CORVALLIS, OREGON,
TUESDAY EVENING MAY 15, 1906.

BANNER PRECINCTS, BUT—

Philomath precinct asked modestly for representation on the Benton county republican ticket. So did Bellfountain. Those requests under every circumstance, it would seem, ought to have been honored. Both are banner republican precincts, and each has been a bulwark of republicanism in this county from time immemorial. In the light of the majorities that both these precincts have rolled up for republican candidates, time after time, it is inconceivable that both should have been ingloriously turned down.

Both precincts presented two candidates, and asked modestly for the nomination of at least one. What they got was soup, soup, soup. Mr. Belknap, Mr. Williams, Mr. Jolly, Mr. Edwards, are all men of the first class, all pillars in precincts to which Benton republicans owe more in the way of majorities than to all the rest of the precincts in the county combined, but their names, politically, are "Dennis." The little job worked effectively, and it is not surprising that some of the candidates who got on the ticket and some of their friends who helped to turn the trick, grin and wink one eye significantly now whenever Bellfountain and Philomath precincts are mentioned.

AS TO VETOES.

At the second legislative session in his term as governor, Chamberlain vetoed 15 bills, of which but two were passed over the veto. Of the others, all were either sustained by the legislature, or else were filed after adjournment and are morally certain to be sustained by the next legislature. The effect will be, admission by the legislature itself that Chamberlain was right 13 times, and the legislature wrong 13 times.

At the first session in his term, Chamberlain vetoed 14 bills. Like those of the second session, many of these bills carried large appropriations. Not a single one of them was passed over Chamberlain's vetoes, but on the contrary, every one of them was sustained by the legislature itself. Thus, a legislature overwhelmingly republican, by sustaining the 14 vetoes, publicly confessed that it had been wrong 14 times in passing them and that Chamberlain had been right 14 times in vetoing them. It is doubtful if any governor of any state at any time, ever received from a hostile legislature, an endorsement so extraordinary.

In his one term, Chamberlain vetoed 29 bills. In two terms Pennoyer, who until Chamberlain had vetoed more bills than all other Oregon governors combined, vetoed in all, 20 bills. Geer vetoed but three bills. Lord vetoed no bills. Moody vetoed no bills.

A republican governor rarely ever vetoes a bill passed by a republican legislature because to use the veto freely would make enemies for him among the powerful men in his own party and ruin him politically. It is always best to have the governor of one party and the legislature of the other. Then one is a check upon the other, and that saves money to the taxpayers. The 20 vetoes by Pennoyer and the 29 by Chamberlain, to the three in all by Moody, Lord and Geer prove it.

AS TO HARLEY HALL.

The candidacy of Harley L. Hall for recorder is that of a young man of slender means asking for election to an office for which he is perfectly qualified. He is 26 years of age, and has a family. For a year he has resided in Job's addition, Corvallis, in a small cottage that represents the sum total of his accumulations. Before that, for a little more than a year, he resided on a thirty acre farm west of Corvallis, and before that, all his life from the time he was four years of age, was spent on a Soap creek farm. He is the son of A. J. Hall, known for a long period of years throughout Benton county as one of its most popular farmers. The younger Hall was educated in the public schools and in the State Agricultural College. His qualifications for the office of recorder are acknowledged by all, whether friendly to his candidacy or not. As a genial, open-hearted straightforward young man it is but natural that his candidacy should become more and more popular, and that is exactly what is happening from limit to limit of the county.

JUST SO.

The republican party is bigger than any man in it. Many a time it would have been better for that party if candidates on its ticket had been beaten at the polls. Hermann, a congressman from Oregon, skulking around the corridors at Washington, and slipping in to draw his salary, is a case in point. And there are others. How infinitely better for the party, if republicans had voted against Mr. Hermann, so that when indicted, it had not been a republican congressman from Oregon on whom the stigma fell.

AN IMPROPER PRACTICE.

As remarked above, the republican party is bigger than any man in it, and many a republican does his party a real service by voting for an occasional democrat.

FELT THE EARTHQUAKE.

And Simpson's Pheasants Gave the Alarm.

Gene Simpson has been in the business of rearing China pheasants for some years and he gives close attention to their habits. When anything unusual occurs about their pens, especially at night, the birds set up a noisy chattering or cackling. A midnight fire in the city or in the vicinity always causes them to set up a wild chorus. Just at the time of the San Francisco earthquake Mr. Simpson heard his birds in one of their excited moods and he dressed and went out to discover the cause. So far as he could determine, there was nothing wrong and concluded that the birds had given a false alarm. When, however, the news of the earthquake came, and of the slight tremors in parts of this state, Mr. Simpson was able to account for the excited state of his birds at 5:15 o'clock a. m., April 18th. Mr. Simpson is firm in the belief that the pheasants were cognizant of the seismic disturbance.

W. G. LANE.

Common Colds are the Cause of Many Serious Diseases.

Physicians who have gained a national reputation as analysts of the cause of various diseases, claim that if catching cold could be avoided a long list of dangerous ailments would never be heard of. Everyone knows that pneumonia and consumption originate from a cold, and chronic catarrh, bronchitis, and all throat and lung trouble are aggravated and rendered more serious by each fresh attack. Do not risk your life or take chances when you have a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure it before these diseases develop. This remedy contains no opium, morphine or other harmful drug, and has thirty years of reputation back of it, gained by its cures under every condition. For sale by Graham & Wortham.
