SUNDAY NIGHT'S INCIDENT.

The incident of Sunday night in which a quartette of boys threw eggs at an evangelist as he passed along the street was wrong. The fact that the minister had said some things better left unsaid is not justification. The act of unknown persons who exaggerated to the preacher such evils as may exist in this town partly caused the affair. All towns have their contingent of people who go to preachers and newspapers and want others ripped up but always end the tale with the request, "but don't mention my name." These breathed exaggerated stories into the evangelist's ears, he poured them out in the pulpit, some who heard went away and exaggerated what he said, people who had not heard were angered by the wonderful accounts of what was supposed to have been said and were not slow to resort to crimination and denunciation, most of which was hurled at the pulpiteer. Boys are not men. That some of them should have been grossly misled by what they had heard is not amazing. Whether their offense is greatest or not, they are the ones to suffer, because their act is wholly indefensible.

If one doesn't like a preacher, the thing to do is not to go to hear him. If others like him, let them be his audience. If he says objectionable things, pay no attention to them, for if untrue, they will be their own denial. And, finally, preachers should pay no attention to people who tell a great big tale of iniquity and end it with, "but don't mention my name." These simple rules if observed will be a sure preventative of such incidents as that of Sunday evening.

Of 187 legislative candidates in the state so far, 116 have signed Statement Number 1 without modification, 30 have signed it with slight qualifications, and 41 have ignored it altogether. Every one of those who failed to sign, regardless of whether he be a democrat or republican, should be defeated. We have all been clamoring for years for election of senator by direct vote, and now when the reform is within reach, all so-called statesmen who stand in its way, should be brushed aside.

TO END "BAR'L" POLITICS.

The Times made a vigorous fight for Statement Number 1, and in spite of newspaper opposition to it in their own party, all the republican legislative candidates have signed. The gentlemen have made no mistake, as the future will demonstrate. The next duty of Benton republicans is to see to it that Mr. Jonathan Bourne gets no support among them for United States senator. He organized a conspiracy at Salem which aborted a whole legislative session by preventing organization of the house. That kind of a political crime against the people cannot be pardoned, nor the man who did it be forgiven. At the coming primaries, let our people show the rest of the state that "bar'l" politics cannot succeed in Benton.

A NEW PEST.

The Lady Believed she had Discovered Proved to be a Familiar one.

As to caterpillars, here is a true story on the subject. A Corvallis lady who worked with her fruit trees on a fine day recently, discovered ridges around the branches and trunk in many places. The color was almost the same as the bark. She thought the phenomenon queer and concluded after extended investigation that it was a new pest, not before reported. She succeeded by considerable effort, in dislodging a number of the rings from the branches, and put them away in the house. A day or two ago, she told a friend of the incident and went to get the rings to show the guest the new pest. Her consternation was lifted to a high pitch when to her dismay she found that what she thought to be solid rings was in reality caterpillar eggs, and further, that the warm air of the room had hurried the hatching process and that little caterpillars from the rings were crawling about the place. From the incident those who have fruit trees may find a way to destroy the caterpillars by the wholesale by attacking them while they are yet unhatched.

LIBEL AND DAMAGES.

Charged Criminally and Otherwise—Mr. James and his Article.

The trial of the case against W. H. James for libel, in the Benton county circuit court will not take place in the November term. Mr. James was indicted on the charge because of an article he is alleged to have written and circulated against G. W. Parker. The two are neighbors, residing on adjoining ranches half a dozen miles southwest of Philomath. Both have lived there for several years, and the accounts are that neighborhood relations between the two have not always run smooth as the brooks by which they sported as boys. There is in fact, a story extant of a hostile meeting out on the hillside in their neighborhood in which there was gun play to the extent of the flourishing of a revolver with a cold steel barrel, and a menacing mien. The suit for the $5,000 damages against Mr. James on account of the article will also be tried at the November term, so that there will be lively times among the Jameses about those days. Mr. James formerly resided on Soap Creek.

At the late term, after the indictment was brought in, Mr. James was arraigned and put under $250 bonds for future appearance at court. He will plead at the adjourned term of court to be held June 9th.

THE POOR HOUSE CASE.

Will be Tried at November Term—Something About the Affair.

One of the last scenes in the late term of the circuit court was the arraignment of Mrs. Huggins and Andrew Campbell on a charge of "giving and disposing of opium without a license and without being a practicing physician." What the evidence in the case is, of course, is known only to the grand jury and the district attorney. It is understood that the matter referred to the administering of the drug to Charles Tower. All sort of vague rumors went the rounds while the witnesses were being examined by the grand jury. Simmered down to the naked facts, however, it is understood that the medicine was given in the same way that it is often used under similar circumstances, and with no other than the best of intentions. Tower was suffering at the time with bowel trouble, and is declared to have already been in the throes of death when to relieve him temporarily, opium was administered. This is the story as it is told by a friend of the family who is familiar with the management of the poor house.

The case will be tried at the November term of court. The defendants were placed under $250 bonds for appearance.

TROUBLE WITH IT.

A Sewer that Carried off Dirt Faster Than Workmen Could Fill it up.

There has been trouble with the Davis-Hyland-Lee sewer lateral. The dirt that covered it kept mysteriously caving and disappearing. As fast as the hole would be filled up, the filling would begin to melt away, and in a short time the cavern would be as big as ever. The fumes from the opening became extremely odious to the neighborhood, and an investigation finally disclosed the fact that a joint of pipe connecting with an upright drain was defective, and that it was through this opening that the dirt escaped into the sewer and was then carried off by the water drain into the river. A new joint of pipe was put in, and the upright connection, which had been made without authority, was taken away and the drain closed up. There is an ordinance requiring all persons tapping sewers to first get authority from the proper officials, and providing a heavy penalty for violation of the provisions. This course is necessary in order to see that all connections are proper. By no other means can the sewers be protected and the sanitary conditions be kept in the best shape.
