WHY DEFEATED.

George H. Williams, ex-mayor of Portland, ex-senator of the United States, ex-attorney general of the American Union, declared in Portland the other day, that the best thing the people can do is to vote down all the laws and constitutional amendments now pending under the initiative. It was a remark that comes with ill grace from a man who has been so much and so notably honored by his countrymen. Two many measures have, perhaps been proposed; the same thing is made the subject of legislation in too many measures: but that is no reason for the people to turn against all measures, and vote them down. Except the Jayne bill, every measure proposed aims at betterment of conditions. There is purpose in the proposed laws to distribute more evenly [the burdens of taxation, and this, the ex-mayor, ex-attorney general, ex-senator says should be turned down with the rest. There is an effort to reduce the silly and senseless state printing expense from $50,000 or $60,000 a year to within reasonable limits, say $10,000 a year, and this Citizen Williams says should be voted down. His statement, if he be correctly quoted, is the best indication in the world that Mr. Williams should have been defeated in his recent candidacy for re-election to the mayoralty of Portland.

Puter and McKinley are in China promoting railroad schemes, so the papers say. Future announcements from that quarter will be awaited with interest, in view of certain little transactions in which the pair engaged before they left the United States. It might not be too much to expect, to hear later that one is head of the entire railroad system of the Orient with the other on the throne as ruling sovereign of the empire. Heaven help the Chinamen.

All things considered, even were it true as alleged, that Hawley is a preacher, might it not be a good thing for the republicans to send him to congress? What other spot on this earth offers a more tempting field for missionary work. Incidentally what a contrast it would be to the material they sent there last.

It was for this, our forefathers fought, bled and died! It was for these guarantees that our grand old constitution and our code of laws exist, to enable a Georgia drummer who strayed into the legislature to introduce a bill requiring country hotel keepers to keep clean sheets on the beds!

With $120,000,000 as its dividends for the year, it is very properly styled, the United States Steal trust.

The nomination of W. C. Bristol as United States District Attorney for Oregon is held up and may be withdrawn, on charges of unprofessional conduct, in which it is alleged that he accepted a fee of $500 to influence a client to buy a $40,000 timber tract. Oregon timber seems fatal to Oregon officialdom.

PLAYED BALL.

State Normal and State College Girls— Big Crowd There—Tie Game.

According to all accounts the basket ball game at the Armory Friday evening was both strenuous and exciting. It was between the State College and State Normal School girls, and it ended in a tie. The first half was three to zero for O. A. C., but early in the second half the Normals rallied and tied the score at five to five, in which position the larger part of the second half was played, with the consequence of course, that interest was at high pitch. A basket was secured on a foul by Miss Harrington, but the claim was set up that she overstepped the mark, to which proposition after some time the officials yielded and the tie resulted.

The crowd was a record breaker. It is said to have exceeded only on one or two former occasions. The gallery was jammed and downstairs there were two rows of seats filled, with many people standing. Some unpleasantness, resultant from guying of players and the theft of a Normal girl's cap were incidents of the game, in consequence of which the Normal people went home more or less out of humor.

The O. A. C. girls played good ball, but met an excellent team. The local players were, forwards, Miss Harrington, Miss Logan; center, Miss Moore; guards, Miss Linville, Miss Gellatly.

A Favorite Remedy For Babies.

Its pleasant taste and prompt cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a favorite with the mothers of small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds and prevents any danger of pneumonia or other serious consequences. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. For sale by Graham & Wortham.

A fine line of fishing tackle and the best shells in the market, cheap at Hodes gun store.

Be sure and see Van Cleve and Bouquet in their impersonations at the entertainment given for the benefit of the free Reading Room, on the 10th.

If you knew the value of Chamberlain's Salve you would never wish to be without it. Here are some of the diseases for which it is especially valuable: sore nipples, chapped hands, burns, frost bites, chilblains, chronic sore eyes, itching piles, tetter, salt rheum and eczema. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Graham & Wortham.

RAIL ROAD AFTER THEM.

Has Spent Hundred Thousand in Advertising—Big Immigration Expected.

