CORVALLIS, OREGON,
FRIDAY EVENING MAR. 16, 1906.

THEY SHOULD LOVE US.

We, of the United States, ought by this time to be making a complete hit with the Filipinos. We shot 600 of them the other day, including many women and children. The children were shot in the arms of their fathers and mothers as the latter held them up as shields against the fire of our brave warriors. If an act of humanitarianism like that does not arouse a deep and abiding affection for us in our surviving Filipino wards, then at least, they ought to be attracted by the heroism of our brave boys in blue, who, undaunted and with great intrepidity march up to a Moro mother and shoot her down without batting an eye.

Besides, observe our goodness to the Filipinos from the commercial standpoint. They want to ship their products into this country untaxed, but we will not let them do it, and by that token, their industries are stagnated. Our sugar trust and our tobacco trust do not want Philippine products brought in free of duty, and so our senate wouldn't allow it. Our senators took the wink from the trusts and killed the bill the president and the house pressed for passage. We declared our Oriental Islands to be foreign territory when our tobacco and sugar trust wanted it so, but when our shipping trust wanted it otherwise, we declared them to be home territory. We've got them and we are everlastingly going to cinch them, and, between the cinching and the killing, it will be stupidly unappreciative if these fool Filipinos do not take on such an affection for us that "no knife can ever cut their love in two."

THEIR RESOLUTION.

It seems impossible that the resolution of the Portland Socialist convention respecting federation officials imprisoned in Idaho, is reflective of the views of all socialists. There are well behaved citizens who cleave to socialism, but many such, if socialism means espousal and defense of "Inner Circle" methods, will ask to be excused. It is common knowledge that these "Inner Circle" conspirators plotted more than a score of murders, and hired assassins to apply the knife and bomb. It is information that they even "slated for death" such of their own tools as had slain at their instance too many victims, and accordingly, knew too much. It is recent history that one of their tools assassinated the ex-governor of Idaho, whose only offense against the murderous "Inner Circle" was that he enforced the laws of Idaho impartially and faithfully. It is further common knowledge that for this crime this tool was to receive $3,800 from the "Inner Circle," to all of which, he has without hope of reward or promise of immunity, confessed, fully and freely. If, to actually champion the cause of the "Inner Circle" be simon pure socialism, and if the Portland convention's denunciation of the Idaho authorities' effort to bring "Inner Circle" officials to justice has the sanction of all orthodox socialists most people will meditate long and seriously before accepting the socialistic creed. How would the Portland resolution look, in a frame, when it is proven, as it will be, that the Federation officials planned and promised to pay for the assassination of ex-Governor Steunenberg?

PROBABLY, we can justify our extermination of the 600 Moros on Mt. Dajo, Philippine Islands on the ground that we had concluded, after due deliberation, that they needed to be exterminated.

If you knew the value of Chamberlain's Salve you would never wish to be without it. Here are some of the diseases for which it is especially valuable: sore nipples, chapped hands, burns, frost bites, chilblains, chronic sore eyes, itching piles, tetter, salt rheum and eczema. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Graham & Wortham.

It is about time to begin to hear yelps about "Boss McFadden," "the democratic bosses" and like phrases that are biennially worked in this county in a vain hope of fooling the people. Perhaps the catastrophe that resulted from an over-working of the scheme two years ago has not been without its lesson.

Of Interest to Independent Telephone Lines.

At a meeting held in Corvallis, March 10th, 1906, of representatives of a number of independent telephone lines, the preliminary steps were taken to form an organization of all independent farmer's lines for mutual benefits, protection and advancement of the interests of all.

It seemed to be the general consensus of opinion with those present that with the amount of money being invested in this line that an organization of this kind was essential to the best interest of all.

The meeting adjourned to meet again at Corvallis March 24th at one o'clock p. m. for the purpose of completing organization, adopting constitution, and election of officers.

We very much desire to have a representative delegation from all independent lines at this meeting and every line is cordially and earnestly requested to come as a body or send delegates authorized to act for their lines for the purpose of mutual organization whether from Benton or adjoining counties.

Three Billion.

In one Season From one Female— Things About San Jose Scale.

