

EARTHQUAKE DID IT.

Increased Flow of a Spring Near Monroe.

Since the great San Francisco earthquake, the doings of a spring in the vicinity near Monroe have been a source of wonder and surprise to people of the neighborhood. It is a sulphur spring, and several years ago was discovered by Frank Williams on whose farm it is situated. The farm is six or seven miles south of Monroe. A long time ago a pipe was sunk to a depth of a few feet and allowed to project several inches above the ground. Around this, cement was placed, so as to force all the water into the pipe. The flow was only sufficient for the water to rise gently to the top of the pipe and flow lazily over the sides. Williams had hoped that the flow would be strong enough for the water to come out with something of a spurt, but in this he was disappointed, until the morning of the great earthquake. That morning a much stronger flow set in, and now the water flows out with sufficient force to lift it six or eight inches above the mouth of the pipe, forming a fountain, and an incident of more than passing interest. Many sight-seers who have heard of the incident, journey there now to see the spring.

HIS FUNERAL.

Last Rites Over the Remains of J. C. Taylor.

Saturday afternoon there was a vast attendance at the funeral of the late James C. Taylor. Out of respect to his memory all business houses were closed during the funeral ceremony, and in every way possible was shown the highest esteem in which Mr. Taylor was held by his fellow citizens. Before removal from the Taylor home the coffin rested in a vast bower of floral pieces brought thither by sympathizing friends of the city, county and state, all being effective tokens of regard for the deceased and the bereaved family. Rev. M. S. Bush conducted the service and in his sermon pronounced many words of praise which found a heartily responsive feeling with the gathered concourse. Friendship lodge A. O. U. W. acted as an escort to the remains to Odd Fellows' cemetery where, after a brief burial service all that was mortal of James C. Taylor, who was an exemplary citizen in the broadest sense, was consigned to earth.

NEW DOG IN TOWN.

How he won the Respect of Local Curs.

There is a new dog in town. He came a few days ago. His owner is unknown, if he has any. This animal's characteristics indicate that he would not be owned or controlled by any person, clique or corporation. He seems to be in favor of a square deal for every dog, and, apparently has the power to exact it, especially so far as he is himself concerned. He evidently has not signed Statement No. 1. But this item must not be extended into the realm of politics. The leading thought is that when this dog made his appearance in Corvallis, he was subjected to the usual onslaughts of the local canines, which take so much delight in chasing the strange dog within our gates. But this new dog has successfully called all the bluffs which have been offered up to date, and invariably goes them a few better. A good many owners of Corvallis dogs have been compelled to go to the rescue of their pets when the new dog secures them in a death hold. All the town dogs have learned to respect the stranger and it is positively refreshing to witness the demure manner of curs when the boss of the street carelessly wends his way along the walk. Surely, a good way to maintain peace is to be fully prepared for war.

SCIENTISTS SAY.

"Look not Upon the Demure Egyptian Mummy."

If bacteriologists do not soon cease to make discoveries in their realm of research it surely will require the world's energy to fight germs. It has been but a few years since the unpretentious citizen could go his way happily, but in the present day he must go armed and loaded down with all sorts of complicated appliances with which to defend himself and his possessions from the terrible microbe that lurks in every path of his life, in every morsel of food that he eats; in every drop of liquid that he drinks; in every object that he views. One would naturally think that humanity might gaze with safety upon an Egyptian mummy which had lain for thousands of years, but science now comes up to warn us of danger in the exercise of even this little pleasure. A French scientist named Sorgnac says: "The great spread of tuberculosis in America in the last 100 years found its cause in the disinterment and shipment broadcast over the land of the mummies which had reposed so long in the tombs of the Pharaohs." The author of this theory is a recognized scientist, being a lecturer at the Sorbonne in Paris, who was an interested visitor at the recent tuberculosis exhibit in Chicago. It is claimed that the tuberculosis germs emanating from the mummies are more deadly than those of the sputum of persons affected. "Dead bodies may not secrete germs," says the writer, "but dead bodies are undoubtedly a favorite lodging place for the tuberculosis bacilli."

IMPORTANT TO CORVALLIS.

Profit by This and Find Safeguard Against Many Ills.

Nothing is more important to Corvallis than the good health of her people. How can they fill their place in this busy town unless they are well? No one trouble is responsible for more nervousness, sleeplessness, general debility, weakness, back-aches, rheumatic pains, even ill-temper and peevishness, than indigestion. Fortunately a combination of remedies, called Mi-o-na stomach tablets, has been discovered that absolutely cures indigestion and restores to health and strength the whole digestive system. The use of Mi-o-na is a safeguard against many ills; it acts directly upon the gastric glands, restores perfect action to the digestive organs, aids the assimilation of food, and so strengthens the whole digestive system that you can eat anything at any time without fear of indigestion. Just one little tablet out of a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na before meals for a few days, and you will soon regain perfect health and strength, and be able to eat anything digestible without fear of stomach difficulties. So reliable is Mi-o-na in curing all forms of stomach weakness and troubles that Graham & Wells give a signed guarantee that the remedy will cost nothing unless it cures. Mi-o-na sells for 50 cents and is invaluable to any one who suffers with indigestion, nervousness or weak stomach.
