fair trial of the cases can be had in Benton county. One man who declined to sign informed him that if Kline and his officers had followed the example of the saloon men and obeyed the law, there would have been no cases and therefore no occasion to ask for a change. The man in question by the way, was a stalwart opponent of the local option law. It was in the country district more particularly that it was found difficult to obtain signatures to the affidavits, according to the information that is going the rounds. In Corvallis, the task of getting men to sign is understood to have been easier. Here of course, Mike's establishment knows who its friends are. It is probable that there will be considerable curiosity to see who are the signers of the affidavits.

TILL THE EIGHTEENTH

Of December—Circuit Court Adjourned Because of Judge's Illness.

On account of the illness of Judge Harris, the circuit court for Benton county has been adjourned to Monday, December 18th, and thereby hangs a tale. The fact of adjournment called Robert Johnson, newspaper man and ex-postmaster, for a few brief moments into that high function wherein he stood as the accredited vicegerent of His Honor, the court and the official representative of the law of the land. The judge was in his room at the hotel, a sick man, unable to convene the jury, and preside over the court. The jury men, 30 in number, were in waiting, and somebody had to do something. As bailiff of the court it fell to Mr. Johnson to perform, with a smile, bland and glad some enough to send a maiden into paroxysms of pleasure, and with honey-dew words, slick enough to have jobbed a deacon in a horse trade, His Honor by proxy, which was Robert, addressing himself to the assembled jurymen, excused them until the 18th of December, and instructed them to be on hand at nine o'clock of that day. They were well chosen words that Robert used, and though they hated after coming to court to be compelled to go home and come back again another day each realized that nobody could have broken the news to them more sweetly than did His Temporary Honor.

Later in the day, Judge Harris appeared in the court room and officially adjourned the term to the 16th of December at which time preliminary matters will be taken up, preparatory to the regular term. Judge Harris' illness is only temporary, being it is understood in the nature of a bilious attack. He was sufficiently recovered to be able to return to his home in Eugene last night. An earlier date for the postponement was unavoidable on account of a term to be held by Judge Harris in Lincoln county, Monday, December 11th.