John Paul Jones a Missourian and the genial traveling passenger agent of the Southern Pacific was in town Saturday in the interest of Eastern immigration for Corvallis and Benton. His company has spent $100,000 in advertising in eastern magazines and news papers and in other ways, the object being to populate more densely the region served by Southern Pacific lines. A heavier population along these lines means more passenger travel and a greater volume of freight to be hauled, which in turn means larger revenues for the railroad.

Mr. Jones chief business in town was with local real estate men. The purpose was to arrange with them for securing information relative to people in the eastern states who have signified a desire to come west to settle, or of whom it is known that they might be induced to come to the Coast to live. With such information in hand, the railroad will have its eastern representatives, of whom there are many in the field, call on the prospective home seeker and do what may be done toward getting him started for the land of the big red apples. The effort will be to send the party to the person and the town or county from whom the information is furnished the railroad company. The plan is certain to prove extremely effective, because the railroad people are in the best position of anybody to work the East for best results, having a superb organization, having an equal or greater interest than local people in securing immigration, and having the means at hand for reaching the greatest number.

Mr. Jones is convinced that the current year is to see the greatest immigration in the history of the Northwest. The Colonist rategoes into effect February 15th, when settlers can come to Oregon from any Missouri river point for the very small sum of $25, which is cheaper, as a matter of fact than is staying at home.

TOO GOLD THERE.

For a Corvallisite—In Iowa, a Land of Thrift and Hospitality.

J. F. Yates arrived Sunday from a 16 days trip East, where he went with the remains of the late Henry Holroyd, who died in Corvallis January 17th. The interment took place at Oelwein, the old home of Mr. Holroyd and family before their removal to Corvallis. The deceased was held in very high esteem in the community, as is the case with all the Iowans who have come from that and adjoining towns to Benton county. Mr. Yates visited in Fayette, the old home of the Colberts, Franciscos and Fowells, about whom there were many inquiries from old neighbors. J. K. Johnson, of Fayette, a brother-in-law of Frank Francisco was among those visited by the Corvallis man.

The Iowans, Mr. Yates declares to be an enterprising people and the state thrifty and progressive. The great drawback is the intense cold of the winter and the heat of the summer, making a climate too strenuous for a Corvallisite. Many people there talk of coming to Benton to investigate, if not to locate on account of climatic conditions.

Mrs. Holroyd will remain for the present, where there is a large estate to be settled.

Notice to Rebekahs.

FLIES AND TYPHOID.

What Experiments at the College Showed—They Carry the Germs.

How house flies will carry typhoid fever germs has been demonstrated in recent experiments by Prof. Pernot in the bacteriological department at the State College. The results show that in typhoid fever cases it is of the utmost importance that the house or hospital where there is a typhoid case should be kept absolutely clear of flies.

In the experiments, Prof. Pernot took flies in the larva state and from that stage of life raised them to maturity. Throughout their existence they were kept in jars, perfectly sterilized, and fed only food known to be absolutely free from germs. When they had advanced to maturity they were given food into which typhoid fever germs had been introduced. Then they were carefully watched to see what would happen as a result of the introduction of the germs. Within a comparatively short time excretions from them were found to contain typhoid germs, both active and numerous. The result demonstrated absolutely how the house fly, feeding about where a typhoid patient is under treatment, can itself become contaminated with the germs, either with its feet or through its stomach and carry the germs to persons in the house or to others more or less distant from the building. The only reason that there is not more contamination by this medium is, that typhoid germs are easiest, if not only introduced into the human system through the mouth, which considerably lessens the peril of contamination, though where the disease prevails, the menace is always present if flies are allowed ingress or egress.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent. of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for the garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by Graham & Wortham.

Always Keeps Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in His House.

"We would not be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is kept on hand continually in our home," says W. W. Kearney, editor of the Independent, Lowry City, Mo. That is just what every family should do. When kept at hand ready for instant use, a cold may be checked at the outset and cured in much less time than after it has become settled in the system. This remedy is also without a peer for croup in children, and will prevent the attack when given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, which can only be done when the remedy is kept at hand. For sale by Graham & Wortham.