It is possible for the offspring of one female San Jose scale to multiply until they reach a total of more than 3,000,000,000 young insects in a single season. Such is the fact brought out in a new bulletin about to be issued by Prof. Cordley. Concerning the prolific multiplication of its species, the bulletin says: "Each female of the over-wintering generation is capable under favorable conditions of producing approximately 100 young. In the course of but one month, these reach maturity and the females begin to produce another generation. There are thus produced some four or five generations during the season. Under supposedly favorable conditions, a single female of the later generations have been observed to produce approximately 600 young. Basing their estimates upon breeding cage observations, Dr. Howard and Mr. Pergande have shown that it would be possible; under the most favorable conditions for the progeny of a single female to produce the astonishing number of 3,216,080,400 individuals in a single season. Should each of these scales reach the largest size, one-tenth of an inch, and were they placed side by side, touching each other in all directions, there would be enough of them to cover approximately five acres of surface."

The bulletin adds that on account of the struggle for existence of organism against organism and of other adverse emergencies, it is not likely that this aggregate in propagation is ever reached. It might be added that this is notably true now when so many men are at large in Benton orchards and door yards with spray pumps in their hands, lime, sulphur and salt solutions in their tanks and blood in their eyes. The bulletin also contains colored illustrations of fruit infested with the scale, as well as by pictures of the scale itself, from which it is easy to recognize the pest when it is encountered in the orchard. The appearance of the pest is also minutely described as follows:

"The mature scale are grayish in color, being usually, but not always, lighter in color than the bark to which they are so closely attached. The immature, half grown scales, which may be found with the mature ones, are at the present time somewhat darker in color. The mature female is nearly circular in shape, is approximately one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter, and each is somewhat raised in the center to form a slight protuberance or nipple, which is lighter in color than the rest of the scale. If this scale is carefully examined with a small magnifier, several concentric circles may be observed between the nipple and the outer edge; and if it be carefully lifted with the point of a pin or knife, there will be revealed a minute, bright yellow object, the insect itself. On badly infested plants the young scale settles wherever there is room to insert a beak into the bark, and as they increase in size they become much crowded and overlap, giving the appearance of gray scurvy deposit on the bark."

The bulletin is very interesting, even to those who are not at war with the scale. To those who are engaged in a fight to exterminate the pest, Prof. Cordley's little pamphlet is as valuable as it is attractive. It can be had free on application at the college. It gives full directions concerning sprays and spraying.

Lame Back.

This ailment is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles and may be cured by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm two or three times a day and rubbing the parts vigorously at each application. If this does not afford relief bind on a piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm, and quick relief is almost sure to follow. For sale by Graham & Wortham.

EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS.

Two Are in Progress. Now—Program of Each for Coming Days.

Two revival meetings are in progress in Corvallis now, one at the Congregational and the other at the Methodist church. As the revival was steadily outgrowing the Congregational church, it was decided last night by pastors and officers of the united churches to move to the Opera house with the union meetings. On Sunday morning the S. Schools will meet in their usual places and march in a body to the Opera house where a union service will be held at 11 a. m. sharp, and Evangelist Miller will speak on "the greatest work in the world."

Last Sunday Evangelist Miller's talk to men was so thoroughly enjoyed that a vote was made almost to a man, to have another talk next Sunday completing the theme: "Three Fatal Steps in the Life of a Young Man." He will speak to women as on last Sunday at 3 sharp at the Presbyterian church, while the men conduct the singing at the opening of the men's meeting and then speak to men as on last Sunday. The Sunday evening service at the Opera house will begin at 7 o'clock sharp.

CHALK TALKS.

Next week the meetings will be held in the Opera house, and Mr. Miller will give a series of Evangelistic chalks after school each evening which have packed the largest auditoriums in the cities where he has labored. Coupon tickets announcing the subject for each day will be free to all, and old and young alike will be deeply interested in the truth as illustrated with the crayon on Mr. Miller's flexible folding blackboard.

CHORUS CHOIR.

For the union meetings next week the ministers are planning to close the curtain on the Opera house stage and build a terraced platform in front, thus doing away with the cold draft so offensive to many in former meetings and so protecting the singers and making the whole building more comfortable. An organ and a piano will be used besides Mr. Miller's folding organ to assist in the chorus work. A large chorus choir is being organized which will be a great help to both the singers and the meetings. The meeting at the Methodist church began last night. Final arrangements had been made for them to have begun about the time the State Christian Endeavor convention was held, and the date was changed to give place to the Endeavorers. After the change Rev. Jones of Amity, who is conducting the meetings was engaged to begin at the meetings this week, and his business has been arranged accordingly.

Rev. Jones has a remarkable record as an effective Evangelist in the Northwest having confined his labors to this territory. He has been the means of the conversion of many people. Preaching at the Methodist church Thursday night. The services begin promptly at 7:30 in the evening and at three o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Jones will occupy the pulpit both Sunday morning and evening.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent. of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by Graham & Wortham.
